

DEKALB FINED FOR CREEK POLLUTION

DeKalb County has been ordered to pay fines totalling $1,000 for having polluted Indian Creek with fly ash discharges on October 7, 1971, and again on October 15, 1971, in violation of the Rules of the Georgia Water Quality Control Board.

The fly ash was discharged to the creek from a settling pond operated in conjunction with the county incinerator adjacent to Interstate 285.

The level of the fines was recommended by hearing examiner Robert O. Van Norte following his review of testimony given at a January 28 administrative hearing which had been called to enable representatives of the DeKalb County Commissioners to "show cause" why the county should not be fined for the cited violations.

In his review, Van Norte noted "The fly ash has in fact created pollution of the creek for a distance of at least three quarters of a mile downstream from the incinerator and the black residue (which was traced back to the incinerator) prevented downstream owners from using the water for irrigation and recreational purposes. Moreover, the condition of the water when it is polluted by fly ash emanates a nauseating odor and some of the black residue from the fly ash adheres to the banks of the creek." He added that "the fly ash and suspended solids have been detrimental to the animal life in the stream as the fly ash has smothered algae and thereby removed or destroyed organic materials in the stream."

Van Norte concluded that since "it is apparent that the pollution caused by the fly ash . . . was unintentional . . . the full penalty should not be imposed on DeKalb County." (According to a 1971 amendment to the Georgia Water Quality Control Act, violators of water pollution regulations may be subject to penalty not to exceed $1,000 per violation and an additional penalty not to exceed $500 for each day during which the violation continued.)

Assistant Attorneys General Robert S. Bomar and James B. Talley represented the Board at the January 28 proceedings while George P. Dillard, Attorney for DeKalb County, represented the DeKalb County Commissioners.

Plague on Campus?

By Cynthia Rigsby

This is that time of year when many strange sounds begin emerging from the quadrangle. Don't be alarmed, they are only the maniac screams of the new breed of student, bombarded by the disease called "SPRING FEVER." This common disease usually only comes once a year but it attacks thousands of people making them do many weird things.

One of the symptoms of this disease is the chronic frisbee thrower. This poor victim is destined to put on his favorite jean cut-offs, grab the closest person available, and spend endless hours in the warm sunshine throwing the brightly colored frisbee around. It is always possible to detect this diseased person when approaching him. First, one notices the definite whizzing sounds, and as one comes closer, the victim may try to contact you with the disease. Beware, it's highly contagious.

Another symptom is the urge to ride bicycles. The persons that have this phase of the disease peddle around for hours soaking in all the freshness of spring. The wind blowing against their face and the fresh smells of blooming flowers are absolutely the perscription that needs to be filled.

Although the two symptoms mentioned are quite common, the most deadly of all the symptoms is the one that is referred to as "love." Now, this symptom strikes one when he least expects it. One can see its dastardly results by looking around the campus. The stricken couples are everywhere, on the grass, in the student center, and in the parking lot. There is no place on campus that is safe.

However, if one makes a very close study of this disease, he will find that maybe it isn't so bad after all. It's really nice to be carefree and funloving, to spend hours or even minutes in the warm sunshine, to spread happiness with a smile, just to enjoy living! Therefore, it is with great sincerity and much emotion that I say:

YEAH SPRING!

Vets Unite

The Vietnam Veterans Against the War have announced a campaign in support of a bill which would provide free tuition for Georgia veterans now attending colleges and universities across the state. The bill would pay $150 per quarter to Georgia veterans who have served in the military since 1965. The proposal is similar to legislation already passed by several other states.

Chuck Searcy, State Coordinator of the V. V. A. W., urged all Vietnam-era veterans to write their state senators and representatives at the Capitol in Atlanta and push for quick passage of the bill during this session of the legislature. "There is very little time remaining," Searcy said, "and if the bill is not passed during this session, it will be at least another year before the measure can be brought up again. We want to see action taken during this session."

Veterans who do not have an opportunity to write their senators and representatives may telephone 1-800-282-5800, toll free, and register their support for the bill with the General Assembly's legislative staff who will pass the information along to individual senators and representatives.

KJC Goes To the Symphony

On March 29, 1972 Michael Palmer conducted the string section of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra in the gymnasium at Kennesaw Junior College. The performance, which was sponsored by the KJC Student Government Association, consisted of a program of four composers: J. S. Bach's "Brandenburg Concerto No. 3 in G Minor," Gustav Mahler's "Symphony No. 5 in C Sharp Minor," Benjamin Britten's "Symphony for Strings," and Peter Tchaikowsky's "Serenade in C Major." The Benjamin Britten piece was substituted in the program at the last minute for the David Diamond Piece, "Rounds," which had been scheduled originally.

The concert drew a fairly large audience with many students attending despite the fact that this was a classical, not a rock concert. The audience seemed to enjoy the evening although ringing class bells and poor acoustics served to mar an otherwise delightful performance.

