FRESHMAN ELECTIONS TODAY, VOTE !!!

GOAT DAY TOMORROW

EDITORIAL

The Student Government Association, during the Tuesday meeting, took under consideration a resolution calling for the formation of a study group to look into the possibility of starting a physical education department on the Southern Tech campus. We applaud this idea and point out that in paragraph six of the Statement of Purpose in the 1973-1974 General Catalog Southern Tech offers "Planned activities to provide an environment for the physical development and well-being of its students." Southern Tech may be the only unit of the University System that does not provide at least the opportunity for some planned program of athletics.

We realize the problems that are inherent in adding a physical education department to the STI curriculum. We feel that regardless of the problems the opportunity should be there. EPCD accreditation is perhaps the most important factor to be considered---is there room for P.E. credits in our program? An answer has to be found and if that answer is "no" perhaps other alternatives would be possible. Financing the program would also be a problem ---how are other schools financing their programs? Would P.E. be mandatory? What would be the benefits of such a program?

These are, we admit, some of the problems involved. They are not insurmountable. It doesn't cost a nickel to study the problem. We urge President Tucker and Vice-President Thomas to bring this idea of committee and throw it open to discussion. It would be a shame to summarily dismiss this product of student thinking.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I think that I should make you and the Southern Tech campus aware of an event that we can all be proud of. In the SGA meeting of October 18, eight members of TKE, one of the two fraternities active on the STI campus, voted to appropriate money to purchase a trophy for their rivals, Sigma Pi. The fact that such a thing could take place is remarkable.

For so long the Southern Tech campus has rocked with chants of "We're No. 1!" from these two fraternities that it appeared that even basic communication between the two groups had been lost. Yet, in order to eliminate the possibility of a campus squabble, the gentlemen of TKE put aside their rivalry and put Southern Tech above any selfish interests. The adage, "It's not whether you win or lose but how you play the game," would certainly apply here. Southern Tech was the winner.

