New Indoor Athletic Complex May be Enlarged by Olympics

The plans for Southern Tech's new outdoor and indoor recreation facilities are a plus for the Olympics. The college had a set of original plans drawn up for our new indoor athletic complex and for two consecutive years held a Capital Fund Campaign, raising money for it. The results were successful!

However, once the Olympics were announced to be in Atlanta, President Cheshier started meeting with the Atlanta Olympic Organizing Committee and Cobb County Government to offer our new complex as a practice facility or as a place to hold preliminary events.

Big problem though! Southern Tech's proposed facility was half the size it needed to be for the International Olympic Standards.

Back to the drawing board went Cheshier and his staff, and you are not going to believe the size of the gym now!!! A 50 meter Olympic-size pool, three full-size basketball courts with an elevated running track all the way around, two large weight rooms, a nurse's station, two racquet ball courts, aerobics and dance rooms, and more, all of which is INSIDE!

But this is not all, Cheshier met with the Board of Regents on April 10, 1991, to approve the new outdoor facilities, and if all goes well, construction definitely begins in one or two months. Southern Tech will have 10 new additional tennis courts, two soccer fields, four softball fields, and more!!!!

The money to build the outdoor facilities has been raised, but the college is continuing to raise money for our indoor complex. As a result, student athletic fees will raise after the building is built and the quest for donors is at large.

Cheshier states that, "Southern Tech will be involved in the 1996 Olympics one way or the other and we will likely hold practice and preliminary events." Cheshier hopes to break even with all financial problems this fall.

The additional money that is raised to build this project is hopefully going to be a contribution from the Olympics, considering that the new 50-meter indoor pool would be one of the only three that big in the greater-Atlanta area, and the new basketball court area would be the largest in greater Atlanta.

Southern Tech, and its students are going to have something to be proud of for a long time, as well as the students who attend.

The New Student Center Addition Is Still on the Way

By Marc Pruitt
High Velocity Chrome Pig

After several delays, it finally looks as though the new Student Center's ship may have come in. The $6.5 million for the new Center's construction was approved last March, however, construction was delayed due to the State's failure to sell the bonds necessary to raise the needed funds. Now, however, it appears that those funds have been obtained.

The bonds were to be sold on April 2. It is unknown if the bonds have definitely been sold, but as stated by Director of Student Activities Barry Birkhead, "If there had been a problem and the bonds were not sold, we would have heard about it."

Another positive sign is that a meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, April 17, during which representatives from the Student Center, the President's office, Plant Operations, and Food Services will discuss the phasing-in of the new addition and the old section's renovations.

The first step in the renovations will be the removal of asbestos from the old Student Center. While this asbestos does not pose a threat now, its removal will be a messy business, and will affect Student Center operations. This removal should take approximately three to four days and is planned to take place between Spring and Summer Quarter so that the Center will not be closed to students during classes.

The plans for the new addition must be reviewed and revised, and bids must be received and a contractor chosen before the addition's construction will begin. Hopefully, a contractor will have been chosen and the asbestos removed by August. The ground breaking for the new addition should be in September.

Some of the changes in the Student Center include the moving of Food Services (sometime this Summer) to the current location of the Counseling Center. The Counseling Center will be relocated upstairs in the rear of the current Student Center. It is planned that these moves will take place before construction so that Food Services will not be shut down for any long period of time. The Student Center should be fully accessible during the year and a half during which the addition will be under construction.

Once construction has begun and operations begin moving into the new section, the old section will temporarily shut down. During this time, any remaining asbestos will be removed and remodeling will be completed. Renovations will include moving the recreation area to the ballrooms, expansion of the Sting/Log office and a new video viewing area. The old section will also receive new paint and carpet.

New Leadership Vows Another Golden Age of CAB.

By Tony Perez
An Artificial Intelligence Break

The Southern Tech CAB has been turned over to a whole new cabinet. For the students who are new here at SCT, CAB is not the 24 hour Southern Tech Taxi Service. Instead, CAB, an acronym for Campus Activities Board, is an organization which provides and sponsors many of the events held on campus.

The new officers for this year are President Kashmira Mody, Vice-President Alicia Greathouse, and Secretary, Veronica Rush. The officers of CAB are appointed to the board rather than by the usual democratic election. Kashmira was interviewed for the office by the outgoing President Monique Laney. The new officers for this year were installed in Winter Quarter.

Kashmira Mody has been working with CAB since Fall Quarter. She was invited to the first meeting by a friend, and since then, she has been an active part of the organization. Kashmira is an Electrical Engineering major and she is currently in her Senior year.

Alicia Greathouse is a Mechanical Engineering major. She is a Junior and has been working with CAB for 2 years. She and Veronica

Here we have Kelly Hewitt and her Golden Girls, fearless fighters and hard industrious workers of the Campus Activities Board. They slave. They sweat. They drink beer after they finish their hard work because at that point it's Miller Time. - Photo by Bill Finnick

Rush are roommates and are working together to make this a good year in CAB. Veronica and Alicia first started into CAB by helping out with the Beach Party. Alicia is also a Junior and is majoring in Architecture.

