Kennesaw Junior College

New Counselor Joins Staff

Miss Samra Hicks, a former teacher-counselor at Immaculata Junior College, has joined the staff of Kennesaw Junior College as a counselor.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Carol L. Martin, dean of student affairs. Miss Hicks' major area of responsibility will be in student activities.

The new counselor holds the bachelor of arts degree in sociology from Ursuline College and the master of education degree in psychology, counseling and guidance from Loyola University. She attended a National Defense Education Act Institute in guidance at Boston University, and has studied during summers at University of Kentucky, Western State College, Bellarmine College and Georgetown University.

Miss Hicks was a teacher-counselor at Immaculata High School prior to being associated with Immaculata Junior College. She is a member of American Personnel and Guidance Association.

After assuming her duties at Kennesaw Junior College, Miss Hicks immediately became involved in the student activities on campus. She acted as chaperone at the recent Leadership Conference to Bryson City, North Carolina.

She is extremely interested in college students and is looking forward to an enjoyable career at KJC.

KJC Will Host Area Schools' College Night

One of the primary functions of Kennesaw Junior College as an institution of higher learning is to encourage high school students from the surrounding community to continue on to college level education. At the same time, it is hoped that many of these students will choose our college for that pursuit of education.

This method of encouragement is attained in many ways, one of which is the participation of KJC in the various college night programs in this area. Accordingly, on October 3, 1968, Mr. Ronald R. Ingle, Director of Admissions and Student Aid, will head up a program in which numerous high school students from the surrounding community will be invited to attend a college night program here at Kennesaw Junior College.

Previously, college night programs have been conducted at a centrally located high school to which the major colleges and universities in Georgia and other states would send representatives. However, the system has been reversed this year in hopes that holding the program on a college campus will help expose the students to a college atmosphere and increase their desire to continue their education.

The Wayfarers Set For September 28

On September 28 at 8:00 P.M., Kennesaw Junior College will proudly present one of the top folk groups in the nation, The Wayfarers. This concert will mark the second appearance of this group on our campus. They were received with such tremendous acclaim at their first performance that they have been asked to return by popular demand.

The concert will be held in the Physical Education Building.

If folk music is the "word" of our times -- a times seeking to know its sources, its future, and itself -- then The Wayfarers may well be its voice. Blending the past, present and future, the comic and the tragic, the specific and the universal into a wholly new vision of what folk music is and can be, these remarkable young men are opening dramatic new vistas in contemporary entertainment.

Early in 1963, they premiered San Francisco's world-famous Hungry 1 .. launching pad for a host of skyrocketing careers. They packed the house there nightly and generated such an excitement that RCA Victor's west coast executive staff decided to immediately record The Wayfarers' second album live at the Hungry 1, although their first RCA album had yet to be released.

Recognizing the need for extended higher education and experience in other fields, The Wayfarers returned to the academic world to complete their educations. However, the desire for performing remained. Urged on by many people closely associated with the entertainment world, the boys successfully reorganized in 1966. Taking the best of the old and combining it with new brilliance, The Wayfarers have returned to the entertainment world with performances that have left fans, old and new, standing in ovation.

The Wayfarers are, in the truest sense, individuals and they represent their own unique cross-section of Americans. Although each is a talented performer in his own right, together they have created an entity which far surpasses any individual success. They perform like blood brothers, although it is only their talent that makes them kin.

They are Ray Blouin, Corky Hart, and David Hull -- The Wayfarers, a remarkable voice that sings, truly, the sources, senses, and meanings of our time.

Campus Publications Announce New Policies

The 1968-69 publications have announced their individual staffs for the next college year.

The SENTINEL, the Kennesaw Junior College newspaper, will be headed by Claire Beale, editor, and Jackie Hudson, assistant editor. Chad Keith will be the business manager and Morgan L. Stapleton will be the faculty advisor.

Several new policies will dominate the SENTINEL in the coming year. A complete listing of classified ads will be available to all students who wish to sell or buy merchandise or to rent apartments and advertise for employment. Another major change in the SENTINEL will be the start of publication on a twice monthly basis beginning in January. It is hoped that more frequent editions of the newspaper can keep the students better informed on campus activities.

The new MONTAGE staff has also set a major goal for the coming year--an earlier deadline so that the college yearbook can reach the students sooner than ever before. The staff has been enlarged so that more emphasis can be placed on the individual student. In an effort to insure this

Movies To Be Shown At KJC

It's free!

Student budgets being what they are, those two words have a pleasant sound. And, when what is offered is not only free but also the best available, it turns a pleasant sound into a joyful noise.

Now being shown on a regular basis at Kennesaw Junior College, is College Cinema, an entertaining and stimulating program of short films. Each program will feature a large variety of films from the library of Modern Talking Picture Service. These will range from comedy, sports, travel, career opportunities, and America's problems and challenges.

Modern, the world's largest distributor of free-loan films, obtains the films from many sources including government agencies, foundations, business firms and associations. These organizations have prepared the films as public service projects and to maintain and support their contact with the general public.

Many of the College Cinema films feature narration by noted personalities and award-winning cinematography. There are films for everybody--the intellectual, the athlete, the activist, and anyone looking for a new and diverting campus activity.

