MEDIA INFORMATION

COVERING THE LADY OWLS

This guide was produced to assist the media with their coverage of Kennesaw State University 1997-98 Lady Owl Basketball. Press credentials are not required for Kennesaw State home games, although KSU sports information director Steve Ruthsatz requests that media interested in covering a game contact one of the sports information offices at least one day prior to the game. Members of the media wanting to cover a practice (usually 2-4 p.m.) are also asked to contact one of the sports information offices at least one day in advance.

On game day, a list of media will be left at the pass gate, located at main entrance of the physical education building. Only working media who have called ahead of time will be allowed to sit at the press table.

PRESS SERVICES

Updated game notes, rosters, results and statistics will be available to working media prior to each Lady Owl home game. During the intermission, a full halftime box score will be distributed to working media. Approximately 10 minutes following the conclusion of the game, a full final box score, along with a play-by-play account of the game, will be available outside of the main athletic department offices.

If media need a place to work and/or file a story following a game, please let Ruthsatz or another member of the sports information staff know when making the initial phone call. This will allow the sports information staff to meet any needs the media may have, such as a quiet working area, electrical outlet and/or access to a phone line.

A phone line and access to a fax machine are available to working media on game days on a first-come, first-serve basis. Working media are also allowed access to the hospitality room (Room 116), located next to the main athletic department offices.

If at any time media need updated results, statistics, photographs and/or any other information concerning Kennesaw State athletics, they should feel free to contact one of the sports information offices.

RADIO/TELEVISION

A phone line is available for visiting radio stations to broadcast KSU home games free of charge. Again, as with the print media, Ruthsatz requests that radio station personnel contact one of the sports information offices at least one day prior to the game. Only working members of the radio station will be allowed to sit at the press table.

If television station personnel are interested in covering a game and/or practice, they should also contact one of the sports information offices at least one day in advance.

INTERVIEWS WITH COACHES

Lady Owl head coach Colby Tilley, and assistant coaches Randall Goble and Paula Skinner are available to be interviewed on most weekday mornings. For telephone or personal interviews, the media may contact one of the sports information offices and/or one of the women's basketball offices.

Approximately 10 minutes following the conclusion of home games, the coaches will be available for interviews outside of the KSU locker room or near the Kennesaw State bench. If the media are having a hard time tracking down a coach for an interview, they should contact a member of the sports information staff.

INTERVIEWS WITH PLAYERS

Lady Owl players are available at different times during the week, depending on the individual player(s) requested for an interview. For telephone or personal interviews, the media must first contact one of the sports information offices.

After home games, interviews with players can be arranged through a member of the sports information staff. Players will be available approximately 15 minutes following the conclusion of home games.

1996-97 Season was "Just the Beginning"

Before the 1996-97 season got underway for the Kennesaw State University women's basketball team, the coaching staff decided that "Soaring to the Top" would aptly describe their outlook and goals for the upcoming year. From there Kennesaw State did just that, soaring to a 30-2 overall record, claiming the Peach Belt Athletic Conference regular season championship, PBAC Tournament title and South Atlantic Regional crown before advancing to the NCAA Division II Elite Eight tournament in Grand Forks, N.D. Now, however, the 1997-98 Lady Owls are out to prove that last year's remarkable feats were "Just the Beginning" for this program.

Third-year head coach Colby Tilley has plenty of reasons to believe that last season was indeed just the foundation of what has the potential to be a nationally-competitive program for many years to come. A strong cast of players return from the 1996-97 squad which put together the best season in KSU history. That fact alone is more than enough to keep expectations high surrounding Kennesaw State.

"After last season, there is a certain amount of expectancy involved with our team," Tilley said. "People expect us to maintain our high level of competitiveness. However, I would rather people have high expectations coming into a season, even if it means there is a little added pressure."

It appears that the true pressure this year will be on the other teams in the conference to try to keep pace with the Lady Owls, who were 17-1 during the PBAC regular season a year ago. KSU returns eight players, including two starters, from last season and has added six talented newcomers to the program, making the year ahead very promising.

