

Dumb. 1072

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Thursday February 24. to Monday February 28. 1675.

A List of Captives redeemed out of Argiers, by His Majesties Bounty, and at His sole Charge, in the months of December and January, 1673. by Sir John Narborough, Mr. Brisbarie, and Mr. Martin His Majesties Consul at Argiers.

John Franklin
Jacob Hardy
Richard Walton
Thomas Blacket
John Seblefoy
Thomas Hall
Henry Thomas
John Palmer
David Lloyd
William Smith
Peter Bryan
Joseph Broune
John Green
Anthony Chappell
William Langton
William Carter
Philippe Treflesick
Dorby Silvan
Thomas Daniell
Abraham Thomas
Robert Forrest
William Grimby
Abraham Browne
Thomas Taylor
Richard Adams
Richard Watts
Peter Lefcon
James Evans
Alexander Upcott
Abraham Harris
Edmond Blockmaker
Matthew Story
Nicholas Browne
John Wright
James Keily
Nicholas Treach
John Johnson
William Lilles
Edward Croffe
Henry Furlong
Moses Cooper
Nathaniel Norris
James Nelson
William Meek
James Robinson
Bennet Feek
John Louder
Walter Philippes
Simon Williamson
John Chuck
Robert Davis
Joseph Knight
John Jordan
William Bully
Emanuel Keif
Turwith Scot
James Sinclair
Thomas Mould
John Fox
John Green
John Euser
John Skinner
John Goodall
Abfolom Farewell
Philippe Diamond
Daniel Lander
Samuel Delbee
Nathaniel Clerk

John Day
Alexander Miller
John Jones
William Bues
John Vaughan
Edward Chark
Henry Smith
Hacalia Preston
Hugh Smallwood
John Peters
Christopher Griggs
Thomas Maryfield
John Mahon
William Lacy
Edwin Sands
Robert Harris
Nicholas Manson
Thomas Cock
Peter Bayly
Edward Lyvesey
William Clerk
John Arathur
Anthony Passus
William Harvey
Anthony Glover
John Blanc
John Green
William Heath
Joseph Read
Richard Jenkins
George Thornton
Joseph Elbank
John Wetherly
Butler Oliver
Peter Cornelfson
Robert Harwood
Matthew Warnes
John Wocker
Robert Fetherston
William Gunston
Roger White
William Lake
John Symons
John Lambert
John Robinson
Christopher Lench
Abraham Kenter
John Holsey
John Giles
William Turner
William Motiff
Rowland Ramsfy
Samuel Barlow
Simon Lesley
Daniel Folastin
Michael Hawkins
James Taston
William Pine
William Young
John Lake
Thomas Snelling
Robert Gaythorne
Hercules Langtree
Thomas Lane
John Dundridge
John Galler
Richard Bodden
David Blankinship

Philippe Payne
John Roules
Edward Woodale
John Howel
John Miller
Samuel Lilley
John Bradden
John Loffe
Ralph Willson
John Robinson
John Roter
Daniel Philipps
Bonaventure Cowel
John Emonds
Nicholas Wheaton
Martin Call
Robert Read
John Dikenfon
George Fryer
James Rice
Richard Ellis
Thomas Addison
Baptist Johnson
James Cary

Roger Fingston
Thomas Keanedy
Andrew Truff
James Taylor
Daniel Rogers
William Smith
Marck Burges
John Scudamore
John Carriage
Henry Bullrel
Robert Cololt
Stephen Magnus
William Goodwin
John Tomfon
Thomas Gregory
Richard Dyer
Robert Harvey
John Willfon
John Clerk
Christopher Berry
Samuel Manning
Robert Mason
Robert Pomery
John Bedan.

Information being given, that several of the persons abovenamed, have heretofore by themselves, or their friends, entered into Bonds for the payment of certain Sums of money to private Undertakers for their single Redemptions; Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern, That all such Bonds ought to be delivered up to the parties, in regard all the said Captives were redeemed wholly at His Majesties charge.

