

the SENTINEL

KENNESAW JUNIOR COLLEGE
MARIETTA, GEORGIA

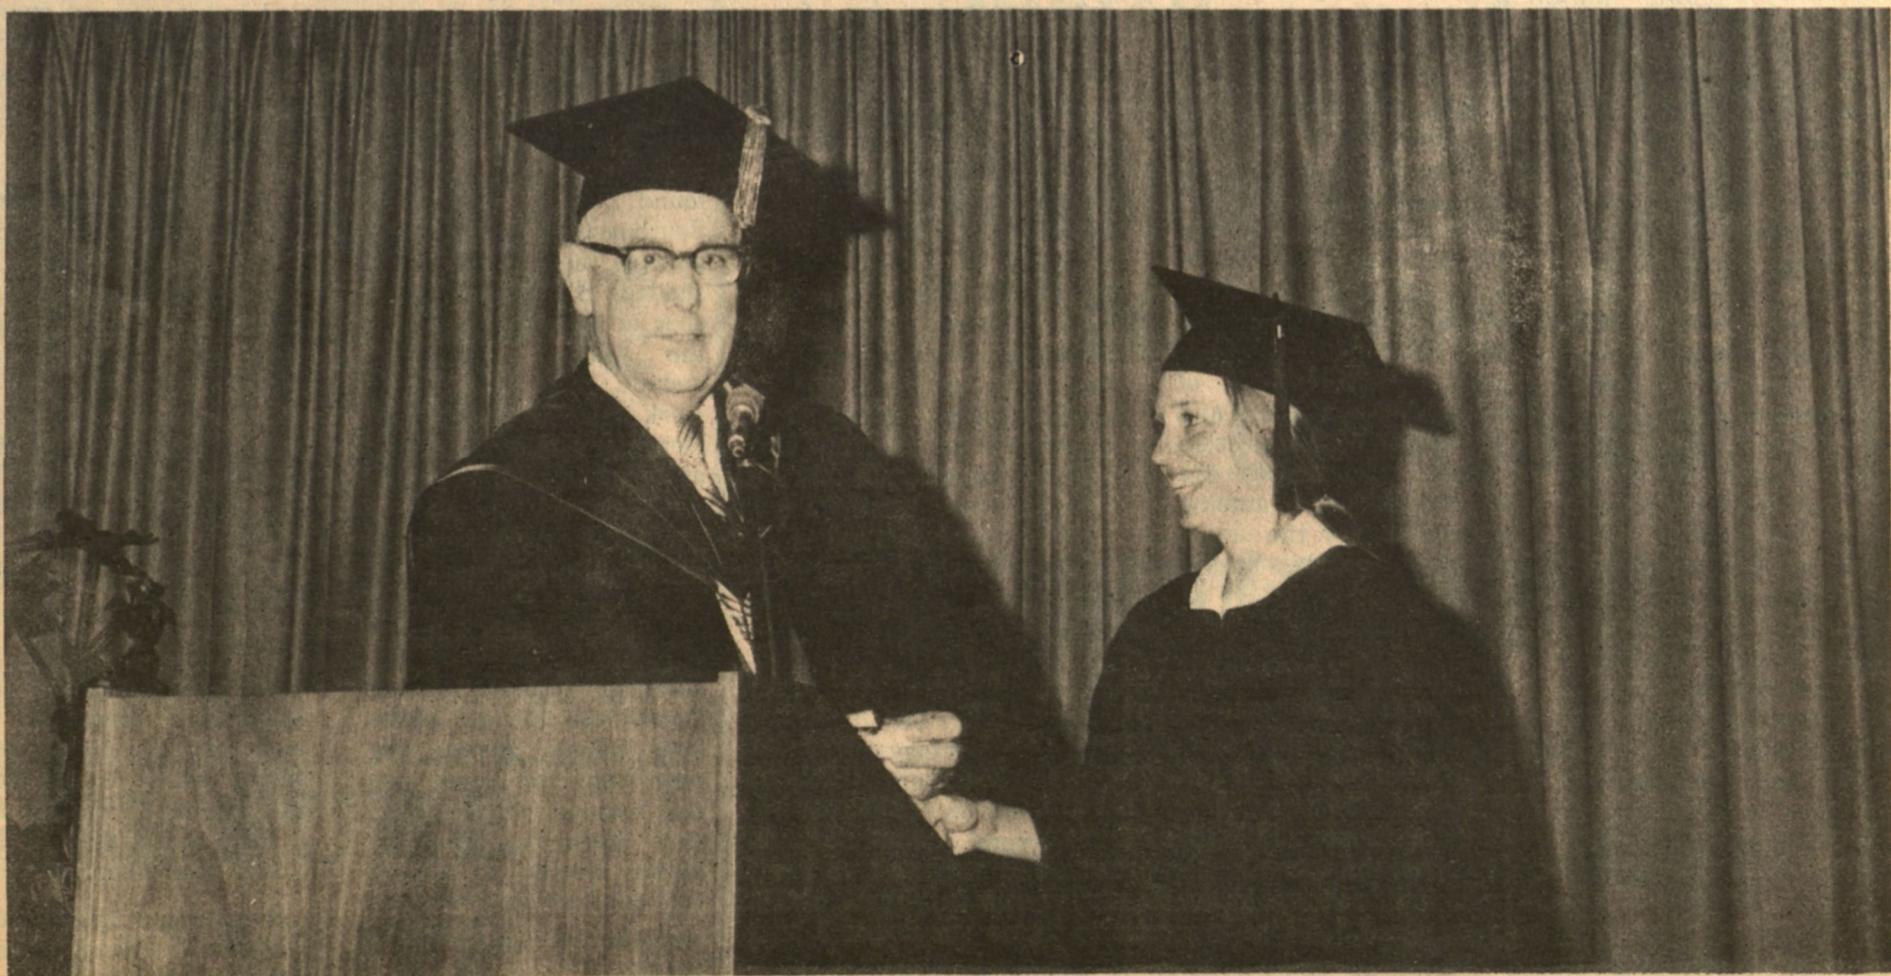

Vol. 11 No. 2

July 16, 1976

GRADUATION!

Left to right: Rev. Scott May of St. James Episcopal, Dean Huck, Judson Ward of Emory, Dr. Sturgis and Dean Martin

Dr. Sturgis and June Rowland

the SENTINEL

KENNESAW JUNIOR COLLEGE
MARIETTA, GEORGIA
30061

EDITOR
PATTY WALL
MANAGING EDITOR
JANE LAWING

POLITICAL ANALYST
STEPHEN FLOYD
GRAPHIC ARTIST
CHRISTI ROBERTS

FACULTY ADVISOR
DR. ELLIOTT HILL
ARTS EDITOR
SHERRI MCDONALD

This paper expresses the views of those who contribute to it. Why not join us—it's your paper, too, remember?

On Georgia's Jekyll Island, the Horton House remains are ruins of a tabby house belonging to an officer who served under General James Oglethorpe.

One of life's little pleasures in Georgia's Golden Isles is a stroll along the beach.

The Crane Cottage in the Millionaire's Village on Jekyll Island, Ga., is a mansion by anyone's standards. Once the private domain of America's richest men, Jekyll Island is now a popular tourist spot, offering miles of beaches, plenty of sun and great fishing.

Live Like A Millionaire On Georgia's Jekyll Island

This mile-wide island may well be the mythic sun-blessed spot sought by nearly everybody where a near-pauper can live like a near-prince. Just off the Georgia coast, Jekyll is caught in a chain of Golden Isles that Jean Ribault, a French adventurer of 1562, called the "fairest, fruitfulest and pleasanter of all the world."

