Gripes! Gripes! Gripes!

It is a characteristic of many of us to complain about the condition of things, but not to do anything about them. Obviously, it is much easier to gripe about a situation than it is to improve or correct it. Many of us adopt the attitude, "But what can I do about it", or "it wouldn't do any good anyhow". If you're not willing to at least try and do something about what you're griping about then you ought to clam up and save your opinions for your last will and testament or for mumbling in your sleep.

I've heard many people complain about the lack of anything to do at STI on weekends. True enough, much of the time there isn't a lot happening here, but what are YOU doing to change this? Some of the Frats, clubs, or just private groups should get on the stick and get something going around here!

Good Grief!

It seems that EIXX thinks that its a good idea to send their lipstick-coated pledges up to Roswell Street and let them bother girls and raise hell. There are many people that do not agree with them. Southern Tech needs to communicate with the general public, but not in this way.

Try Again

There was a misprint in this column last issue . . . Richard Shaw was elected Freshman Vice President, not President.

Our Image

Our image, the Southern Tech image, is suffering from lack of exposure! The majority of the people of Marietta know that we as a school exist, but that is literally all they know about us. The misconceptions regarding various aspects of STI are varied and far too numerous. Some people believe that we have only two or three hundred students and a couple of class rooms. Many think that STI is more of a trade school than the technical college it is. No matter what misconceptions people have concerning Southern Tech, they have one thing in common, and that is that they are either uninformed or misinformed. Every student at STI could help improve this situation by correctly informing people about STI whenever the opportunity presents itself.

Technician's Day

Next quarter we are having Technician's Day. It will be on the 25th, the last Sunday in April. This will present an excellent opportunity to familiarize the general public with STI.

Something For Everyone

In case you find mistakes in this paper, please consider that they were put there on purpose. We publish something for everyone and some people are always looking for mistakes.

Run-Off Election Decides Class Officers

J. Dennis Daniel was elected vice-president of the senior class in the February 17 run-off. He defeated Charles E. Lee (GET) from Long Bottom, Ohio, in a close race. Being an honor student, Daniel belongs to Tau Alpha Pi. Alpha Beta Sigma is also another fraternity of which he is a member. He resides with his family in Atlanta.

In an interview Daniel said that he would like to see the area behind Building # 2 turned into a new parking lot. It would greatly decrease the parking problem that occurs each day at STI.

Stephen D. Boswell, Daniel's running mate and also from the Architecture department, won the senior presidency in the regular election. Boswell is from Chamblee, Georgia.

Members of the freshman class had to elect both of its officers in the run-off election.

Rodney A. Morgan of the Electrical Department was chosen president. He comes to STI from Kennewick, Georgia. Morgan is a member of Epsilon Pi Chi.

"More school spirit and interest in school affairs, Technician's Day, for instance, is what I'd like to see," said Morgan. He said that more student representation is his main goal. Rodney's opponent in the election was James Tyson of the Architecture department. Tyson, a member of Alpha Beta Sigma, is from Atlanta.

In the race for vice-president, Richard W. (Rick) Shaw was the freshman choice. Shaw, also from the Architecture department, hails from Georgia's "port city," Savannah. Besides being an active member of the STI Geechees, Shaw is also associate editor of the Engineering Technician.

Being a direct representative between student and faculty heads Shaw's list of things to be accomplished. He also wants to help promote more interest in school athletic events, both intercollegiate and intramural.

Mickey G. Chadwick of Jesup, Georgia, was Rick's opponent in the election. Chadwick is a member of Civil's Sigma Chi Tau.

According to senior vice-president Daniel, in order for each officer to represent his class to the fullest extent, a student should feel free to speak to his officer. Any student who cannot confer with his officer personally may contact him via that officer's mail box.

Seniors may reach President Boswell at Box 8082 and Vice-president Daniel at Box 8118. Freshmen should contact President Morgan through Box 8183 and Vice-President Shaw through Box 8792.

Miss STI—Miss Sue Griffiths—on campus on a rainy day in February.

Miss STI Of 1965 Visits Southern Tech For Campus Tour

Miss Sue Griffiths, the new Miss Southern Tech of 1965, visited the STI campus on Wednesday, February 17. Miss Griffiths, who is from Tucker, Georgia, was guided on the tour by Southern Tech Director Hoyt McClure. Professor M. E. Blair, faculty adviser for the Log, and T. R. McClure, adviser for the school newspaper, assisted in the tour.

The president of the senior class—Stephen D. Boswell—brought Miss Southern Tech to the campus. Boswell had escorted her to the Valentine Dance on February 13, where she was selected and crowned as Miss Southern Tech.

In an interview after the tour Miss Griffiths remarked, "I really enjoyed the tour. Your campus is so beautiful and modern." She also added that she hoped to represent Southern Tech at many of its functions and that she wanted to do a good job at her new position.

Miss Griffiths toured all of the campus buildings. Director McClure guided her through many of the labs where she was shown examples of student work. She visited several classrooms, along with the television rooms in Building 3.

During her tour, R. G. Scritchfield, member of Alpha Beta Sigma, gave Miss Griffiths college mementos, including a Southern Tech gown, a pennant, and car decals. Scritchfield was dance chairman for Alpha Beta Sigma, sponsor of the Dance and Miss STI Contest.

