Letters Not to the Editor

To The Editors:

As many of you know, recently I had the great opportunity to break my right foot. Since breaking one's right foot is less than a traumatic experience, I have taken the opportunity to learn more about life without the full use of your right foot. In fact, I have learned so much that I am seriously considering writing a book about the adventures.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Offwall

To The Editors:

Hi! Is this The Sentinel? It is? Great! Listen, I just wanted to let you know that this is a Public Service type announcement. Please print the following announcement as soon as possible. Many lives depend on this announcement reaching the proper people:

"Today, Governor Joe Frank Harris signed into law a measure which would make abuse of cats a felony offense. After having seen for himself the awful things that are done to cats, Harris requested state lawmakers to draft such legislation. Harris said, "I am seriously concerned about the possible injury that could come to cats without this law, particularly appalling to me is the trend towards ignoring cats and stuffing them through basketball nets." The law will take effect immediately."

If you will print this, I'd really appreciate it. I think it is very important for everyone to know the true meaning of this law. Especially that sickos sports columnist you all have.

Sincerely,

KC the Cat

To The Editors:

Congratulations! You will be the first paper to know about my new book, coming out soon. Riding on the success of In Search of Excellence, my book takes a different aim. Their book only appeals to the 1 or 2% of the companies in the country who are truly excellent. Aiming at only 1 or 2% of the companies has certainly filled their bank accounts. But I'm smarter than they are.

My new book will cover the other 98% of this country's companies. In Search of Excellence in Mediocrity will soon be a runaway best seller. It will certainly attract more attention. Besides, who wants to read about good companies. The foul-ups and expensive mistakes in the not-so-good companies make much better reading.

Coming soon to a couple of bookstores near you...

Sincerely,

Joseph Johnson

To The Editors:

Have you ever stopped to notice that there are several groups that don't ever have a chance to meet at Kennesaw College? While everyone else and his brother has a chance to experience the environment of higher education, there are many of us who will never get to sit in college classroom buildings and listen to expensive speakers.

Well, I intend to stop that practice. I'm starting a new college. We won't have any classes, we will exist only so that underprivileged conferences and groups can use our facilities. If you want to have a seminar or something, and KC won't let you, call me. Call Fred.

Sincerely,

Fred Dermond

To The Editors:

Yesterday I was in the Bio Lab when I realized that the Lab instructor was wearing a white coat. Having just completed freshman English last quarter, I feel totally qualified to comment on the symbolism involved in a lab instructor wearing a white coat.

Hemingway, of course could have a field day with such an occurrence. Faulkner could spew forth pages and pages on this phenomenon. I, meanwhile, can only see the white coat as a symptom of a greater evil lurking in the Biology labs of life.

(Do you think that is long enough? All she ever says is "make it longer, Steve!" I can't tell you how sick I am of "make it longer, Steve!" I can't tell you how sick I am of "make it longer, make it longer" Sometimes I wish I could wrap Mr. McDaniel in a white coat and make her go away.

Sincerely,

Steve Copeland

I just wanted to let you know that I will no longer park in the upper parking decks. I have spent the greater portion of my life walking from Egypt and the EBF lot to campus, and I'm not going to take it any more.

Henceforward, if I have to park out there again, I will lay waste to roughly two thirds of the earth's surface. Just wanted to give you a warning. Don't forget to leave me a space tomorrow.

Sincerely,

In Search of Dr. Betty Siegel

"Do you solemnly swear that you are not Dr. Betty Siegel?"

"It is, however, rumored that this is Dr. Betty Siegel. At least, he hasn't denied it, and he does wear glasses..."

"Look, are you harassing me? I'll call the cops if you don't leave me alone."

"No, I don't think I'm Dr. Betty Siegel, but I'll check if you'd like..."

"Does your mother know you're doing this sort of thing? What's her phone number?"