Some of the events CAB has sponsored in the past are the Beach Party, Casino Night, Campus Happy Hour, the Bathtub Race, and, for the first time this year, the Halloween Party. They occasionally do service projects like bringing underprivileged kids to the basketball games and they are planning a Cobb Clean-Up. They also provide the CAB movies that run weekly on the big screen TV in the Student Center.

The CAB Organization is divided into several committees. The committees include Special Events, Lectures, Concerts, Movies, and Publicity. CAB has been on this campus since 1978 and is a successful force in student life. They are funded exclusively by the Student Activities fees.

One of the events that the new officers plan to introduce is Reggae Night which will come in May. According to Veronica, all but a couple of events received a successful turnout and they plan to keep these events going. They are always open for suggestions about new events. The suggestions must first be within the budget requirements. If they are economically possible, they are then submitted for a vote by the CAB members.

The Student Health Services Department will sponsor a campus Health Fair in the Student Center Ballroom and Conference Room "A" on Thursday, May 16, 1991 from 10:00 a.m. unto 3:00 p.m. All faculty, staff and students are invited to attend and take advantage of the free health screenings and the information provided by various organizations.

FREE TESTS INCLUDE:

- | | |
|--------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Teeth and mouth examined | Scoliosis(curvature of spine) |
| Diabetic screening | Body fat |
| Eye screening | Auditory screening |
| Pulmonary function | Blood pressure |

In addition, a cholesterol test will be conducted by Health Place for a minimal cost of $7.00.

Canned Food Drive

Southern Tech will soon be holding it's Food Stack Up contest on April 26 at 12:15 p.m. in the mall area around the flag pole. This event is a great way for all the student organizations to do something together and provide a much needed community service project for the hungry people in Cobb County.

All organizations who wish to participate need to give notification as soon as possible. You do this by simply calling Vicki Langston in Student Activities (528-7374) or Wade Leonard in the Baptist Student Center (428-0986). Whether you are going to participate or not, please notify us by April 19 so that we will be sure how many student organizations will be participating.

I hope your organization can participate. Remember, the winner gets $100.00 cash and a trophy while performing a great community service project. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to call.

Jr.s & Sr.s Help Teach Freshmen SCT 101

By Westly Hetrick
Return of the Assistant Editor

Almost a year ago interviews began to select a group of upperclassmen at Southern Tech to assist in teaching freshmen SCT 101 on a trial basis. Southern Tech was one of the first colleges in the nation to institute a program of this kind, and its great success has prompted the administration to offer the program again on a permanent basis. This means that the Peer Training Committee will soon be accepting applications for the fall training course.

The applicants who are accepted into the program will take part in a three-credit-hour course where professors teach students to teach students. The class will be offered by the Industrial Engineering Department and taught by Professors Jo Pevey and Jim McKee. The course will be supervised and co-ordinated by Kelly Hewitt and Leslie Schwartz. To be eligible, applicants must be of junior or senior status, have at least a 2.0 grade point average, pass an interview, and have been active in campus organizations and activities.

The peer trainers, as they are called, will meet together with Profs. Pevey and McKee in class twice a week to discuss what they will be teaching their freshmen the next week. In addition, the students will research and make presentations on topics relating to peer training, such as motivating others, effective communication, understanding the learning process, effective use of power and authority, multicultural understanding, and human relations. The idea behind the peer training course is to hone the students already existing teaching and leadership skills as well as to refresh the students familiarity with the SCT curriculum.

The purpose of the peer training program is the same as that of SCT 101: encourage freshmen to stay in college. The idea is to have the upperclassmen, or peer trainers, act as role models for the freshmen, as a liaison between the students and teachers, and share experiences and anecdotes to make the SCT 101 curriculum more relevant to the students. Professor Pevey hopes the peer facilitators will share with the students "their enthusiasm, their ideas, [and] their support." Prof. McKee added that he believes the peer trainers could give the freshmen "an appreciation for an education and what it will mean to them later on."

The idea to have other students supplement the regular teachers in a freshman "introduction to college" program is a relatively new one. According to Leslie Schwartz, when research was going on at this school to find other schools with a similar program "other schools were thinking about [this program]... but we could only find three or four that were doing it. So a lot of schools asked us to send them our information once we got our program off the ground." Since then, Leslie Schwartz, Kelly Hewitt, Prof. McKee, and two students, Kashmira Mody, and Wes Hetrick have traveled to the Freshman Year Experience conference at the University of South Carolina and presented a step by step seminar on how colleges can start a peer training program. Also, Ms. Schwartz and Hewitt have been approached about creating a textbook for peer trainers.