Ribault's opinion was enthusiastically echoed some three centuries later when a financially elite group—near-princes named Vanderbilt, Morgan, Rockefeller, Pulitzer, Gould—discovered the beneficent climate and timeless subtropical beauty of the island and formed the exclusive Jekyll Island Club. Cleveland Amory called it the "greatest of the country's social islands." The Jekyll Island Club pinpointed it more succinctly: "No unwanted foot ever stepped ashore."

The expansive Victorian "cottages" constructed by Club members often turned out to be mansions. Everyday dinners at the Club House required the talents of a chef and staff from Delmonico's. Such was the simple life in the select retreat of the rich.

Today the private island of the millionaires is a state park accessible by a toll-free causeway to all who wish to walk its white sand beaches, fish its moss-swept ponds, pedal a bike along the meandering pathways of the park-like Millionaires' Village, play tennis in the millionaires' own courts.

New tennis courts and golf courses augment those bequeathed by the Jekyll Island Club. There are six tennis courts (five outdoors, one in) available for $1.25 an hour, and 63 holes of golf—three of championship calibre and a nine-hole regulation course. Greens fees are $6. Year-round swimming is provided by the Aquarama's giant glass-enclosed and heated pool, $1 all day.

During the summer months, Jekyll's style becomes noticeably "family." Picnics, made intimate by gentle gray curtains of moss, blossom beneath the island's ancient oaks. Family groups hike along the nine miles of packed silk sand beaches. Children's kites color the sky.

Island art activities expand to include a series of summer stock musicals and a special showing of arts and crafts, all geared to family enjoyment. A mini-bus makes the rounds of the renovated haunts of the Millionaires' Village, and a lively day camp provides fun for children and freedom for parents.

The Jekyll Island Music Theatre presents a summer celebration of Broadway musicals in the island amphitheatre, featuring a company of 17 sponsored by Florida State University. Three sparkling shows in rotating repertory make up this season's performances, presently underway and scheduled to run through September 5, nightly except Monday at 8:30 p.m.

"The Boy Friend" spoofs the wacky wardrobes and fluttery affectations of the boisterous 1920s; "The Fantasticks" is a lesson on love seen through a fantasy of night and day; "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is a slapstick series of racy Roman antics that guarantee a riot of laughter.

Tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for children 16 and under, available from the box office at the Convention Center complex or at the amphitheatre immediately before the show. In the event of rain before showtime, a performance of "The Fantasticks" will be presented in Hartley Auditorium in the Convention Center. Call (912)635-3378 for information.

Bicentennial birthday weekend -- July 3 and 4 found more than 70 Southeastern artists exhibiting their crafts in the shaded "Festival Woods" area at the north edge of the Village. Categories include macrame, shell-work, leather items, jewelry, pottery, woodwork, and paintings in oil, watercolor and acrylic.

Bicentennial buffs will want to make a nearby side trip to the tabby ruins of a house belonging to Major William Horton, aide to General James Oglethorpe, founder of the 13th colony. Across the way from the house are the remains of Georgia's first brewery, built by Major Horton to supply cool ones for Ft. Frederica soldiers of the colonial period.

The Jekyll Island day camp offers children a chance to participate in planned activities with other children, and parent the opportunity to play golf or tennis, fish or loaf in the sun. The day camp, run by recreation majors from Georgia Southern College, is now in operation and open for morning, afternoon, all-day, all-week or all-summer visitors.

Boys and girls from 4 to 17 may register for camp at the Aquarama pool area. Camp time is Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Cost for a full day of camping is $4, which includes lunch. The morning session only is $3, including lunch. Cost for the afternoon session only is $2. Children may be pre-registered by calling (912) 635-2898.

Jekyll Island has a variety of motels and convention facilities, as well as a campground. Motel rates range from $18 double occupancy for a room to $65 per day for a villa that sleeps six.

For further information, write to the Jekyll Island Promotional Association, Jekyll Island, Ga. 31520, or call (912) 635-2545.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

SUMMER NATIONAL

Sign Up For Academy Theatre Now

The Academy Theatre's second session of summer classes for adults and teens begins July 19 at the Academy Theatre in Buckhead. Besides Basic Adult and Teen Acting, courses include scene study, modern dance, mime, make-up, hatha yoga, and singing-sight-reading. Most classes will last six weeks. The Children's Creative Arts Day Camp also begins July 19, and lasts four weeks. For information call the Academy Theatre at 261-8550.