Information concerning these films will be distributed regularly.

emphasis, the MONTAGE staff will be taking pictures of all students on both freshman and sophomore registration days. This procedure will enable the staff to obtain almost 100 per cent participation in student photographs this year.

The yearbook staff will be headed by David Acuff, editor; Ginger Jackson, assistant editor; and Sheila Payne, business manager. Dr. Jere Roberson will be the faculty advisor.

Beginning this fall quarter, a third publication will be formed at Kennesaw Junior College. It is hoped that students will respond enthusiastically to the formation of a literary magazine which will be designed to reflect the creative ability of the students at this college. Under the direction of Jim Cahill, editor, the literary magazine will also attempt to inspire the students to express themselves through literature and art. Faculty advisors for this publication will be Miss Mary E. Rogato, Instructor of English, and M. Thomson Salter, III, Assistant Professor of Art.

Kennesaw Junior College

CLAIRE BEALE

What is student involvement and how can it work at KJC?

Over the past year, much has been said about the question of student power and the right of the student to help direct the administrative policies in colleges and universities. Now a new college year is beginning and faculty and administrators are again having to set the standards by which they will respond to student demands.

Although Kennesaw Junior College is only a two-year institution, many of the problems which face the senior colleges regarding student participation in administrative affairs also effect our campus. To deal with these problems, the Office of Student Affairs recently sponsored a weekend Leadership Conference in Bryson City, North Carolina. There, in an informal atmosphere, students and administrators frankly discussed the question of student involvement and how it could benefit—or destroy—our campus.

In an attempt to actually define student involvement, discussion centered around three major aspects of it—responsibility, awareness, and communication.

When a student enters college, his primary objective should be the attainment of a well-rounded education. To do this, he should accept the personal responsibility to do the very best he can to make the highest possible grades. If he does accept this responsibility, he then achieves one of the first basic requirements for student involvement. He establishes his right to become involved because he has become a responsible student.

As a student attempts to obtain a more well-rounded education, he becomes involved in more aspects of learning. He realizes that academics alone cannot always provide him with the type of education he is seeking and he, therefore, becomes aware of his duty to take interest in some of the extra-curricular activities which his college offers. He begins to become associated with other students and with faculty and administrators. He becomes an accepted part of an effective educational system based on communication between all the people involved.

How can we at Kennesaw Junior College make use of these aspects—responsibility, awareness, and communication? How can we convert three words into active student involvement?

The time is right. Freshman orientation and student registration are signs of the beginning of a new college year. With the new year come new leaders in campus activities. Each of these activities is eager for new members who are willing to become involved and make it a success.

All entering freshman should take stock of what benefits lie before them if they become involved in campus activities. Through membership comes friendship and a greater knowledge of the world in which we live. Action now to join these activities means an excellent foundation on which to build a rewarding and enjoyable academic career which combines academic and social awareness.

All returning students should also focus upon the situation. Now is the time to change the side of your campus life that has been lacking. After all, transfer to senior colleges is in the near future and you should be prepared for the host of activities which they will offer you.

Kennesaw Junior College is for the students. Without them it cannot hope to exist. Without the spirit to survive, it cannot maintain its fight for life. As students, we owe it to ourselves to act now to become involved and accept the responsibility, become aware, and enter into full communication with our fellow students, our faculty, and our administrators.

Freshmen to

JACKIE HUDSON

Freshmen should be unique and not typical

Sure this is your first year in college. You don't want to go overboard and take on too many activities because you want to make good grades. This is a fresh beginning for you and you want to begin it right. You want to get to know the other students and get yourself settled before you commit yourself to anything.

All of these are typical thoughts of the typical freshman. Then about halfway through his first quarter, the typical freshman decides that it is much easier just to go to classes or bop into the Student Center for twenty minutes and to dash for home or work than to put out a little extra effort so that he can become a functioning part of Kennesaw Junior College. When the end of the quarter arrives, the typical student—no longer the typical freshman—gripes about the lack of unity in the college, says that there is no school spirit on campus, and lashes out at the so-called cliques which are the members of the campus clubs and organizations. But by now the typical student has lost so much of his initiative that he doesn't even bother to write a letter to the editor of the campus newspaper to express his gripes or attend a Student Government meeting to see what can be done to cure the ailments.

KJC doesn't need any more typical freshmen but the school does need unique freshmen with fresh ideas, initiative, and eagerness to improve Kennesaw Junior College. Are you going to be a typical freshman or one of those individuals who can make an excellent name for himself in our campus life by becoming an active member of the functioning student body?

"I've never been invited to a party where I wasn't allowed to dance." — (Timely saying.)

This year we have heard more about students, student involvement, and participation, working through channels, working outside channels, communication, and campus revolution than has ever been heard in the course of history.

We have been asked, "Why are the students of today so upset? They've never been this way before." I think we can answer that easily .. We know more today than in previous years .. we are informed about what's going on, we are forever being told, "You're the leaders of tomorrow," and we want to get some practice in, and we would like to do it through channels if they are open for us.

We are concerned about everything and we want to help. Our teachers have made us this way, and if they have created a Frankenstein, they must tame it.