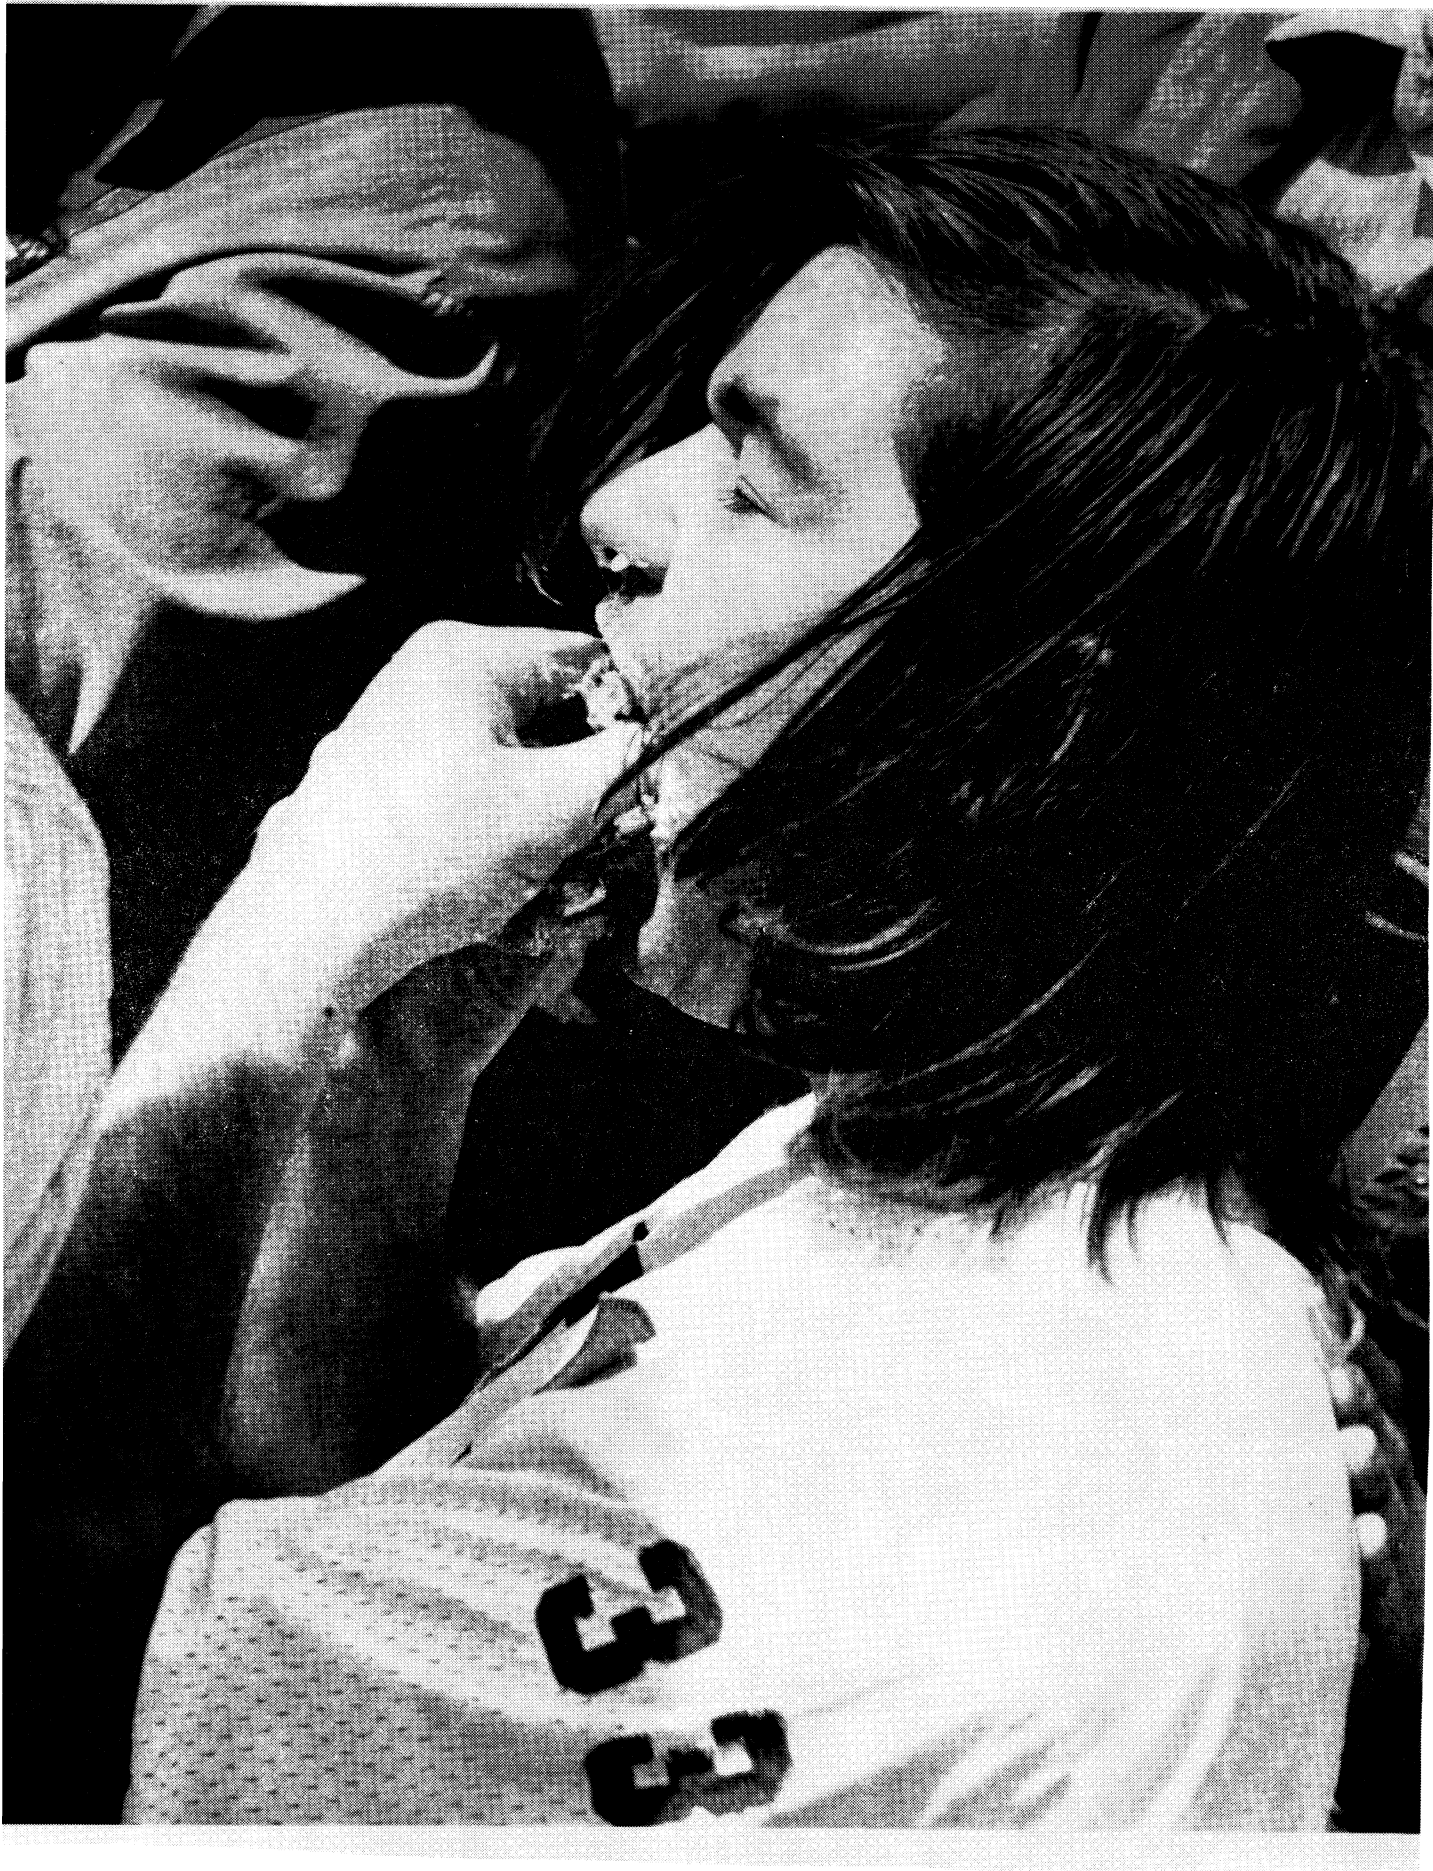

If courtesy, school spirit, and maturity is any indication - - - TKE is No. 1 in my book.

Sincerely,
Lewis N. Wynne

COMMON SENSE by T. H. Payne

In the past few weeks, the administration, the faculty, and the student organizations have been engaging in many meetings and outside discussions involving numerous topics and campus related problems. Strong words have emerged from all sides. Each side has defended their own position, but has respected the other point of view. If nothing else has culminated, each side is respecting the other side's point of view. This is the most important step in achieving what everyone is really after: a joint working relationship from which dynamic action can effectively be taken.

New ideas are constantly being forwarded. They are objectively being discussed and considered. Those that are good, are being actively handled with the results forthcoming shortly. Nothing is being left to just lie around. We have established communication across the power gap!!! cont.pg. 13

JEFF TUCKER SAYS,

When Hawkeye made the statement, "The time I spent on this letter, I should have been studying," he was correct. He should have been studying! Hawkeye had but one good point, "What is the average STI student?" The rest of his letter was a conglomeration of crap (as he so well used the word).

