WELCOME RACE FANS!

Welcome to the 24th Annual Bathtub Race. I hope that you enjoy the race and our beautiful campus at Southern Tech. I would like to take this opportunity to thank some of the people that have made this unique race possible.

Thanks to:

- Larry Logue, our faculty adviser
- The Corner Workers from the Sports Car Club of America
- Karl Staber
- Dean Charles Smith and other faculty of Southern Tech

My special thanks to:

- William Lotz, Scott Irwin and Brenda Lad for all their continuing support and of course to:

- All the track marshalls and individual sponsors
- WGHR Radio Station
- Valvoline

And my thanks to all of you, the fans that come out to watch the race. The entire Bathtub Racing Association hopes that you will enjoy the race and that you will have a safe trip home.

THE RACE

Just as Southern Tech has grown, so has the Bathtub Race. The race began during the mid-sixties, fraternity pledges dragged a bathtub full of beer through a muddied road. The Bathtub Race has evolved into a high-tech form of racing that gives the students a chance to show off not only their driving skills, but their split second pit stop performances as well. It also provides an alternate outlet for applications learned in the classroom.

Each racer and his pit crew must design his machine around an actual 140 pound cast iron, claw foot bathtub from years ago. The crew usually must search diligently to find a suitable tub: which usually involves tromping through many a cow pasture. They then surround the obstacle by a custom built frame which provides the handling characteristics they desire. The tub is fitted with an engine, usually a motorcycle engine having a displacement of less than 185 cc. Additional features are added, such as rack and pinion steering, 4-wheel disc brakes, aerodynamic body panels and quick release fuel tanks which allows top pit crews to make a pit stop in less than five seconds.

Each bathtub racing team consists of a driver, co-driver, and three pit crew members. To insure everyone's safety each bathtub must pass a rigid, mandatory technical inspection. Also, the drivers and co-drivers must pass a tough written exam and a situational driver's school before being certified as a qualified driver. To insure the safety of the audience, every entry must provide additional manpower to build the track with protective tire barriers and provide "Track Marshalls" for crowd control.

AROUND THE TRACK

Let's face it, in most cases a trip around the campus roads doesn't excite most people. However, triple the speed limit and I guarantee it gets exciting, very exciting.

Lets take a trip around the campus from a bathtub racer's perspective.

As you approach turn one (see the map for turn numbers), you often wonder why you ever started racing bathtubs in the first place. This left hand sweeper is the fastest turn on the course, and you enter and leave it at speeds of 80 to 90 mph. There are two things to keep in mind in turn one; the bump where the pavement joins together and the telephone pole the bump tends to throw you into!

The transition from turn one to turn two is a smooth and sudden one. The turn slopes to the outside and has a late apex, or center, which can cause the driver to enter the turn too early. This, in effect, makes the turn longer and more difficult to execute. It also has a slight rise in the apex which makes the tub light exiting the turn. Your best bet in this corner is to keep the pedal down and slide on through.

There are two things to keep in mind in turn one; the bump where the pavement joins together and the telephone pole the bump tends to throw you into!

As you pass the gym you enter turn three, another fast sweeper. This turn is wide-open in fifth gear and an excellent spot to set up to pass another tub. Once through the turn it's a drag race up the long hill past the dormitories to turn number four. Even though the long hill is hard on the engines and a popular place for them to seize up, it is an excellent place to flex your motor muscle if you have it!

One of the most challenging areas to go fast on the course is the chicane, or the "S" turn. The first section of the chicane requires skillful planning if you're going to out smart your opponents. Even though the chicane is very narrow and only one tub can pass through at a time, the combination of braking, downshifting, cornering and precise timing can slingshot you past your opponents after the turn.

Coming up the straight-away underneath the bridge you accelerate quickly through fifth gear. Located at the end of the straight-away is turn five, the tightest turn on the course. This sharp turn prompts a massive amount of brakes and downshifting if you have any plans of making this turn. It is easy to go wide in turn five and find yourself taking a trip through the grass and maybe even the tires.

