

Students Scrutinize SGA

By RICK MILLER

Since the beginning of Winter quarter, the Student Government Association of Kennesaw Junior College has come under the close scrutiny of, at first a small interested student group, but now this scrutiny includes a good percentage of the student body. It started as a motion for censure of the Student Government Association. This censure dealt with the usage of Student Government Association titles in local or public correspondence and developed into a request for the resignation of the President and the Vice President of the Student Government Association.

During the first week of winter quarter, an article was published in the Atlanta Journal. This article implied that Kennesaw Junior College and the students in attendance were totally "conservative". The author of this article had previously come to the college to ascertain the prevalent political philosophy and/or philosophies of the students at Kennesaw.

Reliable sources indicate that the columnist arrived on campus late one afternoon. He interviewed only a small number of students. Among those interviewed were the President and the Vice President of the Student Government Association. Upon the completion of these interviews the reporter left the college with information enough to write an article.

After the article was published, a group of students banned together to voice their discontent.

Within the article itself, the name and the title of the President of the Student Government Association of Kennesaw Junior College was given as a source of information upon which the article was based. Further investigation, by unnamed sources revealed that in some local public correspondence the Vice President had openly used his name and his title in signing a letter to the editor. In another letter, he used the title within the article along with his name, when he was stating a personal opinion.

With this evidence in hand, the aforementioned students attended the next regularly scheduled Student Government meeting, i.e. January 14, 1970.

At this meeting, after scheduled business had been completed, the floor was open to new business. It was then that Mike Anderson, a student senator, brought forth a proposal that the Vice President be censured from using the title of his Student Government Association (S.G.A.) office when submitting articles to the local news media for publication. The following quotes were taken from the minutes of the January 14, 1970, S.G.A. meeting.

A discussion immediately followed. A student, Tom Fraher, stated, "that he supported senator Anderson's recommendation for censure. Mr. Fraher called attention to an article published in the Atlanta Journal on January 7, 1970 in which he accused the Vice President, Mike Mauldin, of using his S.G.A. office to lend support to his own views, thereby inferring that all Kennesaw Junior College (K.J.C.) students felt the same way he did about certain things." Next to speak was senator Joan Gibbs who stated "...that the article in the Atlanta Journal should be disregarded because the newspaper was responsible for using Mr. Mauldin's S.G.A. title and he had no control over this." Further discussion ensued. Mr. Hanners, coordinator of Student Activities at KJC, who was in attendance at this S.G.A. meeting stated, "...that instead of censuring a particular person, a motion be made that no S.G.A. officer use his title when submitting letters for publication in news media." Senator Gibbs spoke next, she moved "...that the officers of the S.G.A. be restricted from using their titles when submitting letters or articles for publication. The motion was seconded and carried."

Student Teachers from KJC

Students involved in KJC's education class are now participating in a student teaching program. These students spend three hours a week in class and two hours in a local elementary school.

The two schools involved are Blackwell Elementary and Kennesaw Elementary. The student teacher observes classroom procedure, works with the teacher, and teaches a group of his own.

This program was actually initiated by the principals of the two schools involved. Dr. Dewell of Blackwell school and Mr. Blackwell of Kennesaw school believe that first hand experience is of great benefit to anyone considering the education field. Mr. James Keith, who teaches the course here at KJC, agrees. The students participating are reacting enthusiastically. They welcome the chance to preview the field they are preparing for, before devoting their time and education to it.

This is the first time such a program has been tried in a

Junior College. The Student Education Association here at Kennesaw experimented with it earlier on an informal basis, but they lacked the necessary coordination. The program is now well organized through the efforts of Mr. Keith, Dr. Sewell, and Mr. Blackwell. It is open to S.E.A. members and is a required part of Mr. Keith's Education course.

The University of Georgia has a program in cooperation with the Atlanta City Schools which allows students who are working toward degrees in education to work as salaried teacher-aides. It is possible that in the future junior colleges may offer paraprofessional degrees. Persons holding such a degree would be qualified after just two years of college to work in public schools as salaried teacher-aides.

Luboff, live and in person Culture on Campus

By JEAN JEFFREY

Among the vast number of cultural events at Kennesaw Junior College, the Norman Luboff Choir stands out as the best event of the year. Friday, February 13, 1970, Kennesaw Junior College presented to the students and interested citizens of the area a chance to hear an excellent choir. The performance in the college gymnasium was well received by the large number of people in attendance.

The choir began the concert with a few sacred motets, then moved to secular music in the form of madrigals. A rock cantata, "The Creation," was the first selection of the second half of the concert. The choir then sang popular selections, including the song "Alfie."

It was fascinating to hear and see the Norman Luboff Choir perform. Mr. Luboff showed a great deal of feeling in his conducting as well as technical ability. He was able to evoke emotions from the members of the choir, which added to their great vocal ability.

This performance of the Norman Luboff Choir was a pleasure to see. The choir has great technical ability and versatility. Even if you were unable to appreciate the technical aspects of this choir, the listening enjoyment made the performance worth attending.

