New Teachers Added To A Growing Campus

By Ginny Kick

With the expansion of Kennesaw's academic program to a four year level, the school has earned thirty four new teachers. The number of additional teachers was determined by an estimation of this years students population. Every teacher is expected to hold three classes per day consisting of twenty five students. These statistics will tell you that with 6 or 8 teachers not returning from last year, we have an estimated growth of 2025 students.

The new teachers in the Humanities department are as follows: Dr. Alvin W. Bergeron; Assistant Professor of English, Mr. G. Steven Everett; Instructor of Music, Mr. Robert C. Gaissert, Instructor of English, and Ms. Barbara Jane Swindell; Instructor of Art.

The new additions in the Social Science department include Mr. Steven S. Chang; Instructor of Economics, Dr. John S. DiFazio; Associate Professor of Education, Dr. Larry R. Gess; Assistant professor of Education, Mr. B. Edward Hale, Jr; Instructor of Sociology, Mr. Robert H. Hendrick; Instructor of Criminal Justice, Dr. G. Ruth Helper, Assistant Professor of Psychology, Mr. Thomas M. Jones, Jr; Instructor of Psychology, Ms. Mary P. Maihafer; Instructor of Economics, Dr. Judith Ann Mitchell, Assistant Professor of Education, Dr. Linda M. Papageorge; Assistant Professor of History, Mr. Thomas B. Roper; Instructor of Business Law, Mr. Donald M. Sabbarese; Instructor of Economics, Dr. E. Howard Shealy, Jr. Assistant professor of History, Ms. Polly Ann Trnavsky, Instructor of Psychology, Mr. John M. Weinstein; Instructor of Political Science, Mr. William O. Whitten, Jr. Instructor of Accounting, and Dr. Betty Youngblood; Associate Professor of Political Science.

New instructors recruited for the Natural Science department are: Ms. Marie H. Mulkey; Instructor of Nursing, Dr. Robert C. Paul; Assistant Professor of Biology, Dr. Arnold M. Sedaca; Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Dr. Ben L. Sloan; Associate Professor of Biology, Dr. Dorothy D. Zinsmeister; Assistant Professor of Mathematics.

Six teachers who were hired last year on either part-time or on a temporary basis have returned. These teachers are technically considered new teachers. They are regarded as one of the many applicants. These six new teachers are: Ms. Jonell R. Coats; Instructor of English, Ms. Elaine M. Hubbard; Instructor of Mathematics, Ms. Susan L. McGraw; Instructor of Nursing, Ms. Ann M. Powell; Instructor of Mathematics, Mr. John R. Stowe; Instructor of Biology, and Dr. Gail B. Walker; Instructor of English.

Dr. Sturgis, President of the College, explains Kennesaw's transition from a Junior college to a college of four year statis.

Parking Facilities To Be Tight

The construction of approximately 300 parking spaces east of the Maintenance Building will not be completed in time for Fall Quarter as originally planned. A contract was negotiated in June between the State Department of Transportation and the Cobb County Board of Commissioners for the construction of additional parking facilities on campus. However, weather conditions and the deterioration of county roads has delayed the start of construction of this new parking lot. It is hoped that construction will commence at the earliest possible date. An additional parking lot near the athletic field for approximately 250 parking spaces is scheduled for construction in October.

In view of our current parking facilities, students are requested to adhere closely to parking and traffic regulations. Obeysance of the published rules should provide a safe and reasonable flow of traffic throughout the campus, orderly parking, and minimize accidents, and other traffic incidents. It will be extremely helpful if students use the two parking lots north of the Maintenance Building. These two lots containing approximately 375 parking spaces, if utilized to capacity, should absorb increased fall quarter enrollment.

In order to control traffic and parking on campus, the following violations will be strictly enforced:

1. No parking decal on left rear bumper;
2. Unauthorized parking in a reserved handicapped parking space;
3. Parking in a No

Parking/Tow Away Zone;

4. Parking on white lines in parking lot blocking the view of incoming vehicles;
5. Parking by yellow curbs, on sidewalks, in loading zones, and driveways to service entrances; and
6. Parking at an angle and taking two parking spaces.

No Classroom Flexibility Expected

By Michelle Spivey

With the increase in enrollment, many problems have arrived concerning space. One of the problems is classroom flexibility. The problem is that there is no flexibility.

The campus contains 40 classrooms at the present time. If each classroom has classes 10 hours a day, that is only 400 classes. Considering that the current 133 teachers will teach 3 classes each, 133 teachers times 3 classes equals 399 classes. Thus, all this mathematics adds up to no flexibility in classroom scheduling, every classroom will virtually be full every hour the school is open.

This problem will increase with each quarter until the new Humanities Building is completed. This new building is at the very least, two years away. What solutions are being offered to the currently enrolled students concerning this space problem? The only feasible solution at the present time is the expansion of class hours. For the first time, around twenty daily classes will be offered from 2:00 p.m. till 3:00 p.m. Also, some physical education classes will be held at 3:00 p.m. Daily classes will be available from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. plus the regular night classes.

This solution may help to solve the problem this quarter but within the next few years the problem is most likely to increase. Classes will then start at 7:00 a.m. and could last until 6:00 p.m. Night classes may also be expanded to more nights a week. No matter what solutions may be offered, there is only one sure fact: All Kennesaw students will be very close for a few years.

Student Activities Coordinator Speaks

Dear Student:

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome each and every one of you to the Kennesaw campus. As the college grows and as we experience the transition from a two-year to four-year institution, then so will increase both the academic and non-academic opportunities for you, the student.

As many of you already know, the extent of the Student Activities Program ranges from intramural athletics, to publications, to Student Government and Student Union involvement, plus numerous other clubs, organizations and activities. I encourage you to seek out activities here on campus and truly make Kennesaw your home away from home. You are truly welcome here and we are sincerely pleased that you have chosen Kennesaw as your academic home.

If I can be of any assistance to you or provide information on any aspect of the out-of-classroom programs, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,
Frank F. Wilson

Sentinel Salutation

Welcome to the new Kennesaw College. We know that the new status of the college is a transition for everyone not just the college itself. The Sentinel Staff hopes to answer any questions you might have during these changing times. We also hope to not only be informative but entertaining. Remember, we are all growing with Kennesaw. Let's make this year the best year Kennesaw College will ever see.

S. G. A. President Expresses Welcome

By Jim Carter

The Student Government Association of Kennesaw College, commonly referred to as S.G.A., would like to take this opportunity to welcome all new students, as well as returning students for the fall quarter.

This is a big year in the history of Kennesaw College because Kennesaw marks the transition from a junior college to a senior institution. The junior level classes are being added for the academic year 1978-1979 and the senior level classes will begin in the 1979-1980 academic year. This transition has brought about many issues and raised many questions in which the S.G.A. has been involved. Consequently, the summer quarter has been a bee-hive of activity for the S.G.A.