Help Teach SCT 101

Since SCT 101 is a liason between entering students and southern Tech, what better way to strengthen that bridge than through the assistance of peer facilitators. In that way, Freshmen will be linked, not only with a campus professional, but also with an upperclass student who will be qualified to advise, teach, and mentor.

To qualify, you MUST:

- Be a junior or senior
- Have at least a 2.0 GPA
- Possess good communications skills
- Have demonstrated campus leadership abilities, and
- Possess a strong desire to help others

Interested parties should contact Kelly Hewitt (Student Center; 528-7374) or Leslie Schwartz (Advising Center; 528-7456) before May 10.

Techfest Prepares to Stun Campus.

Press Release
Public Relation Department

Southern College of Technology's 5th annual TECHFEST is again celebrating the fun of technology and science.

TECHFEST is an annual family-style event for people of all ages, from the very young to older and more sophisticated guests. On Saturday, April 27 the Southern Tech campus will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. for a wide variety of technology-oriented demonstrations, exhibits, hands-on games and graphics—all "touching technology."

The festival is free of charge. TECHFEST has grown each year in both size and scope, and the 1991 festival promises to be the most diverse and entertaining yet. Having originated as an open house, TECHFEST started with exhibits and demonstrations by Southern Tech students and faculty. Over the years, corporate exhibitors and other organizations have joined the on-campus participants to show science and technology at home, in the workplace and in recreational activities.

Each year, as the sophistication and variety of exhibits has grown, so also has the scope of entertainment, food and fun, increasing the spirit of a festival throughout the campus. This spirit is further intensified by the participation of the Southern Tech International Student Association's festival of multi-cultural exhibits, an international luncheon buffet and an afternoon of international entertainment.

High tech words take on new meaning at TECHFEST. "Superconductivity" means more when objects actually levitate from the table and spin in air. "Real time processing" is demonstrated by a computer-controlled electric train.

"Robotics" is demonstrated by a computer-controlled machine that makes chess pieces without the touch of human hands. "Computer-friendly" means being able to personally play graphic games or see demonstrations of beautiful and highly sophisticated programs in computer in computer-aided design or mathematical fractals.

Lasers not only "read" compact discs, they transport the music across rooms on a beam of light. Those who want to watch TV at TECHFEST will find programs brought to them by Southern Tech's big dish antennae which picks up satellite transmission from outer space and brings it very much down to earth.

The art and science of architecture will excite budding young architects at "KinderCity" a Dick Blick Art Materials-sponsored "do-it-yourself building community."

A full day of entertainment ranges from the "roaring" technology of the Dixie Racing Club's radio-controlled cars, to the bouncing fun of a moon walk. Also planned are hot air balloon rides (weather permitting), dancers, bands, Stars of Atlanta, Marietta City Police's Robo Cop. International entertainment includes a Mid-Eastern band and belly dancer, a Chinese dance ensemble, Indian classical and Colombian folkloric dancers.

Plus a battle of the live-remotes between the perennial forces of broadcasting in Atlanta: WAPW-Power 99 "the challenger" and WGHR-Wooger 102.5 "the undisputed student radio station on campus."

Among the guest organizations demonstrating at TECHFEST this year are Panasonic, Dobbins Air Force Base, Southwire, IBM, Apple Incorporated, Atlanta Gas Light, Automated Logic, Lockheed Aeronautical Systems, Sportslife, American Institute of Architects/Atlanta Chapter, Georgia Youth Science & Technology Center and SciTrek.

Vyto Stoskus, Lithuanian Storyteller

Thursday, April 18 Noon Library Rotunda

Mr. Stoskus will share the story of his family's flight to freedom in World War II Europe, his personal experiences of growing up as a refugee and immigrant, and his insights into the politics, economics, and history of the Lithuanian confrontation with the U.S.S.R. Lithuanian handicrafts, traditional costumes, jewelry, maps, stamps, coins and greeting cards will be on display. (Free and open to the public.)

The Atlanta Shakespeare Company performs
"The Tragic Death of Hamlet and His Entire Family"

Wednesday, May 1 Noon Amphitheatre

A 20-minute "mini-epic" version of "The Tragic Death of Hamlet and His Entire Family" will be performed by the Atlanta Shakespeare Company. These "mini-epics" frequently precede the main production and are also performed annually at the Georgia Renaissance Festival. The Company moved into its own 165-seat tavern theatre earlier this year as the kickoff to its 12th season.

(Free and open to the public.)

Current Score: Elevators Two - Surfer Dudes Zero

College Press Service

An Indiana State University (ISU) student was killed March 20 while "elevator surfing," an activity that has become a fad on some college campuses in the last year.

Campus officials said they had no idea Michael John Deliduka, a 23-year-old junior from Shalimar, Fla., and other students had been riding on top of elevators for fun until Deliduka was killed.

