activities

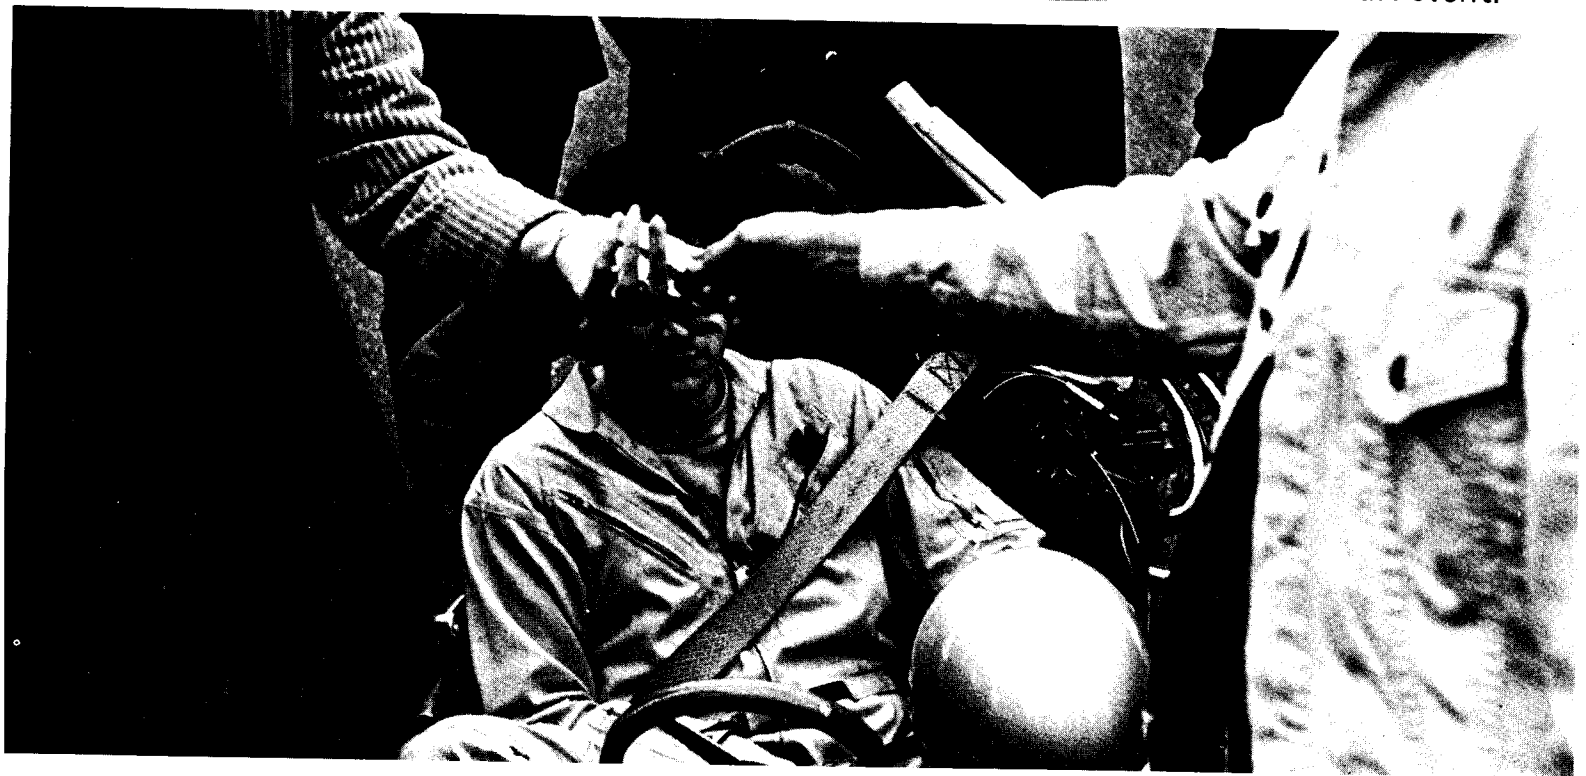

warm weather brings
birds, bare feet, and
bathtubs.

every campus has it's unusual facets, but who would conceive of an amateur grand prix of motorized bath tubs blazing around a parking lot or of...

the exploits of the drivers and the men behind them who put untold hours of planning, engineering and hard work into southern tech's largest and most unusual event.