The S.G.A. has worked very hard and diligently to come up with programs that will insure "Total Student Involvement." One of our main contributions to this "Total Student Involvement" theme is the printing of the new Student Handbook. This handbook does not replace the academic catalogue, but should be used as a guide of all the rules and regulations of Kennesaw, whether implied or written, as well as a comprehensive list of all the clubs and/or organizations on campus and their objectives. This catalogue has been a long time coming and it will be available in the fall quarter only because of the unselfish work of Billy Canada, Vice President S.G.A. and Mr. Frank Wilson, Co-Ordinator of Student Ac-

The new format should be noted at registration time. The S.G.A. has encouraged all of the clubs and/or organizations on campus to participate in registration by holding table conferences to explain all of the functions and objectives to any prospective member. The S.G.A. feels that this action will give you a better insight as to the activities that are available to you, the student, on campus. To be sure, an involved student certainly enhances his education as well as build life-long friendships.

To carry this "Total Student Involvement" theme further, the S.G.A. is sponsoring a Leadership Workshop from Friday, Oct. 20, 1978 through Sunday, Oct. 22, 1978, at Roch Eagle (just outside of Eatonton, Ga.). The workshop is being put on by Dr. Donald Berryhill who held our workshop during the spring of 1978. Because of so many requests that he return, he has agreed to hold this conference on Group Dynamics. Reservations have been made for a maximum of sixty! Reservation forms are available in the Student Information Office of the Student Center, or from one of the officers of S.G.A. The total cost of this workshop is being paid for by the S.G.A. We will leave the Kennesaw campus around 2:00 p.m. on Friday and return around 2:00 p.m. on Sunday. This workshop is on a first come, first served basis! Hurry and get your reservations in now!

The Constitution and By-Laws of Kennesaw College state that S.G.A. senatorial elections must be held on the fourteenth and fifteenth class days of the fall quarter. Consequently, the senatorial elections will be held on Monday and Tuesday, October 9 and 10, 1978. We urge each of you to consider becoming involved in the government of your school. A grade point average of 2.0 is needed (and must be maintained) as a prerequisite for becoming an officer (senator) of S.G.A. Our election committee is currently working out a feasible forum for those aspiring to become senators. Check with the Student Information Center, an S.G.A. representative or officers for details and applications!

For the returning Kennesaw students, you will be happy to see the new glass enclosed bulletin board. This board will contain pictures of all the representatives and officers of S.G.A. and the Student Union. The center of the board will be used as the official board of S.G.A. and the Student Union news and minutes.

Also, on the south end of the Student Center, you can see the new bike rack that so many of the students were yelling for. Let's use it!!

The S.G.A. is trying desperately to go into a committee type structure that will assure additional student input. This structure is not completed at this time, but should be functional by mid fall quarter. Here a reminder may be in order: Every student at Kennesaw College is a member of the S.G.A. However, only those that you elect have the authority to vote. So get involved! Either run for office or be a committee member. Your input is needed.

For additional help on any matter, look for the black or blue badges. Those badges denote your S.G.A. officers and Representatives. Use these people. They are your representatives.

As you can readily see by this article, the past summer months have been busy in S.G.A. We are constantly trying to fulfill our campaign promises to you. Now we need you. Get involved and help make Kennesaw College the most envied college in the state.

With Warm Regards,
Jim Carter,
S.G.A. President

Letter From The Editor

It has finally occurred to me what one of our societies main problems is. If one were to weight all our responsibilities against all our expectations, a deficit in the responsibilities side of the scale would be evident. We expect too much.

For example, we all expect that a college such as Kennesaw will have a good newspaper. However, not enough people are willing to take on the responsibility of turning the expectation into a reality. This is nothing new.

I'm not lecturing, I'm begging. Please make The Sentinel a good newspaper. Give us feedback; give us suggestions. But above all, give us your support.

Martin Stone

Welcome to Kennesaw.

By Michelle Spivey

As school starts all over the world, many students say a tearful good bye to all their lifetime buddies who are venturing out into the cold, cruel world. They are going away to college!! But alas, for many reasons you have decided to stay at home and drive back and forth to Kennesaw.

On your long drive to school each morning you think of your friends living it up in their dorm rooms. They are meeting new lifetime buddies while you stay at home. They are going to parties, dances, sports events, concerts, and seminars while you stay at home. Since you decided to go to a commuter college, you felt that life will remain the same boring experience it was in high school.

By now, you are feeling really sorry for yourself. Right! Your friends are gone. Your fun is gone. All you have to look forward to this whole year is study, study, study.

Right??? Well, you are WRONG!!! Kennesaw has just as many activities as live-in campuses and better yet, it is less than a half-hour away from the best discos, restaurants, theatres, and shopping malls in the whole state.

If you think Kennesaw is just a drive-thru window for learning, you are mistaken.

Kennesaw is what you yourself make of it. If you come to school each day and run directly to your classes, then straight back to your car and home, you deserve to be lonely and bored. You are making Kennesaw like a Wendy's pickup window by running in, saying "Teach me," and running back out.

We, as students of Kennesaw, are obligated to change the image of Kennesaw from a drive-thru window to a very exclusive restaurant. The College offers fun and fellowship for all. We just have to take advantage of it. Movies, Concerts, Seminars, Clubs, organizations, sports activities, swimming competition, intramurals, coffee houses, newspapers (of which I am a part), annuals, student government, literary magazine. The list of activities is endless. The Student Activities Committee and the physical education department can come up with more and more activities for students but they can not make the students participate. Participation is up to us. Kennesaw is what we make of it.

If everyone gets involved and the activities increase, maybe it will be your lifetime buddies away at college who will have the long faces. Maybe Kennesaw, the commuter college, will not only be economical but also the most fun. It is up to you. You can make all your friends jealous and homesick. You can also make more lifetime buddies at Kennesaw who can share in all the fun with you.

May I take your order, please?

So, welcome to Kennesaw! Hurry back every chance you get or better yet, just stay awhile.

Wanted

Let us hear what you have to say. This paper is for you, the student. We want you to feel free to express your opinions. Place letters to the editor, suggestions and ideas in The Sentinel mailbox located in the Student Center near the information booth. All letters must be signed; however, your name will be withheld upon request.

1, 2, 3, . . . Red Light

Webster's dictionary defines the word Stop as: Stop (n)-the act of stopping or the state of being stopped; cessation; arrest; halt; termination.

There is nowhere in this definition where it says yield, slow down or speed by, but that is what Kennesaw students do at stop signs. Presumably, these students feel that the definition of stop is not cessation or halting.

Also, stop signs are not considered to only be stop signs if they are red and shaped like an octagon. Stop signs, as far as Kennesaw students are concerned, written on the road, do not count at all.

Tickets are now being issued for those who do not stop at stop signs. Common sense should tell everyone that stop signs are not just there as a decoration. Stop signs are there to protect students and to allow them to be sure of who has the right-a-way.

Cobb County Police may also issue tickets for not stopping at stop signs on campus. Their tickets will cost Twenty dollars.

Whether it be two or twenty dollars, it should not make a difference. Your life and others should matter the most.

Stop At Stop Signs: Don't speed, Go 25 m.p.h.

This campus keeps getting larger. More pedestrians and more vehicles will be around. Let's be careful. Campus rules are just as important as any other. Obey them!!!