"It was not known that he was engaged in this activity," said Martin Blank, ISU's director of public information.

In the activity, known as elevator surfing, students stand on the top of an elevator, and then ride up and down the shaft. Sometimes they may try to jump from the top of one elevator to another while they are passing each other.

Apparently Deliduka and three other young men used a coat hanger to trip the safety mechanism on the door, allowing access to the elevator shaft.

The four boarded one of the building's two elevators. As they rode, the other elevator became stuck.

Deliduka was trying to move from the working elevator to the stuck elevator when it started to move, pinning him between the elevator and the shaft wall.

Deliduka died instantly of positional asphyxia, according to Vigo County Coroner Rowland Kohr.

Kohr's report also revealed Deliduka had been drinking.

ISU officials are planning education programs to help prevent similar tragedies in the future.

"I think the incident alone will be education enough," Blank said.

The three students who "surfed" with Deliduka have been offered counseling, and will be brought in for interviews, Blank said. It is not known if they will be disciplined.

The ISU incident occurred one year and 10 days after the death of Joel Mangion, an 18-year-old student at the University of Massachusetts, in another elevator surfing accident.

Mangion fell 16 stories to his death while trying to jump from one elevator car to another.

UMass officials have since taken steps to make it difficult to get on top of elevator cabs in campus high-rise

Zip! Zoom! Boom! Bash! buildings, said Karin Sherbin, director of UMass's news office.

But, Sherbin added, the school can't guarantee an enterprising surfer could not breach its security measures. "The sad truth is that if somebody has a will, there's a way."

However there haven't been any reports of students elevator surfing since Mangion's death, Sherbin said.

"I would hope it was a lesson," she said.

Toy Soldiers About Anti-Social Kids Who Blow Away Terrorists

By Traci N. Trantum
Movie Reviewer

Toy Soldiers. An action adventure movie starring Sean Astin and Louis Gossett, Jr. Produced by Jack E. Freedman and Wayne S. Williams. Directed by Daniel Petrie, Jr.

Send a thief to catch a thief. Send a con-man to nail a con-man. Send a small bunch of mischievous, rejected flunkies to kill cold-hearted and sadistic terrorists. Am I trying to be funny? No, actually, I'm not, for I personally feel that if I were ever in trouble with terrorists, I'd want the mischievous-prankster type of person on my side! Like-thinkers should fight like-thinkers! Agree?

Why? Because that type of person is not limited by what society thinks and expects. He doesn't want to be stopped by anything or anyone who will halt his creativity or imagination (like in Dead Poets' Society). Imagination is greater and far better than intelligence, as they say, and in the imagination department, at least, we know that the prankster type person is not exactly lacking!

Sean Astin (Patty Duke Astin's son) plays an excellent part as the leader of the gang of creative thinkers in this movie, and a few other well-knowns play their parts superbly, also.

Does anyone have a problem with the title? I liked it because I tried to read into the meaning, and I came up with two possible solutions for the reasons for it. 1.) The word "toy" represents the youth of the attempted-to-be heroes in this movie. They are not men, but boys. Yet, they are willing to act like brave fighters and soldiers who are men. 2.) Another reason is the irony in the fact that most people do not see "Toy Soldiers" as objects that are potentially harmful. Ha! Huh? Guess again!

The movie is believable, even though some who see it may have their doubts. In my opinion, "mess-ups" sometimes are the best ones to get a job such as the one in the movie, done. Adults tend to be limited by numerous factors, as well as a willingness to be limited. In quick retrospect, these factors are the adult's experience, knowledge,

Our movie review on Toy Soldiers is so completely incomprehensible that we thought a picture caption making sense would not be in form. So here goes. The evil students from the planet Bleorg plan to launch another space-craft in order to catch that crafty basketball used by the Southern Tech Hornets.

and a realization of the seriousness of the situation at hand and all the dangers involved. Therefore, they do not act.

But, boys of the caliber mentioned are the best because they will not try to think things through that deeply. Therefore, they will have the guts, craftiness, and a willingness to be ignorant to the dangers involved in order to get the job done and lives saved. Therefore, they do act.

Trying not to tell much more than the preview, but dwelling on the concepts only, I will add one point. People of power really should try not to exercise their authority all of the time. Honestly. People who are placed in a "top-dog" position should realize that there are certain situations in which rules shouldn't be followed. Off the top of my head, for example, how about in the case of a "terrorist holding hostages" situation? The "Butt-in" authoritative people in this movie almost caused lives to be lost. And also, the best people for a war of any kind are not the political people way on the sidelines but the people who are actually involved.

Critics of all kinds should be asked one question only; "Did you like it?" In any case, if a person likes something, he will do everything in his power to upgrade it and see all the good he can in it. And vice-versa. Eye-of-the-beholder type of thing.