"Get involved," they preach. "Go through established channels," they tell us. "Don't be an outsider protesting like the Hippies do."

"Okay," we answer, "give us your ears inside your systems, and we'll join you, but if you force us away, you give us no alternative but to disrupt you." Students will not close buildings we are welcome in.

We want to share our thoughts and we want someone to listen. There is a trend in this direction and we are grateful.

The Chancellor and Regents of Georgia's University System have formed a Student Advisory Council to meet with them. . . Colleges all over the country are doing away with old faculty-only committees and letting students have a voice also. . .

Our progress here (at Dalton Junior College) is our blessing .. we can only afford to go forward .. and one available way is to allow students to practice for leadership and responsibility by allowing students to be on more committees.

Teachers are teachers, and students are, well, students.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Controller gives answer to students' question

(Editor's Note: The following letter is in response to the editorial written in the August 15 edition of the SENTINEL.)

Dear Editor:

It is true that the tennis courts presently under construction will not have lights for playing at night.

When the bid for the original proposed tennis court facility was opened, it was apparent that several desirable features had to be eliminated in order to stay within the limits of the budget.

After considerable discussion, the number of courts was believed to be more directly beneficial to the students in terms of instructional quality and use than the lights. Daylight savings time during the spring and summer months when tennis is very popular, permits playing until approximately 9:00 P.M. without the need for lighting facilities.

Utilization after this hour would in all probability be at a minimum.

However, underground electrical provisions have been provided so that lights may be easily added at a later date as funds become available.

The facility when completed will be one of the finest installations of its kind in the metropolitan area. It is sincerely hoped the courts will be looked on with pride, greatly used, and treated with respect and care.

Very truly yours,

Roger E. Hopkins

Dear Editor:

We the undersigned demand a retraction in your next edition of the SENTINEL. We are two of the three Civitans who operated the car wash at Enco at Bells Ferry on August 3, 1968. We do not feel that we close up shop early because we, with the help of four non-member friends, washed cars from 10 until 4 with one 15-minute lull. Our sore muscles know we worked. We washed approximately 20 cars and two other station owners came by and asked us to hold car washes at their stations.

The Entertainers To Play At Freshman Orientation Dance

As an exciting climax to the freshman orientation program, Kennesaw Junior College will hold a dance tonight in the Student Services Building on campus from 8:30 to 12:00 P. M. One of the most outstanding bands in the nation, Vic Waters and The Entertainers, will provide music for the evening. Dress will be casual.

Vic Waters and The Entertainers, who have currently been playing at the Domino Lounge in Atlanta, are one of the most exciting groups to perform in our area for a long while. The band consists of eleven members who provide an action-packed show for their audience. The ten musicians back up the lead singer, Vic Waters, on all types of instruments ranging from drums and guitars to trumpets and saxophones. Each member is an accomplished musician in his own right; as a result, the total sound of these eleven men is an experience in music which should not be missed. Their music reflects the mode of our day, consisting of jazz, blues, rock and soul. Their success is reflected in their tremendous acceptance at the Domino Lounge where crowds have continued to respond to them nightly.

The Student Government Association is sponsoring this dance as the culminating feature of the 1968-69 freshman orientation program. The Student Activities Committee is graciously consenting to finance the band because they feel it will bring the biggest possible turnout of the student body.

The theme for the dance will center around the periods of the 20's and 30's in American history -- the era between wars which reflected light hearted spirit and carefree living.

This dance for freshman orientation will be only one of the many social events which are planned for the coming year. Plans are already under way for a Christmas dance. Attempts to secure an off-campus location for the dance are also being discussed. It is hoped that the college can present at least two dances a quarter for the benefit of the students at Kennesaw Junior College.

The purpose of this well-planned dance tonight will be to provide an informal atmosphere in which students, faculty, and administrators can all get together and become better acquainted.

It is hoped that at least 500 students and their guests will turn out for this dance, the first big social event at Kennesaw Junior College for fall quarter, 1968.

Freshman Orientation Is Termed Big Success

The 1968-69 program of orientation for incoming freshmen was begun yesterday, on Thursday, September 19, by the administration and the Student Government Association at Kennesaw Junior College. Mr. Bill Berry, president of the SGA, presided.

The new students were officially welcomed by Mr. Berry in an informal speech which set the precedence for the entire orientation program, that of stressing concern for the individual student by campus leaders and administrators. He also introduced a number of students who occupy roles of leadership on our campus; these students included presidents of clubs and organizations and the editors of the campus publications.

Dr. Horace W. Sturgis, president of the college, also welcomed the students and emphasized the purpose of education and how this purpose is attained at Kennesaw Junior College.

Dr. Carol Martin, Dean of Student Affairs, introduced administrative, counseling, and library personnel in an attempt to acquaint the new freshmen with some of the people who will guide their first two years in college. Some of the persons introduced were Dr. Derrell Roberts, Dean of the College; Mr. Roger Hopkins, Controller; Mr. Ronald Ingle, Director of Admissions and Student Aid; Mr. Thomas Rogers, Registrar; Miss Cullene Morgan, Coordinator of Continuing Education and Public Information Services; Mrs. Inez Morgan and Miss Samra Hicks, Counselors; Mr. Robert Greene, Librarian; and Mrs. Martha Giles, Assistant Librarian.