Your Education Work For It

By Freda Stone Parris

My father, of Indian descent, seemed to always have a wise saying whenever I approached him with a question. "Anything worth having in this old world is worth working for," he always said. When he spoke to me of an education, his only statement was, "Only the Good Lord can take it away from you. Work for it". Being very young, I could not fully understand just what he was trying to say.

After working a few years with just a high school education, I began to realize that I needed more education before I could find happiness in my job and satisfaction with myself. When I decided to enter night college classes, I will never forget the happiness that twinkled in my father's eyes.

A few months after entering college, my father, then 70 years old, underwent open-heart surgery in an attempt to save his life. Odds of nature, and even of modern medicine were against him. Shortly before the surgery, his words were the same, "Only He can take it away from you. Work for it." As I looked into his eyes, I saw a gleam of peace intermixed with satisfaction that maybe I understood him at last.

Through faith and what I can only call a miracle, Dad made the surgery and lives a normal life today. But when he speaks of an education, the very same words are repeated.

My father's influence on my life has been great, I can only speak humble words when saying how very proud I am of him.

Thanks Dad!

Blue Law Blues

Georgia is one helluva state. It has beaches, parks, mountains and a bunch of people with their heads in the sand! I'm referring to the Blue Laws. Those groups of notorious and unconstitutional laws which place the religious demands of one group onto the rest of us.

America means many things to me. It means a somewhat free economy. It means free speech and press. It means freedom of religion without oppression. When laws dictate no purchase of alcoholic beverages on Sunday (except in Atlanta), and cause the highest alcohol tax in the world which results in big business moonshiners then I think enough is enough.

Isn't it time to wake up to see the last quarter of the 20th century pass us by?

Senate Passes College Tuition Grants

The Senate has now passed a bill that would extend federal college tuition aid grants to students from middle-income families for the first time.

Georgia's senators voted on different sides of the issue. Senator Herman Talmadge voted in favor of the tuition aid bill. Senator Sam Nunn opposed the bill.

Other bills concerning the college tuition grants are still in the House and Senate. Final approval will still have to come from President Carter. All bills concerning this issue still have a long way to go.

The major components of the Senate approved bill is as follows:

The basic provision would increase from $16,000 to $25,000 the maximum family income level for which tuition aid would be available. The grants would range from $1,800 a year at the $6,000 income level to $250 at the 25,000 level. Similar increases would be made in college loan programs. The size of the grant would depend on family size and the amount disposable income available after the family's basic necessities are provided for.

An additional 1.2 million students would become eligible for such aid, with 64 percent of the benefits going to families with incomes of $15,000 to $25,000. Before approving the tuition credit, the Senate ended three days of arguments over constitutionality by eliminating a provision that would have provided a credit for parents of pupils attending private elementary and secondary schools.

Another 182,000 middle-income students with "exceptional financial need" would be helped by expanded supplemental grants of up to $1,500.

The guaranteed student loan program, currently the main federal aid to middle-income students, would more liberalized. The government would pay the interest on tuition loans while the needy student is in college no matter how high the family income. The government would guarantee repayment of the loan.

The contribution to the college work-study program would be doubled. This pays 80 percent of the student's salary for a part time job in college or another nonprofit institution. The government now pays for about 75,000 such jobs; the bill would add about 200,000 more.

The tuition tax-credit bill would allow a student, or his parents if he is a dependent, to reduce his income taxes by as much as $250 starting this year and up to $500 a year starting in 1980. The credit would offset college tuition and fees.

Kennesaw College Statement of Purpose

Kennesaw College provides opportunities for students to further their education in the liberal arts tradition. Programs of study and courses of instruction in career and professional areas are offered to help students prepare themselves for their individual goals in life.

The college seeks to provide for its students an educational environment which will challenge them to develop their physical, social, and intellectual capacities through participation in the programs and events sponsored by the college.

The extent that resources are available, the college provides continuing education and public service programs, cultural events, and professional assistance to the communities served by the college.

The college also seeks to encourage intellectual inquiry and to promote trust and respect among students and teachers. Furthermore, the college emphasizes the advancement of knowledge and the pursuit of truth in an atmosphere of academic freedom, rational inquiry, and effective teaching.

out the wall and expand towards the parking lot."

Questioned about some of the bookstore's immediate problems, he said that the rising cost of books is always a problem. Mr. Eisenhardt said, "This is not like the food business. I can't shop around for the best deals. The book that the department head orders is the book I must buy. If the book that the instructor wants is an expensive one, then I must pay the price," Eisenhardt commented.

Mr. Eisenhardt also said

Bookstore Expects Expansion

Kennesaw College's bookstore expects few changes when the school becomes a four-year institution this fall. Robert W. Eisenhardt, Director of Auxiliary Enterprises, said he expects few changes other than the volume and type of books.

Mr. Eisenhardt anticipates a possible space problem by 1980, but he said that he already has the solution. "The wall facing the parking lot is not a permanent wall," Eisenhardt said. "If we have a space problem, we will knock that sometimes needs are overestimated in ordering books. He said, "If there is a surplus of books, we try to use them the next quarter, but if the book is not used the next quarter, the bookstore takes the loss." Mr. Eisenhardt explained that the orders are based on past enrollment.

Another problem of the bookstore is class cancellations. If a class is cancelled, then Mr. Eisenhardt must send the books back to the publisher. "The problem is that shipping costs must be paid by the bookstore," Mr.

Eisenhardt said.

He cited an example, telling of an instance two years ago when one department ordered a large quantity of a certain book and then cancelled the course. "The freight charge was $400 for both ways," Mr. Eisenhardt said.

Mr. Eisenhardt said that the bookstore makes a 40% gross profit. "Out of this 40%, I pay salaries, maintenance, and buy books. This leaves the required 5% profit for the bookstore," Mr. Eisenhardt explained.

New Pool and Children Regulations Announced

This summer, the Kennesaw Administrative Council approved two new policies. The first policy concerns the use of indoor Physical Education Facilities and reads as follows:

(1) The use of the indoor physical education facilities of the college for non-instructional purposes is limited to currently enrolled students, faculty, and staff, and their spouses and legal dependents at prescribed times set aside for these purposes.

(2) The uses of these facilities for non-instructional purposes are not to interfere with any of the scheduled programs of the college, and under no circumstances is the swimming pool to be used without the presence of a lifeguard designated by the Chairman of the Health, Physical Education, and Recreation Department or his delegated representative.

(3) The Chairman of the HPER Department will determine the periods during which the facilities will be available for non-instructional purposes and will do so only after a member of the faculty has agreed to be on duty and responsible for the use of the facilities.

(4) Rules and regulations governing this policy will be administered by the HPER Department.

The second policy concerns the proliferation of children on campus. It reads:

The college can not accommodate children of the faculty, staff, and students on campus during normal operating hours; i.e., 8:00 a.m.-10:30 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays, and 8:00 a.m.-5 p.m. on Fridays. Children are welcome to attend scheduled events and to make brief visits when accompanied by a parent or other adult.

