LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Drinking has become a very popular social event among many Georgians. The clubs and bars throughout the state are always jammed with people looking for friends, relaxation, or just a good time. Recently our Georgia lawmakers, along with some small citizen organizations have decided to make an attempt to violate the freedoms of many individuals. This is the discussion of the drinking age being raised from nineteen to twenty-one. By the same practice, these same individuals succeeded in raising the age from eighteen to nineteen. This too is a violation of our rights. The legal age for voting is eighteen in the state of Georgia, but why is a voter not responsible enough to drink alcoholic beverages? Eighteen year olds are also eligible to legally sign contracts, leave home, stand trial as an adult, and fight for the United States of America. If a man, whether he is eighteen or any age, is eligible to fight and die for the freedom of his country, he should also be eligible to drink as he wishes in his own country. This is a true violation of what the United States of America stands for. Please, let your state representative and state senator know how you feel. They are over twenthy-one and usually need a little help in remembering those of us who are not. Truth and righteousness will prevail.

SOCIETY

Society is strange
It offers one the chance to succeed
It offers one the chance to fail--
It even gives people lots of hell.

It can help or hurt you
It can make or break you
It can make one strong
It can even make some people go wrong.

It consists of crime
It consists of time
Its economy is failing
Its people are dwelling.

To succeed in a society
Ones aim is to please
Please whom?, do you ask
Ones aim is to only please his or herself.
So don't let society get the best of you
But you should get the best of society.

Burial allowances, not to exceed $300, can now be paid to states or local governments by the Veterans Administration for interment of unclaimed bodies of certain indigent veterans.

Recent legislation allows payment of the allowance for the burial and funeral expenses of a veteran who had wartime service, or who was discharged for service-connected disability, and whose remains are held unclaimed by a state or local government agency. Only expenses incurred after Sept. 30, 1982, qualify for reimbursement.

These deaths also trigger eligibility for payment of an amount, not exceeding $150, as a plot or interment allowance when the veteran is not buried in a national cemetery.

Eligibility for the burial and plot allowances also exists with respect to more than 3 million veterans currently on VA compensation and pension rolls, or who would be on those rolls but for the receipt of military retired pay. Eligibility may also be established if the veteran's death occurs in a VA medical facility. Deaths that are actually service related give rise to eligibility for reimbursement of up to $1,100 in burial and funeral expenses.

Burial in a national cemetery is available to any deceased veteran of wartime or peacetime service who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. The VA will furnish a headstone or grave marker to memorialize a veteran or mark the grave of a veteran.

The VA may also pay an amount equal to the cost of the government headstone-- currently $67 -- toward partial reimbursement of a private headstone for placement in a cemetery other than a national cemetery.

An American flag may be obtained from the VA to drape the casket of a veteran. The flag is then given to the next of kin.

For more information on VA burial benefits, contact any VA office or national cemetery. Toll free numbers to VA regional offices are listed in the white pages, under "U.S. Government," of the telephone directory.

EYES

Her hair is like midnight,
Her eyes are like fire.
Who is this young lady?
She's my hearts desire.

With eyes like dark pools,
to the man who looks deep,
I tell you truly,
He courts permanent sleep.

Her eyes can flash lightning,
Or turn you to stone.
But whatever you feel,
You feel to the bone.

You wake up at night,
Seeing eyes like hot coals.
Let's face it my friend,
She's stolen your soul.

Without a word,
These eyes can deceive you.
Without a sound,
These eyes can relieve you.

Her manner is friendly,
Her figure sublime.
But one look in her eyes,
And you know she's divine.

She moves like a tigress,
And she'll ever roam.
But one look in her eyes,
And you're never alone.

How far has she traveled?
How far does she wander?
I may never know,
I just sit and ponder.

You see her there,
Across the room.
And know that now,
you've just met your doom.

She's so independent,
How high will she fly?
I only hope that,
She never must cry.

No matter how long,
Or how hard you try.
One look in her eyes,
Will elicit a sigh.

You can't help your feelings,
And you really don't care.
You want so much to tell her,
But, do you dare?