Miss Southern Tech is a coed at DeKalb Junior College.

STI Profs To Return To India

A group of Southern Tech professors has again been honored by a request to travel to India during the summer to serve there as American Technical Consultants.

Assistant Professor Herb Eller, Industrial Department has been selected to head the group. Eller participated in a summer institute in India last year.

Also returning to India again this year is Associate Professor Ralph Youngblood, Chemistry — Physics Department.

Assistant Professor E. T. Fowler, Civil Department, and Instructor James Keen, III, will go as consultants for the first time. Keen is a member of the Industrial Department.

The group will leave sometime in late May and return in the late summer. Members of the group have the opportunity to travel on their own after completing their duties in India.

Newly Elected Members Of Student Council To Take Office In Spring

In a sparse turnout of voters, on February 10, Southern Tech elected a new Student Council for the spring and summer quarters. Although all departments did not nominate their allotted two students representatives, the following students will represent various campus departments: senior class members—Tim Matthews (ACET), from Decatur; William L. Little (AET), from Meigs, Georgia; John Kamps (GET), from Ripon, California; Phil Garnto (CET), from Tennille, Georgia, resigned in favor of Jimmy Toole of Columbus, Georgia.

The freshman class elected Mickey Chadwick (CET), of Jesup, Georgia; James Barre (EET), of Marietta;

Greg Kane (GET), of Larrelton, New York. Lauren Barrett was appointed freshman representative from the Architectural Department.

Vacant positions on the Student Council to be filled by early spring quarter are these: Air Conditioning Department, a freshman representative; Electrical Department, a senior representative; Industrial, Mechanical, and Textile Departments, both freshman and senior representatives. These vacancies will be filled by the respective department heads, according to Dean Cyrus Maddox.

Student Council officers will be chosen during the Council's first spring quarter meeting.

Living Expenses For New Dorm Are Announced

The Southern Tech Treasurer's office has announced the quarterly room and board costs for living in the new dormitory.

Students will be charged $105 per quarter for room; two students will be assigned to each room.

Meal tickets will cost $125 for a five-day week and $140 for a six-day week. No meals will be served in the dormitory cafeteria on Sundays.

The new dormitory will house some 185-187 students.

Southern Tech officials have stated that final inspection of the dormitory will occur this week to determine its readiness for occupancy by the beginning of the spring quarter.

Staff Comments

HAIL AND FAREWELL!

A number of Southern Tech students will be saying farewell and probably good riddance to the old dorms — the cardboard palace, etc., as some say—after this quarter is over. The new dormitory, with its up-to-date conveniences, is really a great step forward for Southern Tech. Aside from the apparent benefits of adequate housing (for a few), other advantages exist, though perhaps unseen: many potential students have turned thumbs down on Southern Tech because of the old dorms; now they may stay around. Students living in the dorms won't have as far to go in that cold, winter wind now either. It is a pretty good feeling just knowing that the dorm is there. It's one more step into the big time.

LEND SUPPORT TO STUDENT COUNCIL

We here at STI have a student council. Their meetings are held every 1st and 3rd Thursdays. Make it a point to find out what they propose and what they do. Find out who your representative is and put him to work. Make your student council an active one.

DEPARTMENT HEADS MUST CHOOSE COUNCIL MEMBERS

Several department heads must soon choose students to fill positions left vacant in the Student Council. We hope that they will soon do so and that they will not leave it up to departmental clubs, who are probably the causes of the vacant positions in the first place.

PREPARATION FOR TECHNICIAN'S DAY

Technician's Day will soon be here. We hope that all persons responsible for some part of the program are well on their way toward completion of the task. The day could be a big push toward the much-needed publicity of STI.

A CREATURE IN THE SUGGESTION BOX

If you haven't found our suggestion box yet, look around! The last time that we saw it, it was in Building 3. If the snack bar people haven't swooped it up or the janitor's swept it away, it's still there. It's pink. If you put anything in it, don't stick your fingers in too far—we keep a. d. monishment in it, and he bites.

THE APRIL FOOL'S EDITION

On April 1—too soon for everyone to have recovered from the holidays—we will come out with the April Fool's Edition—a work of art if we ever saw one. It will surely be a collector's item. It will be good for lining one side of your garbage can, for placing in front of your front door in bad weather, etc. It will be of the finest tissue . . . only watch it—the ink runs.

AH! THE NEW MISS STI!

It's very easy to pat ourselves on the back for nominating such an attractive Miss Southern Tech, formerly Miss Engineering Technician, but we can't help it. She IS attractive and we hope that she will be a good representative. She is off to a good start, having toured the campus and appeared for a radio interview already.

We thank her for her interest in Southern Tech. For those who did not get a chance to see her on campus—we hope to bring her back again in the spring.

SUSPICIONS CONFIRMED?

Spring is almost here, and a great mystery waits to be solved: Will our suspicions be confirmed? Will our campus trees and shrubs be mostly dead?

THE TIME OF EXAM TAKING

Exam time is again upon us. It is the time of great importance, the time of great rationalization. How many times have we said, "Well, if I don't know it now, I never will."? While it IS rationalization, it is probably true.

