ATTENTION ALL STUDENTS

Veterans from time to time need tutors for their classes. If you would like to tutor a veteran, and receive adequate compensation for your efforts, contact the Veteran's Affairs Office.

We will place your name and means of contacting you, along with your area(s) of competency on the list of Available Tutors, and you will be contacted as Veterans need tutorial assistance.

Contact Ray Carver in the Veterans Affairs Office for additional information.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

During the week of Nov. 4 thru Nov. 9, Lambda Chi Alpha will be sponsoring a food drive for Cobb County Emergency Aid Association, Inc. The food donated will go to the families who need emergency help in the Cobb County area.

Everyone please pitch in and help make this food drive a success and to let Cobb County know that Southern Tech is helping.

SGA

TELL IT LIKE IT IS

The Student Government Association met last Wednesday and was very optimistic about the remainder of the year. With Vice-President Jesse Rice handling the meeting, order and productivity have become the rule, rather than the exception.

A report on Goat-74 was given by the committee. "Together", a group from New Orleans has been tabbed for the climatic dance on Goat Day evening. This group, which has a high rating with night clubs around Atlanta, primarily play "top 40" music.

The I.F.C. has agreed to furnish cool beverages for consumption during Goat Day. A meal will be prepared and served by the Lions Club.

Festivities and events for the big day are not restricted to fraternities and clubs. Independent teams are urged to form and join the action. Registration for the events will be at 11:00 am Saturday.

Southern Tech Athletics has something to cheer about--CHEERLEADERS. Nine female students of STI have organized and plan to lead the support of the Hornets this year.

This Saturday has the potential of becoming a memorable day in the life of Southern Tech. Participation is the key, so stick around, you'll like it.

The saying goes; "don't knock it until you have tried it". From what Mr. Monte Ray (Attorney-at-Law) told me, he doesn't swing a gold watch in front of you or drive needles into your body. You sit comfortably in a chair, close your eyes and do nothing but let your mind wander. No one will pick your pocket while you sit. You don't even pay for the lecture, IT'S FREE! So if you would like to know what Transcendental Meditation is all about, come to room 268 at noon or the Seminar room at 7:30 Thursday October 31st.

There's less room for misunderstanding when we tell it like it is.

The following is a perfect example of how the failure to tell it like it is can result in a serious communication gap:

A newly married couple was looking for a house in the country. After finding what they thought was suitable, they moved in and made it their home. Upon arriving, the wife noticed that they didn't have a bathroom commode, so she wrote the landlord; but being shy and modest, she hesitated to mention a "commode" - instead she put "B.C." (for bathroom commode).

The landlord, not knowing what she meant by B.C. pondered for a while and then decided she meant "Baptist Church." He answered:

"Dear Madam:

I regret very much the delay in answering your letter, but I take pleasure in informing you that the B.C. is located nine miles from your house and is capable of seating 250 people.

This is very unfortunate, indeed, if you are in the habit of going regularly, but no doubt you will be interested in knowing that a great number of people take their lunch and make a day of it. They usually arrive early and stay late. The last time my wife and I went - six years ago- we had to stand up the whole time.

It may interest you to know a supper has been planned to raise the money for more seats. I would like to say it pains me very much to be unable to go more regularly, but is surely is not a lack of desire on my part. As we grow older, it seems more of an effort, particularly in cold weather.

I hope to see you there and, if possible, we will sit together.

Yours very truly,

/s/ Your landlord"

We are now in the middle of our fourth week of Intramural Football. But just how many of us know what intramurals are for?

The way I look at intramurals, they are played by the students for fun and enjoyment. And even though we all like to be a winner, we should first take the game for what it is. It is a time for us to break away from our school work and have a little enjoyment. It is a chance for us to get to know one another. Intramurals should be building friendships among us and not making enemies of us.

But the way we are playing the game NOW is not fun. If we have people going around the day of the game telling everyone how bad they are going to beat a team and are willing to go about it in any way they can to do it, then this is the time I think we should all sit down and take a good look at ourselves. Are we here for fun, or do we just get out there to see who we can hurt? Even in a high school or college game, the first thing a coach will tell his team is to go out and win. But he will tell them to keep within the rules of the game. And to show good sportsmanship. We have people starting fights over the games and giving the refs a hard time. Remember, these refs are like you. They are students trying to do their best. Sure the refs are making some bad calls, but so do pro refs. But the pro refs don't have to take as much abuse from the players as our refs do. Our refs are giving up their time to come out and help us, and I think we should just let them call the game the way they see it. If we spent less time telling the refs what they are doing wrong, and play the game, it would be much more enjoyable. They will call the game the best they can.

I know there are a lot of you who don't ref, not because you don't know the game, but because you know what you are doing to the refs and don't care to have the same thing happen to you. Well, let me tell you, I think more of the people who are out there trying to ref, than I think of people who know what the refs are doing wrong. If you think you can do a better job of refing than these people are doing, then get out and help. But as long as we keep playing the game like the world will end if we don't win, then we are not playing the game for the reason we should be. And if we are not playing the game for enjoyment, then we shouldn't be playing the game at all. If everyone is worrying about how hard they are going to be hit that night by the other team, or who they are going to be in a fight with, then I think we should stop playing the game.

Some of us are having fun playing, so we would like to keep on playing. But because of the way the game is being played now, I am not enjoying it myself. And because of this I am no longer enjoying my job as Commissioner. Therefore, I will give up my job as Commissioner at the end of the football season, and let someone take over who is more capable of handling the job. Someone who can run things for the students the way they seem to like it. For I feel I haven't done the job in the best way it could be done. We did not have all this trouble in the past years when I was playing. And back then there wasn't anyone trying to run the show. Perhaps this is the way you like to have things done. In the past years we didn't have rules, we just got out there and played. If a ref saw something he didn't like, he called it. And the same thing wasn't called two games in a row. Sometimes, it would be a ten yard penalty and one day 5 yards. We were playing for enjoyment and not for killing the other guy.

So if people were enjoying themselves more before I came along, then I think I should step down. I thank you for giving me a go at the job, but I'm sorry I let everyone down. But mostly because I let myself down for thinking that I could help run things better than they were and make the game more enjoyable.

VETS

You can provide your non-school friends and acquaintances, who are veterans, with a valuable service by keeping them informed of recent developments concerning their Veterans benefits. For example, inform them about:

- upgrading discharges
- removing SPN Numbers and re-enlistment codes
- receiving back pay (if they served between 10Oct 72 and 1 Jan 73)
- and the recent proposal to increase GI Bill educational benefits.

Remind them that the Office of Veterans Affairs at Southern Tech will be happy to discuss the current GI Bill benefits with them whether they plan to attend Southern Tech or not.