Sports car racing returns to Road Atlanta July 17-18 when the Atlanta Region of the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) hosts the Summer Nationals. The race is especially important to drivers competing in SCCA's National Championship Road Racing Program for it marks their last chance to drive the twisting Road Atlanta circuit before the national championship showdown -- the prestigious Champion Spark Plug Road Racing Classic --

Entry in the Champion Classic is by invitation only. To be invited, drivers must accumulate enough points to finish in the top rankings of their racing class, in one of seven SCCA geographical divisions. These top finishers are then invited to represent their divisions and compete for the disinction of being named National Class Champions.

Drivers accumulate points according to their finishing positions in designated National Championship Points Races scheduled throughout the United States. The July Road Atlanta Summer Nationals is the only points race to be held at the track in 1976.

Approximately 200 entries are expected. Some of the more renowned drivers include Randy Blessing, Jim Fitzgerald, P. L. Newman, Atlanta drivers John Smith and Jack Lewis, and Don Kearney of Miami.

There are 21 classes of cars eligible for SCCA's National Championship Road Racing Program. These are broken down into A through D Sports Racing; A through H Production; Formulas A through c, Super Vee, Ford and Vee; and A through C Sedan categories. This grouping encompasses a wide variety of competition cars ranging from the powerful McLaren Lola Sports Racers and Production category Corvettes and Jaguars, to the tiny Datsun and Toyota sedans and the Volkswagen-powered Formula Vees.

The drivers must all hold SCCA National Competition Licenses. To obtain these senior-grade amateur permits, they must successfully complete SCCA's program of designated drivers schools and regional races. Once granted, a National Competition License qualifies a driver to participate in SCCA National Championship Races and, based on finishing performances, compete for a National Class Championship.

Road Atlanta will open its gates at 12:00 Noon

Friday, July 16. General Admission tickets for the entire weekend of racing are $12.00. Sunday only tickets are $7.00. Paddock passes for the weekend are $20.00; Sunday only - $15.00. The ticket price includes free camping and free firewood.

The large field of entries is expected to contain a number of point leaders who are presently in contention for championship honors in their respective divisions. Among these may well be competitors who will ultimately drive to National Class Championship victories on Road Atlanta's challenging 2.52 mile road racing circuit at the Champion Classic in late October.

Science Fiction Movie

Logan's Run

It seems that the motion picture industry has all but run out of good science fiction movies. With so little competition, Logan's Run should be, and is, in my opinion, a great success.

The plot is basically simple: Boy meets Girl and saves the world. Logan is a Sandman whose occupation is tracking down and eliminating the "runners" who attempt to escape "Carousel." Life ends at thirty, but one can be "renewed" -- or can one? Logan finds the secret of Carousel and attempts to run himself. The results are predictable but fascinating.

The old man portrayed by Peter Ustinov is, perhaps, the most intriguing character in the movie. Since he is the only man Logan has ever seen that has lived past the age of thirty, it is reasonable to assume that Logan is quite interested in him.

Farah Fawcett-Majors, that Creamy girl, plays an assistant in the New You Shop where Logan goes for a face change but finds something else entirely. For an idiot studying to be a moron, she does an excellent job. Pity she is killed. Such is the fate of a glamor girl. Tsk, tsk...

Don't be fooled by the first thirty minutes of the film. It appears to be straight out of a Flash Gordon serial, but the affects are really quite good. Granted, it's not 2001--but what is? Like I said, not many science fiction movies around lately.

See Logan's Run. It's a good movie, I promise.

Sherri McDonald

THE LITTLE REDHEADS

WANTS YOU

Pizza —

Italian Foods —

Sandwiches —

Lunch Special —

"FROSTED MUGS"

HAPPY HOUR 3-6

Live Entertainment Fri. & Sat.
CLOSEST RESTAURANT TO SCHOOL

BE SURE TO VOTE

The Sentinel
needs a helping hand.
Won't you join us?