A Healthy Stanioch Heads the List of Returnees

Sitting at the top of the list of top returning players is 6-1 junior forward/center Justyna Stanioch, a medical hardship case from a season ago who played in only five games at the beginning of 1996-97 before suffering a season-ending back injury. In those five contests, however, Stanioch showed why she will be considered the "go to" person on this year's team. She was averaging 24.6 points, 12.0 rebounds and 3.4 steals per game while shooting 64.6 percent from the field before being lost for the season.

Justyna Stanioch is back at full strength this year and should challenge for All-America honors.

"I expect Justyna to have a super year simply because she is such a talented player," Tilley stated. "I really think she is an All-American caliber player. She, obviously, is going to be a big asset for us."

"Justyna is simply one of the best post players I've ever had the opportunity to coach," Tilley continued. "She loves to play defense and runs the floor well. She can also shoot the short to mid-range jumpers. She's a great player."

Other top returnees are 6-1 senior guard/forward Janet Chadwick, a three-year starter, and 5-10 senior guard Mandy Thomas. The versatile Chadwick has been a steady, consistent performer throughout her career while Thomas was the only Kennesaw State player to start all 32 games last season. Thomas, a defensive stalwart, had 65 steals last year for a 2.2 average, good for 10th place in the conference.

Joining Chadwick and Thomas as seniors on this year's squad are 5-9 guard Jennifer Clifton and 5-10 forward Shannayl Connolly, a three-time letterwinner, while the remaining players back from last season include 5-10 junior forward Sarah Coleman, 5-9 junior guard Marla Kemp and 5-7 sophomore guard Amy Anglin.

"Overall, I look to all our seniors for leadership," Tilley commented. "Plus, our seniors will really have to perform at their best in the first part of the season while the new players learn the system."

Another Strong Group of Newcomers

If there is any bad news for the Lady Owls heading into the 1997-98 campaign, it is the fact that they lost two players who earned All-America recognition last year in Joanna Cuprys and Sarah McAllister. However, KSU should be able to fill the void of the losses with a host of exciting newcomers. Kennesaw State will have six new faces on the team this season, including five transfers--three from Poland--and one freshman.

"All our new players are very skilled, very talented players," Tilley said. "And, just as important, they are all hard workers. It is exciting to me to watch this group come in here and adjust and adapt to our system."

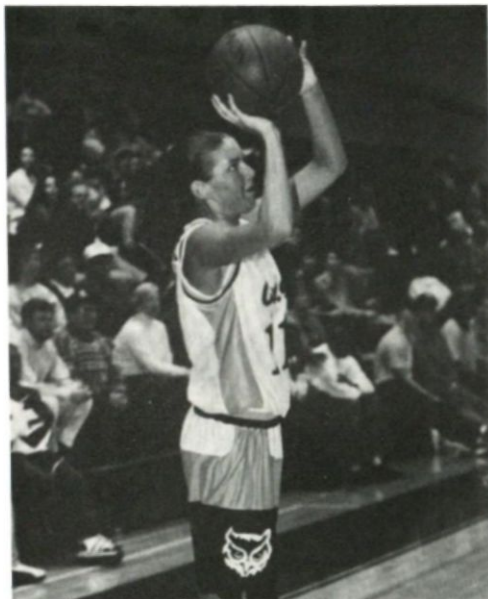

The first-year players are led by 6-2 junior guard/forward Fatou Cisse, a transfer from an outstanding program at Midland (Junior) College in Midland, Texas. Cisse, who can play inside or outside, is expected to make an immediate impact.

Another transfer who could make some noise is 6-3 junior forward/center Dion Thornton from Union University in Jackson, Tenn. Thornton also comes from a strong program which went 35-5 last season in finishing as the NAIA Division I national runner-up. She will play the low-post positions and has the reputation as a tenacious battler on the boards and intimidating shot blocker.

