SGA Holds Elections

The 1973 senate elections are being held today and tomorrow with ballot boxes located at the entrance to the Student Services Center.

These senate elections take place every fall quarter and are for the election of senators to the Student Government Association. However, this year's elections are different from past ones in two ways. First, a three person Entertainment Committee will be elected and, second, the office of Vice President is to be voted upon.

The Entertainment Committee is a newly created one designed to plan entertainment for Kennesaw Junior College. Its main jobs will be to survey the students to determine their preference in entertainment and to schedule bands for concerts and dances. These jobs were formerly handled by an entertainment chairman appointed by the Student Government. The three elected to these positions this quarter will remain in office for the rest of the school year. However, two more people will be added to the committee in the winter elections and another two will be elected in the spring, making a total of seven serving at the end of the year.

Since the present Vice President was appointed by the Student Government to fill the office when it was vacated by the previous Vice President, one must be elected by the student body this quarter. He will serve until the spring elections at which time he may, of course, run for re-election. The Vice President presides over senate meetings and is second to the President in Student Government management.

Senators, as well as executive officers, act as a mediator between the students and faculty and receive complaints and suggestions from the students. They also serve on the Student Affairs Council and take part in Student Government decisions.

Balloting will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. both Monday and Tuesday (Oct. 8 and 9). The elections will be supervised and the ballots counted by an election board made up of former Student Government Senators not running for re-election.

Anxious Students Await Elections

Snack Bar Prices Increase

by Gary Simmers

This quarter, the hard-earned dollars of KJC students are worth less than ever thanks to the almost total across-the-board price increases in the Auxiliary Enterprises Snack Bar and Cafeteria.

Prices increased on all but a few items. Those remaining stable are: pimento cheese sandwich, roast beef sandwich, turkey sandwich, coffee, polish sausage, fish and fry dinner, and bananas.

There may be a few others but they were not available at the time of this writing.

While some price increases are justified by the recent rise in meat prices on the wholesale market, many items simply rose to a degree that is competitive or nearly competitive with local restaurants.

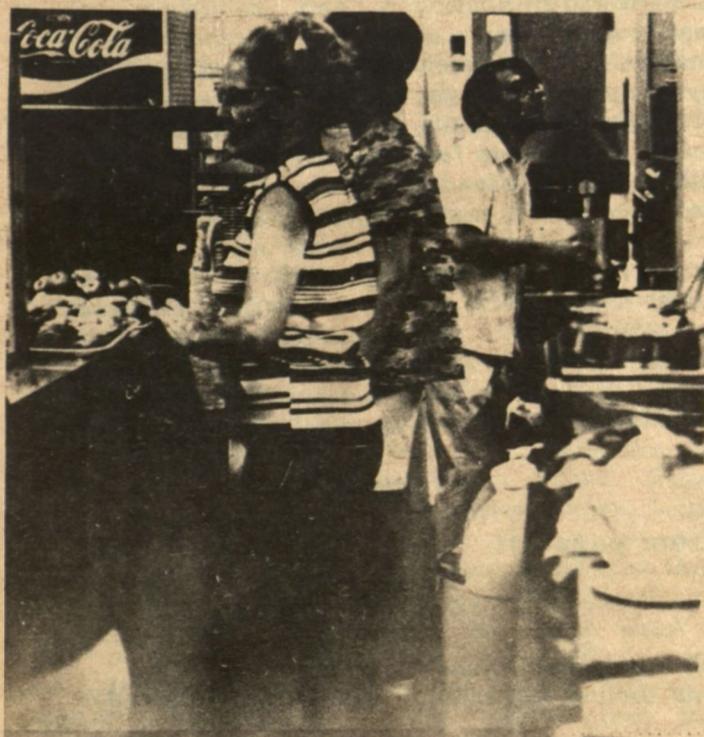

These price increases are to such a degree that they no longer offer the KJC student any relief from those charged off campus. They are comparatively the same with a minimal difference in some instances. It should be noted that the campus snack bar and cafeteria has a geographical monopoly on food services in the college area. There are no off-campus food services close enough to make it profitable for the KJC student to patronize them for their meals.

Elections

Today and tomorrow, October 8 and 9, are election days. There will be a ten-student senate, a three person entertainment committee, and a Vice-President elected. Too many students will ignore the responsibility they have to vote.