SGA Pres. Resigns

(SNS) Gerald Martin, President of the KJC Student Government Association, announced his resignation from his post at a regularly scheduled SGA meeting, Thursday, February 19th, 1970.

Martin's resignation came a week after a group of students had petitioned for the resignation of both the President and Vice-president.

Martin said that his reasons for this action were "...personal and political."

The vacancy left by his resignation will be filled by Mike Mauldin, Vice-president of the SGA.

KJC Women's Club holds Luncheon

The Kennesaw Junior College Women's Club held its winter quarter meeting at 11:00 a.m. Tuesday, February 17, in the Seminar Room of the Library. Mrs. Richard Larsen presented the program, a slide-lecture entitled "Experiment in Living—Italian Style." An Instructor of French at KJC, Mrs. Larsen has just returned from a year's leave in Italy where her husband was a Fulbright Fellow, as she herself had been to France some years before.

A highlight of the business meeting was the recognition of three members of the club—Mrs. Ted A. Giles, Miss Ruby Crawford, and Mrs. W. Boyd Hinton—who have been initiated into the Marietta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, an international honorary society for women educators.

Both before and after the meeting, Mrs. Ralph Bowden, Mrs. Thomas Ahearn, Mrs. Roger Hopkins, and Dr. Mary Lance hosted a coffee which carried out a Valentine's theme.

Symposium '70 Set

(P.I.O.)—"Frontiers of the Mind" will be the topic explored in April at Symposium '70 on the campus of Kennesaw Junior College.

This fifth annual event, scheduled April 16 and 17, is sponsored by the Cobb County Medical Society Committee on Medicine, Religion and Law; the Cobb Judicial Circuit Bar Association; the Marietta-Smyrna Ministerial Association and the College.

The two-day symposium will feature lectures by five nationally-known authorities in the fields of medicine, theology and law. The event is open to the public, with no charge for the Thursday evening session.

Speakers will be Albert Rosenfeld, Dr. Kenneth L. Vaux, Dr. James L. McGaugh, Dr. Jose M. R. Delgado and Allen E. Smith.

One of the country's leading science editors, Rosenfeld left his 10-year post as Senior Science and Medicine Editor of Life magazine in January, 1970, to accept the managing editorship of the new million-circulation magazine, Family Health.

He has received the two top awards in medical journalism: the AAS—Westinghouse Award and the Lasker Award. His latest book, "The Second Genesis—The Coming Control of Life," is a Literary Guild selection and has been acclaimed as one of the best commentaries on the biomedical and biotechnological revolution today.

The Limitations of Responsibility

by W.C. Shaughnessy

Many people have asked me the purpose of using the UPI picture of the Biafran children on the front page of the December 16th issue of the Sentinel. Usually, before I have a chance to reply, I am informed that the Sentinel's responsibility lies with the student body of Kennesaw Junior College. I agree, adding that the Sentinel's FOREMOST responsibility is to the student body. But, I follow up quickly, does our responsibility end there? Who can say what the limitations of responsibility are? Where are the boundaries? Are they geographical, political, racial, or religious? Who can say, and furthermore, who can pass judgement?

The Sentinel is a functioning part of the Kennesaw Junior College Campus community. Granted. But is it not also a member of the Cobb County Community? And if this be so, then do we not have a responsibility to that community. One can develop this line of thought until he reaches the community of the greatest scope, the World Community. We are not future citizens of that community. It was ours the minute we were born into it, and that is when the development of our responsibility to it began.

Many people have discovered how to shift the blame for responsibility to other groups. The young radicals created theirs when they conjured up the bungling "establishment." They (the young radicals) thus cleanse themselves of any blame. The accusation for guilt comes easier than the responsibility. There are those who say we are not responsible for our worldwide allies. They are isolationists. Geographical features are their boundaries of responsibility. Their children will pay the price of that folly, for in this age distance does not equal safety.

We can no longer shift the blame for or shirk our responsibility. We must face it if man is to survive. In this time when man reaches to the moon and beyond, our responsibility has increased. We must no longer establish boundaries, but instead destroy as many as possible. We must act now, or we may be too late for more than two Biafran babes.

I wrote the above editorial during our Christmas break. Since then the tiny Republic of Biafra has succumbed to superior forces. It is too late for the two babes pictured on our cover. Now we must ask ourselves, "Who's next?", when what we should really be asking ourselves, "Why must there be a next time?" Who has the answer? We do, if only we'll shoulder our responsibility in time.

"Who knows for whom the bell tolls?"

"It tolls for them."

For Whom the Bell Tolls

This month's award for greatest contribution goes to Rick Miller, a warm new body on our motly crew. Standing behind him during most of the endeavour was Moses Wright. Deadward Russell and his side-kick, the G-nat, did their share and almost managed to straighten out our books!