The point of "What is the average STI student" is one that has not been neglected by myself or any of the SGA offices. I know the average STI student is much older than those of other college campuses. I also know that about one-fourth of the student population at Southern Tech are veterans and about that many more are married. I do not have the exact statistics, as you asked in your letter, but I do not feel that exact statistics would help anymore than what I already know.

If you attended the concert and thought it was "teenybopper" and was not worth a "crap," that opinion is your prerogative. If you did not attend the concert, you have no right to judge its status. One of the groups selected for the concert played the music of the 1950's. This group was selected because I felt the older STI students that attended would enjoy it. From the students that I talked to or received response from, most of them enjoyed this style of music. You will notice that I said I felt that the older STI student would enjoy this type of music. I did not say that I knew what was good for them as you have insinuated. You must think that the SGA is supposed to be some kind of god. The SGA cannot know what is good for the students until the students let us know what is good for them. We have tried surveys in the mailbox, through the professors, etc., and the returns were not good. The process of putting questionnaires in someone's hand is a bit childish. If the average STI student is not accustomed to initiating anything, he or she had better start now. Without initiative, the Southern Tech graduate can foresee a hard road ahead. It is your responsibility as a student to inform the SGA of needed changes, criticisms, or suggestions which may be beneficial to both you and the SGA.