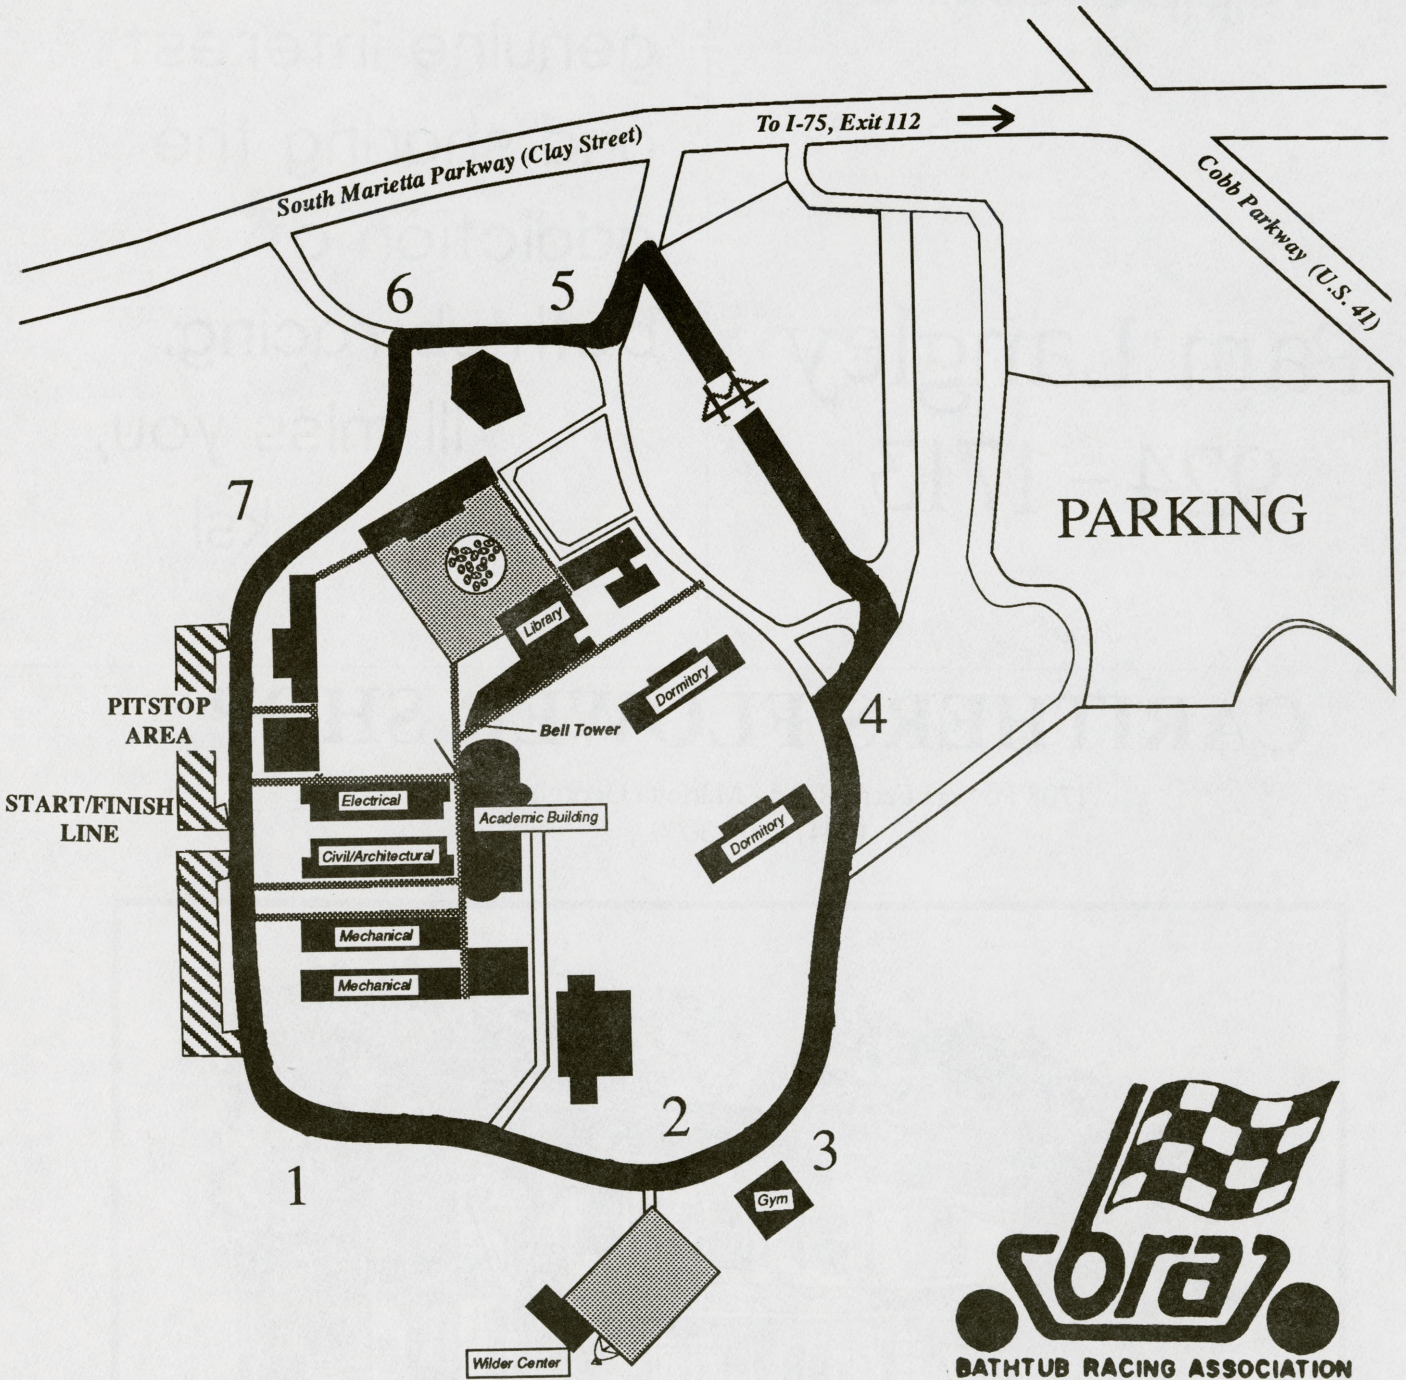

Accelerating over and down the hill you swing as out wide as possible for turn six or "deadman's curve". This is a rough off-camber turn that pitches you toward (and sometimes over) the curb with considerable force. In order to avoid this "over-the-curb Phenomenon", much care must be taken in selecting the smoothest line through the corner.

Turn seven is actually two turns as indicated on the map. You must accelerate through these turns as much as possible. The faster tubs use these two curves to pass the slower tubs, which makes turn seven an excellent place for spectators. This is also the entrance to pit row which can be very exciting. This is where some races are either won or lost.

Out of turn seven you head down the pit straight-away and across the Start / Finish Line. This is the longest straight on the course and, believe me, it is the fastest. Reaching speeds of 80 mph by the Start/ Finish line and speeds of 90 mph by the time you start thinking about turn one's bump, you start feeling quite a sensation and you again wonder why you ever started racing bathtubs to begin with.

Well, that is a lap around Southern Tech's race track. I hope you enjoyed it. As you can see, it's lots of fun for the students who race, and I hope it is equally as fun for those of you watching it !

AWARDS

Rookie Cup Challenge

The 15 lap Rookie Cup Challenge is race designed to promote a competitive challenge for those who lack experience. The race is also for students who lack the sponsorship support. Only drivers who haven't placed 1st or 2nd in the main event or who haven't won the pole position can race. During the months preceding the race, the drivers and crews in this class are encouraged to attend workshops where they receive assistance in building their