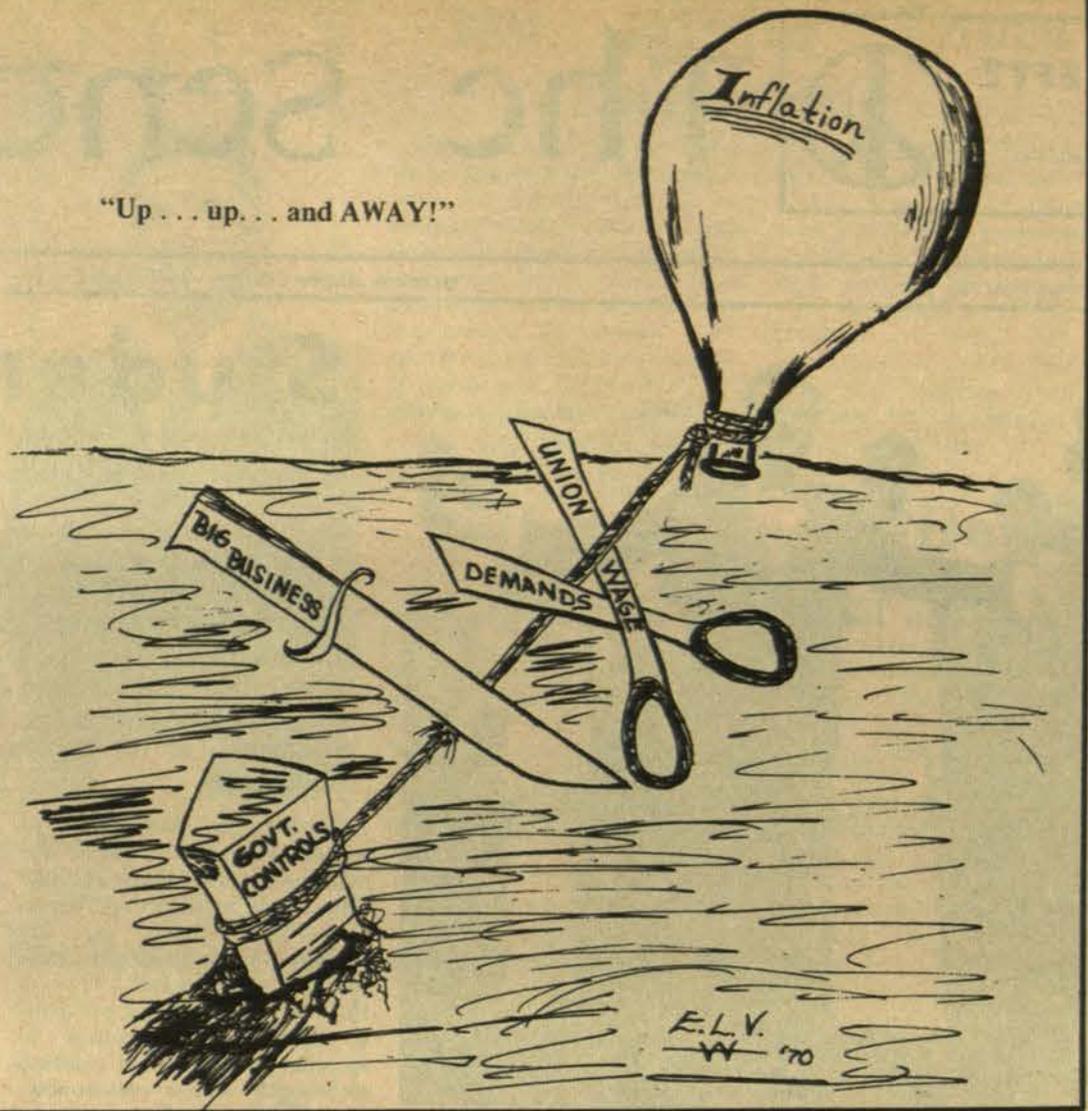

Tyron Copeland and Marty King may take their bows along with Jimmy Davis, Dial Smith, Jean "the one that looks so much like Nanny", Regina Green, Mike Fredericks and Jimmy Adair.

There are more, but only the Phantom knows for sure!

Student Government at KJC?