Naples, Febr. 11. This afternoon arrived here Lieutenant Admiral de Ruyter, with 28 Sail of ships under his command; our Viceroy the Marquis de los Velez, went off at Noon with six Gallies, and about a mile and half from hence met him, and was on Board him about an hour, though during that time nothing but Civilities and Complements passed between them. Upon de Ruyters coming into Port, and upon his saluting the place, he was answered with a more than ordinary number of Guns, and in all other things nothing was wanting to express the satisfaction people here receive from his return with his Fleet into these parts. It is said that he will not stay here above two or three dayes, but will then proceed towards Sicily, to join the Spanish Men of War there, and to endeavor to attempt something upon the French Fleet, which still remains at Messina (contrary to the report which was as it seems without any ground spread abroad of its return towards Toulon) for the Master of a Vessel arrived here yesterday, which passed the Fare, tells us, that he saw above 30 Capital Men of War lying in the Port of Messina. Our Viceroy continues with great diligence the Levies he is making for Sicily; and we still hope to be able with the assistance of the Dutch Fleet, to reduce the City of Messina this Summer to its former obedience.

Legorn, Febr. 21. The satisfaction the return of Lieutenant Admiral de Ruyter towards Sicily (for we have this day Letters from Naples advising his arrival there on the 11 instant) gives the Spaniards, and those of their Party, is not less than the trouble they were in before fore upon the resolution that Admiral had taken to steer his course directly homeward. It is said that the Succors lately brought by the French Fleet into Messina, are not at all considerable, at least not so great as were expected, and as may be proportionable to the necessities of those Inhabitants, so that the Spaniards seem not to doubt but they will be quickly in the same condition they were before the arrival of the French Fleet, if the Dutch and Spanish Fleets keep them shut up on the side of the Sea, as it is expected they will. We have advice from Tripoli, that things are in great disorder there, and that those people impatiently expected the arrival of Sir John Narborough before that Port, in hopes to conclude a Peace with him.

Hague, Febr. 21. Our Duke has appointed a general Muster of his Troops to be held the 20 of the next month; it is confidently said that some of them are to be employed in the service of the Emperor, but whether they are to be sent towards Staden, or towards the Rhine, we do not yet know. Three persons are lately arrived here from Liege, who are said to be very skilful in making of Mines; but for what business we do not learn. We are told the Confederates are now wholly agreed about the repartition of the Conquests they have and shall make upon the Suedes.

Strasbourg, Febr. 24. From Esslingen they write, that General Montecuculi is expected back there from Vienna about the middle of the next month, and that he will bring with him several Imperial Regiments who are at present quartered in the Hereditary Countries. The French have lately obliged the Inhabitants of a small Town called Lutzelsstein, to take an Oath of Obedience to them. From Metz they tell us, that preparations are making therefor the reception of the Most Christian King, and that the French are hard at work on the Fortifications of that place, Nancy and Thionville. A party of Brisac is at present abroad upon some design. The Imperialists who to the number of 1500 lately passed the Rhine at Lauterburgh, having plundered some Villages, are returned to their quarters again.

Cologne, Febr. 28. Yesterday the Marquis de Grana returned to Bon from Coblenz, where he had been to confer with the Elector of Treves. The Duke of Newburgh not only continues his Levies in these parts, but has sent to raise two Regiments of Dragoons in his Territories upon the Danube. A French party of 200 Horse is at present abroad, and ravages the Country of Eyffels. From Fransfort they write, that Levies are making in all those parts for the service of the Emperor; and from Mayerce, that they expected there several fresh Troops to reinforce that Garrison. It is said that the Baron de Landze is to come and reside here on the part of the Emperor.

Hamburgh, Febr. 28. The Confederates seem extreme intent upon the Siege of Staden, and are on all sides preparing for it: it is said that they are now fully agreed concerning the repartition of their Conquests, and that the whole Duchy of Bremen is to remain to the Dukes of Lunenburgh, and the Duchy of Ferdin to the Bishop of Munster. From Livonia they write, that the Muscovites begin to move towards the Frontiers of that Country, which gives the Suedes great jealousies.