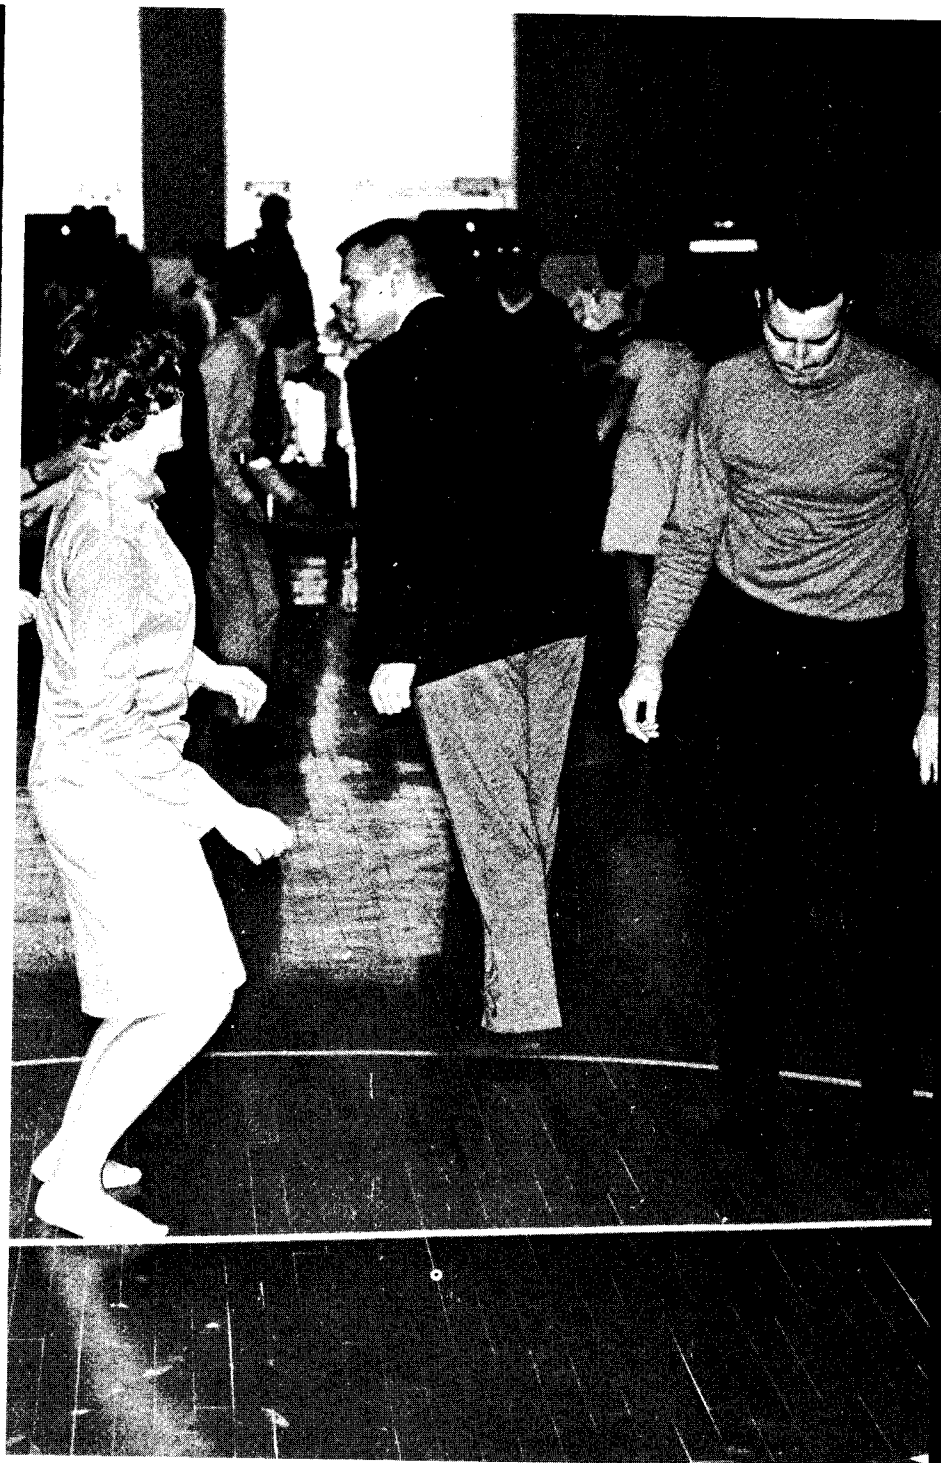

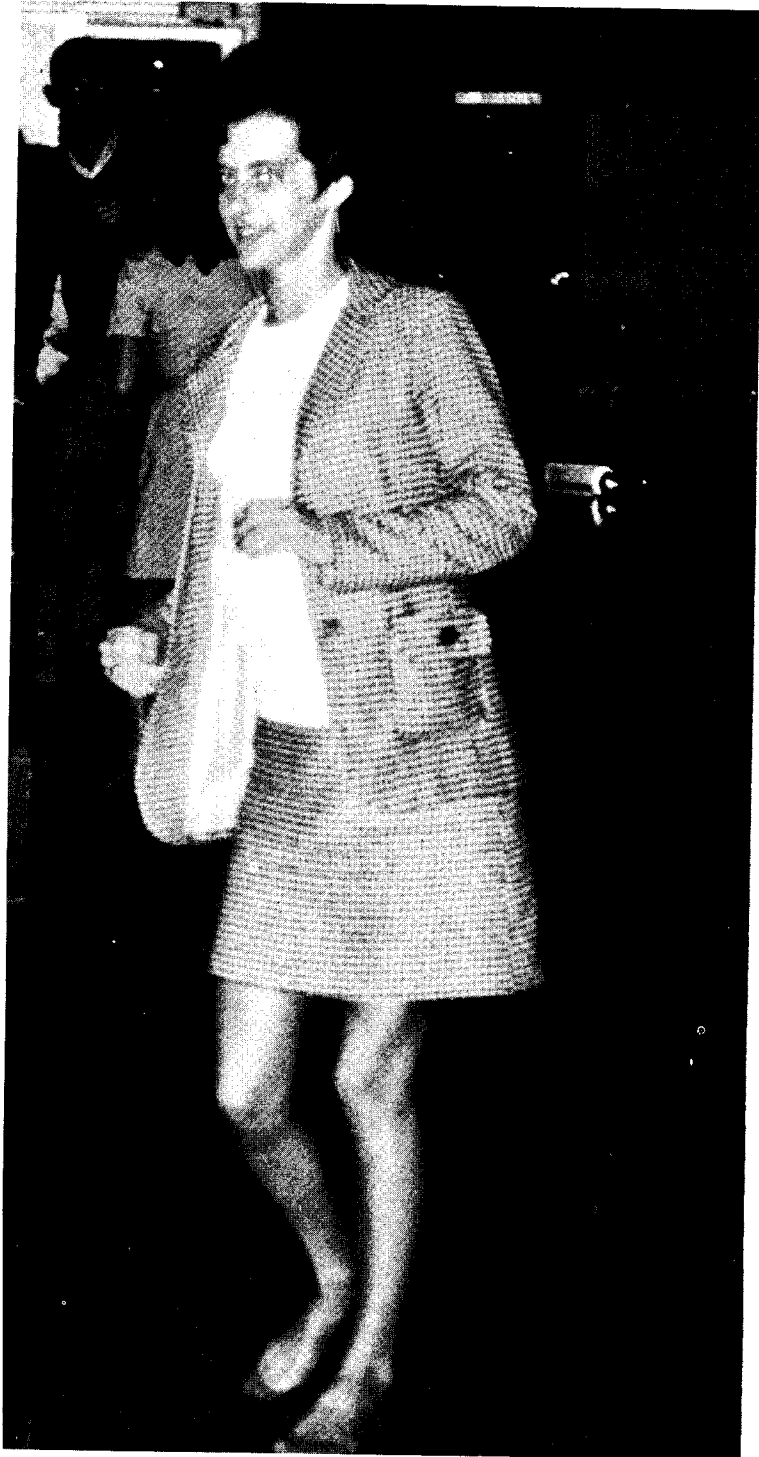

the student weekend on campus featured one of the most fantastic dances of the year, with music by the oxfords.

the most popular
dance at southern
tech has always
been the valentines
dance sponsored by
alpha beta sigma.
although the dance
was snowed out on
the assigned date,
the rain check
proved successful,
and the dance,
with music by the
soul-cial security
was a smashing
success.

visiting day of a sort comes once each year, and prospective students from just about everywhere come to view the campus. the day's activities included a bathtub race, tours, and a grand climatic dance with music by the oxfords. a faculty demonstration featured a slide show highlighting such wonders as stars and spinning nebulae. on the following pages our photographers convert the dance into a nebulae of its own.

pledging to a club
is fun, if you don't mind constructing
a paddle, and then
getting hit by it.
but that too, is
all part of the biggest activity of
all at southern
tech...having fun.

g.j.c.a.a. coach of the year.

the 1968-69 basketball season closed with a 23-13 record for southern tech the best ever—and left the green hornets holding the north georgia division championship. the final glory, however, belonged to coach harry lockhart, who was named georgia junior college coach of the year in basketball . . . the highest tribute of all to a great coach and a fine team.

a special thanks to the southern tech cheerleaders... girls who put forth a tremendous effort to provide entertainment and enthusiasm during the basketball games. and half-time certainly wouldn't have been the same without the many fine drill teams gracing the court without their fantastic routines.
these girls add the final flourish to a truly memorable season.