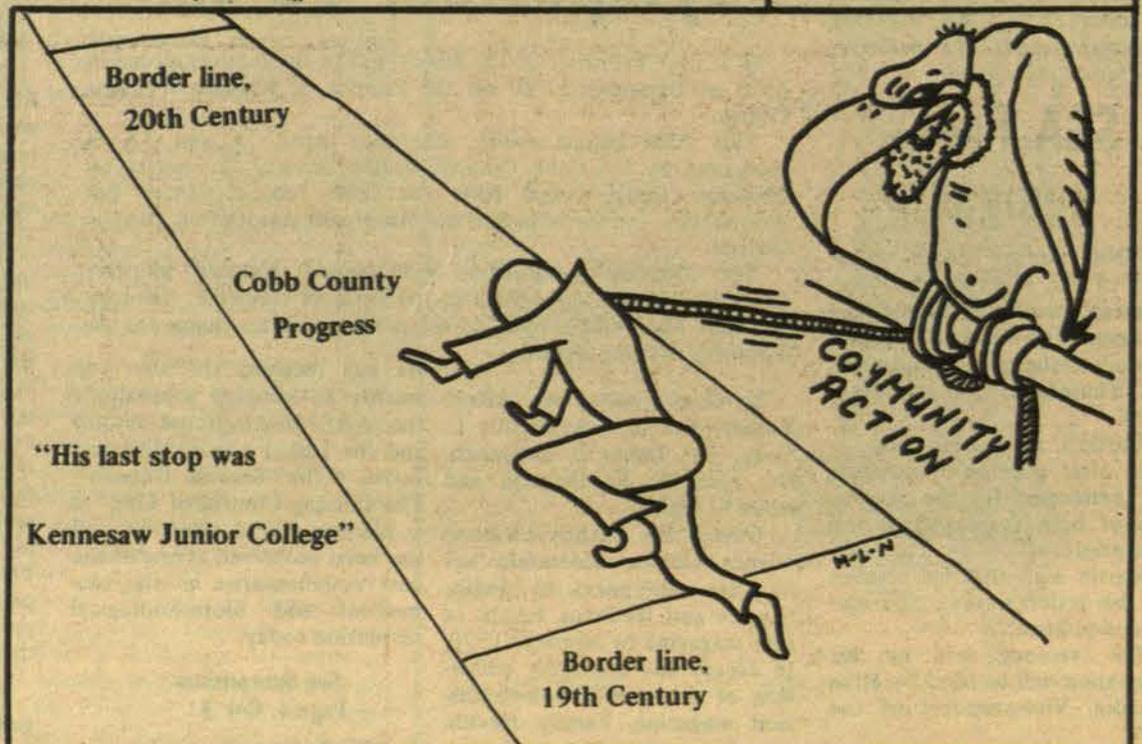

by Tyron Copeland

A sudden increase of student participation and involvement in the Student Government Association has recently taken place here at Kennesaw. In the past, the only ones present at the regular student government meetings were a few of the Senators and some members of the executive board. The attendance of KJC students at the SGA meetings had been at a minimum, if any of the students attended at all. The student government officials had previously carried out the activities of the students as the officials themselves saw fit. But recently a few students got involved and acted when certain actions of the SGA went against their grain.

The regular conference room of the SGA had to be abandoned for a larger room when the number of students who attended the meetings exceeded the capacity of the room. The Student Government meetings have been well attended by students AND SGA officials since then. Whether the students were right or the SGA was right is not the issue here, but the involvement and the interest that the usually "apathetic" students took in the activities of the SGA is the object of importance. More students should attend the SGA meetings now held every Thursday (times to be announced) in the private dining room of the student center.

A new constitution has been drawn up to clear up the vagueness of the old one. It will be put before the student body for consideration in the near future. Read it, go to the SGA meetings, give your suggestions for improvement or criticisms of it and then vote in the referendum. Your Student Government Association is trying to ork FOR you! Get involved, attend the meetings and vote.

All opinions expressed in this newspaper are the thoughts of the authors of the articles and editorials involved and do not directly represent those opinions held by the administration or newspaper staff of Kennesaw Junior College.

Campus Co-ed Debbie Clark

Take Another Look by Gerard Harrison

There was expressed some disapproval on the part of a number of individuals with regard to the cover of the Christmas issue of the SENTINEL. I see this reaction as extremely discouraging, for this shows an unwillingness and an inability to face, as being real, the horrors accepted by millions as an unalterable way of life. An attitude such as this is far worse than mere complacency, for complacency at least allows the existence of the situation.

If you turn away now while still young, consider how your blindness may be increased as you go through life.

The youth of today has been characterized as being both realistic and idealistic. This at first glance appears paradoxical, it is, however, quite accurate. We are a generation of people who have made it a point to look into our world's many problems, taking a hard line against the hypocrisy of day to day life, while at the same time retaining enough of the idealism of youth to attempt to remedy the problems by storm. By retaining and making use of these characteristics we cannot help but become an indispensable asset to society. By turning our heads away from problems and denying their existence, we become parasites and heirs to the same problems our parents live with today, not to mention the new problems we may have to face as leaders in the establishment of the future.

Shut your eyes and turn away from those two children now, and nothing will be done about them. Shut your eyes now, and when you open them again tomorrow two more children will have come to take their place.

Open your eyes—meet the problem head-on—and perhaps you may not have to see a picture like that again.

Coming of Age in White America

by James Adair

This is an era of radical change. Change that has been slow in coming. . . and for most white Americans, hard to take.

In today's white society, the black man has little better opportunities for equality than he did in Civil War times. The South is not the only region in which this is true, the rest of the nation is just as guilty. The only difference is that the South has written it into her laws and state constitutions.