I will be honest and say that I judged a book by its cover. I went into the movie having already liked the preview. I knew it was my style of movie. However, in the case of this movie, even if I had gone into the movie as skeptic, a doubter, or with a negative prejudged notion, that all would have been eliminated in about two seconds flat.

I was kept on the edge of my seat throughout the entire movie, with no desires for it to end. In fact, after the movie was over, no one was in a mad rush to leave. Not a soul wanted it to end, I could sense it, and neither did I. In fact, I kept on thinking about it long after the movie was through. Would I recommend this movie to my Southern Tech peers? You bet!!!

Tiny Italian Kitchen Has Big Deals

By Jennifer Bige
Staff Connoisseur

Well students, with this issue of The Sting came a new editor, Bill Finnick. Finnick being the fine person he is, gave me and my friend Clay Worley the opportunity to go to lunch on him (or actually on the Sting). Our mission was to seek out the Italian Kitchen, eat, be merry and then tell you out in reader land what we discovered.

First, let me take the opportunity to tell you some of their specials. They are lasagne on Monday and Tuesday and pasta supreme (spiral noodles, cheese and your choice of chicken, mushroom or Italian sausage) on Wednesday and Thursday. Both these two specials are $3.80. Other lunch specials include a combination sandwich, spaghetti, salad and drink for $4.69, a two-topping six inch pizza, salad and drink for $3.95 and a sandwich, salad and drink combination also for $3.95.

Besides these dishes, they offer a variety of salads and sandwiches. Their pasta dishes allow you to decide if you want meat balls, sausage, mushrooms or the like. If you are a vegetarian or just don't like eating red meat too often then go up there and try something the way you want it. They have a great deals on their pizzas, one of which is to allow you to pick eleven toppings for $8.60 on a small to $11.35 for the large. They also offer wine, beer or soft drinks.

When we arrived at nearly 2:00 the restaurant was nearly full. Mr. Worley ordered the lasagne special while I ordered the pasta supreme with mushrooms. It took about 20 minutes for our meals to get to the table. We felt this was exceptionally quick turn-around time. When the meals arrived they were piping hot, the cheese was melted and they also included garlic bread. They were pleasant in appearance. My meal was very cheesy and lightly seasoned. I couldn't imagine eating this dish with chicken, but next time I would like to try the sausage pasta supreme. Clay's lasagne was also HOT. In fact the meals must have been straight from the oven because we had to talk for a while to let them cool before eating. Clay said his meal was a bit over cooked. Other than that tasty, no doubt. The only other thing I want to note is that we had to go get our own refill on tea and no one came out to see if we liked the food. Other than this our meals were enjoyable.

This is the second time I have been to the Italian Kitchen and one thing I like is the decor. It has wrought iron on the booths, the lighting is dimmed, the tables have their own napkin dispensers and Parmesan cheese, salt, pepper and red peppers. It is also a small restaurant that is not too far from campus if you want to have a semi-private lunch that even really tastes home made.

This eating establishment is located at 995 Roswell Street. That is left at the Big Chicken and then on the left after Los Reyes. You can call in take-out orders (at 427-0220) or eat in. Their prices are basically $6.00 and less. Sandwiches and/or lunch specials can be bought for under $5.00 making it reasonable for the average budgeted student.

Gareth: Music, Movies & More

By Gareth Williams
Can Lick His Eyebrows

After having to listen to the 90 percent of things that arrive at WGHR that would have been better off staying at the record companies, a few really righteous ten percenters of greatness have been uncovered.

Among these would be the new Material Issue live CD Diane. Some of these songs have already been released on the International Pop Overthrow album, but are considerably different (and more to my liking). One of the new songs is "The Cowboy Song" and really gives a clue to how dynamic this band can get. The live version of "Valerie Loves Me" is definitely not to be missed. Just in case you missed the album, the sound of this band is a good mixture of old and new. This three-piece band from Chicago has that crisp, clean, unencumbered sound that I have been missing for too long.

Among some of our other cool recent arrivals is Pioughd, pronounced "pee-owed" from the Butthole Surfers, who change their musical style on each album they release, but just seem to keep getting better and better. The song to listen for is "Hurdy Gurdy Man," which ends up being almost danceable. Look at the song numbers on the back of the CD to assure yourself confusion, and even if you don't like the music on the album, the back cover is one of the coolest things ever created.

Looking on the back cover of the debut release from the Cadillac

Tramps, there is a picture of what looks like Los Lobos hanging out with Suicidal Tendencies, and even more amazing is the fact that this band sounds a lot like this strange union. This is one of the bands that will define the new Los Angeles sound for a while. My personal favorite on this shiny little disc is "Fightin' Machine," fast and furious. Most of the songs on this album are in this style but a few slower songs really let you know that these guys are both talented and really enjoying themselves. The album is self titled and the song "Caddillac Tramps" will give you a little peek into their heads and let you see where they are coming from.