STI Students Take Up Kite-Flying Fad

By Rick Shaw

In 1958, twenty UCLA students packed themselves into a Volkswagen. The same year ten University of Indiana students crowded into a telephone booth. Six University of South Carolina students pushed a wheeled-bed 300 miles in 1962. Since that time college students have ridden in dryers, stacked beer cans stories high, driven autos several miles in reverse, assembled cars on tops of buildings, and done many various and sundry stunts. The new fad nowadays is flying kites.

Several weeks ago—on March 4, to be exact—four STI students decided to try their luck at kite flying. The students, Toy Hill (MET), Michael Stowe (IET), Don Vincent (IET), and Bill Whitted (EET), gathered their funds and bought two kites and several thousand feet of string. By 3:00 p.m. the first craft was airborne. Later, an attempt to attach the second kite to the first ended in disaster as the second plunged helplessly into obliteration. Meanwhile the first climbed, leveled out, and gained distance. The craft attained an estimated altitude of 500 feet (estimated in comparison with local transmitting tower) and was attached to 5500 feet of nylon cord. More cord was about to be added, but the connecting line snagged the gutter on one of the apartment buildings, bringing the successful flight to a shattering end.

The feat was witnessed by many residents of Magnolia Manor, where the boys' reside.

According to a spokesman of the group, the boys may try for an endurance record with their kite.

The boys should be congratulated as their kite out-distanced that of another area college student by more than 200 feet.

This could be a world's record. How about that sport's fans?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I realize that the extra-curricular activity of card playing is enjoying tremendous popularity on the Southern Tech campus. In fact it is so popular that the administration has had to issue a proclamation about the card players hogging all the space in the snack bar during busy hours.

But one does not need to look only in the snack bar for the card players—they are in the lobby of Building 2, in the library (in the late afternoon), in Building 5, and in many classrooms in almost every building on campus.

I am not saying that card playing itself is bad; I would rather say that this enormous time spent by a great number of the student body could perhaps be better spent. I'm sure that students need some sort of relaxation; but is every "off" hour to be spent in this activity?

I am sure that many of the students spending so much time playing cards are hurting their opportunity for good grades.

It doesn't look so good for visitors to come through the lobby of Building 2 and to see three or four circles of card players (and this has happened). But aside from the negative impressions which this makes, the main thing is that a lot of students could be helping their grades rather than their card-playing ability.

NAME WITHHELD

Dear Editor:

I have noticed our high school heroes on the STI campus again. Now that the Spring weather is coming, why don't the high school jackets be put up and never worn on the STI campus again. In all sincerity it looks like our heroes would forget their past performances and try to start over again. If they want a jacket so badly, why not earn one from STI? Actually this would increase our sports, if all the past heroes would participate in our school functions. Maybe they could help make STI even better than it is now and increase student participation—which we lack greatly.

Sincerely yours,
J. L. J., II

Dear Editor:

Thursday morning, March 4, while at school I noticed one of our well-known Fraternities having their initiation. It was utterly ridiculous the way some of the brothers treated the pledges. They had them walking backwards, eating onions, polishing shoes, and even pestering our Georgia Co-eds.

I am sure we, as college students could act a little more mature than was demonstrated. If Georgia Tech were to see some of the pranks we pull, I would hate to hear their evaluation of our so-called fraternities initiations.

I think we could find something more constructive to do than pull such childish antics around school.

NAME WITHHELD

Dear Mr. Editor:

I have heard several students recently mention something which I would like to second the motion to. These students entered Southern Tech in one major and now have switched to another. They grant that this initial decision was a mistake, but what they can't understand is that the grades which they made in their first major still haunt them. For most of them, it has taken several quarters to regain their point average to a respectable level.

I wish that there was some way some one could keep from averaging these grades in students' total averages. Sure, students who switch majors evidently have made a mistake, but must they be penalized for this the rest of their time at STI?

I am for showing on the transcript the grades made in the original department, but not including these grades in the total point average.

A punny thing happened to me on the way to classes last week

By a. d. monishment

I was sitting in the suggestion box the other day, quietly munching on some fungus from the snack bar which some joker had stuffed in my little dwelling place, when in plops this letter . . . a letter from Smedley, no less—my ole beer-drinking buddy from Calapusse Falis.

So that you might ruminate over the qualities of the dubious letter, I reproduce it here.

John Federick Gleep was no ordinary space cadet. He was the absolute epitome of what every young astronaut aspired to be. He entered the academy at the age of seven, and earned his Astrogration Extraordinary (spherical planimeter with inverted helix) by his eighteenth birthday.

The day after his twentieth, he left Earth Port for the long voyage to the eleventh planet of Alpha Centariax VII, to investigate the source of the half-intelligible laser signals originating from that point. In a short eighteen months (employing Rabbevicheks' then new hyper-nova drive), he made his landing on the planet Medgethp.

To his great surprise, John was immediately surrounded by scores of fuzzy little creatures who astounded him by addressing him in Phonetic International, the popular language of Earth at that time.

"Greetings Earthman," shouted a chorus of the little creatures. "We are furry little people, so we call ourselves the furrries."