I've lived for twenty years seeing the discrimination, hatred, listening to the same cliches of racial bigotry, and all with complete apathy. I've seen it. . . and ignored it, saying to myself, "That's the way it is and that's the way it will always be." It's only lately that I've realized that things ARE changing.

When I began to see the changes, and started looking at the way the black man was treated, I began to be ashamed of being white. . . of what the white man had done to the black man. To see what my father had done, and his father before him, made me wonder how one man could treat another man in such a way. Drive through any city or small town and look at the living conditions and jobs held by the black people. It's people. It's enough to make any white man sick with shame.

Still, with all this evidence of change, and the growing dissatisfaction of the blacks, white America continues to ignore the plight of these people. Sure, there have been token gestures, but are they enough? I say no! In fact, it is taking court decisions and orders to get schools integrated. . . some thing our own consciences should have told us to do a century ago. With all this apathy and hatred on the part of the white man, something unprecedented in the history of America is happening. . . the rise of militant blacks. In the past, there have been those who fought back, but never on such a mass scale. Even the leaders of the more conservative black movements are growing restless and tired of waiting for changes too slow in coming, and are joining the ranks of the militants. The white man has no one to blame for this but himself. The blacks who only wanted such a small thing as equality are now becoming daily more alienated. Their original aims are being overshadowed by militantism, and with increasing dissatisfaction.

I'm becoming more aware of these problems every day. Not because they are new, rather because I'm coming of age in social awareness. I'm not the first nor will I be the last. Our generation is the "aware generation." We are facing problems our fathers and their fathers before them were too blind or too ignorant to see.

The time for taking action is almost upon us. The time for talking equality and acceptance is over. The time for change is now. It's time the white man looked at the black man as a human being. . . and with God's help. . . WE SHALL OVERCOME. . . TOGETHER!

The next topic of discussion was a senate meeting held on January 7th. "Advisor Mr. Tate explained that he was not informed of the January 7th meeting; had he known he would have attended. He also brought up discussion concerning the invitation to be extended to the speaker for February 25, 1970. He pointed out that there was not a quorum present at this meeting on January 7th and therefore, no official business could be conducted."

This same group of students attended the next S.G.A. meeting on January 22, 1970. At this meeting several questions were directed primarily toward the Vice President who is the parliamentarian. ROBERT'S RULES OF ORDER and its relation to the constitution provided that this book be followed in parliamentary matters. It was neither used at this meeting nor followed at any meeting prior to today's date.

In this meeting also there came to the attention of the members of the S.G.A. that some students were unhappy with the state of affairs of the S.G.A. In point, one of the students, Tom Fraher, asked for the resignation of the President and the Vice President. The reasons for this rather informal request were as follows: (1) "illegal appointment of senators (2) failure to post minutes of the previous meetings (3) failure to uphold ROBERT'S RULES OF ORDER (4) failure to know and uphold the constitution. The Vice President was charged with (1) holding an illegal meeting on January 8, 1970 (2) conducting business with a lack of a quorum (3) failure to follow ROBERT'S RULES OF ORDER."

These discrepancies apparently continued for the same qualms were brought up before the S.G.A. again in the February 5, meeting. Motions were made and carried and no action was taken on these motions. Again this group of students banded together to bring the issues before the student body in the February 12, meeting. These students passed out the following leaflet so that the remainder of the students would be informed of the things taking place in the S.G.A. meeting of February 12. The leaflet read as follows: "ATTENTION!"

"There is a motion before the Student Government Association to be voted on February 12, 1970. This motion requests the resignation of the President and the Vice President of the Student Government Association. The reasons for this request will be the first matter of business at the next meeting of the Student Government Association.

Those desiring TO COME and TO VOTE on the preceding issue should attend the meeting on February 12, 1970 at 11:00 A.M. in the Private Dining Room."

The student body came in great numbers. There were so many students present that the meeting had to be moved to another building and a larger room. Then the meeting began.

The reasons were restated with the specific articles of the constitution that came into focus in regard to each charge. There were two speeches given during the course of discussion and both seemed to point out the fact that the majority of the students were still uninformed because they had not attended the regular S.G.A. meetings. One of these students stated that he was "as much at fault with letting the S.G.A. deteriorate to the level on which it now stands as are the President and Vice President." He also stated that he felt that "the vote of confidence should not be given the leaders of the S.G.A. because these discrepancies were pointed out in earlier meetings and nothing had been done to correct them"

This was followed by a vote when the "call to question" was made. The vote was a vote of confidence but there were a good number of abstention. The vote was 46 to 23 against the motion.

The students who brought the charges have been given the titles of "The Ministry of Truth", "Campus Radicals", and "Cheap Sensationalists", but according to them they would rather be known simply as "Students Interested in Kennesaw, And Interested In Its Progress And Its Future."

Students from KJC and Georgia Baptist College prepare for Round No. 1 of Flapjack Feast!