She is so good,
Like pure mountain water.
She makes me stumble,
And stagger, and totter.

My soul is complete,
Whenever she's near.
Because, to me,
She is so dear.

No one is perfect,
Or ever can be.
But, she is as close,
As I want to see

THE NEWS

Southern Tech Weathers The Storm

It wasn't falling hard enough at first. It was only sawdust in the wind. They had predicted it would snow. Thursday, they had said. They're never right so who believed them.

But on Thursday and Friday, January 20, and 21, Southern Technical Institute was once again allowed to weather the storm and as usual, we, the strong survived. The only serious injuries were incurred by those persons who did not have the foresight or the ability to go home (or go skiing) for the four day weekend. Many dorm-dwellers suffered severe cases of extreme boredom. Other more industrious individuals took advantage of the opportunity to caught up on their backlog of homework.

Partying, looting and drinking also characterized the "shortest" Longest weekend of the year. It seems that when Southern Tech students do not have to maintain their composure. But then!

STINGERS

from de Caux

Bruce Boone, " G.D.I. " and Steve Blalock all figured out an unbeatable strategy for STINGER #55 over the holidays. Well done!

This week's puzzle is quick to state: For how many positive integers does $2n + 1$ evenly divide: $n^4 + n^2$?

Solutions as usual may be left in my office or in my mail-box at the Mathematics Department. I'm still in 256b but hope to move into my new office downstairs soon!

PI KAPPA PHI

First off, I would like to congratulate the last group of officers who did an excellent job. A couple of their achievements are the pledging of five young men. These pledges are: Andy Young, William Akins, James Sakers, George Wagner and Ken Edingfield.

These officers were also in attendance for the dedication of the newest PUSH facility, which is an acronym for "Play Unit for the Severely Handicapped." The play units are designed to keep handicapped children occupied. This unit, which costs about twenty-thousand dollars, is the eighth unit in operation today.

Recently pledged are four young men whom the entire brotherhood hopes will become active brothers as soon as possible. They include: Ed Moses, Chris Bryan, Steve Brewer and David Klukowski.

At the end of this past Fall quarter the following officers were elected: Pres., Robbie Cole; V. Pres., Jon Cole; Sec., Scott Lad; Tres., Mike Jones; Warden, Curtis Perry; Chaplain, Jim Dyer and Historian, Eric Burch.

Initiation was planned for Fri., Jan. 21, but because of the snow, it had to be cancelled. No new date has been set. When initiation is held, William Akins, Ken Edenfield, and Andy Young will be initiated.

For the several dozen students that were in the Student Center on Dec. 1 to help celebrate Bert Bell's birthday, I'm sure you all enjoyed the show. If by some quirk of misfortune you missed this "party," let me fill in the blanks. At about 12:30, a somewhat studious looking young lady was introduced to Bert as a little sister from the Pi Kapp chapter at the University of Georgia. At this point, she began to bump and grind her way into the hearts of all who watched. Stopping only when she remained clad in panties, stockings and a skimpy bra. I'm convinced that this was the largest gathering of students in the Student Center to date.

On Wed., Jan. 5, we had our first rush party of the new year. I am proud to say that it was one of our best parties. It started about 8:00 with a seven-piece band called "Generation" playing a variety of music including top 40, Soul and Rythme and Blues. I would like to thank all the people who attended for helping us have such a successful and fun party.

We are planning to have a bowling team this year. Speaking of bowling, in the first match, our first team split four games with TKE's #2 team and in the second match, our #1 team won one out of four games with TKE's #1 team, our #2 team split four games with TKE's #2 team.

This is all for now, but I'll be back in two weeks.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Winter quarter 1983 started with a successful rush for the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity here at Southern Tech. Five men, Farris Shaheen, Robert Fazio, David Digiovanni, Charles Baird and James Kammerdiener, were pledged in at a ceremony held January 11. Sig Ep welcomes these men to our Fraternity.

Sigma Phi Epsilon is gearing up for a busy month in February. Sig Ep will be taking an active part in Homecoming activities scheduled for the first week in February. February 11, 12 and 13 will find a Southern Tech delegation of Sig Eps in Savannah for Regional Leadership Academy. On Feb. 26, Sig Ep plans to hit the slopes on a ski trip.