Important facts pertaining to registration for freshmen on Friday, September 20, were discussed by Mr. Rogers, who emphasized the importance of student responsibility.

Mr. Berry also stressed the importance of student involvement by discussing the variety of student activities which are available to all students on our campus.

After a series of campus tours led by student guides, the new freshmen were served a free fried chicken luncheon in the Student Services Building.

The highlight of the orientation program commenced after the luncheon when the freshmen were given the opportunity to talk with their individual faculty advisors, those people who will be directing them in their choice of courses for the next two years at Kennesaw Junior College.

The program was concluded at 4:00 P. M. after the students were sufficiently acquainted with their new environment at Kennesaw Junior College.

Students To Elect Senators

The Student Government Association is one of the most active organizations on the Kennesaw Junior College campus. Headed by Bill Berry, president, it has already set the standards by which the coming college year will act.

Other officers in the organization include Ginger Jackson, vice-president; Bonnie Boyce, secretary; and Kay Franklin, treasurer.

One major plan for the new year will be the election of freshman and sophomore senators to serve on the SGA staff at KJC. These representatives will be elected by the students as a voice between the Student body and the administration.

Details concerning senatorial elections will be released soon. It is hoped that all beginning freshmen will judge their individual qualifications and will seriously consider running for the office of freshman senator.

Freshman Parents Are Invited To View KJC

In conjunction with the freshman orientation, Kennesaw Junior College will host a parents' visitation program on Sunday, September 22, from 3:00 to 5:00 P.M. The activities will be held in the Student Services Building on campus.

Mr. Bill Berry, a student at Kennesaw Junior College and president of the Student Government Association, will welcome the new students and introduce the guest speakers. The parents will also be welcomed by Dr. Horace W. Sturgis, President, who will give a brief account of the purpose of Kennesaw Junior College.

Dr. Derrell Roberts, Dean of the College, will discuss the academic program and how it is maintained on our campus.

The other featured speaker will be Dr. Carol L. Martin, Dean of Student Affairs. He will discuss the system of student personnel services at Kennesaw Junior College.

After these discussions have been completed, student guides and student leaders will conduct the parents on tours of the campus. Faculty members will be present to answer any questions which the parents might have regarding campus activities.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments will be served in the Student Services Building.

ATTENTION!

To all freshmen! This special edition of the SENTINEL has been published for you in hopes that it will answer many of the questions which you might have about KJC.

Welcome to our campus!

Introducing: Kennesaw Junior College

Welcome to Kennesaw Junior College, one of the most outstanding two-year institutions in the Southeast.

As a beginning freshman in college, it is a certainty that many questions have been arising regarding campus policies, college purposes, school rules and regulations, student activities, etc. Because one of the primary functions of the SENTINEL is to provide the student with an array of the best possible information available, it is taking the opportunity to discuss the following data which may help you in achieving a more valuable and well-rounded college education and to help acquaint you with Kennesaw Junior College:

History

Kennesaw Junior College was approved by the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia on October 9, 1963. This action was taken under criteria for the establishment of new junior colleges in Georgia adopted by the Board of Regents in 1958.

Cobb County was designated as the site of the College which was officially named in August, 1965. The first president, Horace W. Sturgis, assumed duties on July 1 of that year.

The enrollment for the first academic year, 1966-67, totaled 1,014 in the Fall Quarter, 864 in the Winter Quarter and 787 in the Spring Quarter. It increased 32 percent by the beginning of the second year.

When the school opened in September, 1966, the physical plant was not complete and classes were held in temporary locations in Marietta. The College was moved to the permanent site in January, 1967, and the campus was landscaped and streets and parking lots were paved that year.

Eight members of the teaching faculty and an administrative staff member were added during the second year.

The instructional program includes a Division of Humanities, a Division of Natural Science and Mathematics, a Division of Social Science, and a Department of Physical Education.

Purpose of the College

Kennesaw Junior College, a unit of the University System of Georgia, was established to provide programs of post-secondary school education to the community within commuting distance of the college. The offerings of the college are limited to the resources available to the college, and to the policies of the Board of Regents of the University System which require that the college shall not duplicate programs of study provided at a reasonable cost to the individual by other institutions in the community.

The purpose of Kennesaw Junior College is, therefore, to provide opportunities to serve the educational and cultural needs of the community in which the college is located through the following channels:

Programs of post-secondary school education designed to prepare students for transfer to universities and senior colleges where they may successfully pursue programs of study leading to a baccalaureate degree;

Programs of post-secondary school education of a terminal nature which are not offered by other educational institutions in the community, and for which the resources of the college are reasonably adequate;

Developmental courses designed for students who need to strengthen their academic backgrounds and evaluate their educational and vocational goals through individualized programs of study; and

Programs of adult education and community services for individuals in the community who may wish to participate in programs of continuing education.

The Campus

Kennesaw's campus, located on a 152-acre tract of land eight miles north of Marietta, features modern architecture.