KJC takes Pancake Bout

By TYRON COPELAND

Kennesaw Junior College competed against Georgia Baptist College in the annual pancake eating contest that was sponsored by the International Pancake House of Chamblee. The object of the contest was to eat as many pancakes as possible within 30 minutes without leaving the table for any reason. Contestants from KJC were Cathy Millwood, Tyron Copeland, Jeff Cochran, Barbara Baker, Steve Arrants, Debbie Dickerson, Gary West, and Laurie Hazelquist.

The KJC competitors came in first and second, as they literally ate the GBC contestants out of the game. Jeff Cochran and Cathy Millwood came in first as they finished 270 pancakes between them; Tyron Copeland and Barbara Baker finished second having eaten 230 pancakes between them.

Only one couple from the Georgia Baptist team really gave the KJC eaters any competition, but they were disqualified when one of them left the table (though it was for a very necessary reason). The winners of this bout won cassette tape players and they will go on to try and win the regional title, then to the national Competition for the national title.

District Civitans meet at KJC

MARIETTA—Some 600 Civitans—including high school and collegiate members—were welcomed to the campus of Kennesaw Junior College Saturday, February 21, when the group held its final meeting of the year.

Hosting the affair were three Cobb County clubs: Marietta Civitans, Smyrna Civitans and 8 O'Clock Civitans. W. R. Tapp, president of the Marietta club, presided at the district council meeting of Georgia District North of Civitan International.

Representatives from 46 clubs in the district registered in the KJC physical education building from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. Civitan Governor Fred Parks, of Atlanta, assisted in conducting the meeting. John Hutson, a member of the Board of Directors of the Marietta Civitan Club, was program coordinator.

Panel Discussion on Religion

The religious activity committee sponsored a panel discussion this past February third in the seminar room of the library. The panel was to consist of Mr. Fred Roach, Mrs. Linda May, Dr. Anthony Zeros, and Mr. Jim Keith. Mr. Keith was unable to attend due to a death in his family, thus leaving only the first three to make up the panel with Mr. Robert Demonbreun to serve as moderator. Each was given a few minutes at the beginning of the program to give a brief summary of the part religion has played in his life.

Mr. Roach was the first to speak and if one can summarize his statements it would come out that he is a pragmatic Christian.

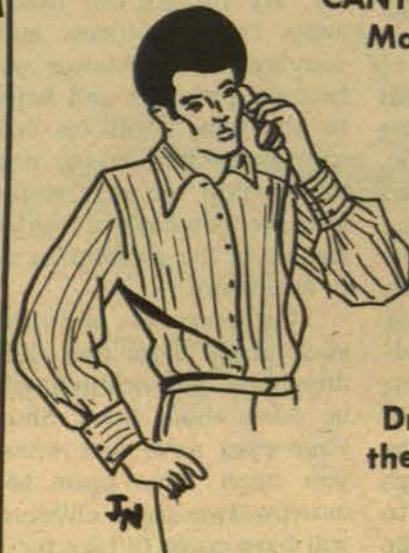

Mrs. May, the next to speak, went into a long talk regarding her early religious life to include the fact that her father was a Catholic and her mother was Jewish. She continued in this vein explaining that her family situation placed her in an awkward position and was thus forced to seek out a religion that was suitable to her own personal needs. She told of her visits to several varied churches and finally finding her church home in the Presbyterian sect. Her basic philosophy as she states it, is that caring, sharing, and loving are those traits that bring about, to the individual, a feeling of personal gratification and "Christian Grace".

Dr. Zeros, the last to speak, again repeated Mrs. May's personal history, only in light of himself rather than Mrs. May. He told of his being born a Greek Orthodox and being raised by his aunt, who was a Roman Catholic. After his arrival in the United States and during his pursuance of an education, at the University of Georgia, he became a member of the Baptist church there because his friends went to that church. Now he feels that he is at home in any "Christian Church". He feels that one must attend the service of his pleasure in order that he might have a true communion with God.

Art in Atlanta

Art in Atlanta – the now happening in the heart of the South. A memorial art museum dedicated to the appreciation of the arts. A rise in the revival of art nouveau – shops, galleries, shows. A trend toward the modern and the psychedelic – a trend toward the traditional and the conservative. A desire to inspire the minds of the young and the old, the rich and the poor, the black and the white. An inspiring example for the hearts and minds of all Southerners everywhere.

How to WIN at the Parking Game

Wednesday evening at ten p.m. January 28, 1970, in a burst of flaming, fiery, fantastic determination, one of those bubbling, babbling, blithering, omniscient and omnipotent defenders of justice, truth and good will struck again, leaving behind him only his four by six inch notice that world equilibrium had again been disturbed. Yes! Burns did fight back for world peace and parking. Privileged parking impunity is allowed to those who manage to escape the eagle-eyed phoenix as he prowls our perilous parking places, and certain soul-shattering destruction falls on those whom he happens to light upon. There was a definite plip followed by a click, as the ball point was removed from its shirt-pocked resting place and its permanent blue-black head thrust forward to scratch out its message. After several seconds of scratching and a piercing rip as the ticket left its pad home, there was a dull thump, and the windshield wiper was allowed to return to its natural resting place making the branding of my soul complete.