Sigma Phi Epsilon celebrates its second anniversary on campus but we need your help to continue growing. We are planning a Mid-quarter Rush for the week of Feb. 20. If you are interested in Sig Ep, we would like to hear from you. Questions may be directed to any brother or for your convenience, drop a note to Neal Cordle, P.O. Box 9855 or James Trantwein, P.O. Box 8441. Sig Ep would like to hear from and meet you.

The brothers of Xi-Chi are having a very successful Winter quarter. On Jan. 9, we initiated eight new brothers. They are: Doug Carter, David Millen, Clay Moore, Lamar Owen, Steve Dunn, Cliff Leatherwood, Bill Scalia, and George Yates. We also initiated four new little sisters that night. They are: Kathy Dixon, Garnett Long, Alisa Maddox, and Theresa Haygood.

On Jan. 23, we had Little Sister officer installation and little sister initiation. The new officers are Pres., Terri Davis; Sec. Treas., Lynn Fielder; Educator, Ellen Carrow. The newest little sisters are Vicki Ratcliff and Jill Phillips.

On Sat., Jan. 29, Xi-Chi is sponsoring a basketball run to North Ga. College in Dahlonega to benefit Cystic Fibrosis. This run is being done in memory of one of our brothers, Tommy Crumly. Tommy died from this disease which usually takes its victims by the age of 21. The brothers of Xi-Chi would appreciate your pledges and support in this endeavor.

The ski trip on the 13th-15th of January was really wild. We went to Boone, N.C., and Ski at Beech. Most of us survived, but there were a few casualties. Ask Strip about his ski pole hitting the human snowman.

Our little sisters will be selling gas raffle tickets in the near future. The winner will receive $50 worth of gas. It will be given away at the last home basketball game.

Our Tenth Annual Red Camatron Ball is coming up on Feb. 26. It will be held at Dunfey's Royal Coach.

Also our Regional Leadership Conference is coming up this quarter. It will be held in Birmingham, Alabama.

In sports our basketball teams are playing well. Good luck guys. Also our bowling teams are off to a good start. TKE #1 is 7-1 while TKE #2 is 4-4. Good luck bowlers.

TKE would also like to congratulate TBA sorority on being recognized by National Sorority Alpha Delta Pi. Good luck girls!

TKE has many other activities for this quarter. So come on guys and let's make some good grades for a change.

Iceberg Hits Southern Tech

On Tuesday, January 18, Southern Tech was treated to a technical demonstration and performance of electronically synthesized music by one of the world's leading musicians, Michael ICEBERG.

ICEBERG, who has been seen on the Tonight Show with Johnny Carson, has also performed in both Disneyworld and Disneyland for several years, and was presented at STI by the CAB. ICEBERG brought his soon-to-be-famous ICEBERG MACHINE and synthesized for the attentive Southern Tech audience 90 minutes of enjoyable musical selections ranging from pop hits to polkas, including several original compositions.

All of the music performed by ICEBERG (except for the vocals) originates from the ICEBERG MACHINE, a fantastic seven-foot copper pyramid. The machine contains five keyboards, a percussion synthesizer, several control consoles, a couple of calculator key pads, and ICEBERG himself. Through the use of these control consoles and key-pads, ICEBERG has interfaced several different synthesizers, chamberlins (machines capable of reproducing multiple musical sounds), and a light board, resulting in his ability to produce simultaneously the sounds of an entire orchestra using only the ICEBERG MACHINE and his ten fingers. While other artists such as Vangelis use synthesizers, only the unusual and unique Michael ICEBERG has successfully created a live format for his music. ICEBERG does it live and with a style all his own.

The campus police department here at Southern Tech must be the most bored security force in Georgia. Surely, if they had some real problems to deal with, they wouldn't bother us dormies so much. I realize that part of their job is to keep students from violating campus rules, but the zeal with which they police us dorm residents borders on fanaticism.