It is flanked on the west by the Pinetree Estates and Country Club and on the north and east by rambling, wooded hillsides. The south view overlooks Kennesaw Mountain, a battle site of the War Between the States. Though it lies in this peaceful setting, the College is 20 miles from Atlanta, the largest city in the Southeast.

Index of Buildings

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, located at the west side of the campus, contains the offices of the president, the dean, student affairs, admissions, registrar, controller, public information and continuing education.

STUDENT SERVICES BUILDING, situated between the administration and science buildings and facing north on the quadrangle, houses the college book store, snack bar, cafeteria, kitchen, student dining room, private dining room, printing shop, faculty lounge, and offices of the Student Government Association and student publications.

SCIENCE BUILDING, located at the southeast corner of the quadrangle, contains classrooms and laboratories for biology, chemistry, physics, nursing and mathematics, and faculty offices.

LIBRARY, located at the center of the east side of the quadrangle, contains a collection of 20,000 volumes, periodicals and aids for academic purposes. It also provides comfortable furniture in study rooms and study carrels, a student lounge, seminar room and offices for the staff.

SOCIAL SCIENCE BUILDING, located on the northeast corner of the quadrangle, contains classrooms and offices for the Division of Social Science and a learning laboratory.

HUMANITIES BUILDING, situated on the north side of the quadrangle, houses the classrooms and offices for the Division of Humanities and a learning laboratory.

GYMNASIUM, located at the east side of the campus across the parking lot from the quadrangle, is used for physical education courses, intramural contests and other college sponsored activities. It has a seating capacity of 2300, and contains a swimming pool, weight lifting room and faculty offices.

Dr. Derrell Roberts announces new faculty

Dr. Derrell C. Roberts, Dean of the College, has announced the following list of educators who have joined the faculty at Kennesaw Junior College:

Mr. Ralph Charles Bowden has assumed the position of Assistant Professor of History. He received the B. S. degree in electrical engineering from North Carolina State University. Mr. Bowden also received the M. A. degree from the Queens College of CUNY where he majored in modern European history and minored in American history. He has recently studied at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, toward his Ph. D. degree.

Mrs. Geraldine M. Casse is holding a position in the Division of Social Sciences as a teacher of economics. She received the B.B.A. degree from the University of Georgia and later received the M. A. degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Mrs. Emma F. Clark, Instructor of Nursing, holds the B. S. and M. S. degree from the University of Alabama where her major field was nursing. She also attended the University of Kentucky and the University of Louisville where her major interest was psychology.

Michael A. Dalton, who is teaching business administration at Kennesaw Junior College, received the B. B. A. degree from Georgia State College. He also received the M. B. A. degree from Georgia State where he is currently working toward his Ph. D. degree.

Miss Marguerite L. Hagler is a new Instructor of English at KJC. She received the B. A. and M. A. degrees from the University of Kentucky where her major field was English and her minor studies were speech and drama. She is currently doing graduate work at Georgia State College in Atlanta, Georgia.

Miss Carole Hyde is assuming a position to teach music at Kennesaw Junior College. She earned the B. A. degree from Georgia State College and the M. M.

degree from Florida State University.

Mr. Charles F. Martin, Assistant Professor of Economics, received the B. A. degree from Wayne State University in Detroit, Michigan. His major was in economics and his minor was in biology. Mr. Martin earned the M. A. degree from the University of Mississippi where he continued his studies in economics and changed his minor to business. Mr. Martin has also completed the course work necessary to receive the Ph. D. degree from Louisiana State University.

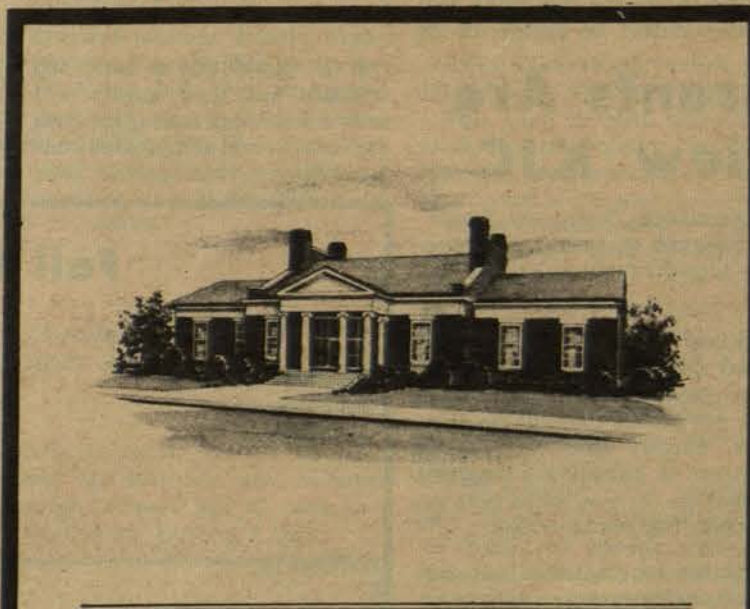

Mrs. Frances R. Morgan, Instructor of Nursing, holds the B. S. degree in nursing and the M. N. degree from Emory University. She has also attended LaGrange College.