There is, of course, policies concerning the use of outdoor campus facilities. It was not changed and appears below:

(1) The use of the outdoor educational facilities is limited to currently enrolled students, faculty, staff, and their guests. The number of guests in each case is limited to three (3).

(2) The use of the campus facilities must not interfere with any of the scheduled instructional programs of the college.

(3) The use of the tennis courts must be in accordance with the posted rules and regulations.

(4) Persons desiring to use the tennis courts and other outdoor facilities from 8:00 a.m.-8:30 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays may do so by signing in with the security officer on duty, giving their names, identification numbers, and estimated use time.

(5) Because of possible damage to the facilities and hazards to other individuals, the college facilities are not available for the following activities: (a) Flying of model airplanes, (b) Racing of go-carts, motorcycles, or other motorized vehicles, (c) Non-instructional practice with bow and arrows, (d) Firearms.

(6) Social activities are permitted on the campus only after prior arrangements ts have been approved by the Dean of Student Affairs.

(7) The drinking of alcoholic beverages is not permitted on campus.

(8) Parking is permitted only on paved campus streets and in designated parking areas.

Adherence to the above policies will make the use of campus facilities, whether indoor or outdoor, more enjoyable and accessible for all students.

Obstacles Eliminated for Handicapped Students

By Ginny Kick

Letting your fingers do the walking through the yellow pages does not accomplish much when you cannot reach the telephone. It was discovered through a self study of the impairments to the handicapped, that some of Kennesaw's students were encountering this problem. Since this study, headed by Dean Carol Martin, Dean Eleanor Hopper, and Mr. Roger Hopkins, the telephones have been lowered. Other improvements include widening doors, building ramps to buildings, mending cracks in sidewalks, and the development of programs to assist students with sight and hearing disabilities.

Dean Martin points out that these problems are just now being fixed because they have not been noticed in the past. "If you should notice an obstacle on campus please notify the administration," asks Dean Martin. Dean Martin adds that if they request, handicapped students will be accommodated with intramural sports according to their capabilities. He suggests that all students aid the handicapped students when possible.

Dean's List

The Dean's Lists requirements will remain at a 3.0 grade point average this year. All students with a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 and above who have earned a minimum of 15 quarter hours of credit shall be placed on the Dean's list. The Dean's list if published by the Sentinel each quarter.

Speed Limit

REMEMBER: The strictly enforced speed limit on campus is 25 m.p.h. Not only can campus security give tickets for speeding and other traffic violations but so may Cobb County Police.

COUNSELING AND PLACEMENT SERVICES

YOU'RE PROBABLY JUST LIKE EVERYONE ELSE...AND SOMETIMES YOU THINK YOU COULD USE A LITTLE HELP.

Here are some concerns often expressed:
 I wish I had some friends here; I feel alone.
 My parents and I don't get along.
 Trying to work full-time and going to college is difficult...
 I don't know what to major in.

Handouts Get Struck Down

By Mike Kilpatrick

Proposed guidelines for the use of bulletin boards and distribution of materials on campus have been submitted to the administrative council by Dr. Martin, Dean of Student Affairs.

According to the guidelines, the Dean of Student Affairs or his appointee must approve all items not related to the college's academic program for posting or distribution throughout campus. Physical distribution of non-commercial written materials may be done in open areas without prior permission or advance approval as long as the flow of traffic is not impeded or distribution does not cause a litter problem.

Although material can be handed out, the guidelines specify that no materials may be placed on vehicles anywhere on campus because of the litter problem created.

The guidelines also allow the college the right to decide the time, place, and manner in which materials may be distributed within its facilities.

These guidelines are from the first draft of the proposal submitted to the administrative council. The council will meet and decide on any changes or revisions before they become effective. The administrative council meets the third Monday of each month.

Is the Regent's Test Necessary?

By Michelle Spivey

By now, everyone should know what the Regent's Test is. Everyone should also know that they have to take the test in order to graduate. But does anyone know why the Regent's test is necessary?

The Regent's Test is defined as a test to insure that every student obtaining a degree from this college or any other state college possesses the minimum skills of reading and writing. One should think that the basic requirement for taking the test, passing English 101 and 102, should be enough to insure that the student has a minimum skill of reading and writing. Apparently, this is not so. Many state colleges and universities can not guarantee that their English courses give the student a proper prerequisite for graduating with the basic skills a college graduate should obtain. Thus, they have to be tested.

These minimum skills are tested by the student's ability to pass the Regent's test. The Regent's test consists of two parts. The reading portion of the test deals with word associations, definitions and reading comprehension. The writing portion consists of an essay to be written on a choice of two topics never before seen by the student. Each portion of the test takes 60 minutes.

At Kennesaw not only is the Regent's test a requirement, but a remedial course is also required upon failure of the Regent's Examination. This remedial course is not optional, as in most other state institutions. It is mandatory. The remedial course must be taken the next quarter enrolled.

Dr. John C. Greider, Chairman of the Humanities Department, feels that not only is the Regent's test a "good test which is fairly graded," but that the remedial course is a "good course that accomplishes its goal." Its goal is to see that those who repeat the test pass. In Spring of 1978, 76 percent of the repeaters passed the test. Dr. Greider believes that without the remedial course most repeaters would not improve on the second test. Dr. Greider also adds that the President and Dean of the college support all divisional efforts in the remedial course.

In the three years of its operation, Dr. Greider believes that the Regent's test and the remedial course have both been very successful at this college.

Though many changes are being made in the Regent's test, the test will virtually remain the same. None the less, it will remain. Who knows maybe the next essay questions will be:

Defend or attack the following statement; The Regent's test is a necessary test and it accomplishes its goal. Then, reading this article would not have been in vain.

Changes in Test

A few changes have been made in the policy concerning the Regent's Test. The most important change involves the time given for the essay portion of the test. Before this change, the essay portion of the test was only allotted 45 minutes. The time allotted will now be extended to a full 60 minutes.

Another important change involves the reading portion of the test. Before, to pass the reading portion, a score of 58 or above had to be made. Now, the cut off score for passing is being raised to 59. In the fall of 1979 the score will be raised another point. It will be raised again in the fall of 1980.

Anyone who holds a Bachelor's Degree from any accredited institution (i.e., college graduate) is exempted from the Regent's test. This did not hold true before this fall.

REGENTS' TEST

A Graduation Requirement

1978-1979

The Regents' Test assures the competency level in reading and writing of all students enrolled in degree programs in the University System of Georgia. Kennesaw College students are responsible for taking the test after they have earned 45 credit hours and have completed English 101 and 102. Students may not take the test any earlier, but should take it before completing 75 credit hours. Test and registration dates are shown below.

No Monkey Business At Kennesaw

Interview By
Martin Stone

Dr. William P. Thompson, is the division chairman of the B. A. Division. He received his BBA, his MBE and his Ph.D. from Georgia State University after 20 years active duty in the U. S. Army. While in the army, he had fourteen years experience in various organizations.