You suggested putting the money into a bigger and better Goat Day and organize a Bathtub Race quarterly. Your suggestions are invalid. The SGA has allocated money to help pay for materials being used in the various projects of Goat Day. What else can the SGA do except take an active part in Goat Day itself? This day of fun is done solely by the initiative of interested students (are you one of them?). The only way to make Goat Day a bigger success is for more students to participate. The Bathtub Race is the biggest public relations attraction that Southern Tech has. Why ruin a good thing. If Bathtub Races were held quarterly, the attendance would drop because of the constant exposure. When someone thinks of the Bathtub Race at STI they normally think of Spring Quarter and it is something that they look forward to. The SGA allocates money and pays for the insurance for the race every year, which is quite expensive. Just as Goat Day, the Bathtub Race is another example of student initiative.

Whoever you are, Hawkeye, you seem to be an interesting sort of individual. Maybe you should be elected President of the Apathy Club. Maybe a lot of people who read your letter feel you are an interested student. My feeling is different! Any student who was truly interested would have the intestinal fortitude to reveal his identity and come forth and offer his suggestions to the SGA to make Southern Tech a better place for the students.

Maybe next week I will hear from the other M*A*S*H star, Trapper.

BOY SCOUTS AT STI

The Boy Scouts of America and Southern Technical Institute have announced plans for a series of Merit Badge Clinics to be held on the Southern Tech campus. The topic of the first clinic will be "The Citizen and the Nation" and will be taught by Professor Lewis N. Wynne, a member of the Southern Tech English and Social Studies Department. The clinic will be held on two consecutive Tuesdays--October 30 and November 6, 7:00 to 8:30 P.M.

Hart Gates, Scoutmaster of Marietta Troop #277, is the coordinator of this series and made this statement about the clinics. "This series of clinics will feature required merit badge topics and will be open to scouts in cont. pg. //

CLUBS IN ACTION

Lions Club

Drawings for the Motorcycle Give Away will be held at 4:30 p.m. at the Rock SAT. Tickets will be available up to the Drawing. Proceeds will go to the Lighthouse for the Blind. Also, Goat Day T-Shirts will be available on Goat Day. Support Goat Day - Attend!

S.A.M.

Tickets for the automobile giveaway are being printed at the present time. The car to be given away is a 1960 Renault CV4. The car is in good running condition. It has a radio, floor shift, bucket seat, 4 doors, chrome valve cover, hand crank to start the engine on those cold mornings, and a "coon" tail atop the antenna. The engine is a 4 cylinder, 28 horsepower piece of work. The car holds 7 gallons of gas, 2 quarts of oil, and gets about 40 miles to the gallon.

The drawing will be February 6, 1974 at the rock. Tickets will be 50¢, with the donation used to build a bathtub for the club. The car will be brought to the campus the middle of November for display and maybe a few spins around the mall!

DANIEL MOONE GRIPS THE NIP

Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Sigma Pi took its first trip of the year last weekend when they visited Epsilon Beta Chapter of Sigma Pi at the University of Kentucky.

Epsilon Beta, the newest chapter in the fast growing Sigma Pi National Fraternity, was installed Saturday, October 18, 1973 in ceremonies at the University in Lexington, Kentucky.

The men at Kentucky welcomed the brothers from Southern Tech by throwing a weekend party that lasted from Friday afternoon until Sunday. A great time was had by all and everyone profited by the trip. The brothers at Kentucky learned the famous "Hottie Tottie" cheer while the brothers from Epsilon Alpha returned with a new phrase: "Daniel Moone Grips the Nip." The true meaning of this saying is known to only a few, but nonetheless, it has become a new addition to life at Southern Tech. All in all, it was a very good weekend for Sigma Pi, marking the installation of the newest chapter in the nation, and the best party ever held in the State of Kentucky. Epsilon Alpha would like to extend their heartiest congratulations to the brothers of Epsilon Beta on their installation and would also like to thank them for one great weekend.

Daniel Moone

Sigma Pi challenges any and all takers to a tug of war on Goat Day. Teams of six men each are to sign up for the contest at the rock. However, an entry fee of $3.00 per team is required in order to pay for a truly fantastic prize for the lucky winner. A word to the wise, though: Sigma Pi warns all competitors to be prepared to get wet, as they plan to drag a lot of people through the ditch between the dorms.