"Griggly," said the astronaut. "Re-fur me to your leader."

The little people, singing happy songs in their own native tongue and dancing along the flowered path through the woods, led brave John up a hillside to an immense cave, lavishly decorated, and with an immense throne sitting in the orifice to the cavern. Upon the throne sat a furry at least twice the size of the other little people John had seen. Upon his head sat a glass-like object, fitting his pseudo-skull at the base, and soaring to a pointed spire some four feet above him.

"Greetings," said brave John, "I'm John Federick Gleep, the astronaut from Earth."

"Welcome Earthman," said the leader, "I am chief of the furrries . . . call me the FURRY WITH THE SYRINGE ON TOP."

From the diary of my esteemed late friend, Octavious Augustus Smegethenbothem . . .
From Smedley

Smedly was up to his old tricks as you can easily tell from his letter. But it started me thinking about some funny things an old girl friend of mine used to tell me.

"Angus," she used to say, "let me tell you a story. One time there was an old Hawaiian king who lived in a glass house. He was a very greedy old king who collected by devious ways all of the thrones owned by kings on nearby islands. As the years went by, the greedy man gathered thrones as others might collect coins and jewels.

He would lean back in his rocking chair and look through his glass ceiling at the hundreds of richly decorated thrones stacked in his attic.

But one day he bamboozled one too many thrones and the ceiling broke and crashed down upon his head, thereby killing him.

"The moral to this story," she then said, "was that people who live in glass houses should not store thrones."

My old girlfriend was quite a swinger. I can remember her peculiar way of looking into space at nothing for hours at a time and then she would come out with things like this: "Early to bed and early to rise, and you wife goes out with nine other guys."

"A bird in the hand tickles." ;

"Red skies at night, sailors delight; red skies at dawn,

LOOK OUT FOR LOCUSTS."

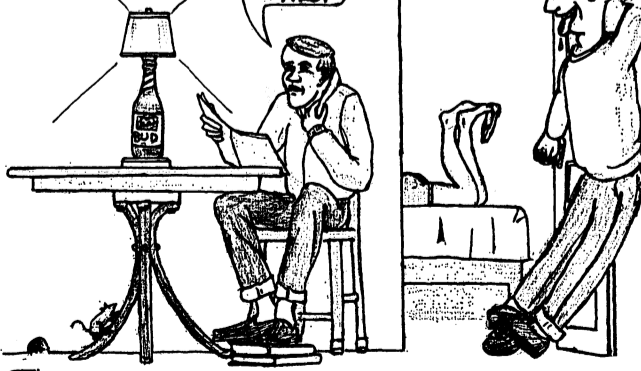

"Fools rush in and get the best seats."

"A stitch in time holds the clock together."

"A rolling stone gathers momentum."

She loved to tell this one again and again: Once there was a grand old Chinese man, named Chan, who owned and operated a teakwood shop. One day while he was minding the store, he noticed a small, barefoot boy loitering outside his shop. Shortly the boy crept into the shop, seized all the teakwood he could carry, and ran out of the shop. The old Chinese man ran as fast as he could after him, shouting, "Stop! Stop! LITTLE BAREFOOT BOY WITH TEAK OF CHAN!"

HEY FRED! LISTEN TO THIS ARTICLE IN THE "TECHNICIAN." ACCORDING TO DEAN MADDOX, THERE HAS BEEN A MISUNDERSTANDING AS TO THE DORM ASSIGNMENTS OF A LARGE NUMBER OF NEW STI COEDS. SOME COEDS FOUND THEIR ROOMMATES TO BE MALE STUDENTS AND QUICKLY REPORTED BACK TO ADMINISTRATION FOR ROOM CHANGES. HOW 'BOUT THAT FRED? ... FRED?

The New Miss Southern Tech Honor Fraternity

Names New Members

Tau Alpha Pi, Southern Tech's honorary fraternity, has released the names of its new winter-quarter initiates. They are as follows: Thomas E. Blackburn, III, from Atlanta; Ronald C. Young, from Marietta; Ted M. Rainey, from Stone Mountain; Ralph D. Owen, Jr., from Canton; Jerry H. Heaton, from Toccoa; Tim Matthews, from Decatur; and Paul S. Lyons, from Abilene, Texas.

fenses on record.

The fraternity, composed of over twenty-five students with high point averages, held its initiation ceremony on the Southern Tech campus on March 3. The group had its quarterly banquet immediately following the ceremony at Weem's Restaurant in Smyrna.

Circle K Sees Slides Of India

Before a Southern Tech student is invited to join the fraternity, he must have met these requirements: he must have an overall 3.0 point average or better; he must have been on the Dean's List for two consecutive quarters while in residence—this allows co-op students to become eligible for membership; and he must have no permanent of-

According to this quarter's secretary of Tau Alpha Pi, Hal Moss, the fraternity elected spring-quarter officers at a meeting on March 4. Charles Wimpy was chosen as the fraternity's public relations man; Henry P. Williams as secretary-treasurer; Carl Bennett as vice president; and Hal Moss as president.