In addition, Dr. Thompson taught Business at Lakeshore High School and was instructor in the NDEA Summer Institute in Economics during the summer of 1968. He is a member of eight professional organizations and has held many important positions outside as well as inside the school system. Dr. Thompson is also the author of at least eight articles of which two have appeared in the "Journal of Business Education."

Sentinel: Dr. Thompson, I'd like to get a little background first. How long have you been with the college?

Dr. T.: I've been with the college since it began in 1966 and I'm one of the Charter members of the faculty.

Sentinel: What is your background in Business Administration?

Dr. T.: I'm a Business Educator, not an accountant. Accounting is one of the courses I teach, however. I have three degrees from Georgia State University. A bachelors, a masters, and a Ph.D. My undergraduate (or bachelors degree) is in management. Then my two graduate degrees are in Business Education. I also qualify to teach Business Communications, which is one of my specialties along with management.

Sentinel: It seems that there will be a thousand new students coming in this fall. Of these, quite a large number will be freshmen. What would be the most important things you would think to tell these students, especially if they were contemplating a degree in business?

Dr. T.: I think any incoming freshmen, no matter what area of study they may decide to choose, should be aware of the Core Curriculum requirements of the University system. This means that during their early quarter at Kennesaw or any college in the University system, they will be taking courses in the areas of humanities, natural sciences, math, and social sciences. Then, as they go further along, they will begin to study in their major area. This is important because there are some courses in the natural sciences and humanities that are prerequisites for the upper division courses. The greatest piece of advice I could give students, especially if they're coming out of high school, is to attempt to balance their work load at the college level with other activities. Many students, at Kennesaw, work either part-time or full-time. And so, it's a mistake for any incoming college freshman to work full-time along with a full college load of 15 academic hours plus P. E. Of course, some students can do it and some can't. My advice to all incoming students would be to feel themselves out carefully. It's a temptation for incoming high school students to think that three courses aren't much of a load. It is at the college level. We explore and teach more rapidly and deeply than the average high school student has been taught before.

Sentinel: How many students, out of the total student body, are presently in the Business School?

Dr. T.: Well, I'd like to say that we don't have a business school. We have a Business Administration Division. In the Business Division, we have, ever since the division started, accounted for 23% of the student body. I keep track of this closely. During the last two quarters this percentage has risen to 26%. So we anticipate that 1/4 of the incoming freshmen and students will choose the B. A. Division.

Sentinel: Does this include day and night students?

Dr. T.: Yes. The breakdown of day to night students is roughly 70% for day and 30% for night.

Sentinel: How do you feel Kennesaw in general and more specifically the B. A. Division compare with the other colleges in the area?

Dr. T.: It's too early to say. It will be some time before we can hope to compete with other schools such as the University of Georgia and Georgia State. However, we have recruited what I feel strongly is a well qualified faculty. I feel that we will do well in placing our students locally. We will have a problem, until we develop a reputation, in placing our students on a national basis and I'm convinced that students will get a good, sound education in our business program.

Sentinel: I'm sure you have some things you would like to add.

Dr. T.: Yes. I would like to provide for our students a little knowledge about our B. A. program. I'd like to start by pointing out that B. A. itself is a broad term that covers much of the business area. There is Accounting, Economics, Finance, Management, and Marketing. As the student goes through the business program, they will learn something about all of these areas and they will then decide to concentrate or major in one or possibly two of these areas. As I mentioned before, 1/4 of the total student body is in the B. A. Division. This is because they know they will get a good job when they graduate. Others that are already working, can see how B. A. will expand their background so that they will become more eligible for a salary increase or promotion. I'd also like to point out to students, who may be undecided but considering the B. A. program, that earlier in their freshman year they take our introductory course, B. A. 101. This course is designed to give students a broad introduction of all 5 of the business areas so that they can get acquainted with the Business program and what it is all about. This will help these students decide if the B. A. Program will meet their needs.

Now, those students that have already decided on the Business Program can also be helped by B. A. 101. B. A. 101 requirements (any degree credit math). However, B. A. Program students should take math 101 and math 236. You see, in the third year there is a required math course, Business and economic statistics, which has a prerequisite B. A. of math 236. Under no circumstances should students take math 111. They can take it as an elective, but it is a waste of time and money.

Now the heart of the program is in the junior year. Students become acquainted with the other areas of Business Administration. This is designed to give all students of B. A. a common body of ions, (B. A. 308), and then the three electives.

Students who do not desire accounting can choose to major in the other areas by choosing any two of the 5 main business areas and by taking 3 junior or senior level courses from each of these areas. They can get a combination major in any 2 area. For example, a student might decide he would like to become a stock-broker. He then might decide to combine the two areas of Finance and Accounting by taking three upper level courses in Finance and three in Accounting. The student might like to become a sales manager and decide to combine Economics and Marketing. So it is possible for the school to meet the students specific needs and with the help of a B. A. advisor to develop and plan an appropriate study program.

Sentinel: This program is very flexible.

Dr. T.: Yes, very flexible. We think its a very good beginning program as well.

Sentinel: Why did you decide to choose Accounting as the full major?

Dr. T.: We decided to choose Accounting we our major because that is where our demand lies. We will develop other full majors as the student demand arises. By this combination approach, we will soon be able to tell what other areas that the students are interested in.

Sentinel: What percentages of those students on the B. A. Program have indicated they want to major in Accounting?

Dr. T.: We have very limited information. However we made a survey about a year ago. Fifty percent of the students who filled out the form indicated that they would like to pursue Accounting.

Sentinel: That's quite a large number.

Dr. T.: Yes, but you have to remember that most of these students had backgrounds only on Accounting and Economics and are not aware of the other areas. The 50% figure can, therefore, be misleading.

It is possible for B. A. students to minor in Business areas not chosen as a major. Of course, it is possible for a student to minor in any area offered by the college. We do recommend that students in the B. A. Program minor in Data Processing or Computer Science area. Business these days depends heavily in Data Processing. Students, therefore, should get as much information as they can in this area.

There is one misconception prevalent that I would like to clear up. In our catalogue, it will list the degree "B.S. in B.A.". Therefore it will appear that we do not have a major or that it will consist as a broad degree in Business Administration. From what I said previously, students can see that it is possible to major and concentrate in a specific area.

Dr. Thompson explains the new Business Administration Program.

can help them to make a preliminary decision as to what area they might like to major in. So as you can see, it is a very, very helpful first business course.

Now, the first 2 years of the B. A. program is similar to that of all other programs. That is, all students have to take courses in the broad liberal arts areas, such as humanities, social sciences and natural sciences. But they will also become acquainted with two areas in their freshman/sophomore years in our B. A. program: Accounting and Economics. This is something I'd like to stress. Students who definitely intend to go through our 4 year B. A. Program should be very careful in their math preparation. College algebra and decision math are required (math 101 and math 236). Our college catalog must be set up to the Core Curricular knowledge. This will help them to decide on a major. Students will take courses such as; Principles of Management, Principles of Finance, Principles of Marketing, in addition to Business Law, and Business and Economic Statistics. These courses are designed to help a student make up his mind as to which area to major in.

In the senior year, students will major in some business area. They will do this by taking six major area courses plus three electives from any junior or senior level courses offered at the college.