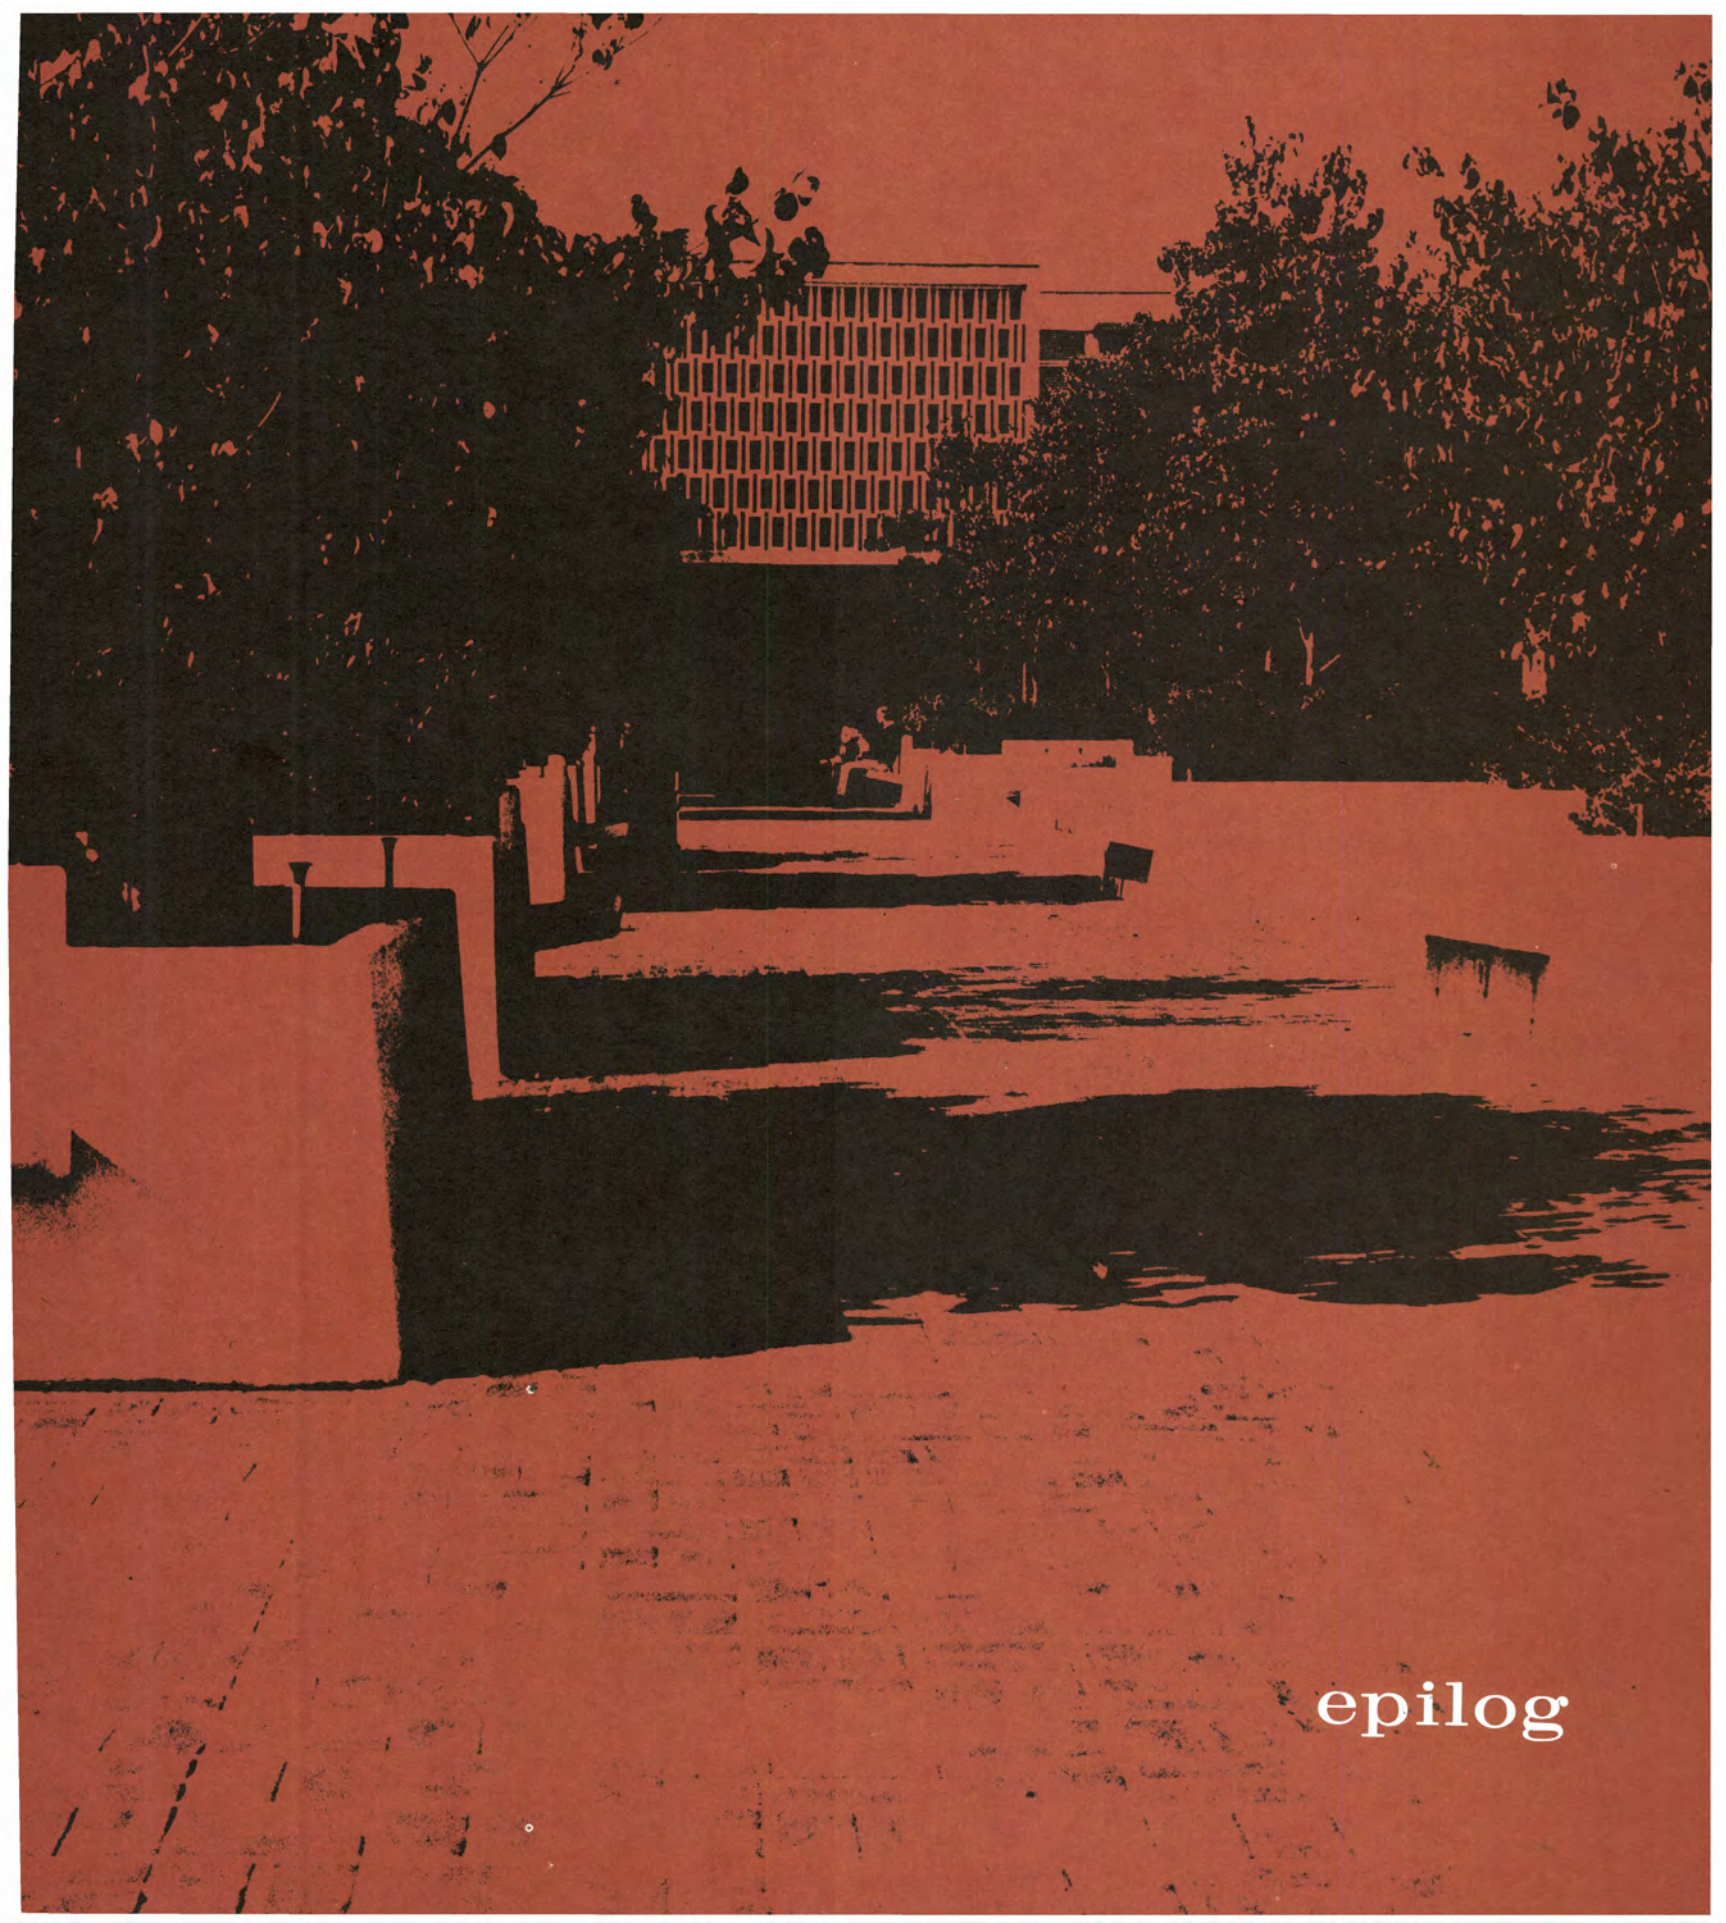

cross-country racing just isn't much of a spectator sport...the fantastic extremes of terrain encountered during a race makes viewing almost impossible. but coach clarence head's boys were there none the less, and no natural barrier could dampen their spirit or determination to win.