At the Circle K weekly club meeting on February 23, members saw Professor Herb Eller of the Industrial Department show slides of his summer trip to Thailand, India, and Switzerland, and several other foreign countries. Eller showed slides of such famous places as the Taj Mahal of India and the Fountain of Trevor in Rome about which the song "Three Coins in a Fountain" was written.

Southern Tech Baseball To Open With Road Trip

Editorial By Rick Johnson

Southern Tech's baseball season will start out with a road trip from Marietta to Vero Beach, Florida. The team, composing of approximately fifteen members, will travel by car to Moultrie, Georgia, on the 21st, spend the night and play Norman College on March 22. After the game with Norman College the team members will board up and travel to Tifton, Georgia where they play Abraham Baldwin College on March 23. From Tifton they will move on to Palmetto, Florida, to play Manatee Junior College on March 24. For the final game of the tour the team plays another Manatee Junior College in Bradenton, Florida, on March 25.

After the game on March 25 they will travel with Coach Harry Lockhart and Placement Director Paul Smith to Dodger Town in Vero Beach, Florida. The evening of the 26th the team will dine with the Dodgers and attend a practice session with them on the 27th for a few tips. They will return to Marietta, March 28.

Returning to play on STI's team this quarter is Tim Mathews who made All-State last year; he had a batting average of .417.

Last year STI's baseball team took second place in the conference.

This year they have a good chance of winning first place. Let's all give them our support in the coming games by a show of our attendance.

Goldfingers Hoist Trophy In League Play

The Goldfingers have definitely wrapped up Southern Tech's winter-quarter bowling league championship.

The three-man bowling team, made up of students Joe Kern, Larry Rape, and John Glassey, clinched the title with a 29-7 won-lost record one week before the final bowling night.

Going into the final week, Harrell Hampton had the high game of the season with 211. Harry Langley and Harry Hawkins were tied for the second high-game honors; both downed 210 pins in a single game.

Harry Hawkins claimed the high individual series with a 564 three-game series. Wayne Shigley was second with a 553 series.

Hawkins also held the high single-game average of the season with 172 pins a game.

Hornets End Long, Hard Season

Southern Tech ended its basketball season on a sour note by losing to undefeated Columbus College in the second round of play of the Georgia Junior College Tourney. But despite the loss, which added the 15th loss of the season against 11 victories, the final season statistics seem to indicate that the STI team was one to be reckoned with every time it took to the court.

The team compiled a 94.4 scoring average per game, the tops in the state. The team members dumped in over 2200 points during the long season.

Dick Waters led the team and the conference in individual scoring with a game average of 23.7. He was followed by Robert Jordan, who averaged 19.7 points per game. Don Morris was third in scoring with 11.9 points a game; Fred Smith, with 10.4 points per game, and Jimmy Vaughn, with 8.7, followed.

In rebounds, Jordan pulled down an average of 15 per game. Waters averaged 9.

Southern Tech was stiff competition throughout the season, losing 6 games by 5 points or less. Two games required overtime periods to decide the victor.

STI's junior-college conference record was 8-9.

Jordan Sweeps In Honors: Named To All-Region, All-State, All-Tourney Teams

Robert Jordan, Southern Tech's star basketball forward, has been named to the Georgia-Florida All-Regional Basketball Team.

The naming of Jordan to this junior college team marks the first time that a Southern Tech basketball player has ever received the honor. Jordan has completed his last season as an STI cager.

In addition to this honor, Georgia Junior College Officials have announced that Jordan has been placed on the All-State Basketball Team for the second year in a row.

Jordan, who came to Southern Tech by way of Cherokee High School in Canton, Georgia, has averaged 19.7 points per game during the 24-game season. He pulled down an average of 15 rebounds per game.

He was also named to the Georgia Junior College All-Tourney team for this year. The junior-college tourney was played at Stateboro, Georgia, in late February. Southern Tech was defeated by the unbeaten Columbus College team in the second round of the tourney.

According to Coach Harry Lockhart, STI coach for 9 seasons, Jordan has been the best basketball player to compete two years for Southern Tech in all the time he has been directing the team.

Fringe Group to Attempt Coup of Student Government On Technician's Day

The rumor bouncing about campus that the majority of students who did not vote in the last class election — February 10, 1965 — did hold and did vote in their own secret elections the same day. According to the rumor, a secret block of candidates, campaigning jointly under the slogan "Don't Show Up For Anything," were elected and are now serving in an unofficial capacity.

In a heretofore undisclosed tipoff to the newspaper staff, the bastard group, comprised of low-point-average men, will attempt a coup on Technician's day. The right ly-elected presidents and vice-presidents of the senior and freshman class will be disposed of for not accomplishing less than anything in their first 80 days in office.

According to the topoff man, who was accordingly given an undisclosed reward by Georgia Tech financial people, the secretly elected president of the senior class is Peter Blap, an eleventh-quarter Electrical Department major; his run-in-the-ground mate is Maxie Bigbite, a sixth-quarter coed, a transfer from Emory University, who was well known there for her entirely fictional best-seller short story "Dirt Roads Along the 4-Lane." The freshmen class officers are a. d. monishment, a well-known tenth-quarter major, renegade; and as vice president, Pat Offenbottom, a coed, known campus-wide for her recent escapade when she drove her foreign car down the steps between Building 4 and 5.