Whether or not it was realized before, these fourteen people will have a lot to say about how and where money from Student Activities fees is spent. Many of the policies that concern the student body originate in these people. They will also decide on what type of entertainment will be held on and off campus.

I challenge each student who reads this editorial to seek out the candidates and then vote accordingly. The responsibility is yours, and if it is not taken, the results, or lack of them, can be blamed on no one but ourselves. The choice is yours.

VOTE!!!

A Quotation

"A free press is the unsleeping guardian of every other right that freemen prize; it is the most dangerous foe of tyranny...under dictatorship, the press is bound to languish and the loud-speaker and the film to become more important. But where free institutions are indigenous to the soil and men have the habit of liberty, the press will continue to be the Fourth Estate, the vigilant guardian of the rights of the ordinary citizen."

Editors, THE SENTINEL
Kennesaw Junior College

Dear Sirs:

The absence of an all-weather running track at KJC is lamentable. No college is complete today without such a facility. The University at Athens and several junior colleges around the state have fine tracks. These serve as arenas for intramural sports; more importantly, they provide an invaluable means by which students and faculty, males and females, can work toward achieving physical fitness.

I therefore urge KJC to place upon its immediate priority list the construction (comparatively inexpensive) of an all-weather-surface, quarter-mile running track on one of the athletic fields.

Sincerely,

Judith C. Larsen

This letter is in reply to the unsigned editorial entitled "Health Services Mythical" which appeared in the September 19 issue of The Sentinel.

In case of emergency, it was advised that "One must dash quickly over to the Natural Science Building, to the Nursing Office..." to obtain help. I do not feel that it is my responsibility as a nursing instructor to be available to administer First Aid during emergencies on campus. I believe my responsibility here at KJC is to teach and counsel students.

As Advisor to the Student Nurses' Association of Kennesaw, I have seen many improvements in Health Services made recently. If students feel Health Services are inadequate, they should make their feelings known to those in charge of Health Services.

Sincerely,

Sherrie Harris

a poll and ask some students around the campus.

I placed in the Divisional mailboxes of every faculty member and advisor to Clubs and Organizations a letter dated July 2, 1973, requesting them to submit the names of their officers and/or members to me, so that they may be invited to attend the Conference.

Even to this late date I've received a reply from only five, and all of those five did not adequately complete the form which was attached. You just as anyone on the campus are invited to exam the files in the SGA Office, I am certain that they will validate my statements and position.

I was saddened to read of your categorizing the SGA as the "elite structure." Its rather strange that you voice opinions ex post facto.

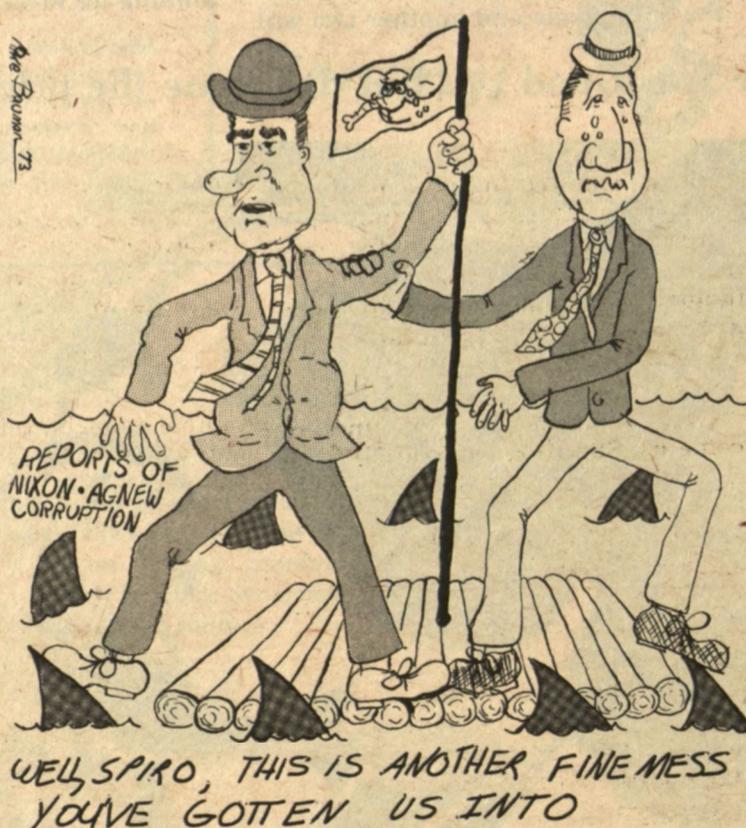

Did you consider it elite while you were a SGA Senator?