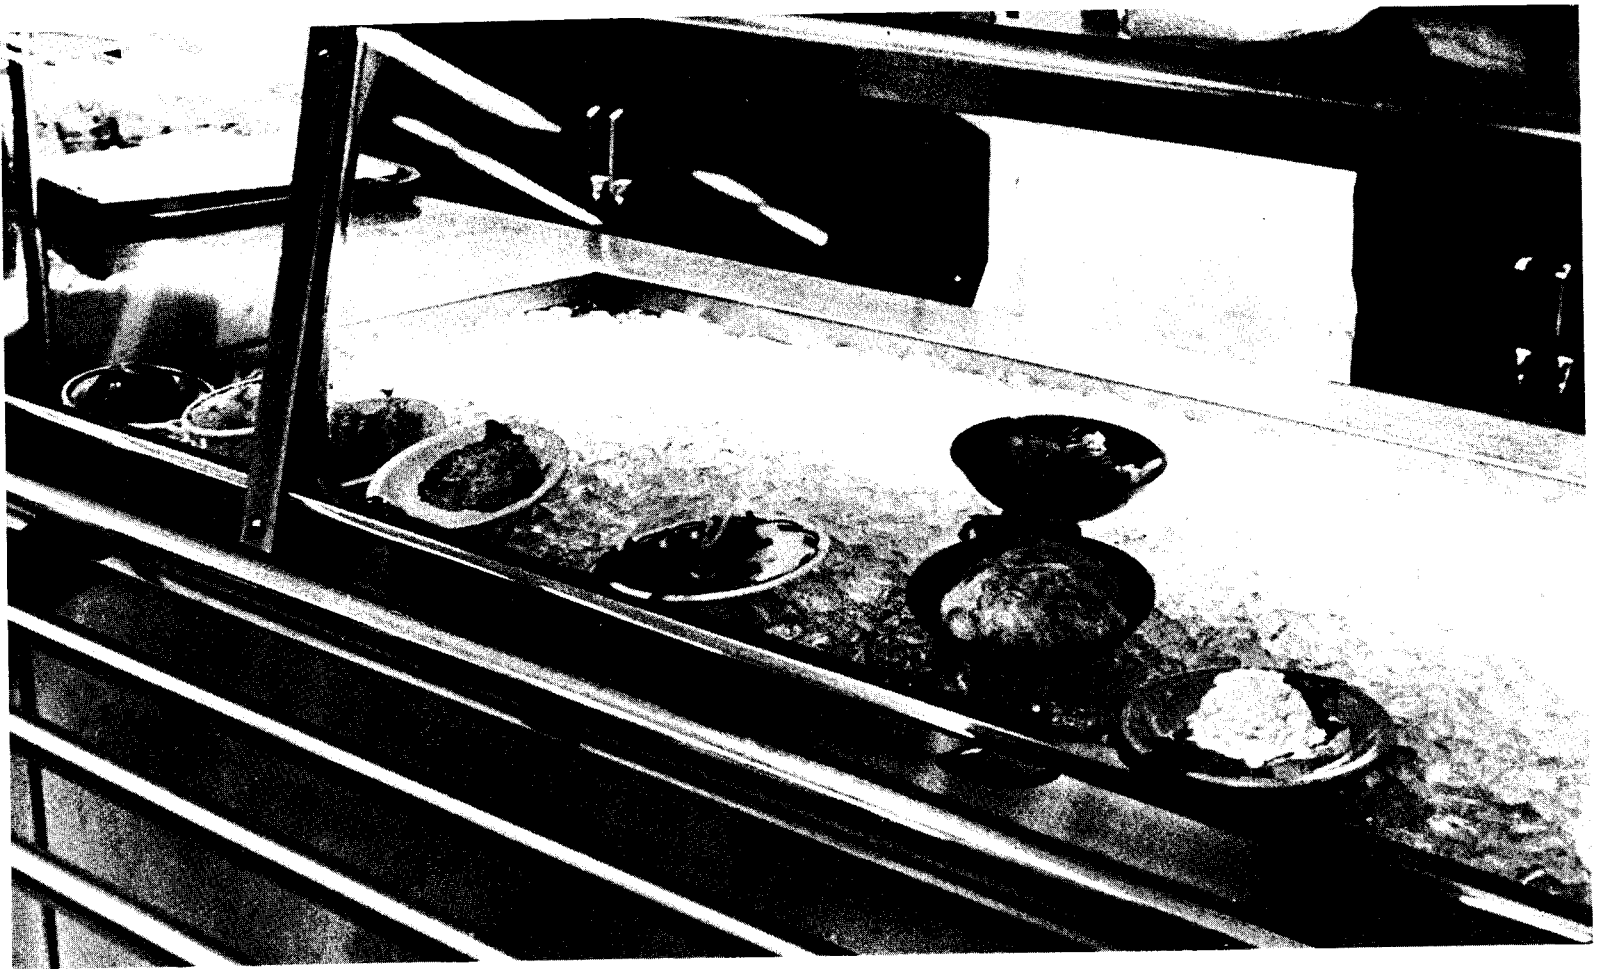

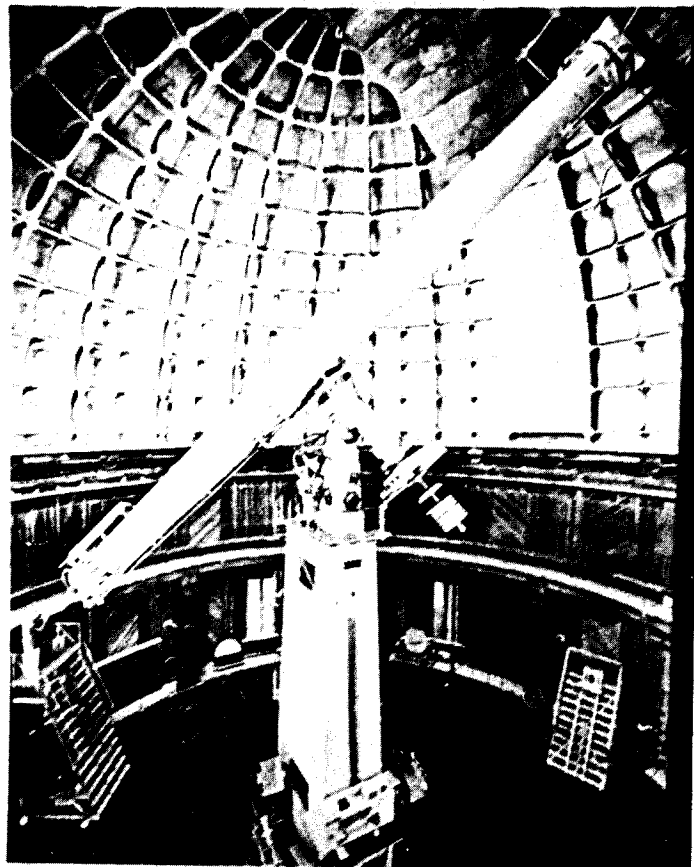

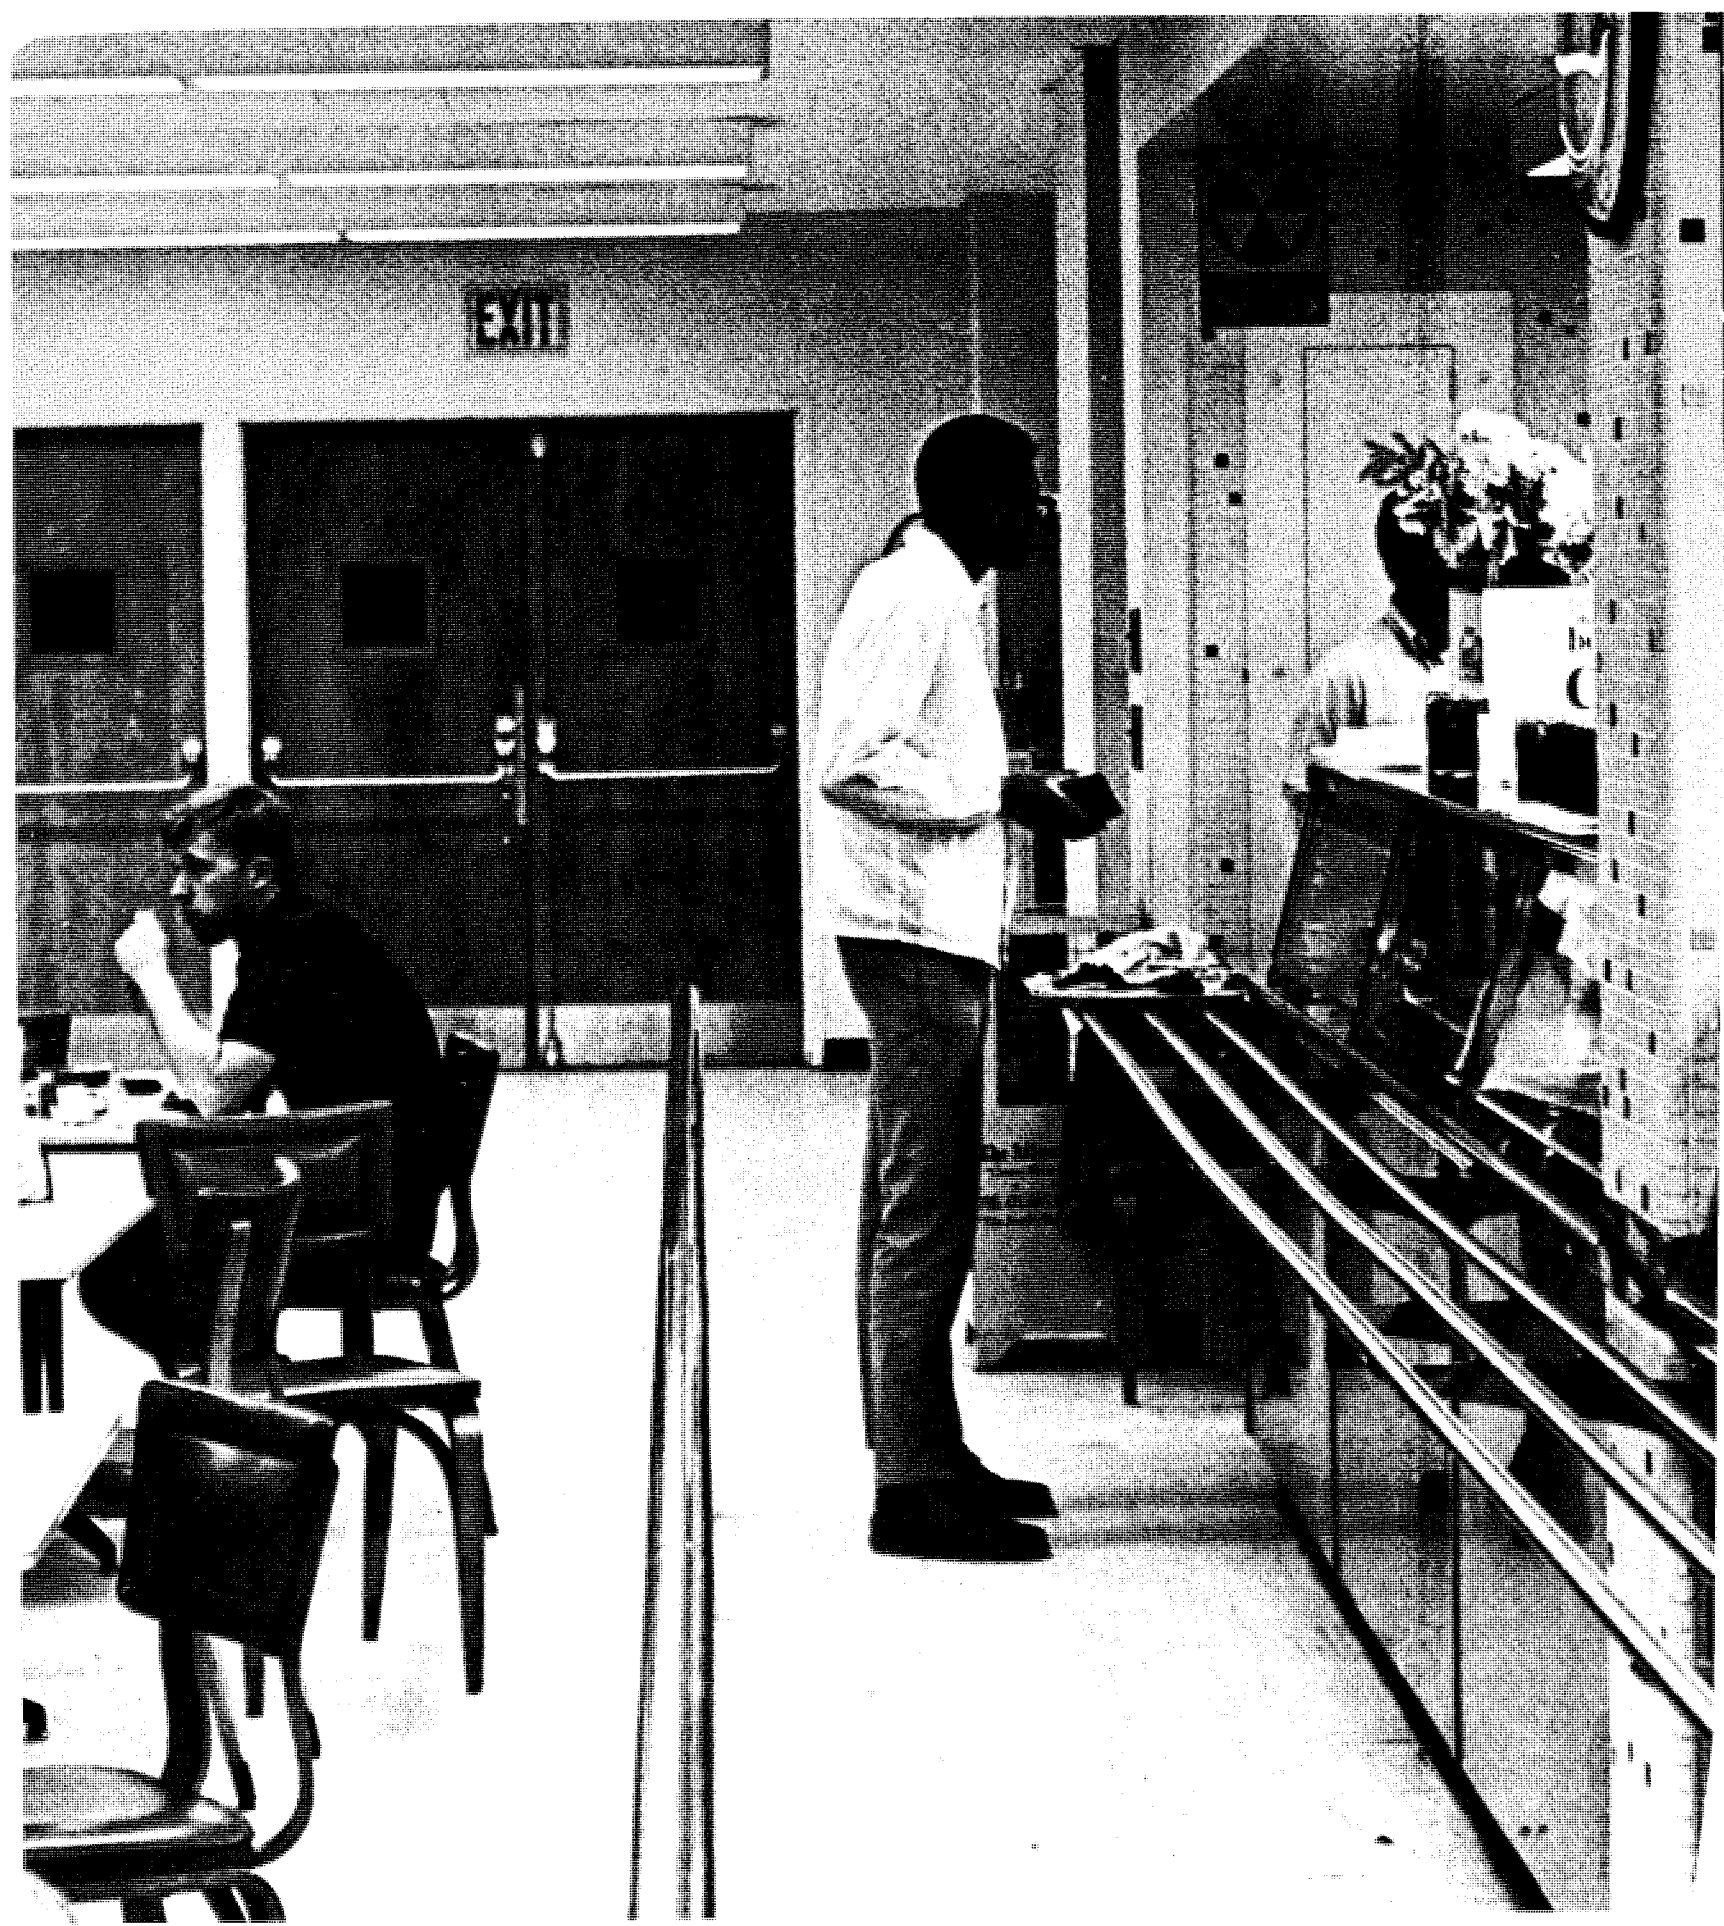

epilog

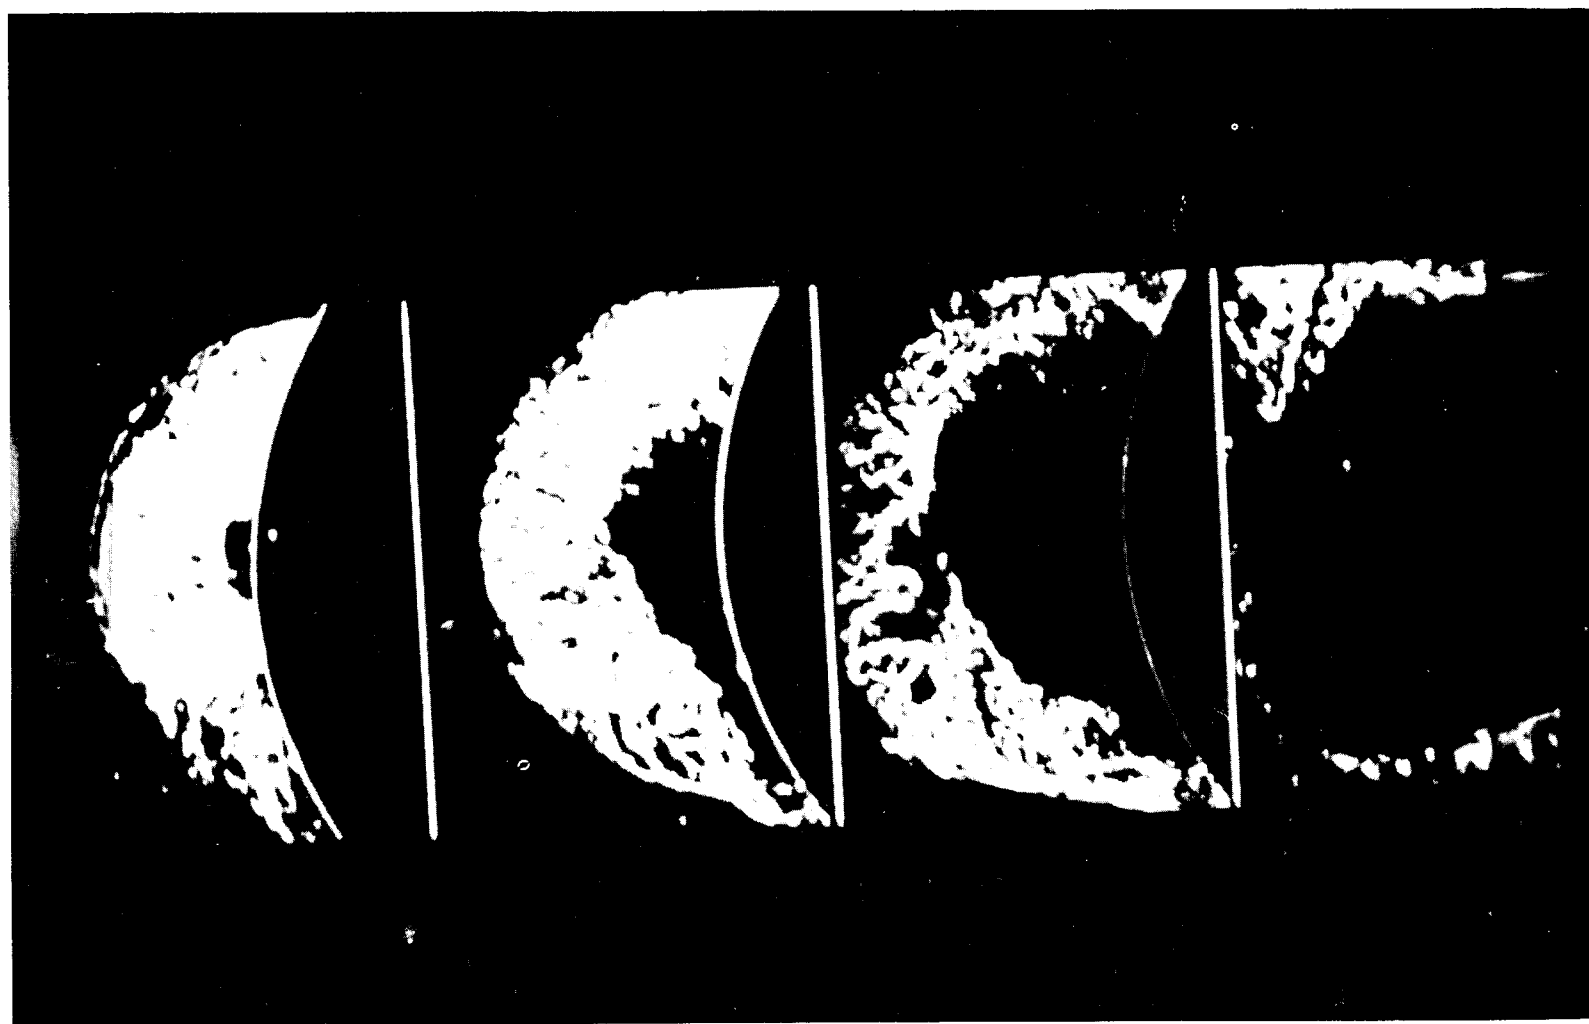

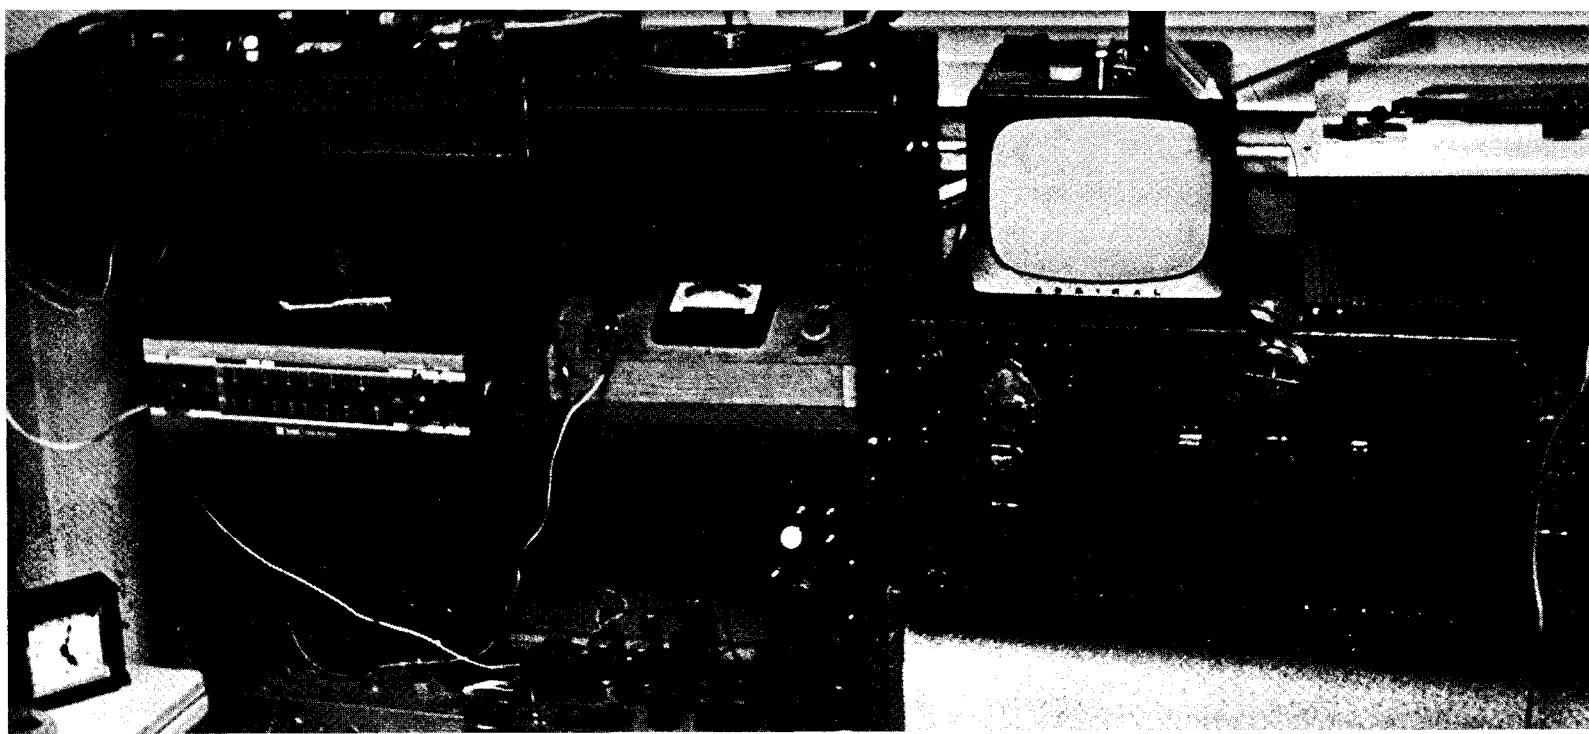

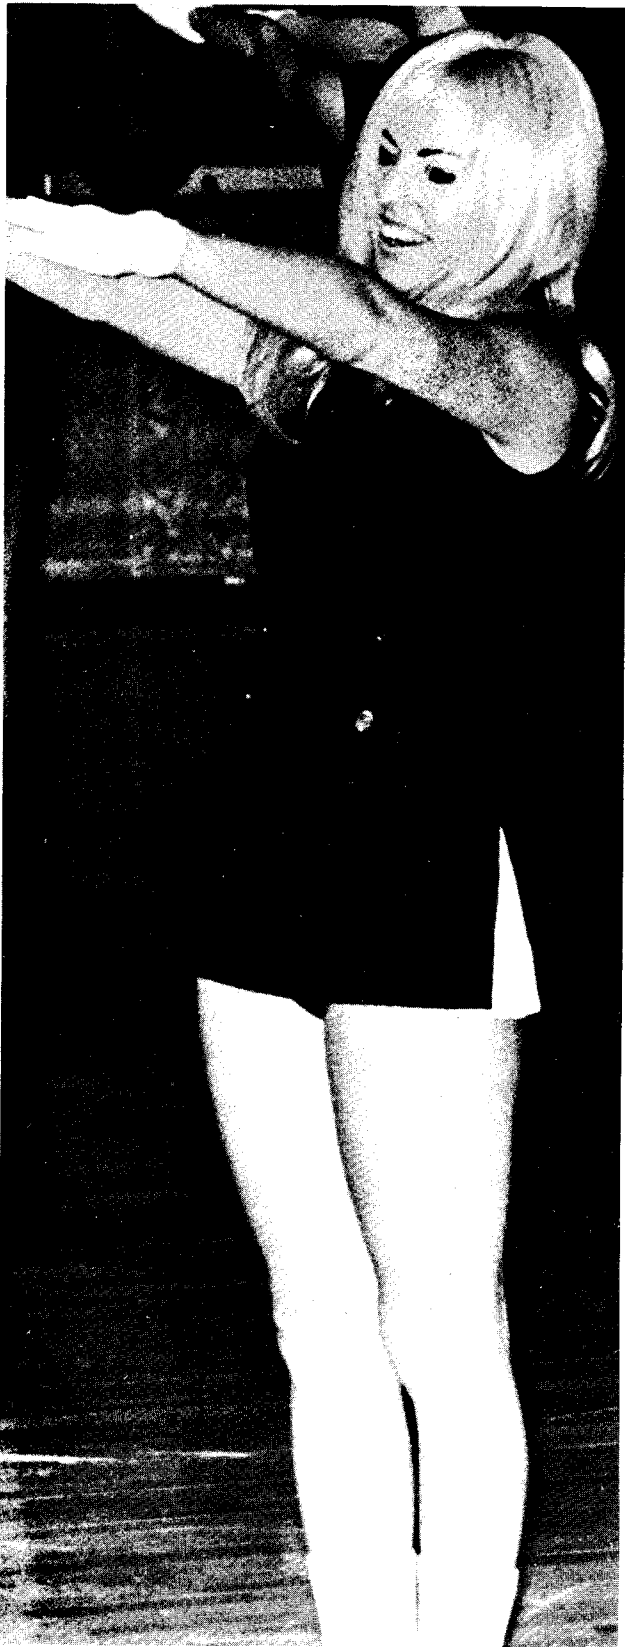

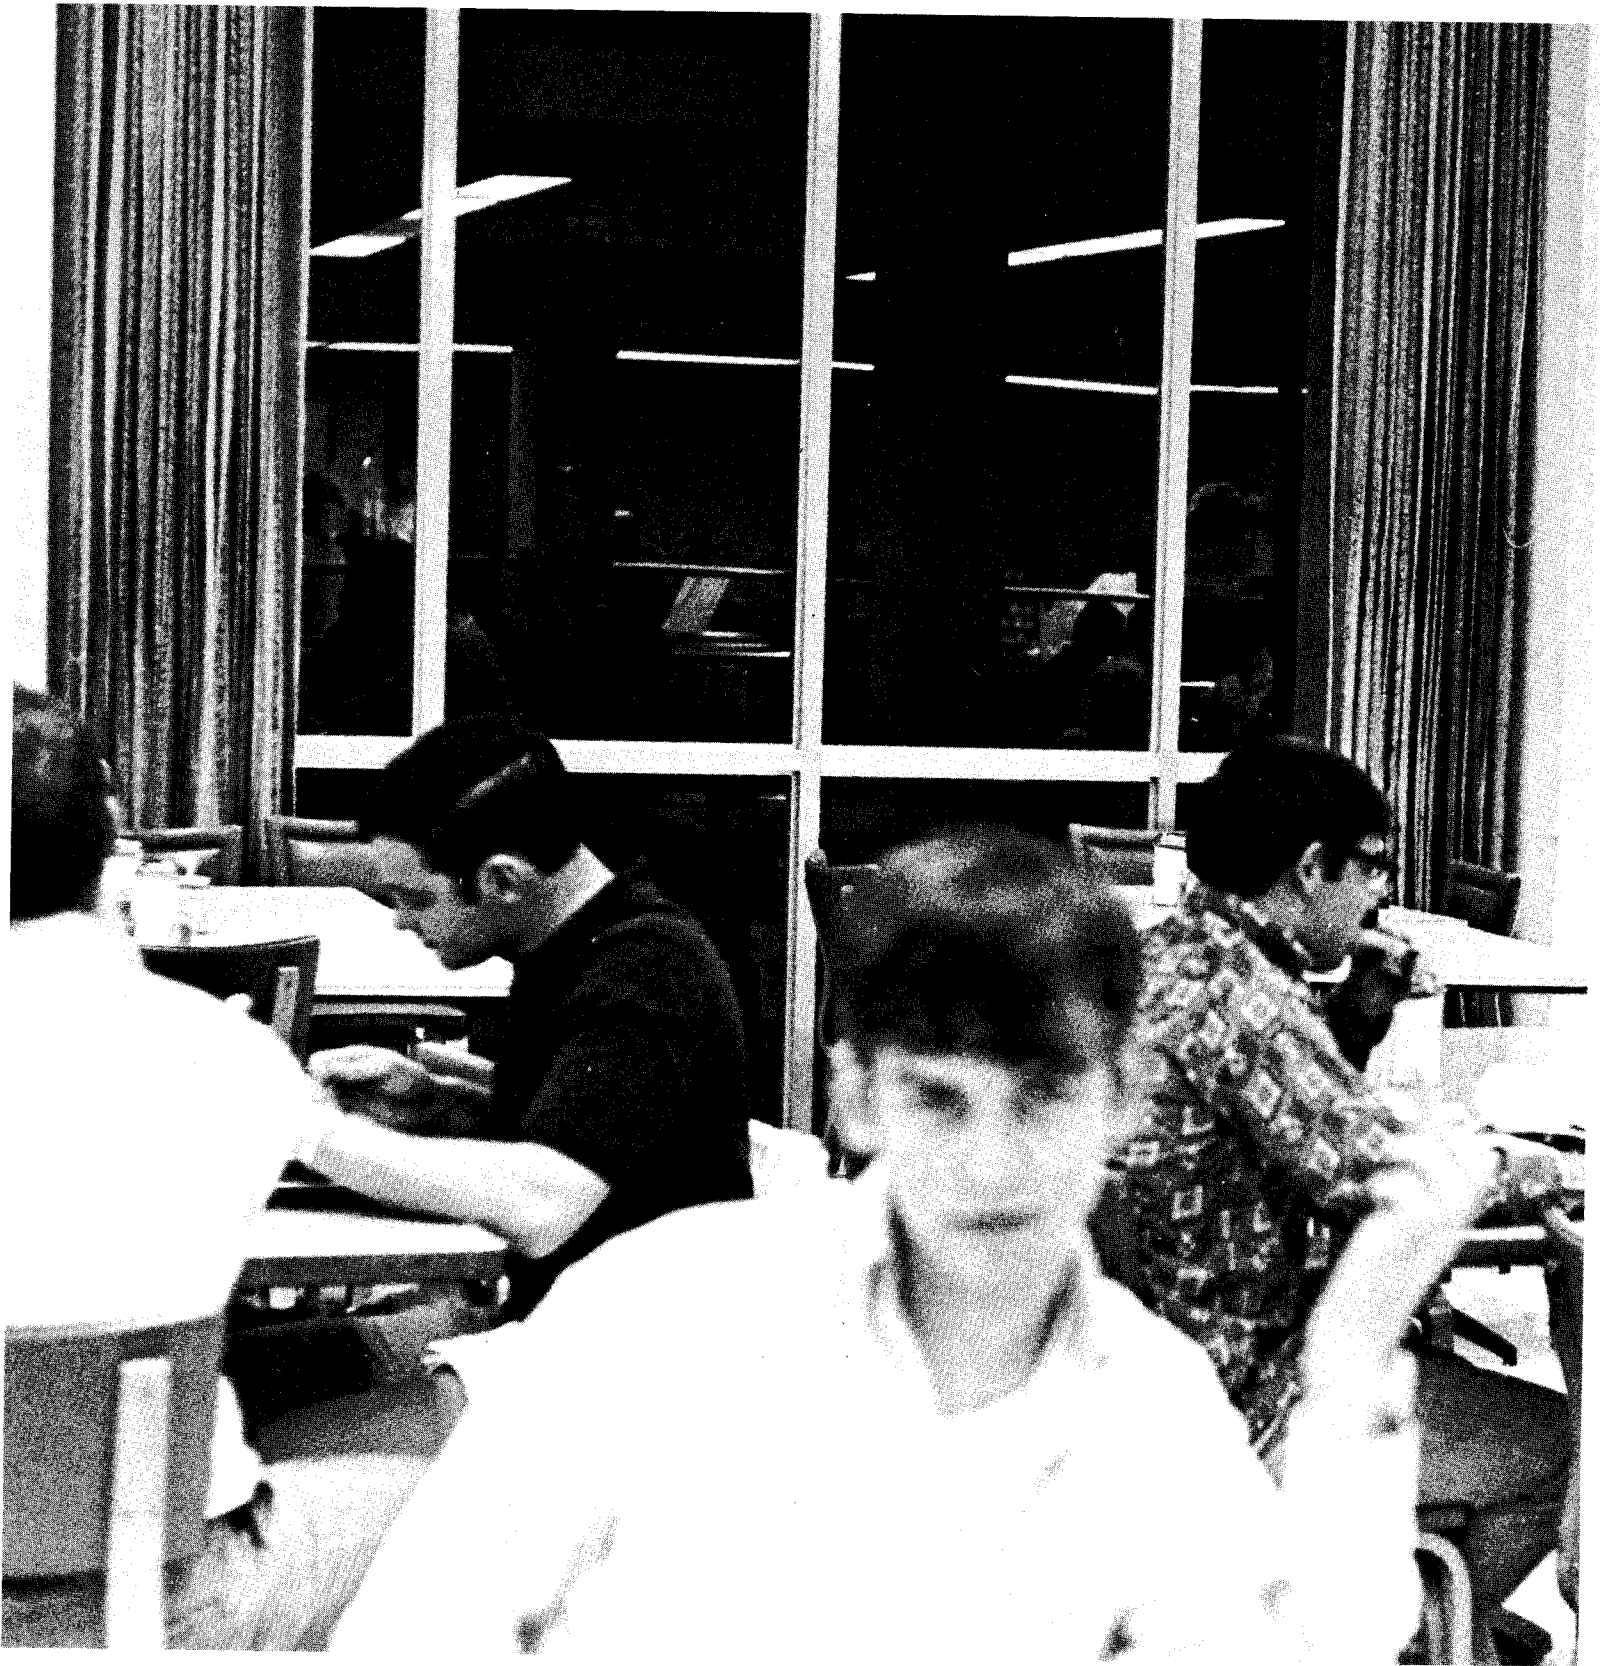

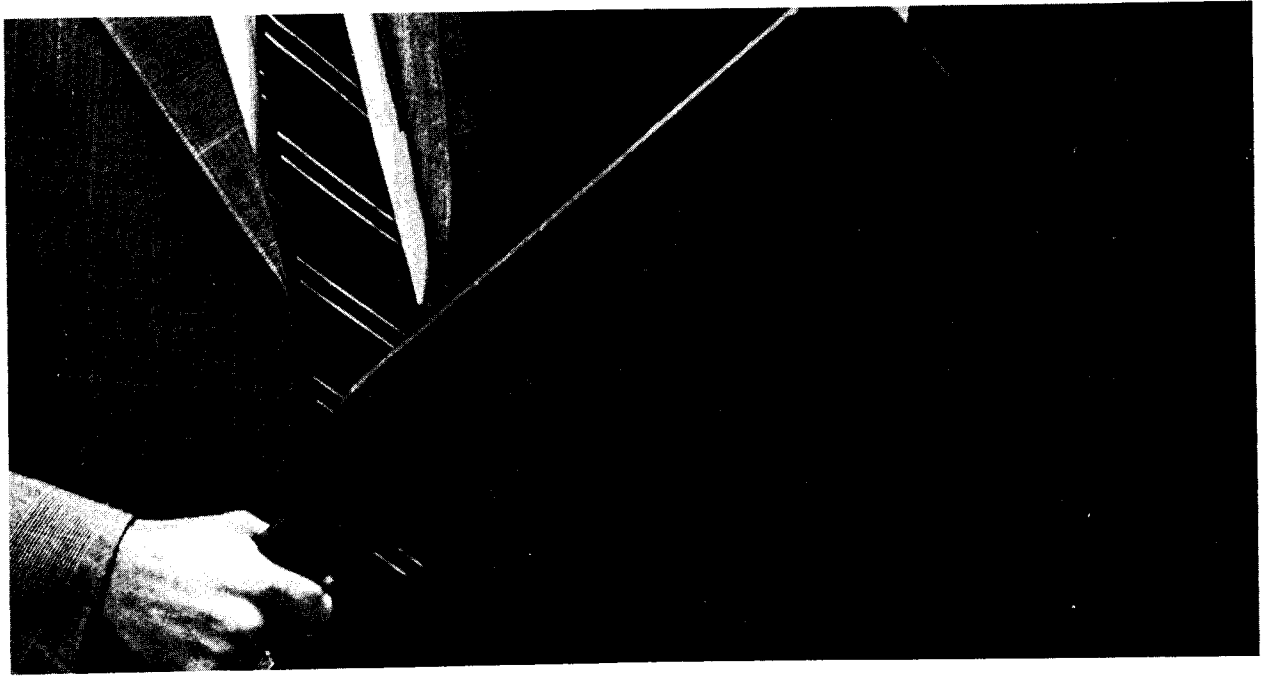