Phranc has a pretty recent album out, and not quite as recent but definitely worth mentioning is the new release from Two Nice Girls. The band that brought you "I Spent My Last Ten Dollars On Birth Control and Beer" now brings you "The Queer Song" on their new album Chloe Liked Olivia. Chagall Gueverra is another band to take a look at.

On the live side, a few good local bands to check out would be Five-Eight and The La Brea Stompers, a pair of bands from Athens who give every last ounce of energy to a crowd every time they play.

Math Stinger

By Dr. Joel C. Fowler
Assistant Professor of Mathematics

No solutions to last issue's puzzle were received. I will restate that puzzle and leave it open for more work as well as give a new puzzle for this issue.

The puzzle from last quarter involved finding a sequence of eight numbers that describes itself in the following way. You are to find eight numbers: $n_0, n_1, n_2, n_3, n_4, n_5, n_6, n_7$ with the property that:

n_0 = the number of times 0 appears in the sequence,

n_1 = the number of times 1 appears in the sequence,

n_2 = the number of times 2 appears in the sequence, and so on.

The new puzzle for this issue is as follows. Two cars face each other 250 miles apart on a straight road. They begin driving toward each other at the same instant. The first goes 40 mph while the second goes 30 mph. At the instant they begin a fly on the bumper of the first car takes off and flies straight toward the second car at 100 mph. As soon as the fly touches the bumper of the second car it turns around (with no loss of time) and flies back to the first. When it touches the first bumper it turns around again and flies back to the second. It continues to fly back and forth, covering shorter and shorter distances as the cars approach each other, until it is crushed between them. The problem is to determine exactly how much distance the fly covers.

All answers should be sent to Joel Fowler in the Mathematics Department. Correct answers and the names of the first to find them will be announced in the next issue of The Sting.

The Royal Family

An American couple was visiting an Eastern European country. While they were waiting at the border, they were talking to three soldiers who knew some English. The soldiers were trying to explain why one of the historical royal lines had died out.

The first soldier explains. "The queen, she was unbearable."

The second soldier interrupts. "No, no. Please excuse. My friend does not speak English good. The queen, she was inconceivable."

The third soldier cannot contain himself and has to say "No, no, NO! Please excuse my friends. Their English is not very well. They mean the queen, she was impregnable."

Daddy, you're not a fool to cry - Just Terribly Confused

"Rolling stone guitarist Bill Wyman, 52, married his teen-age sweetheart, Mandy Smith, 19, in a secret ceremony in Bury St. Edmunds, England, yesterday." - The New York Post, June 3, 1989.

"And because we don't like to leave any Stone unturned, we thought you should also know that Mandy [Smith]'s 40 year-old mom, Patsy, is now dating Wyman's 28-year-old boy, Stephen." - The Daily News, April 21, 1989.

Mandy is now Stephen's stepmother, and Patsy is Bill's mother-in-law.

If Stephen and Patsy marry, Mandy will be her own mother's stepmother-in-law. Mandy's stepson, Stephen, will also be her stepfather. Stephen will be his own father's stepfather-in-law. Patsy, Bill's mother-in-law, will also be his daughter-in-law. Moreover, Stephen and Patsy would be step-grandson and step-grandmother as well as husband and wife.

If Bill and Mandy have a baby - a girl, let's say - the baby will be Patsy's granddaughter AND her sister-in-law. The baby will be Stephen's half-sister AND his step-granddaughter.

If Stephen and Patsy have a baby - a boy, let's say - the baby will be Mandy's half-brother AND her step-grandson. The baby will be Bill's grandson AND his brother-in-law.

Bill and Mandy's daughter will be Stephen and Patsy's son's half-aunt AND his niece.

ASCE

By Chris Semcer

What a year this has been! Forty-five (give or take a few) dedicated Southern Tech Civil students focused on making a name for ourselves and our college, focused on surpassing last year's victories, and focused on leaving all competitors hung out to dry.

The 1991 school year was SCT's first offering of the concrete canoe class, designed to give us a running start towards a victory in the ASCE Southeast Conference. Our '91 concrete canoe promised to be the quickest, slipperiest canoe of "that grey stuff" ever to hit water.

The '91 steel bridge class solidified a tradition of ingenuity and hard work. This year's bridge was funded by the sale of the '88 Award-winning bridge to Canton Hills, and the generous donations of materials, space, and money by Bolt & Nut, Tull Metals, Mechadyne Machine, and Autocolor. Other competitive ASCE efforts include "The Rocket Banner," a mighty concrete cylinder, our eagle-eyed surveyors, and the dangerous but lightweight balsa wood bridge.

Scandal rocked the hallowed grounds of our officer cadre in 1991. Roger Williams' doubly alleged misconduct at Fairlanes Bowling caused him to drop out of not only the Vice-Presidency, but also SCT altogether. It was rumored that he now teaches martial arts and basic knitting to the less fortunate. Quick to recoup its loss, the ASCE elected Craig Martin, a stalwart conservative, to the post. Remarkably, officers Mark Braswell and Chris Semler stood their posts throughout the storm and lived to tell.