(Ed. Note: Every organization, on & off campus has a few leaders that run the larger group. THAT, Mr. Jackson, is "elite structure" as I understand it.)

Since my coming to KJC, I have found not one elite structured organization. How can there be when all students have the right to policy and decision making within any campus organization they may choose to connect themselves with.

Persons left the discussion at Rock Eagle, not because their views were not being heard as you stated. It now seems that each and every one excluding yourself know the real truth behind the motivation of their leaving.

Inside the Glass House

"Feathers"

Beware the debauchers of sanity for they seek to destroy humanity!

A force exists in our country today, a force attempting with unwavering diligence to destroy mankind. It is the force that, with inhuman mechanical madness, is attempting to rape and pillage the surface of our earth. It is sad that the people behind this effort have exchanged their own mote of humanness, their own heart, for a bloodless organ composed of unfeeling diodes, circuits, and transistors. It is they who do not know the sheer ecstasy of breathing deep of crisp morning air. It is they who cannot comprehend the awesome beauty of a roaring waterfall or the magnificence of a doe giving birth to a whining fawn. These people want to destroy the home of the fawn and pollute the waterfall and the morning air. They want to replace this vibrant, moving portrait of life with the artificial still-life of apartment complexes and high rises.

Perhaps I should say we in the above paragraph... for it is we who could become the they of today and tomorrow. It is our responsibility and only ours to see that we do not commit genocide by destroying ourselves tomorrow.

YEAR: 1970: A young boy runs along a beach. His chest rasps heavily as he breathes the dense air. His feet are cut and bleeding from the debris on the beach. There is no sand to walk on, only waste materials and empty shells that once lived. The boy stops and stares at something swirling in the dirty water... a bunch of feathers from a young seagull... feathers covered with oil and drying blood.

Is this a vision that will come to pass worldwide as it does already in some areas of the land? Is this the future of our generation? Maybe... but it doesn't have to be.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Ms. Matherne,

In reference to your editorial, which appeared in the September 19th edition of The Sentinel entitled "Leadership Confusion," I wish to offer to the readers some statements of facts.

Your questions of concern are quite misleading not only to 98% of the Student Body, who did not attend the Leadership Conference but to yourself. Stop and look around you, and will find that already a great percentage of those persons who did attend, have activated themselves into campus life and leadership. Just take a look at your staff, and count.

It is carnal knowledge that in any given collective body of people, to get everyone interested is impossible. I stand morally concerned with certainty that at the conclusion of the three day Conference, there were those as you referred to "that came only for a free ride", left Rock Eagle with a stronger determination and a more meaningful attitude.

You stated that more students should be given the opportunity to participate - they are. Every KJC student is required to complete a Student Activities Questionnaire prior to enrolling, and the last question on the back side gives the invitation to attend. Some never return them, some check yes they are interested, some state that they are not, and some just leave the space blank. What more of an opportunity do you propose? You talked about the

If you are beginning to think about your future maybe the question you are asking yourself is, "Where do I begin...?" The important thing to know is that few contemporary students regard the choice of a career as a chance process where one just "happens" to fall into a career field.

Selection of a college major or career can be a very rational decision-making process. It is important to note that the probability of a decision, made rationally, leading to satisfaction and confidence in one's final choice is much greater than a decision based solely on circumstance.

Choosing a major or career can easily be thought of as a continuous process over your years in high school and in your first year in college when you begin to recognize the need for directionality in your studies and the need to select a college major.

WHERE TO BEGIN

The decision-making process begins when you realize a problem exists when, for example, you must select a major or find your first job.

Establishing alternatives is the first major activity in the decision-making process. At this stage, it is important for you to consider several factors such as your interests, strengths, and weaknesses, personality traits, and values.

Obviously, these are not all the factors you might take into account when thinking about alternative majors or entry careers. The important thing to remember at this stage is the flexibility that several options offer you.

In evaluating all the factors that go into establishing alternatives and weighing their attractiveness and feasibility, you may wish to visit the Counseling and Placement Office (Humanities Building, Room 216, 422-8770, ext. 203-4) and take advantage of the many vocational interest exploration opportunities which can help you develop viable career-educational options.