We dormies are the students who, because we live here, are on campus more than other students and are subsequently more likely to be cited for trivial violations.

Most dorm students are well aware of where they are allowed to park their vehicles, and on the weekends most of the reserved spaces around the dorms are considered open for parking until Sunday evening. After all, who parks there on the weekends? Yet, our windshields are littered with tickets in the morning, presumably written by a grumpy old fogey with a low regard for young students.

These men in black are constantly on the prowl for a miscreant student, and we dorm students receive the brunt of their efforts. At times, the attitudes of some officers seem to reflect a general disdain for college students.

The end result of this situation is a growing breach of trust between dorm students and campus security, and an increasing lack of consideration by both parties. In my opinion, trust and cooperation between campus security and resident students is a desirable quality, and measures should be taken to insure its preservation. A little more tolerance of student's weekend behavior, including parking practices, is in order from the campus cops, and a little more respect and less antagonism is in order from us students. This cooperation would help alleviate tensions tremendously. After all, we live together, so let's stop fighting and start looking out for each other.

They Ate the Whole Thing

By Tyrone Dean

Last Wednesday was "meet the Hornets night" at our local Dairy Queen. The Runnin' Hornets coaches and managers (including yours truly) were introduced to all their fans. The crowd had a chance to meet and chat with their team. After the introductions there was a banana split eating contest which provided fun for contestants, judges and on-lookers alike. Mr. and Mrs. Shelley Soloman were the judges in charge of making sure all the rules were complied with. Coach George Perides acted as the time judge. The rules were that you must eat a 14-ounce banana split as fast as you can without using your hands and you must not leave more than an ounce of banana split in the container. One by one the banana splits were gobbled up and one by one the contestants ran to the restroom to call "Ralph." Hornet star Jacoby Simmons turned in a time of 36 seconds. But Simmons ran third behind a representative of Sigma Nu and the Rebels who both turned in times of 34 seconds. An eat-off was staged with both contestants eating their split in 27 seconds, but the Sigma Nu rep left more than an ounce of split and was disqualified. The winning organization was the Rebels. The fun at Dairy Queen was a delightful conclusion to a great evening. There will be more such contests and fun at DQ in the future. So, stay alert for details.

WGHR Radio Follows the 'Runnin' Hornets

As the Hornets go on the road or at home, WGHR will be there bringing you all of the action. Half of the season is over and WGHR has been bringing you all of the action. Be sure to listen to the games to get more details. Also, if the Hornets go into the district playoffs or to Kansas City, WGHR will be there.

CPR Saturday

To convert public awareness of the need for cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training into actual training experiences for Atlanta citizens, the Metropolitan Atlanta Chapter of the American Red Cross will offer free CPR training to citizens in a one-day event.

The project, called "CPR Saturday," is scheduled for Saturday, February 12 at DeKalb Community College Central Campus in Clarkston; at Clayton Junior College in Morrow; and the Southern Technical Institute in Marietta. Training will be continuous at the three sites from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"While Red Cross CPR continues to gain increased awareness in our community, our goal is to train at least 3,000 individuals in the lifesaving skill in this one-day effort," said David F. Apple, Jr., M.D., safety services chairman for the Metropolitan Atlanta Chapter. "Utilizing our volunteer manpower and equipment, Red Cross is able to coordinate and provide to the Atlanta community a one-day mass CPR training event," he added.

CPR Saturday is open to all metro Atlanta citizens age 13 and over. Persons interested in taking the free training will be able to pre-register by calling the CPR Saturday Hotline at 881-6667. Lines will be open from January 10 - 28, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Pre-registration by mail and walk-in registrants at sites the day of the event will also be accepted.

"The free Red Cross CPR course we're offering for this event is self-paced and most individuals can complete the workbook, practice sessions and instructor check-offs in three to four hours," Dr. Apple explained. "Sites will be organized, equipped and staffed by the Red Cross to enable training of thousands of Atlantans."

CPR provides artificial circulation and breathing to a person whose heart and lungs have stopped due to heart attack, electrical shock, drowning or other causes. The skill can often make the difference in a life-or-death emergency.