Many students decide to major in Accounting. This is because accounting does offer many good job opportunities. The first full major that Kennesaw is offering is Accounting. These students will take six courses in Accounting, plus one course in Administrative Communicat-

Dorms Now Available At Save Inn

Save Inn of Kennesaw has opened its doors of hospitality to students. The hotel is located on U. S. 41, just past the Kennesaw Due West Road intersection. It is managed by Lodging Limited, Inc. The drop in their business with the opening of the new section of I-75 has paved the way for students to live at the Inn.

The creator of this plan is Ms. Janie Sutler, Sales Director for Save Inn. She began college last summer and realized that the need for budget living quarters would be in great demand for the upcoming fall students. She proposed the idea to higher management and was given full charge of the Dorm program.

The rooms being offered are 12' by 20' and include total electric heating and air conditioning, a full bath (complete with shower), and standard hotel furniture. The carpet is almost brand new and the furniture is in fairly good condition.

One room is $175 per month for single occupancy and $200 per month for double occupancy. All students must be at least 18 years of age or must have parent authorization.

If any student wishes to rent one of the rooms for just himself, he can have one of the beds removed from the room. All students are allowed to bring in limited amounts of furniture, such as: a favorite desk, chair, or T.V. The Inn will permit nails to be driven in the walls for pictures. Posters may be taped to the walls. It will be the responsibility of each student to respect the property and remember that the room will be used in the future by someone expecting it to be in good condition.

If two people wish to live in the same room the cost will be $100 per month per student. However, when rent is paid, the Inn will not except partials, (i.e., the $200 must be paid in one lump sum).

If there is anyone who wishes to obtain a room but can not find a roommate, Ms. Sutler is making plans for a "get together" for all of these people. With a little luck and open mindedness you can find a great roommate!

There are also some suites available for groups of three or four people. Ms. Sutler expressed the idea that there would be some students who would want a little more than what the standard room could offer them. These suites would then be the answer. At press time, Ms. Sutler was unable to tell me how much the rent on the suites would be.

Upon acceptance, expect to pay two month's rent in advance. Half of this will be used as security deposit. Each student will be responsible for his own bath linens and toiletries. A one dollar key deposit is required upon room registration and replacement keys will be available at $5 each. There will be no maid service. Quiet time for the Inn will be 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. on weekdays and 12 p.m. to 8 a.m. on weekends. Any excess noise at ANY time will not be tolerated. The Inn expects all students to act as adults.

Fire laws and health regulations require that sleeping rooms be safe for public use. Therefore, a bi-monthly inspection of rooms will be conducted. The rooms will be inspected for cleanliness and damage by a Dorm Council.

The Dorm Council will consist of several students that will represent the student body living at Save Inn. They will make routine inspections and act as liaison and spokesman to the management of Save Inn.

Private phones are available by contacting Southern Bell. All deposits required are the responsibility of the student. A pay phone is provided in the motel lobby and motel wing near the dormitory location.

Use of the pool is restricted to students living at Save Inn. Each quest will be charged one dollar for use of pool facilities.

The Barnsider Restaurant will serve buffet style foods with all you can eat for just $2.00. There is also a salad bar and a "make-your-own-sundae" bar. A 10% discount will be given on all meals in the Barnsider restaurant with a student I.D. This discount does not include any liquor. No meals will be charged to the rooms. All food and beverages will be paid in cash or personal charge (i.e., Master Charge, Diners Club, etc.).

Because of the Board of Health regulations, no cooking will be allowed in the rooms. Orders to go are available in the Barnsider Restaurant. It's hours are 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Students are allowed to bring their own personal TV sets, but large, color TV sets at Save Inn are available for rent at $20 per month to any student who wishes to use one. A $50.00 deposit is required and the rental is payable monthly in advance along with the room.

Trash is to be containerized and special collection arrangements will be made with the housekeeping department. A large dumpster is located on the south side of the main building for any additional deposits. Plastic bags may be available from Housekeeping.

The Save Inn also sports a lounge!! The lounge has a free juke-box, low lights and a dance floor! There's a rumor going around that the lounge may turn into a disco! The Loft Lounge will be just the place to go and get a beer after studying!!! Be sure to see it when you go by the Inn.

There is also a banquet room and a meeting room big enough for 200 people. They're available at very special prices for school functions. If interested, inquire at the Sales Office.

The Inn has its own maintenance man who is available to repair most plumbing, lighting, heating, and air conditioning. If ever a problem were to arise in your room, you can just call the front desk. They'll take of you. Special arrangements can

It should be remembered that the Inn is not reserving their rooms for Kennesaw students only. Ms. Sutler expects many students from Southern Tech, Cobb Vocational, Life Chiropractic, and maybe even some students as far down as Georgia Tech and and the Inn for being the first to step out on a long limb to help students solve their housing problems. Perhaps this could be the beginning of something worthwhile for the college and the surrounding community. However, only the students can make it of break be made for handicapped students, as well. The Inn has reserved parking spaces clearly marked for the handicapped. Rooms on the ground floor will be furnished.

The Inn also has its own security. An added safety precaution, Ms. Sutler plans to space the girls and guys out evenly. This will give the girls an extra sense of protection, especially if it's their first time out on their own.

Georgia State.

Anyone interested in a room should contact Ms. Sutler as soon as possible because the Inn has only one wing (35 rooms) available for right now. Whether or not more wings will be opened is in question.

Last summer quarter, the Inn took on a few students. Ms. Sutler began receiving calls from parents. The parents were grateful to her it. It's up to the students to show the community and the Inn that they can act in a mature, intelligent, manner five days a week.

If there are any students willing to earn a little extra money, check with Ms. Sutler. She stated that she will be offering jobs connected with the Inn to the students rather than hiring someone off the streets.

Teaching Staff Increased

The process of hiring teachers takes about one year. It begins in the fall as the school prepares what is called an "asking budget." This budget estimates the number of students that will be enrolled the following year. In October, the faculty sends their requests to the Board of Regents. The school then sends out fliers to universities in the university system, to private colleges (such as Emory) to five of the largest universities on ten southern states, and to selected colleges. Two fliers are sent to each university; one to the Academic Dean and one to the placement office. Approximately one hundred applicants are received for each position. Each division at the school appoints a committee to examine these applications and determine the best 15 or 20. The division chairman and the committee interview 8 or 10 of these applicants. Three applicants are selected from the 8 or 10 and interviewed by the Dean and President of the College. The choice suggested by the division chairman is usually the person who is offered the job. Once the applicant has been offered the position, he has 10 days to accept. A contract is then written and when all have signed and the Board of Regents approves, a teacher is hired.

Although the college is not required to meet any standards in hiring concerning race, sex, or national origin of the applicant, there is much effort put forth. "We work very hard at balancing things off," says Dean Eugene Huck, "not because we have to, but for our consciences."

Psychology Club Start September

This fall quarter, a new club comes to Kennesaw College, a Psychology Club. Any student may join, however there will be a special effort to enroll the night students. The first meeting will be held around the end of September.