Up-to-the-minute bulletins from the administrative officers on campus indicate that anyone seen co-horting with these falsely elected students will be expelled upon the spot. Swift measures are being taken to be prepared for the coup. Campus police are being awakened in an attempt to thwart possible takeover on Technician's Day. Television monitors will be placed on campus to observe fringe areas; there is even talk of moving the program of the day to one of the local high school gyms for the completion should any disturbance arise.

Blap and monishment apparently won the contested election by stating that they would not only better the record of their opponents, but that they would do even less. This declaration supposedly included not going to classes or buying books at the book store. They called for a boycott of everything.

In recent weeks their campaign slogan of "Don't show up for Anything" and a newly-added one of "Don't Do Anything, Ever" have been hotly discussed in campus hangouts. It was reported that the Building and Grounds Department enthusiastically added their support to the additional campaign slogan.

New Campus Organization To Be Formed

The formation of a new campus organization has been announced: It is called the "Eighth-quarter and Up Men." As the organization's title may indicate, only men who have been at STI for eight quarters or more are eligible to join.

The new club held their first meeting during the club period before winter - quarter exams. They elected Russel Sratchfield as the club's new president. R. C. Carter was chosen as faculty adviser.

Enrollment Down: Students Still At Beaches

Southern Tech spring-quarter enrollment looks as though it will be down again, at least for the first week of the quarter, so stated a school official yesterday.

As in the past, the first week of the quarter is a sparse one as far as student population is concerned; most students do not return from their annual excursion to the beaches until the latter part of the week.

According to incoherent reports from bedraggled students who did return to the campus in time for registration, a considerable number of students were still playing upon the sunny beaches of Florida.

The cause, stated one bleary-eyed student, for the delay was that "the new spring style in swimsuits were such a rage that students simply could not leave." Combination topless and bottomless suits are the style this spring. Experts are saying that the new style of suit give a much more skin-tone effect.

The Engineering Technician staff reporter who accomplished this interview has been missing since that time. Some say he left for Florida.

Maltiquorman Refutes STI Administration: Says Valentine Dance No Orgy

The mad, mad, mad rumor echoing about the campus corridors that the Valentine Dance of Saturday, February 13, was a wild orgy has been refuted by Fill Maltiquorman, member of the sponsoring club, Alpha Alpha Barf.

Maltiquorman stated that during the past few weeks following the dance, exaggerations of what actually went on at the dance have grown to volcanic proportions. He stated that none of the wild drinking, dancing on tables, and uncontrollable frenzy attributed to the persons present at the dance went on at all.

He asked that the photograph pictured above be reprinted for this issue to prove once and for all that the dance was a calm affair with philosophical discussions between club members.

Maltiquorman refuted the stand made by the administrative personnel that the dance was a hell-raising shindig fit only for attendance by sub-human type animals from the jungle.

A reporter at the Valentine Dance stated that he was sure that no dancing on the tables had occurred because he would surely have heard it, since he spent most of the evening under the tables. As for drinking, the reporter stated that it was true that a few kegs of somethingorother had been slipped in through the side door by non-STI people, but that he was sure that no STI students took part in any mixed drinking because the soft drinks sold at the dance were too expensive.

New Service Club To Grace Campus: The KKK

An undisclosed but very reliable source has disclosed that Southern Tech is now blessed with a new service club. The new club will be known as the Kappa Kappa Kappa (KKK for short).

According to our source the main function of this organization will be to organize campus pep rallies and bonfires and to sponsor Log Tying and Cross Erecting contests.

The charter members of the club are presently attempting to raise funds through the sale of their best selling booklet, Effective Public Speaking at Costume Parties, Sheet Sewings, and Various Get-Togethers of the Brotherhood of the All-Righteous Perpetuators of Vigilante Justice, By T. Grand Dwagon.

The club will welcome into its membership any student who can pass the rigid physical and mental qualification tests (an I. Q. of at least 59 is mandatory.)

The next meeting will be held at 12:00 p.m., April 2, 1965, atop THE ROCK. A dinner will be given for all new members, April 3, at 8 p.m. at the old PICKRICK, which has been rented especially for the occasion. Spit-Roasted coon will be served.

Students should give this club due consideration for it offers an excellent opportunity to travel far (and sometimes fast) and to meet many people. For more information, contact Dwight James (IET) P. O. Box 0008.

Playgirl Club In Dorm Basement Is Welcomed

According to students residing in the new dorms, the new Playgirl Club will be a much welcomed addition to the new dormitory lounge. It will give students an opportunity to relax and enjoy the finer things in life without ever leaving the campus. The club will contain a bar with free drinks, courtesy of the STI Chamber of Commerce. A special "helping hand service" provides assistance to those "happy" students who can't find their rooms.

Entertainment will be provided by the coed transfer students from Sweden, France, and Germany. Bunnies will be chosen and carefully interviewed by a. d. monishment. The rules of this club are very liberal, but harsh action will be taken to chastise anyone who tries to tickle the Bunnies' tails!

STI Rumble To Be Held: Students Invited

Chuck Waggin, spokesman for the STI Rockers Club, announced today that his club plans to sponsor an organized rumble at Cobb Center. Waggin said the event would take place at midnight on April 9 behind the garbage dump at Rich's. Eliminations will start sharply at 12:30.