Brussels, March 3. From Liege we have the confirmation that the French are going to demolish Huy and Dinant, which takes from us the apprehensions we had that they would open the Campaign in these parts with the Siege of Namur; and gives us reason to believe that the Enemy will come yet nearer home, and attack some of our Frontier places in Flanders: his Excellency therefore has reinforced all those Garrisons, that so they may be able, in case they are attacked, to make a good defence, till the Prince of Orange may come to their relief; we are assured from the Hague, that his Highness makes all the haste possible to come into the Field as early as the French, with an Army of above 30000 Men. Five Regiments belonging to the Duke of Osnabrugh, are to come into these parts, to join with such Troops as we can draw together; and in the mean time his Excellency has given out Commissions for the raising 24 Troops of Horse, with intention to raise 3 or 4000 in all, if the necessary supplies arrive from Spain, as the last Letters from thence promised. The Duke of Bourbonville is suddenly expected here on his way to Catalonia, where he is this Summer to command the Spanish Forces. They tell us from Liege, that their Deputies were gone to Marchienne au Pont, to Treat with those from France, Holland, and these Countries, for the establishing the Commerce and Neutrality of that Country. Yesterday was published a Placet, commanding all Officers to repair to their respective Garrisons in six days at farthest.

Hague, March 3. The Prince of Vandemont, who hath been here to make a visit to the Prince of Orange, is returned again on his way towards Brussels. Don Emanuel de Lyra, one of the Spanish Plenipotentiaries, intends, as is said, to part hence for Almegren very suddenly. As the time for Action begins now to draw near, so are our preparations hastened with the greater diligence, his Highness resolving not to lose any time, that he may be in the Field as early as the French, at least time enough to secure any place they may attack in the Spanish Netherlands. The ships intended for the reinforcing the Lieutenant Admiral de Ruyter in the Mediterranean, will be ready to sail, as is said, before the end of this month. We have advice of the arrival of the Ambassador sent by the States to the Czar of Moscovy at Mosco, and that he had been received with great kindness and respect. The Letters from those parts add, that great endeavors are used to induce the Czar to make War this Spring upon the Suedes in Livonia; that hitherto he has not declared himself, but that in the mean time several Troops march daily towards those Frontiers, which will however oblige the Suedes to hold a watchful eye on that side, and by that means hinder them from sending several Troops (which might otherwise have been spared there) to reinforce their Forces in Pomerania.

Paris, March 4. It is now confidently said at Court, that the Prince of Conde will go into the Field, and that he will command the Army in Alsacia, the King resolving to be in person, at least the beginning of the Campaign, with his Army in Flanders. We do not yet certainly know the day the King will begin his journey, but it's not doubted but 'twill be about the beginning of April, against which time all things seem to be preparing. We are told that orders have been sent to Thionville, and to Marsilles, to hasten the Gallies and Men of War that are fitting out there for Messina.

Advertisements.

LOST on Tuesday the 22 instant, near Wallingford house over against Scotland yard, a Pocket Book of Accounts bound in Parchment, and clasp'd over, with Bills in it, to the value of 200*l.* of Gentlemens Accounts, for Horses standing in the Kings Head near Charing-cross. Whoever gives notice of the said Book to Thomas Kingsley Ostler of the said Inn, shall have 20*s.* In the first Leaf of the Book is the said Thomas Kingsley's name writ.

STOLEN out of the Grounds of Francis Fisher of Radford in the County of Warwick Esq; on the 20 instant, a large bay Mare about 15 hands high, 11 or 12 years old, with a white in her forehead like an half Moon, and several white Saddle spots upon her back. Whosoever shall give notice of the said Mare to any of Mr. Fisher's servants at Radford, or to Mr. William Lasenby Taylor in Russel-street in Covent-garden, London, shall have 40*s.* Reward.