A steering committee comprised of volunteers and staff is spearheading the CPR Saturday project. Subcommittees will handle the numerous logistics involved in training 3,000 persons, including placement and training of volunteer instructors; facilities and equipment; manpower; registration and records; and promotion.

Red Cross volunteers serving on the committee are: David Traylor, logistics; Phil Cuthbertson, Clayton County site supervisor; Ernie McFadden, Cobb County site supervisor; George Brooks, DeKalb County site supervisor and representative; Pearl Wilder, Fulton County representative; Jeanne Lewis, Cobb County representative; and Pam Gillen, Georgia Business and Industry Association, promotion.

STUDENT DISCOUNT ATLANTA BALLET

The Atlanta Ballet is introducing a special discount rate to students of Georgia schools. Keeping Up With The Runnin' Hornets

By Tyrone P. Dean
Ray Morgan

GAME #16

For the second straight season the Panthers' Den at LaGrange College was no place for the Southern Tech 'Runnin' Hornets to go looking for a big GIAC and District 25 basketball victory. Last season on Feb. 10th a ten-game win streak came to a halt with a 63-62 loss at LaGrange and on Wed., Jan. 19th, the final results showed Coach Hugh Corless's talented Panthers on top by a 59-53 score. The win gave LaGrange a share of the GIAC lead and the loss dropped STI from second to fifth in the District 25 standings.

It started as a Joe Burgess vs. Jerome Woodyard contest with Burgess scoring Tech's first seven and Woodyard writing the Panthers' first six points in the book. A basket by Allen Payne posted a 9-8 Tech lead at the 14:56 mark. The Hornets, again playing 12 players to build squad depth taht will be so, so important at tournament time, went to a new five on the floor and LaGrange went on a four point mini-run to take a 12-9 lead at 12:32. At the break three Panthers had scored 26 points, led by Jeff Cotton's 12, and numerous Hornets had posted 25 points. A slow start to the second half would see an Allen Payne basket at 17:07 return the lead to STI at 27 to 26 but it would be the last advantage enjoyed by the Hornets. At the 15:12 mark the score was 30-29, LaGrange and the Hornets would not score again until Payne put home a short shot from the side at the 9:20 mark. In the close to six minutes in between STI would miss on ten straight two-point tries while the Panthers, paced by six from Woodyard, score ten straight streak from Tech and it was 40 to 35 at the 8:20 mark but a four minute cold spell and five unanswered markers by LC returned the margin to ten at 45-35 with 5:50 to play. The Hornets could get no closer than six points as the Panthers played it smart by slowing down the action and only some costly errors and poor shot selection by LaGrange would cut into the ten-point spread.

THE STING PAGE 10

The Panthers were led by All-American candidate Jeff Cotton, a 6-6 senior forward who was in the NAIA's top five scorers, with 19 points and 8 rebounds. Senior guard Jerome Woodyard, who hit some big buckets at the key stages, posted 18 and 6-5 senior forward Sam Cotton scored 12 key points on 6 of 8 floor shooting. Starting center Mitch Hanson rounded out the scoring with one point but added 8 rebounds. The Panthers used seven players with their two subs seeing just 11½ minutes action between them. For Southern Tech it would be Joe Burgess with 11, Jacobey Simmons had 10, and three players (Randy Ridley, Kenny Peterson, and Allen Payne) posted eight points each. Senior Joe Burgess collected 7 caroms. Team totals in the very good officiated game saw LaGrange with a .571% mark from the floor and a good .733 percentage at the line. Tech's totals were a .481 floor percentage and an ice cold .250% mark on 1 of 4 free throws. The rebounding was even at 26 for each team and turnover charts had STI with 13 and the Panthers with 10. LaGrange left with 8-5 overall and 5 and 1 conference mark. The Panthers would fall in overtime at the "Den" on Saturday night to North Georgia in a showdown for the GIAC lead. They'll visit the Hornets' Nest on Wed. Feb. 9th in a game they may reflect a great deal in the final outcome of the eight seeds for the District 25 Tournament on March 5, 7, 9.