tubs from the more experienced crews, a BIG BROTHER support approach. During the 15 lap sprint race, BIG BROTHERS assist the rookie racers to help them gain true racing experience. The drivers entering in the Rookie Challenge are also eligible to compete in the main event also.

Best Engineered Tub

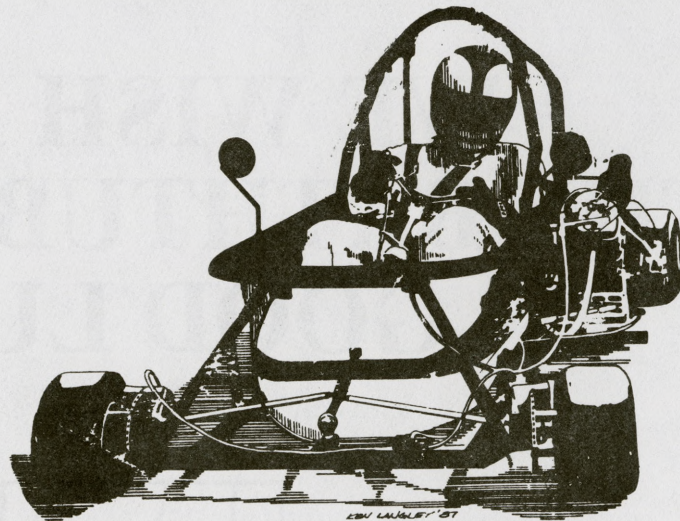

The best engineered tub is judged on how well it has been designed to apply principles taught in the classroom. The Bathtub Racing Association Committee picks their judges from professors at Southern Tech and also from the most popular technical management industries in Georgia. Some of the judges are even brought in from the Sport Cars Club of America. Before casting their ballot, each judge is allowed to roam through the pits during practice times to see each tub up close and to talk to the crews who built it. Many crews rival for the award as fiercely as they do for the checkered flag.

Best Pit Crew

The Best Pit Crew award is given to the crew who, in the eyes of the Race Officials, has proved themselves superior to all the other crews. Crews are judged on their preparedness, organization and testing, competence, refueling and their ability to stay cool enough to handle any problem that might arise.

Fastest Qualifier

The Valvoline Pole Position Award is given to the driver who has the fastest lap during qualifying time on Saturday.

The Power Punch

A well balanced lunch is essential to remain sharp and alert on the job. Failure to eat lunch can result in:

- Lack of afternoon concentration.
- Reduced metabolic rate hindering calarie burnoff.
- Potential weight gain by overeating later in the day.

A meal consisting of lean proteins (fish and poultry), fruits, vegetables and whole grains will refuel your body and help avoid the afternoon slump.