Hang in there

by Kathy Sherlock

I received a note from a student the other day - he put his suggestion in the "Complaint and Suggestion" box in the Student Center:

"I wanted to express to someone my feelings about the changing of required text books, which seems to change every quarter. It seems to be policy to enable the bookstore to become more wealthy. I took a math course last quarter and am now retaking it to improve a "D", but can't use my book..."

You know the rest of the story. Whoever wrote this note, please call me! (428-4279) The Student Government is working in this area.

This particular problem is not the fault of the book store because changes in texts are made by the instructors or their quality of selection. You want more students to have the opportunity, yet you want them to have qualities. One can very easily read prejudiced overtones to such a statement. The Student Government Association, under the present Administration have come a long ways in the removable of clinques and societies among students and is student-people oriented not quality controlled.

Let me elucidate on several points of interest. When the developmental stages of the Conference was begun this summer, we were told to invite 50 students, 25 old and 25 new students. I was the one who division. However, student government will look into the problem. Perhaps we can recommend to the divisions that they solicit student opinion before changing books.

Also, for courses in which the text remains the same, we have a book exchange set up for students who want to buy used books when none are available in the book store - or if you want to sell a book write your name, address, and phone number along with the title, author, and how much you'll sell it for on a 3 x 5 card and turn it into the SGA office.

When you are finished this quarter if you will want to sell your books come and tell us - we will give that information to a student who wants to buy your book.

requested that we be allowed to invite more and was given that approval. You as a Senator was present at that meeting, if you wanted more students, why didn't you speak up then?

While there was failure on the part of another Senator to fulfill the obligation of examining the Student Activities Questionnaires of students to attend the Conference. I personally spent many hours both in the SGA Office and at home telephoning not only the ones who checked their interest but each and every one. Take

Would any student who has passed a Red Cross

First Aid course please let Student Government know? We desperately need to know where to find you when an emergency arises.

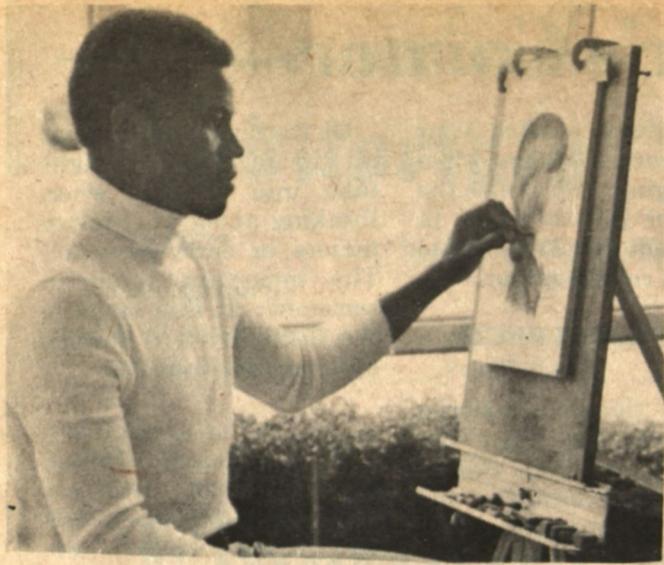

ATTENTION! All students - day and night! We have been told that we do not need a nurse or doctor on campus because there would be nothing for them to do. BULL! We need your help to show those in "higher places" that we need someone when you are sick - or faint - or when you twist an ankle - or cut yourself, etc., etc. Please, fill out an "incident report" whenever you need help of any sort. The forms can be obtained from all division offices and all night faculty - all you have to do is ask for one - even if all you want is an aspirin. (This whole mess gives me an Exedrin headache #32.) If the silent majority of students speaks up - or writes up - we can get anything we need. Please help us!

If you are willing to let another student ride with you when he or she has transportation problems, please give us your name, address, and phone number. You would be surprised how many students need this kind of help.

I'm beginning to feel that I am the Student Government "Beggar" rather than "President." Peace!

Harvey Brown

When a student walks into the Student Center, he can see more than the usual card game or two. Over in the corner near the quadrangle windows one can see an easel and an artist, Harvey Brown.

Mr. Brown sets up his easel every afternoon at two o'clock. Many students have already taken advantage of an artist's presence on campus. The profiles, done in pastels, can be drawn in a matter of minutes.

Harvie Brown comes to Kennesaw Junior College from working at Disney World in Florida and more recently from Six Flags over Georgia. He plans to continue working at Kennesaw as long as he is a student here.