Special projects will include field trips and observations of psychology in nature. Questionnaires will be contributed during registration. These questionnaires will help to shape the club and its activities.

All those that are interested are asked to contact Ms. Grace Gallaino by dropping a note in her mailbox or putting a notice on her door, room 118 - Social Sciences. Her extension is 254.

Who Is James V. Carmichael?

As the students once again begin to file through the doors of Kennesaw's vast Student Center, many of the students are struck with a question; Who is James V. Carmichael?

Our Student Center was given the illustrious name of The James V. Carmichael Student Center. It is only fair that this renowned patron's biography be explained to the students who use the Student Center that bears his name.

A devoted public servant and friend of higher education, the late James V. Carmichael established a record of accomplishments reflecting his role as a catalyst in the growth and development of the state.

Mr. Carmichael was highly instrumental in locating the Bell Bomber Plant in his native Cobb County and he achieved national prominence in 1946 when he won the popular vote for election as governor of Georgia, but lost under the County Unit System. He received the largest number of votes ever cast up to that time for a Georgia gubernatorial candidate.

In his own community, Mr. Carmichael held several leadership positions. He served as Deacon of the First Presbyterian Church of Marietta, President of the Kiwanis Club of Marietta, and President of the Cobb County Chamber of Commerce. A graduate of Emory University with an L.L.B. degree, he practiced law in Marietta from 1933 to 1943 and in 1946.

Wide range of his activities as businessman, attorney and involved citizen included many other notable achievements, among them service as a member of the Georgia General Assembly; general manager of the Georgia division of the Bell bomber Plant and later Lockheed Aircraft Corporation; President and later chairman of the Board of the Atlanta-based Scripto organization; member of Emory University's Board of Trustees; director of Scripto, Lockheed, Trust Company of Georgia, Southern Company and Georgia International Life Insurance Company; chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the Georgia Department of Industry and Trade; Georgia District Governor of Kiwanis; president of the Atlanta Arts Alliance; consultant and advisor to the Under-secretary of the Army; director of the State Revenue Department; and recipient in 1965 of the Georgia Medal for Distinguished Service Awarded by the Associated Industries of Georgia.

Appointed in 1965 as Seventh District Representative to the State Board of Regents, Mr. Carmichael held that position until his death in 1972. In recognition of his outstanding leadership, the Board of Regents, upon the recommendation of President Horace W. Sturgis of Kennesaw Junior College, unanimously approved the naming of the new student center the James V. Carmichael Student Center.

A Move For Music

By Judy Jascomb

Students will no longer have to shove and squeeze their way among desks as they walk up the risers in Room 125 in the Humanities Building. Classes upstairs will no longer have their lectures spiced with the bustle of the chorus and Stage Band practice, symphonies blaring from the stereo in Music Appreciation, or the sound of soloists accompanied by the tinkling of the grand piano.

Life in the Humanities Building won't be the same as of September, 1979; the Music Department will be moving out. Not out of school, but into their own building. The maintenance building, located on the northeast side of campus, will be remodeled to accommodate the necessary facilities for music students and music faculty.

Dr. Wayne Gibson, assistant professor of music at Kennesaw College, told excitedly of the new facilities. "There will be office studies, a student practice rooms, classrooms, a large rehearsal hall, a piano lab, and a listening lab, oh--and minus one gas pump," he explained.

For those wondering what will become of the maintenance department, Dr. Gibson joked, "They will have a new palace built out in the parking lot."

Man And His Words

Destiny of man is expressed in such meaningless hoard,
What then can we feel for them but surely bored?

These things we call words hold us prisoner and keeper,
We drown as their meaning grows deeper and deeper.

Is it the on-set of mid earth time,
Containing little value for the works of our time?

Such tools of man called words seem small and vain,
We sit idly and listen while man feels their strain.

What then is the value, the meaning of talk to come,
Shall we sit by and watch man grow deeper and dumb?

'Tis the inborn measuring stick of worldly deals,
It's man as their keeper, the master of their wheels.

These things we call words, what be they but drops of life,
Drops content to be molded by man in his trife?

Where do they all end, and when do they grow weary,
Will man abide in their meaning and never grow leary?

'Tis not an object to be held in our hands,
Their power and beauty, their ugliness roams our lands.

The Robber Bridegroom

We open the season with another dazzling musical. The Robber Bridegroom is a fantasy love story based on a novella by Eudora Welty. It's filled with mystery, disguise and blue grass music.

The Little Foxes.

Lillian Hellman's electrifying story of greed, power and dark intrigue. A southern family dominated by a powerful woman determined to destroy anything or anyone who stands in her way. Dana Ivey stars.

A New Play.

Our surprise production. We're reading scripts now to bring you another smash hit premiere in the tradition of this season's Tennessee Williams' world premiere, Tiger Tail and last year's Come Back To The 5 And Dime Jimmy Dean. Jimmy Dean.

Peter Pan.

For next year's Holiday season we present a spectacular production of James M. Barrie's ever-new Peter Pan. Follow Peter Pan, and the invisible fairy, Tinker Bell, into Never Land, where children never grow old and where Captain Hook and his pirates are outwitted. See Peter Pan fly through the Alliance Theatre. (Remember, subscribers have first chance to order extra tickets for family and friends.)

The Royal Family

A hilarious and touching take-off on the Barrymore Family by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber. This celebration of life in the professional theatre chronicles three generations of the great family of the American stage.

Othello

To close our season we present Shakespeare's powerful tale of the tragic Moor who loved not wisely, but too well. Iago's malevolent cunning convinces Othello of Desdemona's infidelity and leads him to destroy the thing he loves.

Food Notes

The Lark and Dove
Roswell Rd. at I-285 Exit, Sandy Springs

By Martin Stone

There is few, if any discouraging comments one could make about this fine establishment. The Lark and Dove excels in so many ways that it is difficult to list them all. The service is efficient and pleasant. The choice and quality of food is beyond reproach. For example, the Long Island Duckling, covered in orange sauce, is carefully prepared. It is flamed with cognac at your table. Extra orange sauce and wild rice comes standard. Hot loaves of bread and plates of creamy butter are constantly offered throughout the meal. The wine list, which is in need of improvement, sports a Mouton Cadet Rothschild scuttered among a variety of mediocre wines. Dessert is worthwhile. Jerry Farber's quartet plays nightly. Good jokes and a quiet motif enhances an already superb atmosphere. The Irish coffee is a must. And yes, dreams do have a price. $50-$60 should get you through dinner for two, dessert, wine, tips and after dinner drinks. Be sure to make reservations!

Georgia Tourism Looks Like Fun This Year

Georgia tourism has a new look this year!

In keeping with the Department of Industry and Trade slogan, "Georgia. This way to Fun," the state now sports seven travel regions, all dressed in bright colors for easy identification by the potential traveler.

"Establishing seven distinctive travel regions for Georgia is a concept we believe will result in greater tourism revenues," says Ed Spivia, Director, Georgia Department of Industry and Trade Tourist Division.