GAME #17

Coach Stan Aldridge's Ga. College Colonials were playing some of the best basketball in District 25 in their recent outings and brought a three-game win streak into their Sat. night, Jan. 22nd game at the Hornets' Nest. Among those wins was a 123-100 victory over Flagler and a big 74-72 shocker over LaGrange on Jan. 17th in Milledgeville. They were led by the District's Player-of-the-Week in 6-4 junior guard Ronnie Sims who had burned LaGrange for 31 points. On this night Sims would score more than half his team's points with 29 markers off of 13 of 26 floor and 3 of 3 line shooting. It would be the lone bright spot for the visitors as Southern Tech shot a red-hot .577% in the first half and got even hotter for a .606% second half mark and took it going away with a 91-57 rout. STI never trailed in the game and got off to a 4-0 start. The Colonials closed to within two at 8-6 with 15:50 in the half but Tech went on a now familiar 10-2 run and it was 18-8 with 10:32 to the break. Four minutes later the lead was 16 points and it remained that way at the intermission with the score 44-28. The second section saw the benched cleared and STI outscore Ga. College 47 to 29 to take the 34-point win. The game was an error filled affair with 28 turnovers by the Colonials and 26 by STI. Percentages showed Tech with .593% from the floor and .636% on 21 of 33 free throws while Ga. College posted .394% field and .625% line marks on the night.

Tech led the rebounding 43 to 36 and placed 13 of their 14 players in the scoring column led by Joe Burgess with 11 and Allen Payne with 10. Five Hornets would add eight (Carter, Simmons, Williams, Walton and Ridley) and Walter Spearman scored 7 points. Hornet Career Highs were put on the books by junior guard Charlie Williams with 8 and junior guard E. J. Abood with 3 points including his first field goal in two years with Southern Tech. Williams passed out 6 assists and led the blocked shots area with two. For Ga. College it would be Ronnie Sims with his 29 and 6-5 freshman center Ken Burse scored 12 points. The Colonials fell to 8-11 overall but also dropped to 3-8 in the District which may well be hard to recover from and move up from their 9th place standing to get one of the eight tournament bids. Southern Tech travel to Milledgeville and the Williams Recreation Center for a return meeting on Sat., Feb. 12. Although the Colonials have never beaten Southern Tech in the NAIA Era (STI leads 12 to 0 in the series) the Hornets have barely escaped the Williams Center with their basketball lives several times via big comebacks. In other words, STI may well see a different Ga. College team on their own court.

Each team played two or more 15 min. games, the jamboree type competition is designed to help the teams organize and prepare for the season.

The regular season began on Tue., Jan. 11. The 15 team league is divided into five team conferences. The teams will face a 12 game schedule. During the season the teams will be striving to gain a birth in the eight team play-off bracket. The top two of each conference plus two wild card teams will fill the eight slots. The teams will be seeded by their overall records. Come out and watch. Game times are 6p.m., 7:15p.m. and 8:30p.m.

Take Charge At 22.

In most jobs, at 22 you're near the bottom of the ladder.

In the Navy, at 22 you can be a leader. After just 16 weeks of leadership training, you're an officer. You'll have the kind of job your education and training prepared you for, and the decision-making authority you need to make the most of it.

As a college graduate and officer candidate, your Navy training is geared to making you a leader. There is no boot camp. Instead, you receive professional training to help you build the technical and management skills you'll need as a Navy officer.

This training is designed to instill confidence by first-hand experience. You learn by doing. On your first sea tour, you're responsible for managing the work of up to 30 men and the care of sophisticated equipment worth millions of dollars.

It's a bigger challenge and a lot more responsibility than most corporations give you at 22. The rewards are bigger, too. There's a comprehensive package of benefits, including special duty pay. The starting salary is $17,000—more than most companies would pay you right out of college. After four years, with regular promotions and pay increases, your salary will have increased to as much as $31,000.

As a Navy officer, you grow, through new challenges, new tests of your skills, and new opportunities to advance your education, including the possibility of attending graduate school while you're in the Navy.

Don't just take a job. Become a Navy officer, and take charge. Even at 22.