Concert

On Friday, Sept. 28, an audience made up of students from KJC and STI took a trip back in time to the 50's. I don't remember what it was like then, but I know what it's like now. Rock and Roll is still alive, and it's still fantastic.

The trip through time was arranged by the KJC and STI Student Government Association with the aid of Vince Vance and the Valiants. From the word GO, through three standing ovations, The Valiants kept the audience cheering, laughing and just generally entertained. It was unfortunate that more students did not take advantage of the "free" concert, because it was a break from the mundane.

According to Jim Viator (Vince Vance) the revival of Rock and Roll began only two years ago in the south. In response to that revival, the Valiants formed the unit as it is now.

The performance that the Valiants gave looked to be so wild and dangerous that it seemed a miracle that their equipment or themselves were not destroyed. In interviewing one of the Valiants, "Stone", I found that their routine becomes quite natural and very safe, except that one of the Valiants might occasionally slip and fall or be dropped. Their major loss of equipment comes from the pianist, who went through an average of one piano a month, at one time, which is not surprising from the stunts that he does with his piano.

A question I asked was, "What if you lost a member of the band? Would it damage the band?" "Stone's" reply was that they had lost a couple of members before and had suffered no damage. No one member of the bands' natural name is Vince Vance, and all share the lead singing, back-up singing, playing of instruments, and taking part in the show.

The Valiants have appeared in cities from Boston to Colorado and they said that they had drawn their largest crowds in the north. Presently, the Valiants are doing a tour through the South, and they will be returning to Atlanta on October 7, playing at Six Flags over Georgia until October 8, when they will open at Scarlet O'Hara's in Underground Atlanta for one week.

Well, she may look like a hot number but I hear tell she's colder'n an Alaskan waterbed in January!

College on Wheels

by Randy White

The Kennesaw Junior College Community Services Office launched a new educational program, "College on Wheels," on October 1. Aimed at meeting the needs of communities by going where the people are, the program includes 34 non-credit courses and 10 seminars in Cartersville, East Marietta, South Cobb County, Smyrna, and on the KJC campus.

Offered at Cartersville on Tuesdays are the following courses: Couple's Communication Group, ESP and Modern Man, How to Get Published, Interior Decorating, Modern Math for Parents, Painting for the Beginner, Real Estate License Training, Starting a Small Business, and You and Yoga.

East Marietta courses, held at East Cobb Middle School on Mondays, are in cooperation with Cobb County Community Schools. They include: Am I Really Okay?, Art - The Way You Like It, Chair Caning, Cobb County: From Scalping to Supersonic Boom, Family Affair, How to Break into Print, Interior Design Lab, Modern Marketing, Retire to Live, and What's Going on in Your School. What's Going on in Your School is also offered at Floyd and Osborne Jr. High Schools. Powers Ferry United Methodist Church will host a seminar, a Job Clinic for Mature Women, on October 10.

Courses began the first week of October at KJC including Real Estate License Training, Introduction to Karate, Intermediate Karate, Rapid Reading, Interior Decorating, Human Relations Seminar, Parapsychology Workshop, Meditation and Advanced Psychic Development, Understanding Earth Sciences, Defensive Driving, Planning Your Home Landscape, Business Relations for Secretaries, and a Professional Secretarial Course.

Six Seminars; How to Live on a Retirement Budget, The Person Alone and Retirement Together, Human Relations, Creative Art Activities for Young Children, Crafty Decorating, and From Women's Lib to Adam's Rib will also be offered at Kennesaw.

All courses and seminars are offered at a minimal charge. For more information contact the KJC Community Services Office.

Francis goes to Brazil

Frances V. Browder, a student at Kennesaw Junior College, has been selected to participate in Governor Carter's Georgia Partners of the Americas Program on October 30 - November 9.

Georgia Partners of the Americas is a statewide exchange program with Georgia's sister state, Pernambuco, Brazil.

Two hundred Georgia representatives were selected from such diverse interest and age groups as entire families, high school students, college students, business-people, housewives, and others to be the guests of Pernambuco. In return, Georgia will host 200 Brazilians from Pernambuco.

Ms. Browder is being sponsored by the International Club of Kennesaw Junior College. She will be in Pernambuco for nine days. For three days she will be the guest of a Pernambucan family and for six days she will tour Pernambuco at her own expense. Ms. Judy Myers, assistant professor of Spanish at KJC, will sponsor a student from Pernambuco on Ms. Browder's behalf.