The new-look Lady Owls' pipeline from Poland continued during the off-season and will feature three new players from that country. Junior Magda Stanioch, a 6-3 forward/center and the sister of Justyna, transferred over from the University of Wroclaw and will see action down low this season. Another transfer from overseas is Ewelina Zmuda, a 6-4 center out of Gorzow Wlkp. University. Zmuda will be looked upon to be a real defensive presence on the inside with her shot-blocking ability. Finally, 5-9 freshman guard Monika Siwczak, also from the University of Wroclaw, will be called upon to provide some stability in the backcourt. She is a true point guard who could wind up running the show in the year to come.

OUTLOOK

Heather Bell, the only true freshman in the program this season, possesses good shooting range from the wing position. A 5-11 forward, she could end up being a scoring threat for KSU if opponents tend to collapse around Kennesaw State's tall interior players.

By Position

At the point guard position, Tilley is looking for someone who can take care of the ball and distribute it to the open person. Anglin returns after seeing plenty of action as a freshman a year ago and should only improve with more experience. Siwczak also has great playmaking abilities and should be in the running for the starting assignment while Clifton played the position very well at times last season, showing she is certainly capable of handling the responsibilities.

There will be a lot competition among the Lady Owls at the wing positions. Chadwick and Thomas are returning starters at the wings, but will get a strong push for playing time by Cisse, Clifton, Kemp, Connolly and Bell.

By far the deepest position for KSU in 1997-98 will be the posts. Justyna Stanioch has shown she can dominate on the inside and should be a sure starter, but the other post in the starting lineup is still up for grabs. Thornton, Magda Stanioch and Zmuda are leading candidates to start with Coleman and Connolly also battling for minutes. Chadwick and Connolly may also see some playing time down on the blocks as they have in the past.

The Schedule

In November and early December most schools are pampering their overall won-loss record by playing a light schedule filled with sure wins. This is definitely not the case with Kennesaw State as the Lady Owls will play a grueling non-conference schedule. The tough slate includes Arkansas Tech, a team which has four starters back from last year's 29-4 squad; a strong Gardner-Webb club which went 18-9 a season ago; and Berry, a very competitive NAIA team which posted a 23-11 mark in 1996-97.

From there things get even tougher as the Lady Owls get into PBAC play. Francis Marion and Georgia College will once again challenge for the conference crown after both made the NCAA Division II National Tournament field a year ago. Also, Columbus State and Armstrong Atlantic are much improved, according to Tilley, and are considered dark horses in the quest to unseat KSU.

"Our schedule seems to get tougher every year," Tilley stated. "For one thing, our own conference is better this year and our non-conference schedule is extremely tough. But that's how we like it."

Chasing Dean Smith, His Idol

Tilley enters this season with a big milestone just around the corner. With Kennesaw State's first victory of the year, he will register his 500th career victory as a collegiate head coach. Tilley, now in his 21st overall campaign, has compiled 47 of those wins in just two seasons while at the helm of the Lady Owls.

"Well, it just proves I've been around a long time," Tilley joked. "No, actually, it shows that I've been real fortunate to be surrounded by good players and some outstanding assistant coaches."

Generally Speaking

Despite an extremely successful season a year ago, Tilley and his squad hope for even bigger things in 1997-98. KSU should be very deep and balanced, which should enable Tilley to use a lot of people and keep those in the game fresh. So, while there will be a different type of team on the floor this season from last, the goals remain the same: to win the PBAC title and make another run at the Elite Eight. As long as it can stay healthy, Kennesaw State should be able to do just that, and in the process prove that last year's success was indeed "just the beginning" of a many more good things down the road.

Mandy Thomas will be counted on for her tenacious defensive play in 1997-98.

HEAD COACH COLBY TILLEY

Beginning his third season as the head coach of the Kennesaw State University women's basketball team is Colby Tilley. A proven winner and builder of successful women's basketball programs, Tilley has compiled an overall record of 499-134 over the past 20 years as a collegiate head coach for a winning percentage of .788.