THIS YEAR, ALL CLUBS AND FRATERNITIES WILL HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO SELECT THE LOCATION WHERE THEY HAVE THEIR PICTURE MADE (LOCATIONS OFF CAMPUS ARE PREFERRED). IF YOU DO NOT WANT TO SELECT YOUR OWN LOCATION, WE WILL SELECT ONE FOR YOU. PLEASE LET JOE DEADWYLER KNOW YOUR PLANS BY OCTOBER 26, 1973.

THE SOUTHERN TECH HYMN

Words and music: Robert Hays

Southern Tech will be for me A hallowed place in mem-o-ry

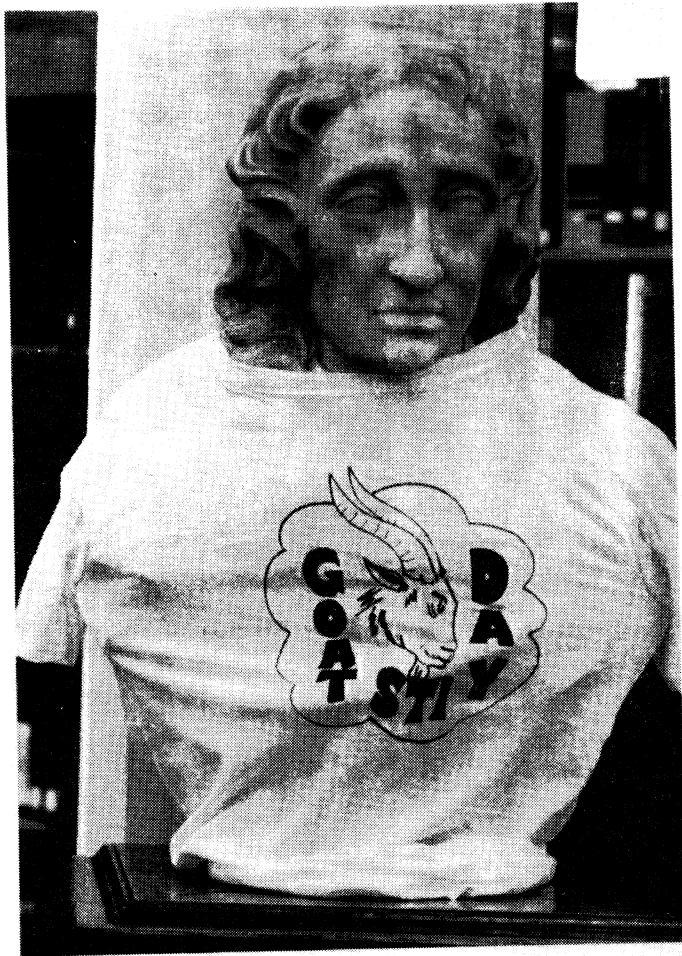

That quiet autumn after-noon, the grad-u-ation line in June

These things haunt me all life through: the slide rules, labs,

the library nooks; the weary hours a-mong the books;

the Christmas Dance—my sweet-heart's looks: Old S. T. I.,

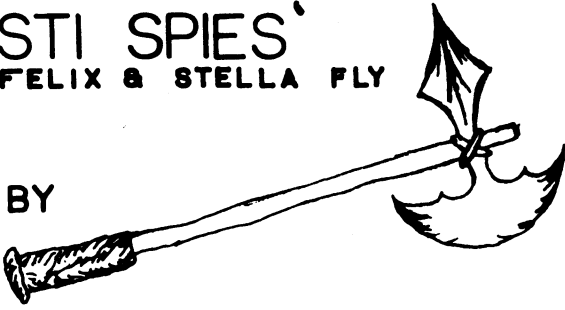

I LOVE YOU

FELIX & STELLA FLY

BY

Stella: Felix, come here! There's a monster near that big rock on campus.

Felix: Calm down, Stella, big Fel has yet to meet his match, neither human, fly nor beast. Now, tell me exactly what happened.

Stella: Well, I was leaving the ladies bathroom after drinking some coffee in the Snack Bar, you know what it does to my system, I think it's better than Exlax...