Something Old — Something New

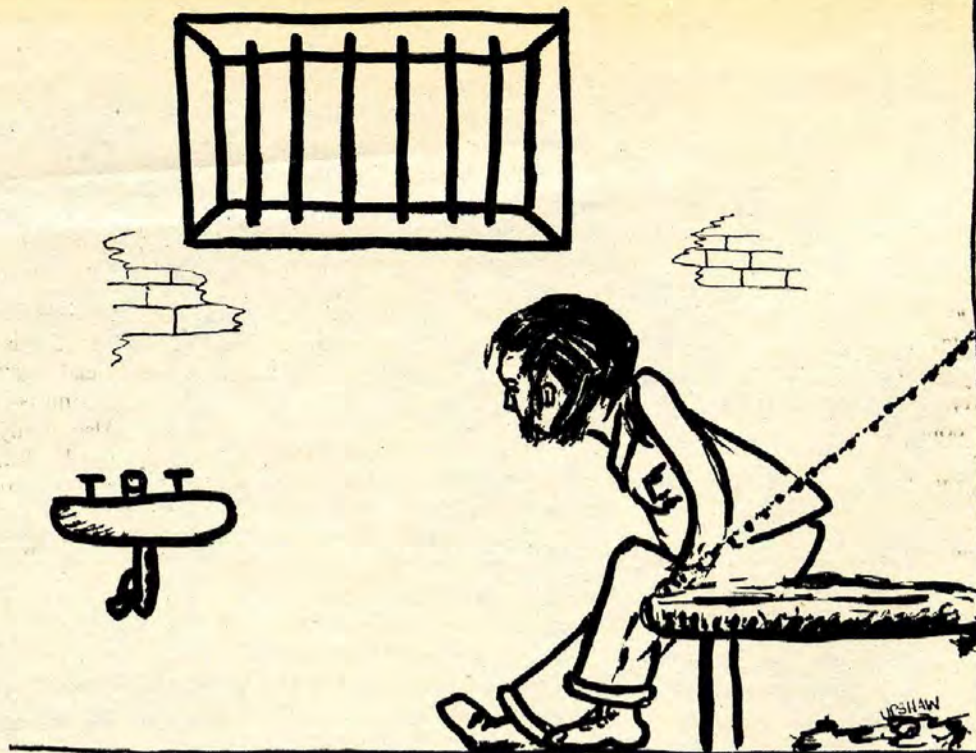

By Del Eastman

The S. G. A. has made definite progress in seeing what can be done to help the night students get more of a return on their ten dollars per quarter Student Services Fee. This fee is used, "to finance student activities, student publications, and special student services."

Recently, the S. G. A. was successful in getting the Student Center to remain open until 11:00 P. M. Monday through Thursday. Also a motion was passed in a S. G. A. meeting to offer free coffee to all students after the snack bar closes at 3:30 P. M. Enough coffee is offered to meet the needs of the students, and there is a minimum of loss. This coffee will be paid for from the S. G. A. Fund.

Whether you are a day or night student, you are still a member of the S. G. A. and S. G. A. will continue to strive for more and better services and activities for all students.

Vox Populus

Mr. Editor:

Congratulations to the entire staff of the Sentinel for the honors which came your way - which you earned - at the recent Press Institute in Athens. The individuals who were singled out for recognition deserve the commendation of the entire campus. These kinds of achievements reflect on both the students and the college in a way that can only help the cause of education in Georgia. I hope that you look on these honors as encouragement to continue striving for excellence in the Sentinel.

Sincerely,

Dear Students:

In reference to the article, "Vo-Tech Course Runs Into K. J. C. Opposition," in the March 1, 1972, edition of the Marietta Daily Journal, we as students of the Marietta-Cobb Area Vocational-Technical School feel that before our school is down-graded, it should be thoroughly evaluated. We were not aware of the fact that we were illiterate until we read the article.

The ability to pay for more expensive education should not be confused with the desire to learn a useful and rewarding occupation. Statistics are beginning to indicate that enrollment rates in colleges are declining, while these rates are on the increase at vocational-technical schools. To quote from the article "The Revolution in Career Education" by Lawrence Davenport, Chairman, National Advisory Council on Vocational Education, "In effect, the widely held belief that there always exists a positive relationship between years in school and economic success is breaking down . . . The result is that Vocational Education is emerging as the main force in public school education."

Dear Editor:

Millions of men, women and children are returning to Bangladesh after months of agony as refugees in crowded camps in India. They were destitute then, and have returned in the same condition.

The tragedy is that countless families are finding upon their return that their former homes have been utterly destroyed by war. There are 30,000,000 persons without shelter in Bangladesh, and many will not survive another period of exposure similar to that which they suffered before camps could be built for them in India.

The Government of Bangladesh has asked for CARE's aid in this critical situation. We are racing to build 7,500 simple one-room houses before the monsoon season arrives and Bangladesh again is swamped by rain day after day. What is involved is the construction of 62 settlements in which the vast mass of human beings now sleeping in the open or under trees may find permanent shelter.

CARE must find more than $2,000,000 to finance the construction of these simple homes, and I earnestly hope that your readers will be moved to send dollars for this purpose. By so doing, they will reach around the world to save men, women and children still clinging to life after months of severe tribulation. Contributions may be sent to:

Bengal Relief Fund
CARE, Inc.

Again, we ask for your invaluable assistance. Anything that you can do to inform your readers of this great need would be greatly appreciated.

Very sincerely,

I would like to make one thing perfectly clear....