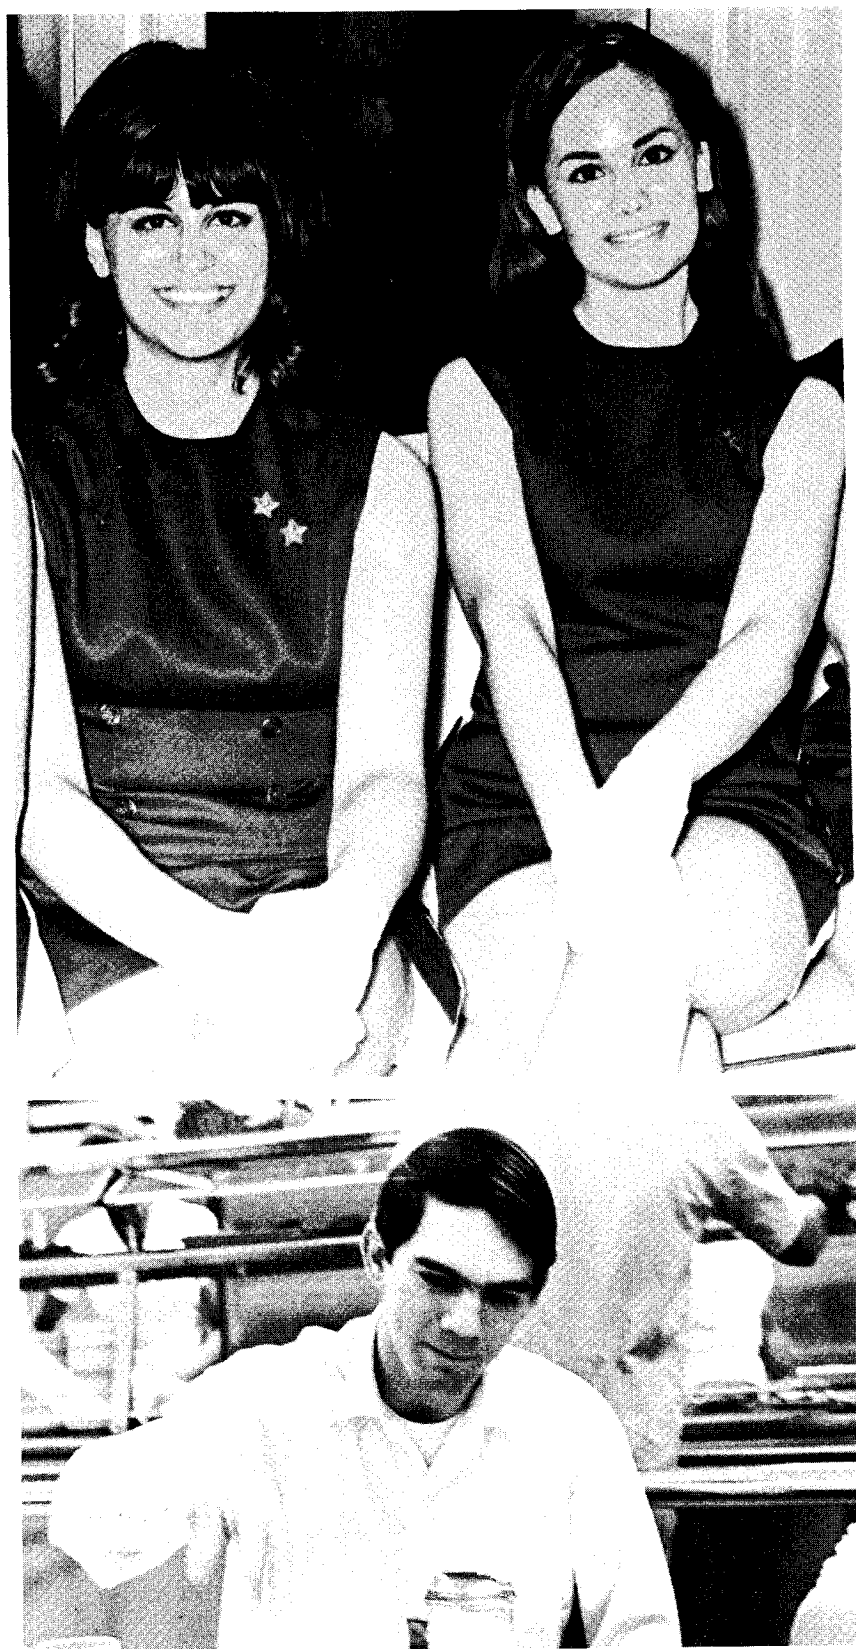

a note from the editor:

the world is filled with plastic people who mold their ideas to the standards of the world around them, but people who have the courage to dream, to invent, to truly think for themselves, and then turn their thoughts into action are indeed rare. southern tech students have this courage, and they have the power to convert their thoughts into the world of tomorrow. to move forward, to advance the mental and mechanical achievements of mankind, to experiment constantly with the things around him in the desire to make the world a better place through expression of himself - these are the goals of a technical student. never before have these ideals been higher than in these years - the final years of southern tech as a two-year college.

we, the staff of the southern tech yearbook, have tried to follow the ideals of our school by reflecting the goals of the students in our publication. these goals - creativity through experimentation, originality in thought - are the very roots of knowledge that bind mankind to the world of tomorrow. we, the staff of the southern tech log, have tried, through graphics and design, to be creative, to be different. we hope the result of our endeavors forms a fitting tribute to the people here at southern tech.