As preparation for her trip, Ms. Browder is taking a short court in Portuguese, the language of Pernambuco.

Ms. Browder presently resides with her parents at 552 Sugar Hill Drive in Marietta.

New Dean

Dr. Eugene R. Huck, former chairman of the Division of Social Sciences at West Georgia College, has been named dean of Kennesaw Junior College.

The appointment was announced by President Horace W. Sturgis, following the approval of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia.

Dr. Huck succeeds Dr. Robert H. Akerman, who became associate editor of The Atlanta Journal earlier this summer.

Dr. Huck, a Latin American scholar and the editor of three journals has been in the college teaching field for 17 years. He has held posts at Jacksonville State College in Alabama and at the University of Alabama in Huntsville.

In 1959 he joined the West Georgia faculty as a history instructor and in 1964 was named head of the Department of History. He has served as Social Science Division chairman since 1967.

A Fulbright Scholar (1958-1959), Dr. Huck is author of many research articles, reviews and papers. He currently is working on biographies of two Latin Americans, Santander and Guillermo Hernandez de Alba, with projected publication dates in 1975 and 1976.

Dean Huck is a member of three national honorary societies: Phi Alpha Theta (history); Phi Gamma Mu (social science); and Alpha Kappa Delta (sociology).

The new dean received the Ph.D. degree in Latin American history from the University of Alabama in 1963. He holds an M.A. from the University of Alabama and A.B. from Temple University in Philadelphia.

He is currently listed in "Who's Who in the South and Southwest," "Dictionary of American Scholars," and "National Directory of Latin Americanists."

Student Nurses

by Nancy Wiseman

The Student Nurses Association of Kennesaw (SNAK) has planned a variety of projects for the 1973/74 school year. Many ideas from last year are being put into effect.

Last year's goals emphasized the need for the relocation of the first aid kits in the department offices so they were available to students day and evening alike. The re-location of blankets for emergency needs in these offices was also discussed and their availability posted. The job of the Student Nurses would be the upkeep of these kits.

However, the results of these goals were quite varied. The location of the first aid kits were met with much resistance. Some people felt it would ruin the looks of their offices. It was decided that the supplies for the kits would be supplied by the employees in the offices. Since the library is the central building on campus, there will be a kit there.

The organization is aiming for two major goals this year. One is the formulation of a school-wide clinic fully supplied with a Red Cross volunteer once a week, and the procedure of the clinic will be posted for student needs. However, at this time there is no emergency procedure on campus. Do students think it's necessary?

The second and LARGEST goal of SNAK is a community-wide health fair on campus. Health fairs are a comprehensive and concentrated health education project. Some have been extremely effective.

The projects are usually a cooperative effort of several departments in the college and the various health resources and voluntary health agencies in the metropolitan area. Some promote only the various aspects of health education while others provide a combination of health education and the various test for blood pressure, hemoglobin, urinalysis, sickle cell, Pap smears, and the like. If one is to be carried out at Kennesaw many clubs would be involved. The Black Alliance Club has stated interest in the sickle cell area.

"Publicity is the crux of success for an event like this. All avenues of distributing information have to be explored and utilized."

The student government, senators, the campus newspaper, faculty and all other clubs as well as off-campus publicity and interest must be utilized. Various off-campus organizations such as the Red Cross, American Cancer Society, Our Lady of Perpetual Cancer Home in Atlanta, National Foundation - March of Dimes and many, many others CAN be involved. Fighting disease is a hard battle and the concepts of health fairs is an important tool in community health education. Can student involvement be spurred?

God's Forever Family

God's Forever Family, one of the many interesting on campus organizations at Kennesaw Jr. College, is a unity of believers, like-minded of the same faith. The members are not of the same denomination, however. Basically, the "family" is formed through spiritual closeness. Each individual has a responsibility to all others, and many of the group feel "closer to my fellow students than to my relatives."

The group is led by a Steering Committee, comprised of all those who want to have a say in the organization's actions and activities. God's Forever Family quotes the following verses to support their organization: Ephesians 4:8-16; Romans 12:1-10; and Corinthians 1:12,13, and 14.

From personal observation, the members of God's Forever Family are perhaps the most friendly people on campus. They welcome all interested students to come and join them in their meetings.

The Black Students Alliance

The BSA is a campus-wide organization. Its membership is open to all officially enrolled students, with the existing purpose of promoting an awareness of Black Cultural and History in and around campus, and to the society in which we live.