"Georgia is a big, beautiful state with tremendous vacation variety. By forming regions which have tourist attractions that are compatible and by developing tour suggestions for each region, we are confident the traveler will spend more vacation days here this year."

"This is so the traveler can sort out the regions as he reads our literature and as he visits the Welcome Centers. In the instance where the traveler does not have enough time to cover the entire state, he will have guidance in choosing the areas which best fit his interests," Spivia added.

"For example, those who are seeking history in the making might select PLAINS COUNTRY. This southwest corner of the State not only emphasizes the President's hometown—which has been of paramount interest to travelers—but also offers Plains as the gateway to a wide selection of other appealing attractions: Westville, Chehaw Wild Animal Park, the Georgia Agrirama, Historic Columbus, the Andersonville Trail, Providence Canyon, Callaway Gardens, and the American Camellia Society Headquarters."

As in Plains Country, where travel attractions are bound together by backwoods, frontier flavor shared by all, Georgia's six other travel regions focus on outstanding characteristics common to the attractions within their borders.

PIONEER TERRITORY, the northwest section of the State, is an area rich in Indian lore where visitors will find reminders of the culture and traditions of some of Georgia's earliest settlers. Highlights of this region include the Vann House, the Chieftains, Rock City, New Echota, Chickamauga National Battlefield, Oak Hill, the Martha Berry Memorial Museum, Etowah Indian Mounds and Red Top Mountain, Fort Mountain and Cloudland Canyon State Parks.

Next door, the NORTHEAST GEORGIA MOUNTAINS is a region filled with breathtaking scenery. Peaks and valleys, streams and waterfalls, picturesque villages, a mining town—all combine to make this area a haven for those who love the outdoors. Brasstown Bald, the State's highest mountain is here along with hundreds of year round fishing, camping and hiking facilities and resorts which range from rustic, to those which specialize both in winter skiing and in golfing and water sports.

In the CLASSIC SOUTH, stately antebellum mansions that have been preserved since the era of the Civil War abound. Visit Madison, Athens and Washington to see structures spared by Sherman. Other vestiges of the "great conflict" can be viewed throughout the region in such places as the Cotton Exchange and Old Slave Market Column, the Confederate Powder Works and the Alexander Stephens Memorial Museum.

Georgia's COLONIAL COAST presents an historic region of still another era—the Revolutionary War. The aura of the past lingers here, too, in a nationally acclaimed Historic Landmark District as well as at Fort Frederica, the Midway Church and Museum and the Savannah Waterfront. Pre-dating even these are the sunswept beaches of the Golden Isles and the mysterious Okefenokee Swamp.

Atlanta is the dynamo dominating Georgia's BIG A, yet the metropolitan glamour and sophistication are tempered by heavy doses of gracious, Southern hospitality at three popular family amusement parks, FDR's Little White House, and the Governor's Mansion.

HEART OF GEORGIA is the centrally located region that features a sampling of the kinds of attractions found in each of the others: big city atmosphere in Macon, the history of the Old South and Colonial Era is magnificent restorations scattered throughout the region and concentrated in Clinton, Milledgeville and Sparta, Indian legends at the Ocmulgee

National Monument, and plenty of outdoor activity at High Falls and Little Ocmulgee State Parks.

All in all, Georgia's new tourist regions definitely point the way to fun. To receive a copy of the State's seven region comprehensive travel guide scheduled for distribution in early April, write: "Georgia. This Way To Fun", Post Office Box 1776, Atlanta, Georgia 30301.

It's Only Natural

By Martin Stone

What is big, beautiful, natural, costs less than $10,000 of surplus money and is to be built a few thousand feet south of the Administration Building? The Arboretum! What is an Arboretum? The Webster's New World Dictionary defines Arboretum as a "place where many kinds of trees and shrubs are grown for exhibition or study."

Kennesaw's Arboretum will have nature trails, an observation platform and will be equipped with railroad-tie steps. Mr. Spooner, a landscape architect, designed the plans which are now in the hands of a commercial landscaping firm. The funding for their project is coming from the surplus accumulated after the original construction of Kennesaw College. There will be no state appropriation necessary. The Arboretum will be a welcome addition to the many useful facilities available here at the college.

Do You Have Talent?

The Media Center is looking for talented people. If you look good (or think you do); have a good speaking or singing voice; write scripts, poems, or riddles; like to draw or are artistic; or just interested in any part of production in audio-visual materials: The Media Center wants you.

This is an excellent opportunity for Kennesaw students to become involved with different facets of audio-visual productions and a chance to use creative abilities while getting recognition for their efforts.

Anyone interested should drop by the media center or call ext. 252.

Activities Available In Abundance

By Michelle Spivey

Many activities are available to all currently enrolled students during the fall. Anyone who is interested in meeting new people, being physically fit, and having a great time should sign up for intramurals competition by the end of September.

Fall intramurals will include outside activities such as: men and women's tennis (novice and advanced), men and women's racquetball, co-ed volleyball and flag football. Tournaments will also be held in intramural table tennis. If you are interested in these tournaments, sign up in the gym.

Swimming competitions will also be held this fall. Other pool activities will include water volleyball and water basketball. Free swimming hours are scheduled during afternoons and on particular nights. All currently enrolled students, faculty, and staff (their guests and dependents) are allowed to use the pool during free swim hours.

For those who would rather participate individually, the gym and courts are open to any student when classes are not being held. Equipment for all sports activities may be checked out from the equipment room in the gym. A student I.D. card is required for checking out of all sports equipment.

In November, Kennesaw's annual Turkey Trot will be held. All those finishing the race will receive a special Turkey Trot T-Shirt. Special prices will be given to first, second, and third place winners. Last year, the first and second place winners received a real turkey. The third place winner was awarded a cornish hen. Check for further details concerning the Turkey Trot in coming issues of The Sentinel.

Canoe Race Results

By Rusty Moore

It all began on Friday, August 4, about 1:00 p.m. It did not end until about 4:30 p.m. the following Friday. The suspense was high but the rain kept pouring down. Finally we got the word. The canoe race was on. We may not have had many spectators for this race but, one thing is for sure, we had 20 contestants gnawing at the bit to go.

Four two-man canoes held tightly together at the buoyed starting line as slight drizzles of rain came down. The lifeguard boat approached and the guard explained the rules of the race course. Then suddenly, "On your mark, get set," and the whistle was blown.

Marc Downey and Saahrian (Robert) Ayatouahghaffari placed first. Second place went to Linda Henderson and Mark Zimmerman. Third was claimed by Jeanie Lipsius and Tim Verner. In fourth place was Daniel Wallace and Debbie Wolfe. All eight received T-Shirts as prizes.

I did not think that the rain would stop one of these determined people. However, just as the amateurs lined up at the starting line, it began to thunder. At this time, officials called the race off until next Friday.

Five canoes stood at the starting line the next Friday, however, this time, sun rays fell on the crowd instead of rain. "Not bad," said the official, "Only four people missing." The race began without incident.

Steve Dearborn and Jane Proctor came in first with a strong lead. Dennis Waldron and Sharon Kelley came in second. Third place went to Hamp All and Dee Dee Waldors. Coming in fourth