Tilley led Kennesaw State to its best season in history last year as the team went 30-2 overall, claiming the Peach Belt Athletic Conference regular season championship (17-1), PBAC Tournament title and South Atlantic Regional crown before heading to the NCAA Division II Elite Eight tournament in Grand Forks, N.D. He took over the Lady Owl program in the fall of 1995 and guided the squad to a 17-12 overall record in 1995-96, including 12-6 for third place in the conference. Tilley's squad just missed making an NCAA Tournament appearance in 1996 by ending as the runner-up at the PBAC Tournament.

Before arriving on the KSU campus, Tilley spent nine seasons as the head coach at Auburn University at Montgomery (Ala.), where he started the women's basketball program in 1986. While putting together an overall mark of 218-74 (.747) at Auburn-Montgomery, his teams captured five Southern States Conference championships, five NAIA District 27 titles and made seven trips to the NAIA National Championship tournament, including 1987--the first year of the program. The Lady Senators' best finish was a Final Four showing at the 1994 national event, while his last team there--in 1994-95--went 34-3 overall, making it to the Elite Eight.

Prior to taking the job at AUM, Tilley ran the women's basketball program at Truett-McConnell (Junior) College in Cleveland, Ga., where he guided the squad to a 236-46 overall mark (.837) in nine years, including five state championships, four Region 17 titles and a junior college national crown in 1980.

Over his 20 campaigns, Tilley has garnered several coaching honors, including being named the 1997 PBAC Coach of the Year and 1997 NCAA Division II Coach of the Year in Georgia by the Atlanta Tipoff Club. Recently, he was given a Georgia Basketball Lifetime Achievement Award by the same organization for having at least 400 wins. Tilley has also been selected as the District Coach of the Year four times and Region Coach of the Year twice while at Auburn-Montgomery; and Region Coach of the Year on six more occasions at Truett-McConnell. In the Danettes' national championship season, he was selected as the 1980 NJCAA National Coach of the Year. Tilley is an active member of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association.

Tilley began his coaching career in 1972 at Chatham Central High School, where he was an assistant football coach, head track coach and freshman head boys' basketball coach. He later moved up to the collegiate ranks at TMC in 1976.

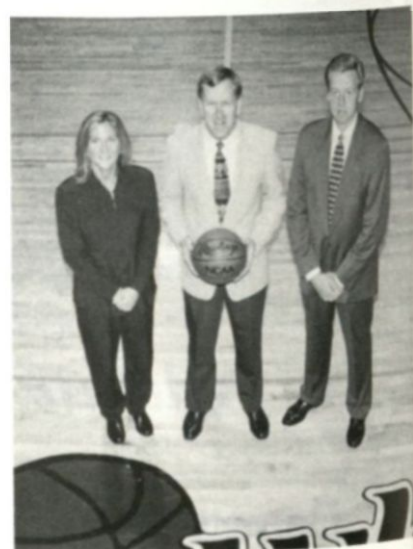

A native of Raleigh, N.C., Tilley received his bachelor's degree from Appalachian State University (Boone, N.C.) in 1972. He went on to earn master's degrees from Georgia Southern University (Statesboro, Ga.) in 1974 and AUM in 1988. He also got his Ed.S (educational specialist) degree at Auburn-Montgomery in 1992.

Tilley, 48, resides in Kennesaw with his wife, Miriam. They are the parents of 24-year-old Jason and 21-year-old Sarah.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Assistant Coach Randall Goble

Randall Goble is entering his eighth year at Kennesaw State University and his sixth season as an assistant women's basketball coach. Goble is involved in all aspects of coaching the Lady Owls, from dealing with NCAA compliance matters to recruiting and scouting. He also serves as the athletic facilities manager at Kennesaw State.