When asked why the Rockers were sponsoring such an unusual event, Waggin replied, "We feel that this sort of athletic event will give the student a real opportunity to express himself and really let off all his excess steam." If this event is successful, the club may sponsor a rumble once or twice every month.

Prizes will be given to the survivors of each elimination match. First prize will be a bail certificate, redeemable at any Georgia court, while second prize is a miniature .45 small enough to hide in a hollowed-out shoe sole.

All clubs interested in making an intramural sport of this event should contact either the Top Rocker or Mr. John Law, c/o Cobb County Parole Board.

Hardwood Trees On STI Campus To Be Cut Down

Administrative officials announced yesterday that the big trees in front of the Administration Building will have to be removed.

According to one official, the trees are not consistent with the general scrub-tree landscaping now highlighting the campus. To replace the big trees, small dead pines will be anchored with ropes as all trees previously have been on campus.

Of all the remedies that won't cure a cold, whiskey is the most popular.

Flash Flood in Sewer Wipes Out Old Dorms; Mass Roachicide Feared

Our special correspondent, Moe Furd, reported today from the Marietta Housing Project, Old Dorm Division, that a flash flood had completely annihilated the old dorms.

Furd said the flood was apparently started by a sudden increase in pressure, causing the main sewer beneath Clay Street to explode.

"All that's left of our once thriving dorm metropolis," said Furd, "is a pile of water-logged Playgirl pin-ups and several hundred rats." He estimated that possibly 6,000,000 roaches lost their lives in the calamity.

The pressure along the line has caused other pipes in the city to break also. At press time, the sewers were still backing up, and Civil Defense workers were frantically working to keep the sewage level down. C. D. official Isa Klush said, "Feces Tributary is unable to relieve the raging torrent, and if something isn't done soon, the city may become one, huge waste-disposal plant.

Officials also ask students to do their part to help out during this disaster by refraining from flushing any toilets for at least a week.

Staff Comments

THIS ISSUE CREATED BY UNSOBER MINDS

This issue represents a remarkable step backward in the world of collegiate newspaper publishing. It was written, edited, and published by students with truly unsober minds. Since this edition took nearly two months to come into being, we took great care to see that no worthy individuals or organizations escaped our meager attempts to present them as they really are.

A LET-UP ON THE SNACK BAR

The unfortunate snack bar has been the target of many criticisms in this newspaper. Perhaps we have been, as some say, too critical of this valuable establishment and of its valuable contributions to the student's well being. We are certain that much about the snack bar has been hard to stomach over a period time.

Surely students have taken lightly the many things we have had to say about the snack bar—our continual bickering about the coffee, health permits, prices, fungus which silently grew unnoticed under the counters, etc.

Perhaps now is the time to reconsider our stand and to denounce further intervention in the affairs of this small but important part of our campus. After all, if the snack bar were to close, things would not be the same — it would take a long time for our systems to adjust.

CONGRATULATIONS TO JUDGES FOR THEIR SELECTION OF MISS APRIL BEAUTY

We congratulate the judges for selecting "Miss April Fool's Beauty." They did a marvelous job of selecting a very charming and sweet-smelling young lady. She is the straight-off-the-farm-innocent-and-going-to-stay-that-way-type. We must admit that she has the prettiest rock-garden face that we have ever witnessed.

STI Rock Is Dropped On Registrar's Office: Theft Attempt Is Foiled

A group of University of Georgia students, evidently inspired by Agent 007 James Bond, attempted a swift and dramatic theft of the one thing that symbolizes the soul and spirit of Southern Tech—The Rock.

The bold attempt occurred last weekend in the broad daylight. The students, numbering about fifteen, according to reports, made their move on campus about 1:00 p.m. Saturday afternoon. Equipped with crow bars and brute strength, the group quickly worked to dislodge The Rock; and once accomplishing this feat, they sent a purple flare into the air. Whereupon, a helicopter appeared and lowered over The Rock; two more students, in the helicopter, lowered ropes which were tied around The Rock. After

The Rock was securely fastened (so they thought), the helicopter slowly rose into the air and lifted the rock from the ground.

Witnesses say that the grand attempt to steal the very soul and spirit of STI would have royally succeeded, had it not been for the rock's coming loose as the copter flew over the Administration Building. It crashed loudly into the right and eastward section of the building.

Unfortunately, no one was in the building at the time.

Witnesses say that only a few unexcused slips remained of that side of the building. All grade records were smashed beyond recovery. Student celebrations took place for the next 72 hours.

Southern Tech Committee Forms New Vehicle Laws

There have been many complaints and unfavorable comments concerning the new motor vehicle inspection law. In order to improve the law, state officials have chosen a committee composed of members of various groups and organizations to draw up a new law. This writer was privileged to have been a member of that committee.