Things are Poppin' In July

The 200th Birthday of America is marked this month and your Cobb County Civic Center is the site for a variety of Bicentennial observances.

The National Elks Club Banquet is scheduled for Friday, July 16 in the Exhibit Hall.

Perry and Connie Monarch present the Fifth Annual Southern Depression Glass Show and Sale Friday and Saturday, July 23 & 24. The show hours are 5 to 10 p.m. on Friday and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Saturday.

There will be 100 tables of collectable common and fine glass and china dinnerware from the 1930's on exhibit and for sale. This interest in "practical nostalgia" of collecting depression glass is widespread and exhibitors and collectors from all over the Southeast are expected for the show. Admission is $1.25.

"Mr. Atlanta", "Junior Mr. Atlanta", and "Teenage Mr. South" contests are scheduled for Saturday, July 31 in both the Exhibit Hall and theater. Full details are not available at this time, but news media will be providing additional information as the time draws nearer. There will be reserve seating as well as general admission for the physique contest. This is a preliminary contest that could lead to the Mr. America title.

It's A Matter of Life and Breath

Little lungs face special hazards.

At birth, a baby's windpipe is not much wider than a pencil. Infants have all the air passages their lungs will ever have. But the bronchioles--the small air passages in the lungs--are only half the size of those in an adult's. As a result, there is a much higher resistance to the flow of air in and out of a child's lungs.

These anatomical facts have certain effects. Take the case of croup, for example. Croup is a viral disease that causes a swelling of the mucous membranes underneath the vocal cords in the upper part of the windpipe. The disease also involves many airways of the lungs. If an adult were infected with the virus, which is most unusual, he or she would have no difficult breathing and would not have the barking cough which is characteristic of the disease. An older child might have a barking cough, but there would be no obstruction of the airways. Because of its small windpipe and airways, however, an infant with the disease almost always has the characteristic cough along with very labored breathing.

Although a baby at birth has all the airways he or she will ever develop, the baby has only one-tenth as many air sacs as an adult. It is in the air sacs that the vital exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide takes place. Not until a child is ten or twelve does he or she have a full quota: 150 million air sacs in each lung. An injury to the lung during this phase of air sac development can have disastrous consequences.

To find out more about protecting lungs at all ages, contact your Georgia Lung Association. It's a Matter of Life and Breath.

HUGH LAWING

Make Your Vote Count For Education

ELECT
HUGH LAWING
To Post 4 Seat
Cobb County Board of Education

HUGH LAWING IS CONCERNED ABOUT . . . . .

- * Reducing the pupil/teacher ratio in the classrooms.
- * Raising teachers pay and working with teachers to set up qualification standards and methods of evaluating teachers to insure our children have the best qualified teachers.
- * Open pods and open classrooms.
- * Discipline and disciplinary methods used in the schools.
- * The impartial letting of contracts based on the lowest bid from qualified contractors.
- * The availability and use of drugs in the middle and high schools and developing methods to eliminate them.
- * Placing more emphasis on the basics.

HUGH LAWING IS . . . . .

- * A 45 year old native of North Carolina and a Cobb County resident for 11 years.
- * A husband and the father of 5 children - ages 7-19 - four of whom attend Cobb County schools.
- * A graduate of North Carolina State University with a degree in electrical engineering and mathematics.
- * A senior mathematician at the Lockheed Georgia Company.
- * Active in community affairs - active in PTA, has held offices of Vice President, President, and now serves as Treasurer of a local PTA; serves as President of a local council and as a member of the county wide Citizens Advisory Council to the Cobb County Public Schools.
- * Active in church related activities - is a member of Roswell Street Baptist Church and serves as teacher of an Adult Sunday School Class.

Vote For Hugh Lawing In County Wide Democratic Primary Aug. 10