The Pusher

I've seen a lot of people with tombstones in their eyes
 But the pusher, he don't care if you live or die.
 I'll cut him if he stands; shoot him if he runs
 I'll kill him with my razor, my Bible and my gun
 Goddamn the pusher man!

Steppenwolf

Do you care that thousands of people are hooked by pushers? Do you feel threatened? Do you worry about your friends? If you are concerned, there are steps you can take to control the rise of addiction to hard drugs. What can you do? How about stopping the addiction at its source, the pusher?

The Marietta Jaycees are trying to do just that - they are backing a group of private citizens in sponsoring an effort called TIP (Turn In a Pusher). This effort is being spearheaded by a telephone number, 432-5500, where anonymous information in pushers can be phoned in.

If you have any information about a hard drug pusher operating in the Metro area, you can call this number and be assured total secrecy. When you call this number, you will be talking to private citizen volunteers, not police officers. These volunteers will get any information you wish to give and will relay it to proper authorities after verification.

The TIP volunteers wish to emphasize that this is a movement specifically against the pusher of drugs, and is not aimed at the user. Also, if anyone has any problems with drugs, an accidental overdose, for instance, this number can be used to get an ambulance and help on the way to the scene in a hurry.

Again, if you have any information on hard drug pushers that you would like to reveal, please call 432-5500 for anonymous assistance.

All in the Family

By Russell Clay

Charley Pride sang a song that says "we're part of the family of man." There is another family that KJC students might consider looking into; it is called, "God's Forever Family," and is made of students on campus who believe that by faith in Jesus Christ they are part of the eternal family of God. Not in any way established with the organized church, the members of the Forever Family believe that life in Christ is not at all dependent upon a person's ability to love or to care for others, although these are important qualities to have, but rather, that life and truth come from Jesus Christ, who set men free from fear and death on the cross of Calvary. By faith in Christ, one can come to know God's grace personally say the Christians. And further, the knowledge of God's grace is not just another head trip, but a day-to-day experience.

The members of the Forever Family come from all backgrounds. Some are ex-copers, some are ex-revolutionaries, others are just ex-straight. But all are united in the love of God, after having experienced the regeneration of their spirits by the love of God.

That the life these Christians live is absurd to the minds of many is no hinderance to them. By faith, they say, they enjoy peace with God. Their main purpose for living is to share the good news of Christ with others, in hopes that they too might come to experience life, and that more abundantly.

The group meets each Tuesday for an informal time of singing and sharing experiences. Meetings are held each Tuesday in the Private Dining Room at 12:00. Anyone who would like to visit the meetings will be welcomed, and the following thought will be proclaimed with all joy:

"For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that He might be Lord both of the dead and living."

God's Forever Family is, at any rate, a new and different experience. These Christians are sincere, and yet realize that the truth is not a weapon or a biology instrument, it can set people free, but it cannot be forced upon men. With this in mind, God's Forever Family enjoys the Christian life fully.

Wanna Play Computer?

This Spring quarter the Natural Science and Mathematics Division is offering a free, non-credit course in BASIC computer programming. (BASIC is the name for a specific type of programming especially designed for beginners which is simple, precise, and easy to understand). The course will consist of seminar classes which will be held at 12:00 noon Wednesdays and Fridays in room 114 of the Natural Science Building. If you want to attend, contact Lee Fulghum or Sharon Valery, the teachers of the class. They are available in the Math labs every day.

Guest Editorial Marijuana

Guest Editorial Lee Fulghum

Controversy over the legalization of marijuana usually centers on only the harmful or beneficial effects of the drug on the user or the potential user.

Seemingly ignored in the legalization struggle are those ordinary straight people who quite possibly stand to lose the most under present laws. The recent Bob Berry case in Cobb County demonstrates how easily innocents - those who may not realize there is a joint within a hundred miles - can be caught by a government raid. That 'innocent' people (as opposed to 'guilty' drug users) can be thus mistreated seems to represent a dramatic flaw in this country's legal codes. Of course, guilt by association is nothing new, but with drug abuse the consequences are so grave, and the victims so many that the injustice inherent in such laws becomes glaringly evident. For a single smoker in a part of one hundred 'straights' to automatically jepordize the future of the hundred seems utterly incomprehensible... a tragedy so great that it almost makes one laugh.

Perhaps legalization of marijuana is not the answer, but surely there is an alternative to today's drug laws. The present raid method of apprehending drug users seems analogous to killing all animals because a few lions, eagles, wild horses, birds, bees, ants - are considered pests. Democracy?

Editor's note:

The laws pertaining to guilt by association are as follows -

Title 26-801: "(a) Every person concerned in the commission of a crime is a party thereto and may be charged with and convicted of the crime, (b) A person is concerned in the commission of a crime only if he: (1) directly commits the crime; or (2) intentionally causes some other person to commit the crime under such circumstances that the other person is not guilty of any crime either in fact or because of legal incapacity; or (3) intentionally aids or abets in the commission of the crime; or (4) intentionally advises, encourages, hires, counsels, or procures another to commit the crime."

Title 26-802: "Any party to a crime who did not directly commit the crime may be indicted, tried, and convicted, and punished for commission of the crime upon proof that the crime was committed and that he was a party thereto, although the person claimed to have directly committed the crime has not been prosecuted or convicted, or has been convicted of a different crime or degree of crime, is not amenable to justice or has been acquitted."