Its interests are geared to the creation of an environment conducive to the pursuit of academic excellence, the search for spiritual enlightenment, of physical perfection, and moral integrity.

The BSA reorganized in the Spring quarter of 1973. Since the reorganization of the BSA, it has held regular meetings, provided a Cultural Awareness Day, honoring Dr. Martin L. King Jr. Assassination Anniversary, attended the Black Awareness Weekend Conference held at West Georgia College, visited Stone Mountain Park, and Tennessee State University, Nashville, Tennessee. It has honored five of its outstanding members with awards on the College Annual Honors Day Program.

The BSA on Wednesday,

Drama Club

October 1, at noon, the first meeting of the Drama Club was held. It was decided there that the Tennessee Williams play, "The Glass Menagerie" will be produced for the Fall Quarter.

Ms. Stephenson, the faculty advisor of the Drama Club, will hold auditions on Wednesday, October 3, from 12 to 5 in the Humanities Building, Rooms 222 and 208.

Anyone who wishes to help in any technical portions of the play are welcome.

September 26, 1973, 3:00 p.m., in the private dining room, gave a get-acquainted social hour to help the new members get acquainted with the old members and officers of last year.

The officers will be chosen for this year at the next meeting held.

Eddie Jackson, the director of student activities, revised a constitution for the Statement of the Proposal for the Revision of the Black Students Alliance at Kennesaw Junior.

When the Forum was created four years ago, it was an organization designed to sponsor speakers no matter how radical or conservative a student was to be.

Mr. J. B. Tate, sponsor of the organization, said if any student, Faculty member, or staff member, who would like to have a particular speaker on campus should contact Mr. Tate and he would attempt to arrange an appearance by that speaker.

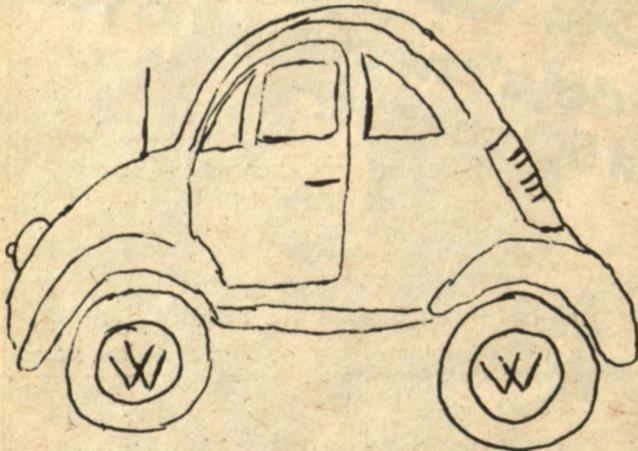

Since the Forum has been in effect it has invited such speakers as the Reverend Hosea Williams, J. B. Stoner, spokesmen from Communist Cuba, and Socialist Candidates from government offices.

At the October 1 meeting of SNAK new members were admitted to the organization. The possibility of the health fair was discussed by SGA and the other clubs. The counselors and the Dean of Student Affairs were also present to discuss the possibility of the fair.

On September 22, 1973, 56 KJC Canoeing Club members canoed and rafted the Nantahala River near the Nantahala Reservation, South Carolina.

The Nantahala is considered to be the second widest river in the Southeastern part of the United States.

Mr. J. B. Tate, sponsor of the organization, said that out of all the trips he has taken with the Club this was the most exciting.

Because of the rugged nature of the river, students were comparing bruises for several days after the trip.

Mr. Tate also added that the club is now considering a trip to the Okefenokee Swamp.

In the near future the club will be sponsoring a film and slide presentation given by Mr. Forrest Cole on canoeing the Chatooga River where the movie, Deliverance, was filmed.

Speaking Up For Heap

Judy Weatherspoon

The Higher Education Program - known to most freshmen at Kennesaw Junior College as the HEAP Program is intended to help assist students to getting a start to college or to help those students who might otherwise have great difficulty in college.

The freshmen attending the HEAP program are very concerned students. Most of these students are striving for their major goal and feel that the HEAP program is very beneficial to them.

I had an opportunity to talk to some of the freshmen, and they really had something to say about Heap worth quoting.

"I think HEAP is getting off to a good start. I feel that I'm going to get a lot out of it, and I hope many feel as I do." Anthony Gay.