Goble came to KSU in 1990 from his alma mater, Berry College in Rome, Ga., where he was an assistant men's basketball coach for three campaigns. During his time at Berry, he saw the team improve each year. In his first season as part of the Lady Owl coaching staff, the squad compiled a 19-11 overall record, winning the 1993 NAIA District 25 championship and advancing to the NAIA National Championship tournament. As part of women's basketball program over the past five years, Goble has the longest tenure of any current member of the Kennesaw State coaching staff.

A member of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association, Goble earned his bachelor's degree from BC in 1988. While at Berry, he lettered twice as part of the basketball team. Goble is presently working toward his master's degree from the University of Alabama.

Originally from Calhoun, Ga., the 32-year-old Goble now lives in Holly Springs with his wife, Theresa, and their two sons, 3-year-old Joseph and Nicholas, born last April.

Assistant Coach Paula Skinner

The newest member of the Kennesaw State University women's basketball coaching staff is Paula Skinner, who is starting her second season at KSU. Skinner is no stranger to coaching at the collegiate level, however, as she has previously served as a head coach and assistant for the last six years. A great asset to the Lady Owl program in a number of ways, Skinner has both played for and worked under Tilley in the past.

Skinner came to Kennesaw State from Auburn University at Montgomery (Ala.), where she served as the interim head coach in 1995-96 following the departure of Tilley. She left off right where Tilley had ended, leading Auburn-Montgomery to a 30-6 overall record and final national ranking of No. 4 in NAIA Division I. Under Skinner, the Lady Senators captured conference and region championships before making it to the quarterfinals of the NAIA national tournament. For her efforts, she was named the Southeast Region Coach of the Year.

Prior to taking over the program at AUM, Skinner was an assistant coach there for four campaigns with Tilley at the helm. During her time alongside Tilley, Auburn-Montgomery was 120-21 (.851), earning an appearance at the national tournament each season.

Skinner is part of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association and National Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Before entering the coaching field, she worked in the sporting goods business.

A fine collegiate player herself, Skinner played two years each at Truett-McConnell (Junior) College in Gainesville, Ga.--where Tilley was the head coach--and Berry College in Rome, Ga. At Truett-McConnell, she played on squads which had a two-year record of 47-10 (.825), including one that claimed a state title. After moving on to Berry, her teams got even better, going 62-9 (.873) over a two-season span. In 1984, the Lady Vikings finished third at the NAIA National Championship tournament.

After receiving her bachelor's degree in 1985 from BC, Skinner earned her master's at AUM in 1990. The 34-year-old Skinner was born and is currently living back in Smyrna, Ga.

or transfer to the university at different stages in their lives for undergraduate or graduate study. Students reside off campus and commute to classes. A majority pursue their academic goals on a part-time basis because of job, family and civic responsibilities. Significant numbers of international and minority students enroll. Many students pursue professionally-oriented degrees, especially at the graduate level. Evening and weekend programs accommodate experienced professionals seeking academic advancement. A broad range of programs, services and activities are offered outside the classroom to enrich campus life and enhance student success and personal development.

Effective teaching and learning are central institutional priorities. Service and research that strengthen teaching and address the public's interests are important supportive priorities. Faculty, staff and administrators are committed to providing a challenging and facilitative collegiate environment that fosters high-quality academic preparation, critical thinking, global and multicultural perspectives, effective communication and interpersonal skills, leadership development, social responsibility and lifelong learning. Programs that prepare students well for the advancement of professional pursuits are especially attractive and are offered in the school and colleges of the university.

KSU ATHLETIC HISTORY

The intercollegiate athletic programs at Kennesaw State University have enjoyed a rich history. The 1997-98 academic year marks the 16th year of intercollegiate athletics at Kennesaw State. Begun in 1982-83 with the women's basketball program, the sponsorship of intercollegiate sports coincided with the new presidency of Dr. Betty L. Siegel and the University's move from a two-year institution to four-year status.

A number of other sports were added in 1983-84. Also in that year, Kennesaw State became members of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) and Georgia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GIAC).