Title 26-604: "A person of sound mind and discretion is presumed to intend the natural and probable consequences of his acts..."

Therefore, if one is "busted" at a pot party where drugs are being used in violation of the law and the persons present know that the drugs are present and being used in violation of the law, that person or persons may be charged with the crime.

NEED A JOB?

Do you need a job? Have you run all around town just trying to track down the places that are hiring? There is an easier way, you know: the KJC Job Book.

The Job Book is another of the services maintained by KJC to aid its students. Any one hunting a job is encouraged to go by Miss Barbara Blackwell's desk in the office of Student Counseling and ask to see the Job Book. This book contains entries made by businesses which have job openings they would like to have college students apply for. Each entry includes the business, its address and telephone number along with a description of the available job opening and pay rate. Each employer entered in the Job Book is required to provide a guarantee of being an equal opportunity employer. These jobs are also typed up and posted on the bulletin board in the Student Services Building.

Both full-time and part-time jobs are entered in the book as well as permanent and temporary jobs. Some of the types of jobs entered are waitress, secretary, typist, stock clerk, sales representative, baby-sitting and managerial positions. The variety is almost endless so if you are hunting a job, this is a good place to start.

Campus Coed

By Fred Willaert and Dolores Grimes

The Sentinel has received much criticism for its continued publication of Campus Coed on the grounds that we are exploiting women. However, not everyone agrees with that viewpoint. For instance, Pam Southers, this week's campus coed, when asked if she enjoyed displaying her body as campus coed answered - "Yes, it's a good ego trip." Pam, a sophomore here at KJC, is very involved in the school and its activities. Being vice president of SGA, hers is a very familiar face on campus as she attends almost all student government activities. Perhaps the reason for Pam's success on campus is found in her own philosophy that "the key to any kind of success you desire lies in your ability to communicate with and understand people." Because of her interest in people Pam would like to see everyone involved in the SGA, "working together, working for the people."

Pam's future plans also follow this line of thinking - she would like to work toward social reform or be involved in some sort of social work - again helping, communicating with, and being directly involved in the lives of others. To quote Pam, "where would the world be without people?" We ask: "Where would the world be without people like Pam (and her body)?"

Disappointment at Calhoun

By Carol Neal

This year the Democratic delegates to the National Convention were elected by the people by congressional districts and were not appointed by the Governor. Kennesaw Junior College took part in this newly acquired privilege by helping their Student Government President Don Gray run for post two in Calhoun, Georgia on Saturday March 11th.

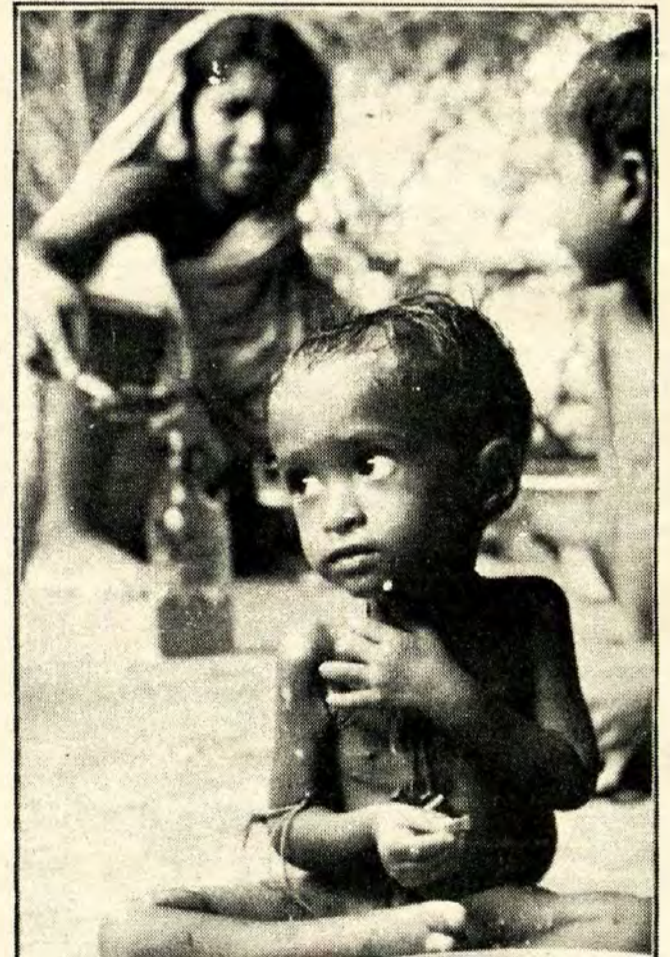

Numerous mimeographed sheets were circulated among the student body in order to enlist prospective supporters. This help involved such things as financial aid for the campaign and transportation to Calhoun for the voters. The response was enthusiastic but the results were so poor that the bus for student transportation had to be returned. Out of 85 signed pledge sheets with follow-up calls, only 35 came.