Felix: Stella! Stay on the subject. What about the monster!?

Stella: You never understand me. This whole affair was a terrible shock.

Felix: Yeah, like the time you flew through that electricity experiment in that Physics lab. I thought I would die laughing. You glowed in the dark for a week; every night when we went to bed I felt like I should pull your string to turn out the lights.

Stella: That's not funny. Do you want to hear about the monster or not?

Felix: O.K., O.K. Tell me.

Stella: Well, out by the big rock was this dog, I thought, and...well, you know I like dogs, just tied there. But it wasn't a dog. It had horns, a beard, and smell...whew!

Felix: Let's go see it.

Stella: You go first.

Felix & Stella: Buzz, Buzz.

Stella: There it is! See it! See it!

Felix: Stella, don't you remember last year? It must be time for Goat Day again. The students bring goats on campus to start the festivities.

Stella: Oh yeah, that's right; I remember.

Felix: I heard some of the students talking and it seems that this year it's going to be a big day.

Stella: I saw someone wearing a shirt with a goat on it.

Felix: Yes, the students and faculty are involved, but some students and faculty are not.

Stella: Well, I'm sure the active students would like to see them all out there on Goat Day. But the whole idea is to have fun.

Felix: Yes, but some think they're too good to associate with the commoners. They're really no great loss, anyway. But the active student of today is the active alumni of tomorrow and they can work from the outside to correct some of the bull that is going on.

Stella: I hope so...someday this school is going to be one of the keys to engineering in the United States.

Felix: Stella, I agree, but I have to go. I have an appointment with Professor Nevitt.

Stella: What for?

Felix: I'm going to arm wrestle him, best two out of three.

Stella: Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha!

the metropolitan Atlanta area. Prospective Egal Scouts, in particular, should take advantage of this opportunity. I am pleased also at the spirit of individuals at Southern Tech and the institution itself in offering these topics. Such efforts demonstrate the institution itself in offering these topics. Such efforts demonstrate the willingness of Southern Tech in participating in community affairs and in regional projects."

Professor Wynne added that he was "... gratified at having an opportunity to be of service to the Boy Scouts and at having a chance to discuss the unparalleled merits of the American system of government."

Individuals who wish to enroll for the program should contact the Atlanta Area Council Office of the Boy Scouts of America by mail at 194 Luckie Street, Atlanta, or telephone the office at 404-523-7682.

Tomorrow, hoards of people will invade Southern Tech for a wild day of "hell raising" and community awareness, with the proceeds going for a worthy cause. Those who come, and those who participate are promised an exciting time by the "Goat Day" committee. Only thoughts of having a good time will be in everyone's mind. Hassles over objectives between students and administration will be set aside.

But after "Goat Day" then what?? Will things return to as before this quarter began?? Will the students, faculty, and administration return to the battlefield??

I think not!!! I believe that this particular "Goat Day" will mark a definite beginning of the faculty, administration, and students being able to jointly conduct campus affairs and promote bigger and better things.

Come to "Goat Day" tomorrow!!! Buy your girl and yourself a "Goat Day" T-shirt, have a ball, and keep those baseballs flying and Dean Van Gorder in the water tank.

S.G.A. NEWS

by Craig S. Hanson

Since the last time I have written this article, your Student Government Association has had two meetings. If you come to the meetings regularly, which by the way are open to the student body and faculty, you have seen a big change every week. Your Student Government is getting stronger and more organized. The "Goatshed" realizes now that there is a power over there in the Library to be reasoned with and they keep their distance.

On Thursday the 18th, we elected a Judiciary Board headed by Terry Brantley.

Mr. Cox, with the help of the S.G.A. is going to set up a free seminar on all kinds of insurance. The S.G.A. would like any student feedback on what times would be convenient for the majority of the students to hold this seminar. If you are interested, please drop a note in P.O. Box #8157.

Our Vice President, Linnie Thomas, has requested that anyone who would like to have something brought up in front of the Student Government Association should let him know by a note in his P.O. Box #8373, before the meeting.

The Veterans Affair Committee, set up by the S.G.A. has written a letter to the "Goatshed" requesting that the college hire a full time secretary for veteran affairs.

The S.G.A. has a good group of guys and would like to invite old students as well as new to come to our meetings every Thursday at 5:15 in the Library Seminar Room.

By the way, freshman elections-