Several speakers graced us with their time in '91. Among them were David Lilly on the rescue of baby Jessica, Mike Mahood of Master Builders on high strength concrete, and Jim Fincher on forensic engineering.

Victory was the word of the week during spring break at the ASCE Southeast Regional Conference and Steel Bridge Competition. Continuing our winning streak, Southern Tech thrashed our competition by winning the Steel Bridge Competition in the Aesthetics, Deflection, and Overall Categories. Southern Tech also won third place in the Concrete Canoe Overall, tops in the Concrete Canoe Men's Sprints, and second place in the mystery competition. Unofficially speaking, Southern Tech also won the coveted Loudest Party and Most People thrown in the pool awards.

And so concludes another year of ASCE competition, but look for us next year when we take the whole Region by storm.

Well I'm back and it looks like it's time for me to get back up on my soapbox again and let you know what is happening in the wild and woolly world of Lambda Chi.

First off, give the fellows a round of applause for their performance, not to mention their 2nd place standing, in floor hockey. Congratulations! The Lamb Chops are also gearing up for the Spring games with Softball and Volleyball starting on April 22nd. We'll be sure to kick some ass and take some names. We've also got good old Greek Week peeking around the corner where we're bound to cause some trouble.

April 19 is the date for our next jamming party. The First Annual Dad-Blasted Daiquiri Desecration is going to turn quite a few heads. To all the ladies with invites, we're looking forward to seeing you there.

With the approach of May we're also looking forward to our 16th Annual White Rose Formal to be held at Cohutta Lodge in Chattsworth, Georgia. With all the planning and effort brother Joe Benoit and his committee have put into it, we're sure the Formal will be every bit as successful as the our past formals.

Well I guess that will do it for my lecture time. Until the next issue keep up the hard work and everything will fall into place. Later.

Welcome back! I hope everyone had a good Spring Break. Well, this quarter has started and it looks as if it is going to be a busy one for Alpha Delta Pi.

Socially, this quarter we've got our formal, Black Diamond Ball, and a social with Pi Kapps and possibly Sigma Nu. Also we have Parent's Day coming on April 20.

Congratulations go out to some of our alumna that have gotten married recently. Included is Jodi Elliott Morgan and Keri Pierce Mottla. You girls were beautiful!! Best of luck to you and your new husbands.

Well, it's time to go. Class is over for the day and I've got to meet my study group, yeah that's it, at the pool before the sun starts to set!! See ya!

were "has anyone seen my drivers license" SRB and Dave Nelson. "I'm not drunk" John Witzigreuter and Stacy Johnson. "you'd fall in love and I'd fall asleep" Christy Conkwright.

This quarter the Pi Kapps are looking forward to another fabulous social calendar. Including: the soon to be famous ΑΔΠΚΘΛΥΑΥ. The 1st annual ΠΚΘ/ΣΝ island party, and the Egyptian Style Blowout.

I would like to welcome our new brothers Mike Eleser, Jason Hodges, Lance Williford, Heath Sagan, and Ben McCarty. Congratulations and I hope you get as much out of being a brother as I have. Good Luck to you all.

Here is the thought of the Archon. This time Archon Turner's thought is "He who drops the ball. Fails at all".

I would like to retract the statement made by brother Carter last quarter. This comment was put in the article due to my ignorance. I apologize to those who took this as an attack. This was not an attack and I take full heat for this comment.

Well that is it and I'm out of here. Till next time remember "Nothing shall ever tear us under."

Hi all you cosmic guys and gals!! Well Spring rush has Begun. We would like to invite all the girls on campus to build a future on the firm rocks of GAMMA PHIBETA. To all the girls that have attended our rush functions, we are very pleased that you have shown an interest in our organization and hope that you will deeply consider joining our sisterhood.

Last week the Gamma Phi's embarked on the traditional fun in the sunpring Break adventure. When I say "WET," you say "WILD," "WET and WILD," and that's just how it was. The trip has proven that all the Gamma Phi's are true Gu Fu's. From Tomado's guiding on the beach (may we never get to the car) to the squashed cooler, OOPS!! Sorry Witz!! There was nonstop partying and fun thankz to all the Pi Kapp's. WOOOSON!!! Get you some (sun that is)!

I would also like to congratulate our newest sisters: Jenny Carver, Bess Knight, Linda Stanley, Christina Via, and Jill Woolridge. May the sisterhood live up to their expectations and may they all grow in our circle of true friendship.

Turbo Jules and Toastie signing off. Whaba, Whaba, Whaba, Peace, Partyin, and P.C.

pilsners, we will all go east and donate our left over money (it was the thought that counts) to a Lizzard that doesn't have scales so he can escape from the cage.