Mr. Samuel F. Roach, Jr., has assumed the position of Assistant Professor of History. He earned the B. A. degree from Georgia State College, majoring in history and minoring in education. He received the M. A. degree from Villanova University in Pennsylvania. Mr. Roach has also completed the course work necessary to earn the Ph.D. degree from the University of Oklahoma.

Mr. Thomas A. Scott is also assuming a teaching position in the history department. He received the B. S. and M. A. degrees from the University of Tennessee. He has begun his further study toward his doctorate at the University of Tennessee and at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Mr. Donald J. Sparks, who has assumed the position of Instructor of Mathematics, received the B. S. degree in education from the University of Georgia. His major field was math education. Mr. Sparks also received the M. Ed. degree from the University of Georgia. He is now doing further study in his field.

Mrs. Marsha W. Steppe has assumed the position of Instructor of French at Kennesaw Junior College. She received the B. A. and M. A. degrees from the University of South Carolina.

KJC provides financial aid for students

Kennesaw Junior College is prepared to assist qualified students with scholarships, loans, or student employment.

Eligibility for financial aid is based on financial need, academic potential, and participation in school and community activities.

Students seeking financial assistance are required to submit a copy of the Kennesaw Junior College Application for Financial Aid and a copy of the Parent's Confidential Statement of the College Scholarship Service. These forms are available from the high school counselor or from the Director of Student Aid at Kennesaw Junior College.

Scholarships and Grants

The following system of scholarships and grants is also available to students at Kennesaw Junior College:

REGENTS SCHOLARSHIPS -- The Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia makes scholarship awards to superior students who need financial aid in order to attend college. These awards are limited to Georgia residents. Applicants should apply directly to the Director of Student Aid at Kennesaw Junior College.

EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY GRANTS -- Kennesaw Junior College participates in the Educational Opportunity Grants Program which was established by the Higher Education Act of 1965. This program is designed to provide Educational Opportunity Grants to students of exceptional financial need, who, for lack of financial means would be unable to enter or remain in college without such assistance. Applicants should apply to the Director of Student Aid at Kennesaw Junior College.

STATE SCHOLARSHIP COMMISSION -- The Commission provides scholarships to qualified students in certain professional or technical fields. For more information, contact the State Scholarship Commission, Hartford Building, 100 Edgewood Avenue, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia 30303 or the Director of Student Aid at Kennesaw Junior College.

OTHER SCHOLARSHIPS -- Several civic clubs and organizations in the area served by Kennesaw Junior College have in the past made awards on a yearly basis. It is felt that this practice will continue and that such awards will be available to students.

Loans

A system of loans is also made available to the students on the following basis:

NATIONAL DEFENSE STUDENT LOAN PROGRAM -- Kennesaw Junior College participates in the National Defense Student Loan Program which was established by the National Defense Education Act of 1958. Applicants should apply to the Director of Student Aid at Kennesaw Junior College.

The following organizations contributed to the matching fund which allowed Kennesaw Junior College to utilize $13,000 in National Defense Student Loan money:

Howland, Director of the Kennesaw Junior College Food Service and Book Store, in the Student Services Building.

Office of Student Affairs guides students' college careers

To: Students of Kennesaw Junior College
 From: Dean of Student Affairs Office
 Subject: Student Counseling and Guidance Services

Undoubtedly you will discover that the counseling and guidance services at the college level are somewhat different from those you were familiar with in high school. Where most of the high school counselor's time is spent in college placement, college counselors devote more of their time and talents helping students with:

- (1) personal adjustment to college life;
- (2) study habits and attitudes; and
- (3) vocational and educational choices.

A variety of ability, achievement, and interest tests are available for diagnostic purposes whenever you feel a need for these services.

We hope students will consider seeing a counselor whenever these signs appear: inability to concentrate on studies; drowsiness upon reading a text book; habitual "cutting" of classes; chronic bridge playing or television viewing, etc. Faculty members and other college officials are encouraged to suggest that a student confer with his counselor when they observe the above kinds of behavior.

There are certain points about counseling and the relationship that evolves between the counselor and the student. Some of the more important are:

(1) All information discussed between counselor and counselee is confidential. Such information will only be made public with the permission of the counselee or in the event that nondisclosure would result in injury to the student or society.

(2) Students will not be disciplined by their counselors. Discipline cases will be referred to the Discipline Committee by Dean of Student Affairs. Students may be referred to their counselor by the Discipline Committee, Academic Dean, or other college officials for counseling. The purpose of these referrals will be to help the students, not discipline them.

(3) In rare instances a counselor may find that he cannot establish a satisfactory relationship with a student; in such instances, the counselor will refer the student to a counselor with whom he can relate comfortably.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL YOU HAVE FAILED BEFORE YOU DECIDE TO SEE YOUR COUNSELOR!

It is the desire of the Student Affairs Office to be of maximum assistance to you; however, you must request these services. Our purpose is to help you in any way we can. Anything that bothers you is important enough to take to your counselor.