Once in Calhoun, all of the supporters worked hard to gain votes for Don by distributing name cards and pledging support for other candidates in return for equal support. Don was very pleased with all the hard work and help from friends especially Bud Wilson, Mike Heath, Pam Southers, and Tom Fowler. By noon, the polls were closed. Don said that he was very hopeful at this time but he also realized that his campaign should have been longer than his allotted two weeks. The results were in by 2:30. Only 89 votes had been cast and an additional 250 votes would have been needed to win - Don lost on the first ballot.

Disappointed but feeling that a lot had been learned and valuable experience had been gained, an exhausted group drove home. Nevertheless, no one managed to miss the party in Cartersville that was given by a strong student supporter, Debbo Gray (no relation!).

Now that all the excitement is over and KJC is settling down for another quarter, Don plans to get back to the affairs of the student government which may include a few plans for some real smashing events for the Spring quarter.

Student Financial Aid

By Clyde H. McDonald
Director of Student Aid

Three questions most frequently asked by students concerning financial aid are: (1) do I qualify?; (2) what is available?; and (3) when should I apply?

To help answer the first question concerning qualification, let us look at the following definition. Student financial need can be defined most simply as the difference between the cost of an education at a particular institution and the amount of money an applicant and his family can make available, from their income and assets, to meet the expenses of that education. It is not a term synonymous with poverty. Since it is related to the cost of education, a family with a rather substantial level of living may demonstrate financial need at an institution with high annual costs. The same family, applying for assistance at a junior college, may be unable to demonstrate need. Thus, financial need in general is relative to educational costs.

To find out the specific amount a dependent student (one who resides at home or is claimed by his parents for income tax purposes) and his family should contribute to his cost of education, the Parents' Confidential Statement (PCS) is used. This form allows the Director of Student Aid to evaluate the family's income, expenses, assets, and liabilities and to arrive at the expected total family contribution. This figure is compared to the cost of attending Kennesaw Junior College for a dependent student. Budgets indicating average costs for dependent students, independent students, and married students have been developed by the Student Financial Aid Committee. The Director of Student Aid will then determine if the applicant qualifies for student financial aid based on the above facts.

A student is considered financially independent (self-supporting) only when all the following are true: (1) when he has not been claimed by parents as a dependent for the previous taxable year; (2) when he receives no subsistence from the family; and (3) when he has not lived at home any time (other than stated college holidays) during the year. If an applicant is a qualified self-supporting student, he should complete the Student's Financial Statement (SFS) which gives comparable data as the PCS.

To help illustrate the types of student aid available, the following figures show current allocations for 1971-72. It is suggested that the reader study the school catalog or the student financial aid brochure for specific types of aid available. Loans awarded to Kennesaw Junior College students for 1971-72 will total approximately $58,000 versus $40,000 the previous year. Scholarships and grants will increase to $85,000 compared to $29,000 the previous year. Students on the College Work-Study Program will earn about $12,000 versus $8,500 last year. Thus, the Office of Student Aid will administer nearly $155,000 in student aid in 1971-72, an increase of 100 percent over 1970-71. Financial aid is available! To find out what type(s) are available to you the Director will study the following factors: (1) the completed PCS or SFS, whichever is appropriate? (2) class status; (3) grade point average; and (4) past financial aid received, if any. At least one counseling session is held with the applicant. The most important consideration in making the award is need. There are very few academic scholarships available, not only at Kennesaw but most all institutions.

Prior to 1958 scholarships, loans, and student jobs were available at most colleges. However, scholarships were frequently used as a competitive recruiting device. Loan funds were not well publicized and were often jealously guarded by a clerk-administrator. Jobs were available, but pay was normally well-below minimum wage requirements and was more often viewed as an aid to the institution rather than the student. The various forms of aid were usually administered in a fragmented manner by different committees and in a variety of campus offices.

The passage of the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) of 1958 and its student loan program provision (NDSL) inaugurated the era of modern student financial aid. Originally, the NDSL program required that preference among borrowers be given to those of exceptional promise who would enter such critical areas as mathematics, science, foreign languages and engineering. This is no longer the case. In 1964 Congress passed the Economic Opportunity Act, which among its provisions authorized the College Work-Study Program. This program combines federal and college funds to encourage and to extend the employment of students, both on the campus and in nonprofit off-campus agencies. The Higher Education Act of 1965 established the Educational Opportunity Grants Program. This program authorizes direct grants, which are not to be repaid, to students who demonstrate that they and their families are unable to pay for higher education. Thus, all three federal programs currently reflect a broad commitment to make higher education available to all those who desire and can profit from it. The only academic stipulation is that the student maintain normal (as defined by the institution) progress toward his degree. In addition to the above programs, the Office of Student Aid at Kennesaw Junior College administers over fifteen federal, state, and private student aid programs.

The next important question is, when should I apply? The best time is now if you want to receive aid for the Fall Quarter. This is true at Kennesaw Junior College as well as most other colleges. At Kennesaw, the policy is stated as follows: "Financial aid will be awarded without regard to a deadline date as long as funds are available. However, all applications received (completed) before the March 15 PRIORITY DATE will be analyzed and awards made on the basis of most need. In addition, priority will be given to currently enrolled renewal applications. After the March 15 date, awards will be made on a chronological basis."

In summary, money is available. The time to apply is now. The method is to complete a Parents' Confidential Statement of Student's Financial Statement and the Kennesaw Junior College Application for Financial Aid. Any questions concerning student aid should be directed to the Director of Student Aid, Room 118 Administration Building.