Now here is Doc's thought for the week, "Live life to its fullest, for tomorrow there may not be any more of that Colorado Crystal Spring Water."

A special thanks to all of the fraters and women who cleaned up our officially adopted highway, Excellent Job!!! As for Greek Week, We've got the most craziest, ambitious, psyched, pumped up, BIGGEST DAMN TROPHY FOR GOAT NIGHT THAT YOU HAVE EVER SEEN IN THE ENTIRE UNIVERSE craving, group of maniacs ready to go! SO BEWARE. A final saftey word from our favorite mexican Burritto Suave and Tracker Bob "Drive carefully and wear your saftey belt!"

The Pi Kapps invaded P.C. for spring break with special guests including Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Delta Pi, and Sigma Nu. The trip started off Saturday morning with Stacy and Kara assaulting an unknown armed man with bright red finger nails, especially the middle one. Needless to say the windows were rolled up and the doors were locked.

Kevin Norton, Mark Gravely, and crew were introduced to the crab-like people. The zoo crew, Ben McCarty and company rented out La Vela for the week. They lost their damage deposit, I heard it was because of empty buckets.

All The Fraters of Xi Chi Chapter would like to welcome everyone back from Spring Break. We are looking forward to a very busy quarter. To start our round of events, the Fraters are going to find "Busch in the Bushes," or something like that.

Our sporting team is also going to be off to a hell of a season. The TEKE softball team, led by Hop Along Kittrell, will dominate the diamond as usual. TKE is also looking forward to our annual BEACHTRIP which will be May 3rd - 5th. There is no word that can describe the terror of an empty tin barrell below the sand. High scroll, bring your shovels! Well, we're into the start of Spring Quarter and you know what that means! Since you know already, I'll discuss other important things.

First off, the WGHR pictures for the next LOG will be taken at the station this Thursday, April 18. All DJ's and staff who wish to be in the pictures should be in the station at 12:30. Also, our broadcast of the science fiction, comedy, action-adventure series RUBY 3 has been delayed due to postal transportation improbabilities. Fliers will be posted around campus when a definite start-up date is known.

We will also be having a WGHR benefit concert next month at the Masquerade with lots o' hip 'n' swingin' local bands! Hopefully, a definite date for this show will be available in the next issue of The Sting.

For those of you who may wish to become a DJ, we still have lots o' weekend spots open. Weekday time slots, however, are pretty darn full. But don't worry- if you can't be a DJ, you can be a listener! Our request line is 528-7300 and we regularly have ticket and record give-aways! Gee wiz Golly! Well, I better quit now, I'm just getting too damn excited.

Spring Quarter Intramurals Rock Campus Most Heavily

Staff Writer

It's spring time again. This of course means playing sports outside. In the Recreational Sports department, there are a number of sporting events happening this quarter. The sporting events are Aerobics, Sand Volleyball, Tennis Singles, Tug O' War, Sports Trivia Game, Golf, Whitewater Rafting, Wiffle Ball and Softball.

Aerobics will be on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5:30 - 6:45. It will be held on the upper level of the gymnasium; the classes begin on Wednesday, April 10. There is also an afternoon aerobics class in the planning stages. If interested, look around campus in the following weeks for more information.

Sand Volleyball is one of the hottest sports being offered this quarter. There are going to be 2 leagues: an afternoon league and an evening league. The games will be played between the dorms. Entries are opened from April 10 until the day of the entry meeting.

Also being played this spring is Tennis Singles. Players are responsible for setting up the time for the games with other players. Games will be played on Southern Tech's tennis courts next to the gym. Sign-up continues from April 17 to April 24.

Not very much is known about Tug O' War and the Sports Trivia Game. Entries open for Tug O' War on April 24 and close May 1. Entries for Sports Trivia are open on May 9 until May 16.

Golf is one of the most popular sports of the quarter. It's played on a nearby golf course, and one round is played. Entries are open May 22 until May 28.

Whitewater Rafting will be done on the Ocoee River. June 9 is the tentative date of this event. Anyone interested should sign up as soon as possible. Spaces are limited and not many are remaining.

Wiffle Ball is a new but very interesting sport. It is very similar to baseball; however, a plastic ball and bat are used. The ball can be thrown to curve many different ways. The game is fun and very challenging. Entries are open from May 1 to the 8.

Last but not least is the biggest sport during Spring quarter: Softball. Similar to last year's season, there will be a women's and men's league. Last year there were only 2 women's teams. This year, there should be an improvement in that department. In the men's league, Pi Kappa Phi will be defending their championship. They have won for the last 2 seasons. Entries open on April 10 until the day of the entry meeting. Each team is responsible for having 2 officials.

This concludes the sporting events for Spring Quarter 1991. Anyone having questions should call Karl Staber, the Director of Recreational Sports, at 528-7349. If you are unable to call, visit the Recreational Sports office down in the gymnasium.