KSU's first team championship came in 1985 when the men's golf team captured the state title. Individually, Jennifer Turner became Kennesaw State's first All-America honoree in 1985 at the NAIA Women's Track and Field Championship. Turner would wind up earning All-America status three times while the first KSU male All-America pick was golfer Jon Hough, who was the medalist at the 1986 NAIA Men's Golf National Championship. Since that time, many more Lady Owl and Fighting Owl student-athletes have went on to earn All-America status and national awards.

Prior to moving into Division II of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the Peach Belt Athletic Conference in 1994-95, Kennesaw State claimed seven NAIA district championships (women's basketball, 1988 and 1993; softball, 1992, 1993 and 1994; men's basketball, 1993; and baseball, 1994); four NAIA softball tri-district titles (1991, 1992, 1993 and 1994); an NAIA area baseball crown (1994) and 1994 NAIA National Baseball Championship. In all, KSU won five GIAC titles, including three in women's basketball (1988, 1989 and 1992) and two in baseball (1988 and 1990).

Since becoming full-time members of NCAA Division II, Kennesaw State has captured three national crowns over the past three years, including back-to-back softball national championships in 1995 and 1996, and the 1996 baseball national title. In the spring of 1996, KSU became just the second NCAA Division I or II member to claim softball and baseball national crowns in the same season. The feat has never been accomplished on the Division I level and has only been matched by California State University at Northridge (now at Division I), which won both championships in Division II in 1984.

The Fighting Owl and Lady Owl teams have also had tremendous success since becoming eligible for PBAC and NCAA Division II regional championships in 1994-95. Over the last three-plus campaigns, Kennesaw State has earned 14 conference titles (men's cross country, 1994, 1995, 1996 and 1997; women's cross country, 1994, 1995, 1996 and 1997; softball, 1995, 1996 and 1997; baseball, 1995 and 1997; and women's basketball, 1997); six PBAC Tournament crowns (softball, 1995, 1996 and 1997; baseball, 1995 and 1997; and women's basketball, 1997); and 10 NCAA Division II regional championships (men's cross country, 1994, 1995 and 1996; women's cross country, 1996; softball, 1995, 1996 and 1997; baseball, 1996 and 1997; and women's basketball in 1997).

KSU was awarded the PBAC Commissioner's Cup the last two years as having the best all-around athletic program in the conference.

On an individual basis, numerous Kennesaw State student-athletes have been selected to All-PBAC and all-region squads since 1994-95.

Three-time All-America selection Cara Dornstauder led Kennesaw State to back-to-back NCAA Division II softball national championships in 1995 and 1996.

Kennesaw State University is proud of its four national championships over the past four years.

ACADEMICS & ATHLETICS

Just as the athletic programs at Kennesaw State University have been making a name for themselves on the national scene, so has the University in general.

In 1986, Kennesaw State became one of the first institutions in the region to be reaccruited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools under its new criteria, which emphasized institutional effectiveness. In that same year, KSU was selected to be spotlighted in Searching for Academic Excellence as one of the 20 colleges and universities in the nation "on the move." The University was one of a handful of top "up-and-coming" colleges in the country cited three years in a row by U.S. News and World Report in its annual "Guide to America's Best Colleges and Universities." In 1997, the guide listed Kennesaw State among 10 Southern universities with the highest proportion of business majors. Success magazine listed KSU's Michael J. Coles College of Business as one of the nation's "Top 10 Up-and-Coming Schools" in its 1996 and 1997 reports on "The 25 Best Business Schools for Entrepreneurs." The editors defined up-and-comers as "schools worthy of investigation for anyone seeking a top-notch entrepreneurial program."

Fighting Owl and Lady Owl student-athletes have not only excelled on the playing fields over the years but also in the classroom. Kennesaw State student-athletes, along with the institution, have grown not only athletically, but academically as well. Over the past three academic years, KSU has placed 106 student-athletes on the Peach Belt Athletic Conference Presidential Honor Roll. To be named to the honor roll, a student-athlete must have maintained at least a 3.00 grade point average on a 4.00 scale during the entire academic year. With Kennesaw State's student-athlete population usually consisting of just over 100, this means that nearly one-third of that group has been able to achieve a "B" average or better throughout the school year.