"The HEAP program is a very unique program. There are many advantages for the ones who can't afford college tuition. A way to get college credit helps you prepare for your future, and most of all you will learn here, and enjoy it as you learn." Trudy Weatherspoon.

"The HEAP program is an excellent thing to get people who are not sure of themselves a chance to find out where they are and what they really want to do." Betty Turner.

"I feel the HEAP program is very beneficial. It helps prepare you for the regular college courses which are, or can be very complicating." Irene Newton

I, Judy Weatherspoon, feel as most of the students in the HEAP program do. I hope as the program progresses may the students progress also in their studies, and may more attend.

1973 Fall Quarter Intramural Sports Season Begins

by Randy White

The 1973 intramural season has already gotten under way as the first games were played. The intramural program is primarily a recreational and social activity which is designed to offer Kennesaw students something besides studies. Every student is encouraged to participate whether he is a sports superstar or the world's worst athlete. Even though the first games have already been played, students may sign up at any time at the bulletin board between the trophy cases in the gym. You can either be placed on a team or join the team you desire. Students may participate in as many sports that they desire.

The intramural program includes activities for both men and women. The women's games are played on Mondays and Wednesdays while the men play on Tuesday and Thursdays. Individual games will be scheduled for the convenience of the players, usually between 3:00 and 5:00. The activities for men are: flag football, horseshoes, cycling, tabletennis, and golf. The list of activities for women are: volleyball, horseshoes, cycling, and tabletennis.

At the end of the season there will be a champion for each individual sport and a first place team for each team sport, plus an individual points champion. Individual points will be awarded for participation in the various sports. Team points will be given for the number of players playing in each game as well as for position of finish at the season's end.

Other sports can be added to the program if the students show an interest.

Yarborough Loses Dominion 500 To Petty in Final Laps

Randy White

Cale Yarborough, driving a 1973 Chevrolet owned and prepared by Junior Johnson, dominated the Old Dominion 500 at Martinsville, Virginia but fell victim to misfortune as he lost to Richard Petty in the final stages of the Sept. 30 event.

Yarborough won the pole position and so heavily dominated the first half of the race that by lap 262 he had already led over half the 500 laps. Richard Petty, "The King of Stock Car Racing", was the only driver able to keep up with Cale. Buddy Baker wrecked the Harry Hyde built Dodge and lost time in the pits getting repair work done. Bobby Allison, in the Coca-Cola Chevrolet, ran slightly off the pace of the leaders. The famed Wood Brothers Mercury, piloted by David Pearson, developed mechanical troubles and retired from the race early.

With 25 miles left in the race, rain began to fall, but race officials elected not to drop the caution flag or stop the race. After several laps of racing in the rain, Yarborough cut a tire and was forced to pit, thus relinquishing his lead to Richard Petty. Race officials then put the race under caution and later stopped it, proclaiming Petty the winner. Yarborough finished second with Bobby Allison third. Benny Parsons, current Winston Cup points leader, placed sixth.

Cale Yarborough, in addition to his second place prize money, won $1,000 for the pole position and $5,000 for leading the most laps to make a total of $11,000. Petty, who drove the STP sponsored Petty Enterprises built Dodge to victory, only won $10,250. Bobby Allison took home $3,000.

Braves Set Records

The Atlanta Braves set a major league record by having three players to have hit forty or more home runs in a season. They were Dave Johnson, Darrel Evans, and Hank Aaron.

Johnson set a record also by hitting more home runs than any other second baseman; forty-three.

Hank Aaron almost tied ruth with 713 home runs, one behind the Babe.

Staff To Predict Games

by Danny Hill

The Sentinel sports pages are going to have predictions of the major college games and the Falcons. Predicting with the staff are Dr. Romar and Mr. Rowe of the History department along with Mr. Blumenthal of the physical education department.

Colleges being covered are Alabama, Auburn, Georgia, Georgia Tech., L.S.U., Tennessee. All of these teams are playing each this week so there are only five games to pick on this week. Alabama at Gainesville playing the Florida Gators, while L.S.U. at Auburn playing the Tigers. Tech at Knoxville going against Tennessee, with Georgia hosting Ole Miss.

The predictors go with Alabama over Florida, LSU over Auburn, Tennessee over Tech., Georgia over Ole Miss., and the Falcons had split three to three.

(1) Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, 64-65 L.A.
Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson, '72-'73 Atlanta
(2) St. Louis
(3) 1950 and 1954
(4) Tommy Nobis
(5) John Brown and Dwight Jones
(6) Braves