Then on Thursday morning January 29, 1970, as I sat desolate, dejected and alone in the student oriented house of refuge for Howland's Hapless Hamburgers, quite suddenly, from out of nowhere short of the Twilight Zone, a second Authoritarian, coffee cup in hand, appeared and approached my table. Who was it? He is noticeable on our campus framed in his dark suit, slender tie, graying hair, conservative eyes, and constant out-going smile. One can find him in any of the campus buildings, on campus sidewalks or even in Howland's Hapless Hamburger Haven with a coffee cup in hand. As Dr. Sturgis, president of this college, seated himself, he said, "Hello! What's new?"

It was then that I began my sad retelling of the previous evening's events. When I was finished he asked, "So what's the beef?"

"I've got to pay the ticket."

He quickly replied, "Were you at fault?"

"Yes," I answered.

"So what is the problem?" he asked.

I answered, "I don't know where my money goes or why I should have to pay." His ensuing remarks startled me as I had the conception that this money was used to pay the banshees that rush around our parking lots ticketing those that bend our regulations. Yet, Dr. Sturgis answered differently.

He stated that the money paid for parking tickets and parking stickers went into a side account, kept by the college, for resurfacing existing parking places as the need arises. At the time of his answer I was not particularly excited; but today I can appreciate this much more, due to some other findings that are pertinent to where my money is spent and how much I have to pay. Let me explain!

Here at Kennesaw Junior College we have only seven fees that we are required to pay, while at our other institutions in the University of Georgia system the fees are more numerous. The following tables should shed new light on this.

Fees Both Kennesaw Students And Other Students In The System Encounter

- (1) Matriculation
- (2) Student Activity
- (3) Parking
- (4) Special Exam
- (5) Library Fines
- (6) Traffic Fines
- (7) Non-resident fee (if applicable)

Fees Paid by Other Colleges In The University System Only

- (1) Application Fee
- (2) Late Registration Fee
- (3) Graduation Fee
- (4) Auditing
- (5) Photography for the Yearbook
- (6) Additional Yearbook Charge
- (7) Replacement of Identification Card
- (8) Schedule Change
- (9) Transcript Fee
- (10) Physical Education Fee
- (11) Return Check Fee
- (12) Missing Assembly Fee
- (13) Orientation Fee
- (14) Student Health Fee
- (15) Dormitory Activity Fee
- (16) Lab Fees

Out of the twenty six schools in the University System of Georgia, Kennesaw Junior College is at the bottom of the list as far as the number of fees and the individual expense of going to school is concerned.

For example, the following table is a representation of the minimal fees paid by Kennesaw Junior College students and the maximal fees paid by other students at other colleges in the University of Georgia system.

Rick Miller

The Amounts And Fees Paid By Kennesaw Junior College And Other Colleges In The University Of Georgia System

Fee	Kennesaw Junior College	Other Schools
(1) MATRICULATION	$7.00 per quarter hour or $80.00 for any student carrying 12 or more quarter hours (This is the lowest in the system.)	Comparable in other Junior colleges in the system; the trend for four year schools is for higher matriculation fees.
(2) STUDENT ACTIVITY	$10.00 per quarter	Other schools in system are comparable
(3) PARKING FEES	$1.00 per quarter or $4.00 for the calendar year	Up to $7.00 per quarter
(4) SPECIAL EXAM FEE	$1.00 each	Comparable
(5) TRAFFIC FINES	$1.00 for a violation	From $1.00 to $50.00 for particular violations
(6) LIBRARY FINES	$0.25 a day	From $0.25 to $5.00 daily
(7) NON RESIDENT FEE	$8.00 per credit hour in addition to matriculation fees and all other regular fees.	Comparable

Some of the more interesting fees and amounts that students pay at other institutions in this system follow:

Other College In System Only

(1) APPLICATION FEE	From $10.00 to 25.00
(2) LATE REGISTRATION FEE	As high as $16.00
(3) GRADUATION FEE	Average $10.00
(4) ADDITIONAL YEARBOOK CHARGE	Ranges from $2.00 to $9.00
(5) REPLACEMENT OF ID CARD	Up to 5.00
(6) TRANSCRIPTS	Average $1.00 a piece after the first one (Only seven out of the twenty six schools in the system charge no transcript fees.)
(7) MISSING ASSEMBLY FEE	$2.00
(8) ORIENTATION	Up to $20.00
(9) DORMITORY ACTIVITY FEE	Up to $7.00, but averages $1.00 to $2.00

Students at Kennesaw Junior College at one time were charged several of the above fees including: late registration, application, schedule change, and transcript fees. These fees have been eliminated for the convenience, thus making the pursuance of an education more easily attainable.