The first meeting was held last weekend at the local Clay Street Pub. After 15 minutes of discussion and contemplation, followed by a rumble lasting 15 more minutes, a new inspection code was drawn up. Each inspection shall consist of the following items:

1. License Tags — Each vehicle must have at least one and not more than twelve tags.
2. Engines — All motor vehicles must have an engine (except Volkswagens which may have either rubber bands or pedals).
3. Brakes — Foot and hand brakes must be capable of stopping the vehicle instantly with vehicle moving in excess of 110 mph.
4. Seat Belts — In order to comply with above section, driver must wear seat belt. (These usually are made of nylon and cut deep into wearer's mid-section upon impact).
5. Windshields—Windshields must be transparent. They should also be free of obstructions at all times. (Such as cute little pictures, STI parking tickets, splotches of bird dung, etc.)
6. Tires — Vehicles without tires will be prohibited on all roads and highways.
7. Rolling Bars—Yes, rolling bars, not roll bars. Each vehicle will be a rolling bar. All mixers and booze must be kept within safe reach of driver.
8. Radios — and other entertainment equipment — Modern music must be heard in daytime only. Nighttime radios must play only mood music or date-seducing tunes.
9. Back seats — Rear seats must be large enough for post midnight fun and frolic (telling jokes, playing Monopoly, Mille Borne, etc.)
10. Other Equipment — With a bar, sexy music, and a big back seat who needs any more equipment?

1st Runner-up—Miss Merrybed

Grunch Wins Miss April Beauty Contest Again

For the first time in the history of Southern Tech, a Miss April Beauty has been chosen to succeed herself. Miss Modine Grunch, the 1964 "Miss April Beauty," will reign again as the staff's apparently molested queen.

Miss Grunch, the only off-sprung of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Grunch, now of Atlanta, is residing near the Southern Tech campus. According to Miss Grunch, she plans to visit the campus too often and to represent STI at all community functions after dark.

The forty-six year-old beauty, relished by all STI students who know her, has switched vocations since her first victorious contest last April: Instead of a sewage inspector, she has now turned to pig breeding. According to reports she has been enormously successful, having produced twelve litters of pigs since last November.

Miss Grunch crowned herself as the April Beauty in the annual ceremony held in the Snack Bar kitchen.

Miss Ina Merrybed was selected as first runner-up by the panel of judges, made up of several faculty members of the electrical department, known to be completely void of taste.

Miss Merrybed is also from Marietta; she was sponsored by the Industrial Department fraternity. As the runner-up in the contest, Miss Merrybed will accompany several faculty members in their trip to India this summer.

The wire-hired beauty is thirty-nine year old. She timidly divulged her vital statistics to the curious editor-in-chief of this newspaper—they were a mouth foaming 10-41-17. The maiden Merrybed is an employee of one of Atlanta's TV stations. She may be seen on the late, late show on Saturday night when she will host the thriller "Sebastard and the Hairy Ape Woman."

Other candidates for the crown of "Miss April Beauty" were as follows: Miss Gloria S. Bottom, sponsored by Circle K and escorted by Modine Holland; Miss Cherry Maidinfield, sponsored by the Architectural Department, and escorted by Hal Chowder; and Miss Clim Axenmuch, sponsored by the University of Georgia.

Miss Grunch was not pictured in this issue because last year's photograph of her rotted away. She smelled too bad to handle.

Epistles To The Editor Created Especially For The April Fool's Issue

Dear Editor:
What's all this about bad student language? I agree with Miss Nelson that it's bad, but we students get such good examples from some of the faculty that we can't help it . . . it just comes naturally.

Name Withheld

Dear Editor:
There have been many complaints on campus recently. I would like to add one more. There has been too much #!Z*%@! going on around here. It should be stopped before someone hurts himself. This would be regrettable because of the circumstances.

You may quote me.
Sincerely,
George D. Smiggle

Dear Editor:
I think that the Director of Southern Tech should call a meeting of all the STI students to clean up our landmark — The Rock.

It is disgraceful to have such an ugly, unsightly thing in our midst with Alpha Alpha Barf written all over it.

If anyone is interested in this campus project and wants to contribute $.10 for paint remover, please mail it to me at Box 21101, campus mail.

Thanks,
Alfred Q. Turpentine

Dear Mr. Boswell:
I didn't understand one of your cartoons in your February issue. In the cartoon with the footprints, were you trying to satirize someone on campus? If so, who was it?

I heard some one say that it was a faculty member footprint. Some one else said that it was a picture of some fungus found in the snack bar.

Please inform.
Sincerely,
Faculty member

Dear Editor:
In answer to the NAME WITHHELD letter in the March issue concerning playing cards, I'd like to say that some of us students put ourselves through Southern Tech this way. We don't wish to see the situation changed in the slightest.

Sincerely,
President of Poker Playing, Inc.

Dear Editor:
I think you should get a new picture for your column. The one you have now looks like you tried to French kiss with a freight train.

Student

Dear Editor:
Why do you print such garbage in each issue. That stupid column of yours always has mistakes in it and those letters to the editor are all fake anyway. Why even waste your time? Nobody ever reads your stupid column anyway. In fact, nobody ever reads your stupid newspaper.

Assoc. Editor

Dear Editor:
I want everyone at STI to know what a clod you are. You should be ashamed of yourself. You must think you're funny, you smart-aleck. If you ever do what you did again, I'll sic my big brother on you—you slob.

U. of Ga. Coed
