National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics

THE NAIA

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) is a completely autonomous association which administers programs leading to national championships in 15 events for more than 500 fully-accredited four-year colleges and universities in all 50 states and Canada.

Established in 1940 as the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball the NAIB evolved from the institution of a "National Small College Basketball Tournament" which was inaugurated in 1937. In 1952, the NAIB expanded to include tennis, outdoor track and golf, and that year the organization was renamed the NAIA.

Since that time the NAIA has further enlarged to encompass football (two divisions were formed in 1970), cross country, baseball and swimming, which were added to the NAIA championship program in 1956, wrestling (1958), soccer (1959), gymnastics (1964), indoor track (1966), ice hockey (1968) and volleyball (1969).

With its national headquarters and staff located in Kansas City, MO., the NAIA is organized into 31 districts. The District Executive Committee is the governing body in each District with the District Chairman serving as the chief officer. Within the district an eligibility chairman and publicity chairman are appointed to handle various duties.

A major factor in the success of the NAIA program is the importance placed on "grass roots" organization, in which each district administers and organizes the programs of the schools within their own district. The districts are usually small enough in the number of schools involved that each individual institution has a major voice in the policy and decision-making process within that district. This procedure carries forward to the national level, where each of the 31 districts have an equal voice in national matters.

The NAIA clearly outlines its own responsibilities and those of its members: a sound athletic program, administered and controlled by those responsible for the administration of the college or university. The NAIA encourages a broad program of athletic pursuits in its member institutions and aims at uniformity and equity in policies and practices through its district and national championship events.

Eligibility rules in the NAIA govern all competition in sports recognized by the NAIA, not just post-season competition. These rules must be adhered to by all NAIA member institutions, including those members holding dual affiliations with other associations. NAIA member institutions must pay the annual membership dues and be in support of the policies of the Association.

YOU'RE IN THE RIGHT PLACE WITH NBG.

ACADEMIC AND ATHLETIC EXCELLENCE

Dear Basketball Fans,

Welcome to Southern Tech. Tonight's game promises fast-paced basketball action with one of the best NAIA teams in the nation. Statistics released in September showed that based on the past twelve seasons, Southern Tech ranks tenth among the winningest men's basketball teams in the NAIA — with an impressive won-loss record of 274-110. Last year's team boasted an outstanding 22-11 record, was GIAC co-champs and runner-up district 25 champs. This success record is due to the talent and teamwork of our athletes under the strong leadership of Head George Perides, who is entering his 13th season at the college.

Each year the program continues to grow. Joining our five returning players will be outstanding junior college and freshman recruits from throughout the state, as well as Alabama, Kansas, Kentucky and New York.

We're experiencing growth throughout the college. Our second master's degree program, a Master of Science in Technical Communication, is now in place. We have several new facilities, including a spacious new library addition that doubled previous space. This fall we also opened the W. Clair Harris Apparel and Textile Center, a $3 million facility. A new Student Center should be under construction by summer. We hope that you'll find an opportunity to return to the campus during the day and get a first-hand look at our growth facilities.

Webster defines teamwork as "work done by a number of associates each doing a part, but all subordinating personal prominence to the efficiency of the whole." Because of it, Southern Tech not only has one of the winningest basketball teams in the country, but is a flagship college in engineering technology and related fields. The young people on our athletic team exemplify the winning spirit of our almost 4,000 students and 500 employees. We're glad you're here tonight to share in that spirit.

Sincerely,

Steve Cheshier
President

AIMING HIGH

Three points and 1,000 miles. That's how close — and how far — the 1987-88 Southern Tech Runnin' Hornets came to reaching their goal.

Before a frenzied crowd at the NAIA District 25 finals in Milledgeville last March, the second-seeded Hornets fell 38-36 to number one seed Georgia College, ending Tech's dream of reaching the NAIA's round of 32 in the National Championship Tournament at Kemper Arena in Kansas City, Mo.

Still, in what veteran coach George Perides saw as a rebuilding season, the Hornets won 20-plus games for the 10th time in the past 11 years. And Tech (22-11), with only one starter from 1987's 27-7 district championship team, upset pre-season predictions by reaching the district finals for the ninth time in the past 11 seasons.

To reach the finals, the Hornets defeated seventh-seeded Kennesaw College 58-51 in the opening round at Southern Tech and went into overtime to beat second-round foe North Georgia 67-62.

Gone are all-district/all-conference forward Terry Givens, who set school season (609 pts., 18.45 ppg) and individual game (37 pts. vs. Knoxville College 2/27/88) scoring records last year, and leading rebounder Bobby Hines. But Tech returns five players who saw significant playing time in 1987-88, including starting senior guards John "Chris" Boulware at the point and John Molden at the two guard. Also back is senior forward Rodney Armstrong, junior post man Darren Holley and sophomore guard Maurice Charlton, a member of the GIAC All-Freshman team last year.

In addition, Perides will have eight newcomers to blend in with the returnees. Junior-college transfers Cordell Benton and Earl Johnson will share the pivot with Holley. Chuck Johnson, a transfer from GMC, where he was voted Georgia's co-JUCO Player of the Year, can play either guard or forward, and quick Joe Brown will be counted upon to provide depth at guard, as will redshirt freshman Adolphus Harper.

Guard/forward Derrick Howard, 6-6 scrapper Scott Edwards and redshirt junior Rufus Kay all appear capable of helping, continuing the Tech tradition under Perides of being one of the district's deepest squads, if not always the most talented.

Bright spots last year included Tech's 17-1 record in the Hornets' Nest, which continues to be a Death Valley for opposing teams. An addition to the Tech coaching staff is veteran Hamp Alexander, who brings a wealth of experience in NAIA District 25 from his previous 16 years as head basketball coach and baseball coach at Shorter College in Rome.

A tough schedule awaits, with pre-Christmas stops at the Birmingham Southern (Nov. 18-19) and Washburn (Kan.) University (Dec. 15-17) tournaments, where Tech will play some of the NAIA's top squads. The Hornets will host the Hornet Classic Tournament December 2 and 3. Their 18-game district schedule begins January 3 against Piedmont College (away) and includes home games with Tech's ever-growing list of archrivals: North Georgia (Jan. 7), Kennesaw (Jan. 16), Georgia College (Jan. 21) and Georgia Southwestern (Jan. 30).

Hope To See You At The Nest!!

☆☆☆☆ THE COACHES ☆☆☆☆

Head Coach George Perides enters his thirteenth season of leading the Runnin' Hornets with an impressive track record. In Perides twelve seasons at Southern Tech, the Hornets have compiled a 274-110 record and have captured the NAIA District title for a record five straight years from 1978-1982 and again in 1987. In ten of his last eleven seasons, his teams have won at least 20 games.

George Perides came to Southern Tech from small Palm Beach, Atlantic College in West Palm Beach, Florida. His team made one trip to Kansas City and posted a 82-43 mark over four seasons.

Hamp Alexander, who was Head Coach at Shorter for sixteen years, joined the staff this year as an assistant. Also, Chris Carter, a former player who helped take the Hornets to the Nationals in 1987 and District final in 1988, is assisting with the coaching.