TWO FOR ONE

By Mark Wilson

The Montage, for the first time, has two co-editors, instead of one. They are Cynthia Rigsby and Bill Wheeler.

Cynthia Rigsby came to KJC as a JETS student. She has former experience with annual work from helping out on Sprayberry's annual staff.

She said she was extremely pleased to have been chosen as co-editor of the Montage. When asked about plans for the Montage, Cynthia said that it is in the early stages now, but they are planning the number of pages, the types of articles to be used, and the general layout. With the budget of the Montage, which is $9000, they will have no financial crisis.

Bill Wheeler, the other half of the co-editorship, has a tremendous history of experience. He graduated from Osreola High School, in Florida, with honors. While there, he worked on the school annual as a photographer. His next three years were spent in the Marines. From there he held various jobs of interest. He spent five years on the space project with Goddard Space Flight Center as a systems engineer. He traveled around the world for Bendix Corporation, and he spent one year in Europe. He also attended the University of Maryland for two years in the engineering field. Bill has worked on the Sentinel staff as a photographer, and has had his own business as a free lance photographer for five years.

The Montage itself will formulate slowly at first and gain speed as time goes on. The interviewing of prospective publishers won't start until the latter part of April. The summer will be mainly gathering pictures and stories. Things will really start to move in the coming fall quarter. The Montage staff will work as a team, with Cynthia working over all and Bill working primarily in photography.

Students Receive AIDS

By Harry Whitehead

KJC joined with Georgia Tech, Clayton Jr. College, Georgia State and other area college and universities in the Atlanta Intercollegiate Discount Service (AIDS). AIDS is a collective buying service. The service provides discounts to students and faculty members and their families, and at the same time gives the merchant members advertising through AIDS.

Student and faculty membership is paid by the SGA as a special service. The membership is yearly, beginning in the Fall quarter of each year.

President Don Gray appointed Bob Edenfield and Debbo Gray as K. J. C.'s representatives to the AIDS co-ordinating committee. Bob and Debbo's duties will be to solicit new merchants as requested by students in the general KJC area. In addition, Bob and Debbo will see that KJC interests are given full consideration by the AIDS Coordinating committee.

Beginning in Fall 1972, AIDS will publish a brochure with each merchant listed according to area and type of business. AIDS will update their brochure each quarter except summer when enrollment is small. Likewise, special bulletins will be issued to announce new merchants as they become members. The brochures and special bulletins will replace the old methods of printing merchants names on membership cards because of the growing number of merchants.

SGA Action

At the March 27 Student Government Association meeting it was decided to run the film "The Chicago Seven Conspiracy Trial" a second time on March 29 at 3:00 p. m. because of the poor attendance at the Saturday night showing. Also voted on at this meeting was a motion to attempt to obtain the comedian George Carlin to perform at KJC at some date in April. The proposed contract fee is $2200, KJC students and their dates to be admitted free of charge. SGA Senator Tom Fowler, who is managing negotiations for the George Carlin performance, said that another concert is planned for Spring quarter in addition to this one.

Harry Whitehead, chairman of the Student Aid committee, reported that response to the AID Program has been very favorable. He also encouraged anyone who knows of any business establishment that he would like to see enrolled in the AIDS Program to submit the name and address of the business to him, Bob Edenfield or Debbo Gray.

It was also announced at the meeting that elections of SGA officers will take place this quarter. Finally, everyone is encouraged to attend SGA meetings which take place each Monday. Each enrolled student pays a $10 student activities fee, part of which is used by SGA for various services and entertainments. Remember YOU are a member of SGA.

Symposium '72

at KJC

By John York

Are you ready to face the problems of an adult? Have the complexities of everyday living caused your life to lose its meaning? If so, then here is your chance to hear nationally-acclaimed speakers discussing the problems of modern man — and it won't cost you a cent.

"The Search for Relevance in the Seventies" is the theme for Symposium '72, a two-day series of lectures and panel discussions to be held April 13-14 on the KJC campus. Speakers for the event will range from a United States Senator to a professional football player.

William (Bill) Curry, center for the Baltimore Colts and the only man in professional football to have played in three Super Bowls, will begin the program Thursday evening, April 13, at 8 p. m. in the KJC gym. His presentation will be "The Relevance of Sports in America." Following Curry will be Dr. H. Douglas Sessoms, a professor at the University of North Carolina, who is concerned with "The Relevance and Meaning of Leisure."

The Symposium will continue Friday morning with a lecture by one of America's top ten ecologists, Dr. Eugene P. Odum. A prominent author and respected educator, Dr. Odum has done extensive research in the area of environmental science. His topic is "The Relevance of Ecology."

The field of religion will be handled by Dr. Edmund A. Steimle, the Brown Professor of Homiletics of the Union Theological Seminary in New York. Dr. Steimle, author of "Are You Looking for God" and "Disturbed by Joy," has lectured extensively on college and university campuses.

"The Relevance of Death and Dying" will be the topic for Dr. Elizabeth K. Ross, the Medical Director of the Mental Health and Family Services of South Cook County in Chicago Heights, Ill. Dr. Ross has won acclaim through her operation of national and international seminars and workshops on the care of terminally ill patients.