The KSU athletic department not only recognizes its student-athletes for their athletic achievements, but also for their academic accomplishments. At the annual Athletic Awards Night held at the end of each academic year, awards are presented to student-athletes for performing well in the classroom.

The seven student-athletes who have accumulated the highest GPAs over the previous three quarters are named to the Kennesaw State All-Academic Team. The individual with the highest GPA among all student-athletes is KSU's Scholar-Athlete of the Year with the other six members of the team each receiving a Ron Walker Academic Achievement Award, named in honor of Kennesaw State's late head women's basketball coach and the athletic department's first academic advisor. For the 1996-97 school year, softball player Paige Wofford was chosen as the Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Other members of the All-Academic Team included women's cross country runners Melissa Clay, Lydia Kapswara, Molly McKennedy and Jaydene Moralee; men's cross country runner Symon Kimitei; and softball player Cara Dornstauder.

Paige Wofford: KSU's 1996-97 Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

Kennesaw State University placed 47 student-athletes, including at least two from each team, on the 1996-97 Peach Belt Athletic Conference Presidential Honor Roll for maintaining at least a 3.00 grade point average on a 4.00 scale during the entire year. Those making the honor roll are listed below by sport.

OWLS NEST

The Home of KSU Basketball

The Owls Nest, located on the Kennesaw State University campus within the physical education building, is the home of KSU Basketball. The facility has provided Kennesaw State with a distinct home-court advantage since the Lady Owl program was started in the 1982-83 season. Last season, KSU went a perfect 16-0 at the Owls Nest and will enter the 1997-98 campaign with a 22-game home-court winning streak.

With the new theatre-type seating replacing the old wooden bleachers during the summer, the Owls Nest's seating capacity is listed at 1,008. Fans who come see Lady Owl Basketball can now sit more comfortably and still be close enough to the court that they feel like part of the action.

The freshly-decorated facility displays Kennesaw State's many national, regional and conference championship banners, among other things, giving fans and visitors plenty to look at besides the game itself.

The new-look Owls Nest now has a new seating arrangement, featuring complete theatre-type seats for all fans.

The NCAA—Common Ground of College Athletics

By Debbie Harmison Byrne, Assistant Athletics Director, Old Dominion University

It was the flying wedge, football's major offense in 1905, that spurred the formation of the NCAA in December 1905. Numerous sport-related injuries and deaths had prompted many institutions to discontinue the sport. Others were urging that football be reformed or abolished completely from intercollegiate athletics.

So in 1905, President Theodore Roosevelt summoned college athletics leaders to two White House conferences to encourage such reforms. The Intercollegiate Athletic Association of the United States was officially constituted on March 31, 1906. There were 62 charter members. In 1910, it took its present name of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and, for several years, served primarily as a discussion group and rules-making body.

Now, more than 1,150 colleges, universities, conferences and related organizations count on the NCAA to be the organization through which they speak. It is a voluntary association devoted to the sound administration of intercollegiate athletics.

Through the NCAA, member institutions consider an athletics problem that has crossed regional or conference lines and has become national in scope. The Association, through its members, strives to maintain intercollegiate athletics as an integral part of the educational program and the athletes as an integral part of the student body. The NCAA also stands for good conduct in intercollegiate athletics and serves as the colleges' national athletics accreditation agency.

The organization and its members recognize that creating an equitable college environment for its student-athletes is among their highest priorities. Working together to enact rules, policies, procedures and organizational goals, its members strive for the common goal of academic integrity for their programs.

Just as integrity is key for the academic process, it is also a component in the competition between NCAA institutions. The NCAA and its staff are charged with enforcing the rules and regulations that the institutions vote and impose on themselves.

While enforcement proceedings involving member schools seem to grab most of the headlines, they represent only a small part of the NCAA's total program.