Mrs. Inez Morgan, Counselor
 Miss Samra Hicks, Counselor

KJC offers wide variety of activities to all interested students

Kennesaw Junior College provides an adequate variety of student activities, clubs, and organizations for the benefit of its student body. Any student may join these organizations as long as he meets the individual standards of membership set by each of the groups themselves. The following list of clubs and other campus activities is a sample of the type of extra-curricular activities in which the student can take interest at Kennesaw Junior College:

The STUDENT ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE is the organization which aids in the entire student activity program. These programs include clubs, organizations, publications, cultural events, the Student Government Association, and other student groups. This committee also advises the Student Government Association in the distribution of the student activity fees.

The CULTURAL EVENTS COMMITTEE plans and secures programs of cultural interest for the students of Kennesaw Junior College and the people of the community. The programs are financed by the student activity fees. During the past year, students saw three major attractions which were presented by this committee: The American Classical Theatre presented William Shakespeare's "The Tempest" for Fall Quarter; the world famous Norman Luboff Choir performed Winter Quarter in the College gymnasium; and The Paul Winter Ensemble, a well-known jazz group, presented a concert on campus for Spring Quarter.

MU ALPHA THETA, the Kennesaw Junior College honorary mathematics society, is sponsored by the Mathematics Association of America. Mu Alpha Theta is a nonsecret organization whose purpose is the promotion of scholarship in and enjoyment and understanding of mathematics among high school and junior college students.

For those students who plan to teach, the STUDENT GEORGIA EDUCATION ASSOCIATION has as its purpose to aid students in gaining more insight and knowledge in the teaching profession and to prepare them for membership in the professional organization. During the past year, members of this organization attended a Leadership Conference at Rock Eagle, the state SGEA convention, and the state NEA convention in Atlanta.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA is another of the campus organizations at Kennesaw Junior College. The purpose of this fraternity is to assemble college men in the fellowship of the Scout oath and law, to develop leadership, to promote friendship, to provide service to humanity, and to further the freedom that is our national, educational, and intellectual heritage. One of the most active groups on campus, APO sponsored the very successful Ugly Man on Campus contest last year.

The CIRCLE K (Collegiate Kiwanis) is a service organization for college men who wish to serve their club, student body, college, and community. It provides the individual club member an opportunity to participate in many activities for the betterment of humanity and campus-community relationship. It affords the opportunity for self-expression, self-development, leadership, fellowship, citizenship, and the application of higher social, business, and professional standards.

The purpose of the COLLEGIATE CIVITAN CLUB is to emphasize the advantages of the American way of life, to promote good fellowship and high scholarship, to serve on the campus and in the community, to provide an opportunity for leadership training through service, and to encourage the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships.

One of the newest clubs on the Kennesaw Junior College campus is the SPORTS CAR CLUB. It was established to promote safe driving and to sponsor events of interest to sports car drivers. Last year the KJCSCC, as it is called by its members, sponsored a sports car time trials rally which was received with tremendous success at the College.

Kennesaw Junior College also has a series of clubs and organizations which meet on a quarterly basis. These clubs which are strictly voluntary can only function when the students themselves express a need or an interest for these organizations. Three of these clubs include the DEBATE CLUB, the DRAMA CLUB, and the MUSIC CLUB. Plans for these and the annual clubs and organizations on campus will be made available to the students throughout the school year as each club meets and forms its policies for the 1968-69 college year.

offers low prices to students

Theatre Atlanta -- the entertainment of the live ones where it's happening -- is offering a perfect opportunity for all students to become fans of true repertory.

A new entertainment experience, Theatre Atlanta is exciting, controversial, exhilarating, only three years old, and already the turned on showplace of the nation. You don't watch a play at Theatre Atlanta -- you're a part of it. The stage juts 40 feet into the room. None of the 760 seats is more than 38 feet from the action. The actors are the best from Broadway, off-Broadway, London, or wherever talent is to be found.

Theatre Atlanta is the only true repertory theatre in Atlanta. This year you can experience two, three, four, or five plays performed alternately within a single week. Plays open every three weeks and are performed for eight weeks -- often longer. You experience what you want -- when you want -- at your convenience. You are not forced to attend on the same night of the week every four weeks.

The itinerary includes the following:

A Musical Play About Lester Maddox, galactic premiere October 3;

"King Lear," one of the greatest tragedies ever written, translated into now terms.

"Fantastics," a charming and delightful musical now in its ninth year off-Broadway.

"America Hurrah," a sock-it-to-me vivisection of American society.

"Soldiers," another searing and suspenseful drama by the author of "The Deputy."

"Dark of the Moon," an intriguing and haunting Broadway hit about witchcraft in the North Carolina mountains.

Long Day's Journey Into Night, "Long Day's Journey Into Night," Eugene O'Neill's chilling drama.

"The Electronic Nigger," a comic -- and tragic -- comment on the Black Man in America today.

"The New MacBird!" The longest running show in Atlanta history will be back to break its own record.

What is this tremendous opportunity which Theatre Atlanta is offering you? It is a chance to save as much as $31.00 on season tickets to this action spot. Here is all you do -- just put $9.50 down on the exclusive student membership and then pay only 50¢ a ticket on weekdays and Sundays and $1.00 a ticket on weekends and openings. Regular weekday and Sunday tickets are $3.50 and regular weekend and opening tickets are $4.90.