The highlight of Symposium '72 will be an address by the Hon. Hugh Scott, the Minority Leader of the United States Senate, on "The Relevance of Law and Politics." Senator Scott has served in Congress since 1940.

All of the above lectures, with the exception of "The Relevance of Law and Politics," will be conducted in the KJC gymnasium, and there will be no charge for students with KJC ID cards. Senator Scott's program will be presented Friday evening, April 14, at the Regency Hyatt House in Atlanta, and will be preceded by dinner. The special student rate for the entire evening is eight dollars.

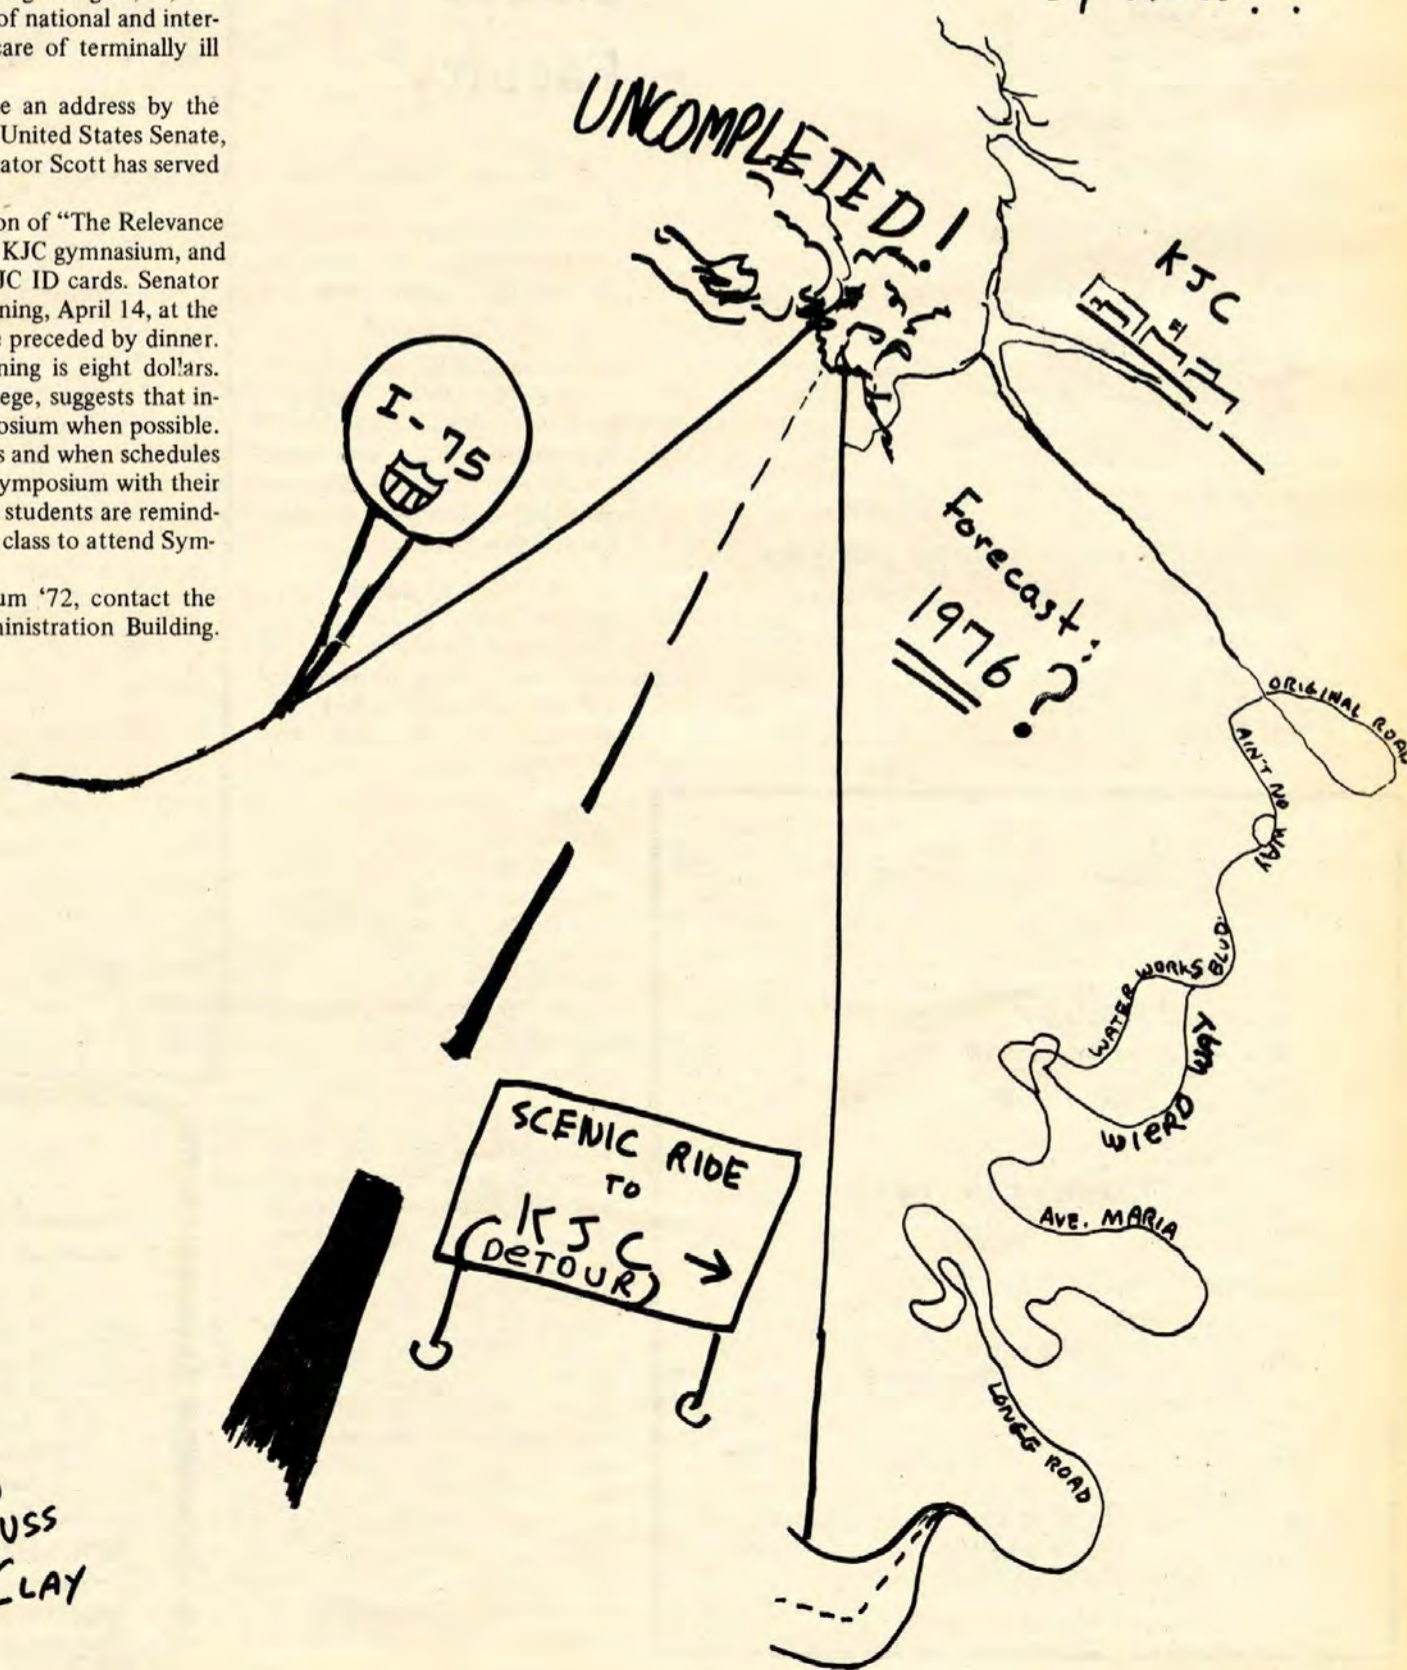

Dr. Robert H. Akerman, dean of the college, suggests that instructors allow students to attend the Symposium when possible. When lectures are applicable to their courses and when schedules permit, instructors are urged to attend the Symposium with their entire class, he said. Under all circumstances, students are reminded to notify their instructors before cutting class to attend Symposium programs.

For further information about Symposium '72, contact the Office of Community Services in the Administration Building.

Help

Another quarter has begun and the Sentinel needs your help. The Sentinel is your newspaper, it is your privilege to be able to belong to the staff and present your ideas and opinions. You don't have any ideas or opinions? Are you interested in meeting new people, hearing new ideas, seeing news events happen? If so, why not join our staff anyway? If you are a live, warm, breathing body you're just what we need. Seriously, we have a great need for people - any kind of people - who are interested in helping. We need typists, reporters, proofreaders, copy counters, psychiatrists and moral supporters.

Also, the newest editorial position, that of night editor, is open. There is no salary at present, but there is a position on the editorial board, a voice in the management of the paper, and fantastic chance for self-expression.

Upset Eludes Faculty

In a very exciting contest, Thursday March 2, the faculty basketball team tied with a very determined roadrunners team for the basketball championship.

The first half began in a wild free-for-all and the tempo never let up. Both the Roadrunners and the faculty seemed to have a 'I don't want it, you take it' attitude toward the basketball. The faculty had 8 turnovers and the Roadrunners seven.

After the halftime, the Roadrunners came out in a press which totally disorganized the faculty squad. When the roadrunners stretched out to their biggest lead 54-46, the faculty called a time out.

Apparently, it did some good, because they caught up. From then on it was a see-saw battle. In the last minute it appeared that the faculty might pull out a victory, but a fast lay-up sealed their fate. In the last thirty seconds of the game Wendel Porter dropped one in to tie the game 62-62.

Bobby Olive (F) led all the scorers with 33 points and David Harris (F) was right behind him with 20 points. The high scorer for the Roadrunners was Melvin Rowland with 14 points. With Wendel Porter and Charles Fuller tying at 13 points a piece.

The officials of the game should be congratulated for the fine job they did. The calls were close and fast, they did a fine job.