The NCAA administered its first national championship in 1921—the National Collegiate Track and Field Championships. Today, the NCAA administers 81 championships in 22 sports for its member institutions, involving nearly 24,000 men and women student-athletes. There are 24 championships on the Division I level, 23 on the Division II level and 24 for Division III members, along with 10 sports that have National Collegiate Championships for which all divisions are eligible.

Beyond its annual championships, the NCAA also places a high priority on honoring its members and student-athletes, evident in its honors program and postgraduate scholarships program. The honors program recognizes accomplishments of current and former outstanding student-athletes, while the post-graduate scholarship program annually honors 154 high-ranking college student-athletes who are in their last year of intercollegiate competition by providing them scholarships of $5,000 each. The NCAA also recognizes the need to assist its members in career development in college athletics and has addressed this area through its women's and ethnic minority enhancement programs.

The NCAA Hall of Champions opened in the fall of 1990. It presents a photographic and video salute to intercollegiate athletics both past and present in a 12,000-square foot facility at the Association's national office building. Visitors to the hall are treated to specially prepared multimedia presentations in a spacious and modern theater and can feel the excitement of center court at the Final Four and the kickoff of college football games in uniquely designed photo displays.

The NCAA's members form a diverse group ranging from large state institutions to small, privately funded colleges. Their common goal, however, is the same—working for the advancement and achievement of the student-athlete and for the common good of higher education. ■

PEACH BELT ATHLETIC CONFERENCE CHRONOLOGY

Vision Statement

The Peach Belt Athletic Conference is committed to providing through its dependent collegiate members, a forum for student participation in athletic, academic, and co-curricular events under the auspices of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, Division II.

We will exemplify the characteristics of a premier intercollegiate conference that prides itself on the inclusion of students of all demographic groups who wish to participate in a well-rounded sports program. Our institutions, our academic goals, our athletic aspirations reflect a communality of purpose and a commitment to excellence in the classroom and on the playing field.

The Peach Belt Athletic Conference begins its seventh full year as an all-sports conference this fall. In 1991, the conference held championships in men's and women's basketball then expanded to the current level of 11 championships in 1991-92.

The idea for the formation of an NCAA Division II conference was discussed in November, 1988, in Greenville, S.C., with 11 schools represented at the meeting. Five of the colleges at that first meeting, along with two other schools, formed the new conference when USC-Aiken hosted another meeting on Dec. 3, 1989.

The seven charter members were Armstrong State College (now Armstrong Atlantic State University), Columbus College (now Columbus State University), Francis Marion College (now Francis Marion University), Georgia College (now Georgia College & State University), Lander College (now Lander University), USC Aiken and USC Spartanburg. The name Peach Belt Athletic Conference was adopted in January, 1990.

Augusta College (now Augusta State University) applied and was accepted in November, 1990, with the effective date of membership on July 1, 1991. With the addition of Augusta College, the Peach Belt Conference had four members each in Georgia and South Carolina. Another college joined the Peach Belt Conference on July 1, 1992, when Pembroke (N.C.) State University (now UNC Pembroke) officially became a member. Kennesaw State College (now Kennesaw State University), located in Kennesaw, Ga., became the tenth full member of the conference on July 1, 1994 and Clayton State College (now Clayton College & State University) in Morrow, Ga joined the league on July 1, 1995. The conference expanded to 12 members with the addition of the University of North Florida on July 1, 1997.

Former Augusta College basketball coach and athletic director Marvin Vanover was named interim commissioner in April, 1990, and served in that capacity until his appointment as the conference's first full-time commissioner in July, 1991. The conference has established an office in Augusta, Ga. which houses the commissioner and his staff.

Dr. William A. Bloodworth, Jr, President of Augusta State University, is the PBAC president for 1997-98.

The conference will conduct championships in 11 sports, six for men and five for women. Men's champions will be declared in baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, soccer and tennis. Women's champions will include those in basketball, cross country, softball, tennis and volleyball.