By taking advantage of this offer, you receive a booklet with 14 coupons -- one for each of the season's 12 productions and two coupons for guests. To attend, just call in your reservations at 892-8000. When you pick up your ticket, present the coupon plus the indicated charge.

Tickets can be purchased by check or charged to accounts at Ric's or Davison's or through the Bank Americard or the American Express. Call or write to Theatre Atlanta, 1374 West Peachtree Street, N. W., Atlanta, Georgia 30309 for the necessary information.

Make your plans now to take advantage of this generous offer to attend "one of the country's most vital and exciting young repertory theatres."

Campus Coed

WANDA CAWTHORNE

Campus Coed for the September edition of the SENTINEL is Wanda Cawthorne, a sophomore at Kennesaw Junior College. This petite blonde is interested in activities ranging from art and music to movies and sports. She is a graduate of R. L. Osbourne Senior High School and is currently studying liberal arts at KJC. This past summer she competed in the Miss Atlanta contest and did quite well. She is employed by Rich's, Inc.

A shocker that nearly caused a riot!

Continuing education classes register for fall

Drugs, public speaking, modern math, interior decoration, English and practical law will be covered in continuing education courses at Kennesaw Junior College this fall.

Six, non-credit adult courses to be offered during the fall quarter are:

"Drugs-Safe Use and Abuse," a history of drugs, their safe and effective use, misuse and abuse, their effect in a family situation, Mrs. Wilhemina M. Lombardi, Food and Drug Administration, and Frank McFall, American Social Health Association, instructors.

"Public Speaking," instruction in speech composition, types of speeches and methods of public address, a performance course, Miss Charlotte Stephenson, instructor in speech, Kennesaw Junior College.

"Math for Elementary School Parents," a study of new math with emphasis on topics and approaches of elementary mathematics, Kennesaw Junior College.

"Interior Decorating," a study of walls and wall coverings, window treatments and fabrics, upholstery fabrics, accessories, color schemes, design and composition rules, and furniture arrangement, E. Austin Hinely, interior decorator, Atlanta.

"Dialogue: English, High School and College," a discussion of the four basic English courses required of students in the University System of Georgia, with emphasis on content of courses, Dr. Virginia Hinton, assistant professor of English, Kennesaw Junior College.

"Practical Law," preparation of the layman for an understanding of basic legal rights and responsibilities, practical advice on general problems, concentrating on contracts, accidents, wills, trusts, estates, criminal law and taxation, Fred D. Bentley Sr., Marietta attorney.

Advance registration is required for the courses. Additional information may be obtained by telephoning the continuing education office at the college, 422-8770, extension 234.

P. E. department releases plans for 1968-69 intramurals

The Physical Education Department at Kennesaw Junior College has announced its plans for the 1968 - 1969 intramural program.

Because this will be the second year of intramural competition, many plans have already been established concerning schedules. This year intramurals will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:00 to 5:00 P.M.

On freshman and sophomore registration days, information will be available to all students regarding the intramural program. Students will be able to sign up for competition at this time. The Physical Education Department will then assign the teams in random selections from this information.

It is necessary to assert that the intramural program is not a required activity in connection with physical education courses offered at Kennesaw Junior College. Participation is strictly voluntary. Intramurals are offered merely to provide the student with a complete physical education background, while at the same time emphasizing the enjoyment of physical exercise and the benefits of exposure to other students.

It is hoped that all students will make an effort to enlist in the intramural program at Kennesaw Junior College, thus gaining a more rounded education and a more enjoyable list of college activities.

To add to the excitement and competitive spirit of the intramural program at Kennesaw Junior College, a series of trophies and plaques will be presented to the outstanding individual athletes on the men's and women's teams and to the most outstanding team in each activity.

Winners will be chosen on a point system whereby the individual student or team will be given a trophy. Points will be awarded to students when they participate in activities and place or win an activity; the same system applies to teams.

Providing trophies for the intramural program increases the competitive spirit and the desire to win. It is hoped that all students will take part in intramurals this year.

P. E. taught on adaptive basis

The Physical Education Department has announced that P.E. 113, a course in adaptive physical education, will be offered this fall quarter at Kennesaw Junior College.

This course is designed specifically for those students who cannot participate in the regular physical education requirements due to medical reasons. It is offered primarily for men and women who want to adapt their physical activity to their specific need.

New p. e. course to be taught this fall at KJC

Beginning fall quarter, a new sport will be offered for men students at Kennesaw Junior College. This course, P.E. 110, is flicker ball, a game which is said to have originated in south Georgia.

The sport of flicker ball is action packed. Teams use a football and progress down the field through passing the ball instead of advancing through the running game. The object of the game is to pass the football through a hole fashioned in the center of a four feet wide plywood square. Three points are awarded to the team who puts the ball through the hole and one point is given if the ball hits the backboard.

Flicker ball, which combines some of the rules of football and basketball, will be taught by Coach Norman, Instructor of Physical Education at Kennesaw Junior College.

Intramural Schedule

	Fall Quarter	Winter Quarter	Spring Quarter
Team Sport	Flicker Ball	Basketball	Softball
Individual Sport	Archery	Badminton	Golf
	Cross-country	Bridge	Horse Shoes