An interesting side light as to the expenditure of our money, comes with the realization that Burns, that fantastic, dynamic group, is not paid for by revenue from parking fees and parking stickers. The college allows for the existence of these true defenders of justice, truth, and good will by making an allocation for their salaries in the yearly budget. Along this same vein, although Kennesaw Junior College students pay no student health fees out of the student activities fee, the college retains a physician to meet any students, that may need him, upon their arrival at the hospital. Through the facts and figures presented, one can easily see that the student at Kennesaw Junior College is given every financial break possible where his pursuance of an education is concerned.

Hey Bull!
Why don't they have any soap in the trays of the locker room; all they have is Bubble Gum and that makes your hair sticky!

Gummy Godfrey

My dear God,
As for the gum, that is a present of the Phantom. The soap, well, the soap, well, the last I heard, Coach Waters has Mr. Soaky cornered in the girls locker room!

C.B.

Dear Col. Bull,
Is it true that Mr. Howland only buys one hamburger a year?

Dear Col. Bull,
Yesterday I went to the bank to cash a check and the teller reached under the bench and gave me three chessmen...a king, a queen, and a rook. I then went to a bar and ordered a beer and placed a queen on the table. The bartender took my queen, reached under the bar, and handed me a fistful of pawns. What's going on?

POETRY

The Mirages of Life and Death by Stu McDonald

Eastern nights with velvet ceilings.
Jeweled bodies that sparkle and shimmer.
Your sweet scent swirls about my faces,
As your nearness makes me tremor.
The leather nemesis awaits me;
Creative pain is prolonged,
Those things I touched, I hope I never see.

Auditorial hues produced in aphasic reticence.
Within myself the feat of the holy is disclosed—
I can fly too!
Yellow lights left hanging, naked.
Someone calls out for his mother.
Another claims she is dead.
The saddened, sorrowing heart creates like a god.

Arabian lovers in silenced tents.
Plush cushions of satin and silk.
Incense—softness—everything is liquid color—
Gravity.
Plush cushions of satin and silk.
Arabian lovers in silenced tents.
Eastern nights with velvet ceilings..

Wonderment by Rick Miller

The wonderment within a small child's eyes
As he sees the flower as it dies
As he sees the spot relinquish life
As he sees the strife
What goes through this child's mind?
As he has been the one who dined
As the owner of this plant's own beauty
As he sees life with a different slant and duty
What does he think of God's will?
As the achromatic essence of death is instilled
As he sees a loved possession ide
As soon he is to learn a lesson
That once again in Spring
As only once before he might have loved this thing
As he may have only forgotten his affliction
As he desires to replace it with affection
For once again he remembers
As before he has found a fond remembrance
As only a child's mind can forget
As his short remittance of sorrow and regret comes to an end

History of Symposium

The first Symposium, held in 1966, was sponsored by the Committee on Medicine and Religion, established by the Cobb County Medical Society. When the Committee was formed in 1965, officials decided one of its primary functions would be to sponsor an annual symposium including the disciplines of medicine, religion and law.

In 1967, Dr. Alan Watts of San Francisco spoke on "Eastern and Western Views of Man." Attendance for this year was 1,000.

By 1968, the Committee on Medicine and Religion had been expanded and re-named the Committee on Medicine, Religion and Law.

That year—1968—the symposium topic was "Human Sexuality," and an impressive roster of speakers included Dr. Mary S. Calderone, executive director of Sex Education and Information Council of the U.S. (SEICUS); Dr. Harold I. Lief of Philadelphia, president of the American Academy of Psychoanalysis; Dr. Seward Hiltner, professor of theology and personality, Princeton Theological Seminary, New Jersey; Dr. Ralph Slovenko, professor of law and behavioral sciences, University of Kansas School of Law. Attendance was over 1,000.

Symposium '69, "The Progress of Man Toward the Year 2000," brought to the campus of Kennesaw Junior College Max Lerner, author, teacher and lecturer; William Pollard, nuclear physicist; David M. Hume, organ transplant specialist; Griffin B. Bell, noted moralist; Joseph Fletcher, ethics lecturer; and Robert P. Nenko, psychiatrist.

According to Dr. Noah Meadows, chairman of the Committee on Medicine, Religion and Law in 1969, the purpose of the symposia is to "broaden the understanding of its audience and stimulate thought about the subject matter which will aid the participant in providing his fellowmen with the means to a fuller appreciation and involvement in the process of living."

The Committee is composed of members of the Cobb Medical Society, the Kennestone Chaplain's Association and the Cobb Judicial Circuit Bar Association.

European Vacation

This summer is to be highlighted by a trip to Europe offered to any interested Kennesaw student. This trip is to be under the guidance of Mr. James Keith, who made a similar trip two summers ago, and Miss Carol Hyde of the music department here at Kennesaw.

Two summers ago, Mr. Keith took a group to Europe and it was a general consensus of opinion that those who went not only had an educational experience, but also an enjoyable vacation.

Those students that are interested in this trip, should see Mr. Keith or Miss Hyde for further information. These two will be glad to give out all the information concerning cost, places to be visited, and dates of departure and arrival.
